Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover

Chapter 301 - 302

Finally, the three set off to meet the person in charge of the Jetroina Sky Precision project.

Solomon and Sasha took the lead for this meeting while Lance trailed behind them.

“Nancy, I found out that guy is staying in Hilton hotel, so I think it would be best for us to try to meet him there. If we were to meet him at Wall Street, Andy and his men may see us.”

“Sure!” Sasha agreed readily.

Thirty minutes later, they arrived at Hilton hotel.

Her mind was engrossed in her proposals for the other party. When the car stopped, she absent-mindedly got out and headed into the hotel.

Lance was about to follow when Solomon said, “Lance, why don’t you wait for us in the lobby? Your cousin and I are going to meet a client, so it may not be convenient for you to come with us.”

“What is so inconvenient about that? I came to assist her in that too.” The college boy retorted coldly as he alighted from the car, totally ignoring Solomon’s request.

The latter was furious at being given the cold shoulder. He felt Lance was getting in the way and secretly vowed to get rid of him.

He quickly got out of the car to catch up with the Wands, but Lance was already clinging on closely to Sasha.

“Sha, what are we going to discuss later?”

“I was thinking of making a deal with bonds.”

“Bonds? Do you have any?” Lance’s gorgeous eyes widened in surprise.

“Yes, from the Leonard family. When I worked with them previously, I asked for bonds instead of commission. Now that their business is doing well, I assume the bonds are worth quite a bit now. Also, if I am not wrong, they would be useful for Sky Precision if the company wishes to establish itself here,” Sasha casually explained.

Lance was silenced and in awe of her foresight. Few could read the volatile financial markets well like her.

The trio went into the elevator and proceeded to the top floor, where they finally met the Jetronian in charge of Sky Precision.

“How are you, Mr. Hashimoto? I am Solomon, a friend of Mr. Matsushima.”

“Come on in.” The response from Hashimoto was lukewarm, so he probably was not well acquainted with Matsushima.

Solomon was a little embarrassed, but thankfully, Sasha did not read much into it. When Hashimoto allowed their entry, she immediately entered with Lance.

“Greetings, Mr. Hashimoto! I wonder if you still remember me? I was with Mr. Andy Rind when we met at Wall Street not too long ago.”

“Oh, it’s you!” He remembered her.

However, he added puzzledly, “What is the purpose of your visit today? Mr. Rind did not inform me about this meeting.”

Not surprisingly, he only recognized Andy as his business partner.

Solomon was about to speak up for Sasha when she strode over to Hashimoto confidently. “I am not representing Mr. Rind today. I came to meet you on my own.”

“On your own?”

“Yes. I wonder if you have heard about the Leonard family that nearly went into bankruptcy some years back.” She started her sales pitch.

As she had expected, her speech incited an enthusiastic response from the Jetronian.

“Of course! The fact that they made a comeback was headline news back then.”

“Yes, and what I would like to share with you is that I was the one who helped them make that comeback, Mr. Hashimoto.” Sasha smilingly introduced herself and presented some evidence to prove her case.

Hashimoto’s eyes widened in astonishment when he saw the documented proof.

He could not believe the young lady in front of him could help the Leonard family out of that major crisis.

For the longest time, he stood there speechless, looking at the proof, then at Sasha.

It was understandable he had difficulty associating a young lady like her with such a feat.

Sasha gave him a big smile and added, “You don’t believe me, do you, Mr. Hashimoto? Then let me tell you something else. The recent crash of stock price for Hayes Corporation was also my work.”

That revelation stunned both Hashimoto and Solomon, and Lance’s eyes twitched at that shocking news.

What an impressive woman!

Chapter 302

The Jetroinian finally believed Sasha, and they sat down for a serious discussion.

As expected, he was very keen on the Leonard bonds and readily agreed to buy them over at more than double the market rate that was almost ten million.

It was pure net profit for Sasha because she did not pay a single cent for those bonds.

They immediately prepared a contract for the deal to her elation.

Bang!

At that crucial moment, a heavily tattooed middle-aged man wearing a thick gold chain kicked the door to the suite open.

It was Andy.

Everyone in the room was flustered, especially Solomon, since he was the one who proposed going behind Andy's back.

"Well done, Nancy! Why did you not share the good news that you closed a major deal with Mr. Hashimoto?"

"Mr. Rind, I..."

"Mr. Rind, it is my fault. I knew she was in need of the money, so I came up with this idea. Hope you can forgive her on my account." Solomon stood in front of Sasha to take the blame.

Andy was polite when he asked Solomon for help to recruit Sasha, but that changed when he showed his true, arrogant self to Solomon.

"On your account? Mr. George, I have yet to blame you for introducing such an undesirable character to me. Now you have the cheek to ask me to forgive her on your account? How much is your account worth? Oh, sure, I will do that if you hand over the contract she just signed to me," he sneered.

"You..." Solomon was speechless with anger.

However, he could not retaliate at all as Andy's bouncers had entered and filled the room.

"What shall we do, Solomon?" Sasha sounded terrified.

She was not about to hand over the contract to Andy because that was her last asset. If he took that from her, she would have nothing to her name. Moreover, those bonds belonged to her, so he had no right to snatch them from her.

She tried to hide the contract from their sight, but when the men saw her action, they rushed over and demanded, "Hand that over!"

"No! That is mine! Why should I hand it to you?" All colors had drained from Sasha's face. Still, she stubbornly held on to the contract.

At the same time, she looked at Solomon with pleading eyes, hoping he could come to her rescue.

Unfortunately, her friend was in no position to help her, as the man had a knife to his neck.

Sasha was in total despair. A young lad in a blue hoodie stepped up from behind her when the men were about to snatch her contract away.

Lance said nonchalantly, "Sha, since he wants it so badly, why don't you just give it to him?"

"Wh... what?" Sasha's eyes twitched as she watched him take the contract from her hand.

"No, Lennie! I can't let him have that! That is our last hope. If I lose it, I will not have any chance to rebuild our family again!"

"It's alright, Sha. Even if he gets it, he can't get out of the hotel." Lance extended his hand to offer Andy the contract.

His words shocked everyone into silence.

Can't get out of the hotel? What is that supposed to mean?

Does he not realize what is happening now? Is he a moron?

Andy and his men roared in laughter, tickled by Lance's words. They were curious why a young chap like him would utter such boastful words.

On the other hand, Sasha and Solomon were ashen-faced, worried Lance was taking his joke too far with these hostile men.

However, they soon realized those men were not laughing anymore and were staring at Andy in horror.

“What is that? The red dot on your face!”

“Is that... is that... a sniper rifle?”

“Sniper... rifle?”

Chaos erupted as the men dived into hiding positions.

Andy desperately wanted to dive for safety too, but he dared not move a single muscle with the red dot still on his forehead.

“D.. don’t! L-Let’s talk it over, young man!” he stammered as he slowly raised his trembling hands up to a surrender pose.

This twist of event bewildered Sasha and Solomon. They could not believe what they heard!

Sniper rifle?

What sniper rifle? What is happening?

Solomon turned to look at Andy, and sure enough, there was a red laser light right between the latter’s brows!

OMG!

This is unbelievably terrifying!

In the end, Andy had no choice but to leave them alone.

However, once he left the room and was safe from the sniper’s aim, the menacing look returned to his eyes.
