

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy

chapter 641 By eBooksCat

The next day, Luna was rudely awoken by Gwen early in the morning.

"Don't forget you have a wedding to attend today! Remember to dress nicely, you still have to meet your clan members! "

Luna was amused by how excited she sounded. " Judging from how excited you are, I `m starting to wonder if you're the bride today."

Gwen rolled her eyes. "Damn you."

Luna shrugged, climbing out of bed to wash herself. "Do you want me to bring you back a present, a souvenir or something?"

Gwen pondered her question for a while. "Then take some photos to show me, and bring me the door gift that they give out to guests! "

"Okay." After agreeing, Luna changed into some clean clothes and entered the taxi heading for the Ocean View Hotel.

On the way, she switched on her phone and found the number that she just added last night, sending him a message. "I `m on my way, when will you be there?"

His response came in the form of a photo. The photo showed the wedding hall, beside it was his table number, 55.

"Okay, I'll go meet you when I'm there." After sending her answer, Luna sucked in a deep breath and kept away her phone.

Sometimes, she felt as if fate had been playing a cruel trick on her. Back then, if she did not stop playing the game after the clan member left, she might not have missed her chance of meeting him. Maybe this was a cruel twist of fate.

But luckily, the heavens gave her another chance to make up for the past.

Soon, the taxi arrived at the Ocean View Hotel. Luna paid the driver and was about to open the door and step out when she saw the man standing at the entrance to the hotel.

Why would Joshua be here? Was he here to attend the wedding?

When Luna was looking at him in a daze, Joshua noticed her too. A hint of shock flashed through the man's eyes, then following immediately after, was a chill. He motioned toward her with his eyes, indicating for her to go to him.

Luna frowned, lifted her legs, and approached him.

Elegantly, Joshua leaned on a pillar, lit a cigarette, and started smoking. "Are you here to cause trouble?"

Luna took the invitation out of her bag and smiled in his direction. "I'm here to attend a wedding. I don't know why you would say I'm here to cause trouble, Mr. Lynch."

Joshua raised his hand and took the invitation out of her hands, sweeping his eyes over it quickly. Only the name of the bride was written on the invitation, the groom's name was nowhere to be seen. And the invitation was addressed to... Gwen Larson.

The man narrowed his eyes. "You're here on behalf of Gwen?"

Luna took the invitation from him and returned it to her bag elegantly. "Yes, is there a problem?"

Joshua looked at her and was about to say something, but in the end, chose to remain quiet. He threw a deep and meaningful glance her way. "Then I hope you will have fun today." With that, he raised his legs and headed in the direction of the hotel.

Seeing him walk toward the wedding hall, Luna frowned and caught up to him with a few quick steps. "Mr. Lynch, you're also here to attend the wedding?"

"Yeah, " he said without even bothering to turn back, "I'm here to meet an old friend."

Luna frowned but before she could say anything further, she saw the welcome poster pasted at the entrance to the wedding hall.

On the welcome poster, a woman in a snow-white wedding gown was leaning elegantly on the groom. And the groom in the well-fitted suit... was Ben Zeller! Gwen's ex-husband, Ben Zeller!

Luna froze on the spot. She felt as if all the blood in her body was rushing to her head. She never thought the wedding Gwen was so excited to attend, the wedding of the female clan leader in the game would be Ben Zeller's! If Gwen knew...

At that moment, her phone rang. It was a call from Gwen.

"Luna, are you there yet? " On the other end of the phone, Gwen sounded excited. "I estimated the time, you should be there soon, so I called to ask. Is the bride beautiful?"

Luna held her phone and fell into silence for a long while before laughing sheepishly and said, "Ye... yes."

If she ignored the groom in the photo, the bride was indeed beautiful.

But...

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy

chapter 642 by eBooksCat

"I'm glad she's beautiful! I knew she would be a very beautiful girl! Don't forget to take more photos of the wedding and show them to me once you're back! Oh right, have you met that clan member yet?"

Luna paused, then instinctively looked into the wedding hall. Table number 55 was empty. She licked her lips. "He just sent me a photo saying he's already at the wedding hall... but I think he walked out for a moment..."

