

Chapter 1304

Lori said nothing. "..."

Losing felt humiliating. What was more, she had even exposed her cleft in front of the entire Ford Group. In the entire world, no one else was uglier than her. But just like her mother said, she had to pretend as if nothing had happened because she had to fight for what she wanted. For example, the man Sabrina had her arm on now was something that she wanted.

Why was Sabrina so lucky? She heard that Sabrina got pregnant with Sebastian's child by accident; that was all. Sebastian was only together with Sabrina because of the child! How did she, Lori Gibson, lose out to Sabrina? Sabrina was just lucky!

She suppressed the anger and fury on her face, trying hard to calm herself down, making her tone as smooth as possible. "Mrs. Ford, I don't know possible. Mrs. ... what you're so proud of. I already told you I just went to the Ford Group to discuss business. I'm not like you; I don't have a rich husband who provides me with the money I can fling about. I'm different, I need to work. Even though I embarrassed myself at the Ford Group, I still have t o behave as if nothing happened because I have to survive, and I still have a daughter to raise."

Her words sounded neither arrogant nor self-deprecating. Anyone else who heard would definitely be moved, but to Sabrina's ears, all she wanted to do was laugh condescendingly.

Lori was still acting, but her pretenses were less obvious than they were in the afternoon.

She listened to her mother's advice;
her mask had to be perfect; she had t o convince them. She could only advance forward once her audience

to convince them, she could only advance forward once her audience bought the act.

Lori was wearing the mask of pity
now. She planned to deny the truth completely, and at the same time, put on her mask of pity. However, Sabrina exposed Lori's farce with a taunting sneer.

"Since you want to survive and take care of your daughter, then why don't you take her into consideration? Not only did you wear such a short skirt when meeting your client, you only wore a thong inside.
Might I ask, Ms. Gibson, aren't you worried your private parts will be exposed? However, the truth shows that you do not. This morning you just exposed such private parts to the public, and now, in the afternoon, you can still behave as if nothing had happened!"

Lori's anger started surfacing on her face again. "..."

"And!" Sabrina turned and looked at the pitiful child. "Since you're trying to wear the mask of a dutiful mother, please don't let your child stand there alone like an orphan. What a poor girl; not only is she an orphan, now she's even being used by you! Since you adopted her from the orphanage, please fulfill your responsibility as her mother!"

Lori said nothing. "..."

"Dear, let's go." With that, Sabrina called out to her husband and daughter and left.

Lori was left alone, standing in the kindergarten's yard, with nowhere to hide.

On the way home, Sabrina said to her husband. "What a poor child."

"Mommy, are you talking about Jennifer?" Aino asked.

Sabrina sighed.

hide.

On the way home, Sabrina said to her husband. "What a poor child."

"Mommy, are you talking about Jennifer?" Aino asked.

Sabrina sighed.

Every child had her own destiny. Since the heavens allowed Lori to adopt Jennifer, and Lori did not mistreat or desert her, outsiders did not have much right to intervene.

That night, back in her own home, Sabrina received a call from Marcus.

"Sabbie, you didn't come to work this afternoon. How did you deal with that matter afterward?" Marcus asked with both guilt and concern in his voice.