"I'm glad he's there! I was worried you would feel bored attending the wedding alone, with someone to talk to and reminisce with, I `m sure you won't feel lonely! I'm not as lucky as you, Luke sent me medicine to stabilize the baby again today..." Luna sighed, listening to Gwen's weak voice. Suddenly, she did not dare tell her the truth.

Gwen obviously idolized the female clan leader. If she knew her groom was Ben... Luna could not bear to imagine the consequences.

Sighing, she comforted Gwen for a few moments before hanging up. Putting away her phone, she turned and saw Joshua standing in the near distance, a smile hanging from the corners of his lips as he looked at her. "It seems like both you and Gwen didn't know Ben is the groom."

Luna pursed her lips, only just realizing why Joshua asked her whether she came to cause trouble the moment he saw her outside. She sucked in a deep breath. "Gwen and the bride have been virtual friends for years, she never knew what the bride looked like, so she asked me to attend the wedding on her behalf. But we never expected..."

Joshua smiled faintly. "So what do you plan to do?"

Luna shrugged. "What else can I do, I'll take a few photos and crop the groom out of them."

A fair amount of time had passed since Gwen and Ben divorced. This time when she came to Sea City, Gwen did not mention him at all, even though in the past out of three sentences she said, one of them would be about him. Since they had been divorced for so long, she should let go of the past. What was the point in causing trouble on Ben's wedding day? Otherwise, the public would think Gwen still had feelings for him, and they would keep discussing the reason behind their divorce in the first place.

"You're quite forgiving." Joshua smiled and was about to say something when his phone rang. He smiled apologetically at her and then turned to answer the call.

When he raised his phone, the eagle-eyed Luna noticed the name that appeared on the screen was Alice. Her eyes turned cold. Sucking in a deep breath, she raised her legs and entered the wedding hall.

Table number 55 remained empty. But on the table, there was a delicately wrapped small box that read, 'To: Mona'.

Mona was her character's name in the game. This must be the present that the clan member prepared for her. After hesitating for a moment, she took out her phone and sent him a message. (I'm here, where are you?)

Very soon, her phone pinged with his reply. (Sorry, I had to answer a call.)

(It's fine, take your time. Can I open the present on the table?)

(Of course.)

After receiving his reply, Luna sucked in a deep breath and opened the small box. Inside was a clay doll, dressed in the red outfit of a female warrior, her character in the game. The doll looked quite old and aged, but it was still clean, as if it had been sealed shut since it was made. He must have prepared it years ago, when he came to see her. She never thought he would still be keeping it after so long.

Luna held the little doll, and could not help but laugh out loud. He looked like a solemn guy, she never thought he would give a present like this for her.

Outside the wedding hall.

Joshua ended the call. The moment he walked into the wedding hall, he saw Luna sitting beside table number ss. holding the doll that he prepared for his fellow clan member, smiling sweetly.

He paused violently. He took out his phone and sent her a message. (Do you like the present?)

The moment the message was sent, Luna lowered her head and looked at her phone, then started typing her reply. The moment she let go of her phone, his phone rang. (I do! It's so cute!)

Joshua tightened his hand around his phone. But... she always told him she was from Sea City, while Luna, on the other hand, consistently claimed she grew up overseas.

What more did she lie to him about?

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy

chapter 643 By eBooksCat

[How long more do you need?]

Luna waited for a long time at table number 55 but still, no one came. She could not help herself and sent him a message to ask him about it. Very soon, a reply came from the man.

[I'm sorry, a work emergency cropped up, I'm already at the airport.]

From a near distance, Joshua clearly saw the dip in Luna's shoulders after he sent the message. But still, she found a smiley face in the messaging app. [It's okay, work is more important. Receiving your gift has already made me happy enough.]

Maybe he was already here, but he was disappointed at her and did not want to see her?

Luna was no longer an innocent teenage girl, she knew there must be a reason behind an excuse like this. But since he was not willing to tell her, there was no point in asking further. Not meeting in real life might be a good idea too, at least that way they could still maintain their original good impression of each other. That was good too.

At this thought, Luna carefully placed the doll back into the box. Actually, her trip to meet the clan member was quite fruitful. At least she knew his feelings for her back then were genuine. Otherwise, he would not have kept this doll throughout the years.

"What are you looking at?" Suddenly, a man's deep voice rang out beside her ears. She could recognize the owner of this voice even without raising her head.

She hurriedly closed the box in her hands, then lifted her head casually and looked at him. "It's just a small present from a friend."

Joshua took the opportunity and sat down, a cold smile hanging from the corners of his lips. "Don't you just have one friend, Gwen, here in Sea City?"

Which friend gave you this present?"

Luna frowned; his attitude made her slightly unhappy. "When were you such a gossip, Mr. Lynch?"

Joshua smiled. "I'm just curious. Why would you, who grew up in Sea City, be inextricably linked to Sea City?"

Luna narrowed her eyes and was about to say something when the host's voice rang out on stage, his tone lively and filled with laughter. "Dear friends, dear family, welcome to the wedding of Mr. Ben Zeller and Ms. Clover Bailey! Let us welcome the groom "

Accompanied by the melodious music, Ben walked elegantly to the middle of the stage, dressed in a white suit.

Luna could not help but sneer, he definitely did not have the personality to match his looks. She had to admit, after experiencing a jerk like Joshua, her tolerance had increased by a fair bit. Otherwise, she would surely puke at what a two-faced hypocrite he was.

But...

She instinctively glanced at the man sitting in front of her with a cold expression on his face. Under his influence, she could even tolerate an idiot like Ben Zeller.

Very soon, the bride, Clover Bailey entered the hall on her father's arm. Previously, she had only seen her name and the welcoming photos outside, she had never seen her in person. Only that she saw her in person...

Luna finally understood why she found her familiar when she saw the welcoming posters outside.

This woman... was the woman that followed Ben home the last time she accompanied Gwen back to the villa to back her belongings. Previously, she thought Clover sent Gwen the invitation without knowing about Gwen's relationship with Ben. But if this Clover Bailey was the Clover that Ben brought home that night, then she must have known.

So... she sent the invitation to Gwen on purpose. She was flaunting the fact that Ben was now hers.

Luna laughed coldly. It seemed like Ben and Clover shared true love.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy

chapter 644 By eBooksCat

After all, Clover could still marry him happily even though she knew he was a jerk. Plus, she even invited Ben's ex-wife under the name that they were virtual friends, to show off the fact that she married a jerk. She was a rare breed indeed.

The wedding continued without a hitch. Finally, after the bride and groom exchanged rings, Ben lifted the microphone excitedly.

“Everyone present is a witness to the love Clover and I share. Today, I would like to announce another piece of good news! Clover is pregnant! The baby is going to have a heartbeat soon! ”

The moment Ben’s words left his mouth, claps and the guests’ well-wishes rang out in the hall, making the atmosphere bright and lively.

Instead, Luna frowned, somehow feeling a wave of disgust. Her reaction was not mental, but physical.

She was going to be sick. And she did indeed get sick. She snatched the paper towels from the table and could not help but lean on the table and retched.

She did not eat anything from morning till now and yet her stomach was constantly churning, as if something was about to rush out of her stomach.

Joshua frowned, initially thinking that she did this on purpose to throw shade at Ben. But after retching for a while, she looked more and more sickly. Only then did he realize she was not faking her discomfort. He held a cup of water and patted her back softly. “Are you okay?”

“I’m fi...” Luna tried her best to repress the churning in her stomach, but could not stop herself from retching once more. Even though the sounds of her dry retch were not loud, the noise stood out in stark contrast in the wedding hall. Not long after, almost everyone turned their eyes to her.

On stage, Ben, who was busy picturing his beautiful future with Clover was also forced to stop. He frowned and glanced at the center of the commotion. With just a look, his eyes instantly turned ice -cold.

Luna Gibson? What was she doing here? He did not remember inviting her. Besides, this woman purposely leaned on the table and retched after he announced Clover was pregnant. What was she trying to do?! She was definitely doing this on purpose!

Standing on stage, flames almost burst out of Ben's eyes that were glaring at Luna.

"Miss, you can leave if you're not feeling well. Even though we did not invite you, since you're here, you're also a guest. But if you're sick, you should get your sickness treated, don't stay here and spoil the atmosphere, please?"

The moment these words left Ben's mouth, everyone around her instantly turned to look at her.

"Why would she come for a free meal if they didn't even invite her?"

"It's fine if she's just here for a free meal, but she's dry-retching in the hall. It's so disgusting..."

"She's so rude. Her face is so pretty but who would've thought her actions were so despicable..."

The murmurs of the crowd around her turned uglier and uglier.

Luna frowned, but before she could speak, Joshua crossed his arms over his chest, leaned back coldly in his chair, and laughed, "Actually, you can't blame Ms. Luna for falling sick. After all, watching two such disgusting people say they're very happy... even I feel like vomiting."

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy

chapter 645 By eBooksCat

The moment the words left Joshua's words, the crowd exploded in an uproar. Everyone stared at Joshua, busy discussing the man's identity.

"Who is he, why is he so blatantly rude and arrogant "You don't know, right? He's Mr. Joshua Lynch from Banyan City, the man who destroyed the Walter family! He acquired the Larson Group, now the Larson Group is his... And the groom, Ben Zeller's ex-wife, is the daughter of the Larson Group..."

"He must be here to cause trouble, right?" "Who would've thought this president is quite humane, he would even avenge the daughter of the Lynch Group after acquiring it..."

"Ben is doomed..."

In the wedding hall, the murmurs of the crowd rose like waves.

Seeing as everyone's attention switched from his wedding to Joshua's identity, Ben stood on stage, so furious that his face flushed red then purple.

"Mr. Lynch." Standing beside Ben, Clover raised her lips in a faint smile. "I know you're powerful, I also know you did not attend our wedding to wish us well. But..."

Clover tugged at the pure-white wedding gown on her frame, and elegantly looked at Joshua who remained seated in his chair. "You said we're disgusting, then you and your friend are not disgusting? " With that, she arrogantly hooked her arm through Ben's.

"Ben and I only got together after his divorce. Freedom to love, without any ugly affairs or betrayal. But what about Gwen? Not only did she cheat on her husband, but she also had affairs with so many different men... After Ben found out, he divorced her, and still, she thinks he's a jerk? Previously I sent an invitation to her under the name of her virtual friend, because I was hoping she would come and personally witness our wedding, to quench all her hopes of rekindling her relationship with Ben."

Clover raised her lips, then glanced coldly at Luna sitting beside Joshua. "Sure enough, she doesn't have the guts to attend an event like this."

Finally suppressing her nausea, Luna frowned and raised her eyes, glaring coldly at Clover. "Gwen had no idea you were the woman who was in a relationship with Ben! If she did, she would never accept your invitation, let alone ask me to come here!"

This morning when Gwen called, she even asked her whether the bride was beautiful, whether the groom was handsome. At the thought of Gwen being fooled, and even smiled, wishing them well... Luna found Clover exceptionally repulsive.

"She didn't know? " Clover laughed, "I don't know whether to label you stupid, or innocent. Do you think Gwen really doesn't know my name?"

Luna paused violently at the woman's words. She narrowed her eyes. "What... do you mean?"

"I mean, Gwen actually knew me a long time ago."

Clover laughed coldly, "Before she and Ben got married, I was already his secretary. She knew my name was Clover Bailey and not just Clover. The name printed on the invitation I gave her was also Clover Bailey..."

She raised her eyebrows and looked at Luna. "You still don't get it? Your good friend knew I sent her the invitation, she knew Ben and I were getting married, but still, she agreed to come. I thought she was really brave enough to appear in our wedding hall. But I never expected, she would not have the guts to attend and instead sent you as fodder."

Luna was stunned.

She was right... If Clover was Ben's secretary, then it was impossible that Gwen did not know her name, that she did not know that the virtual friend who sent her the invitation, was actually Ben's fiancé.

But still, she smiled and said she wished she could attend, that she wanted to see the bride and groom complete their wedding ceremony happily.

Luna closed her eyes.

At this moment, she did not know whether she should be sympathetic to Gwen, or reprimand her.

Daily More New Chapters PDF

Download Here:

<https://ebookscat.com/pursuing-my-ex-wife-isnt-easy-pdf-download/>
