Boss Your Wife's Asking for A Divorce Again Chapter 271

Chapter 271 Titus' Plan, Boss, Your Wife's Asking for A Divorce, Again!

Titus smashed his phone on the ground in a fit of rage. The screen on his phone smashed into pieces with a loud crash, which caused Julia to quickly come over to pat his chest.

"What did Toby say to you that made you so angry?" "He's calling off the engagement!" he roared as he sat down angrily. "It seems like he's really determined to call the engagement off this time and he's even decided on the time to hold the press release." "What?! Does that mean we don't have a chance to talk things through?" Julia's mouth was agape while Titus sighed. "That's right."

"What's going to happen to Tina now?" She couldn't help but be anxious. However, Titus didn't answer her as he wasn't in a good mood. What are they going to do? How would I know? If I have any idea, I wouldn't be sitting here with all the pent-up anger! The only reason why Triforce Enterprise could be one of the top ten enterprises in Seafield was solely due to the Fuller Group. Once Tina's engagement to Toby was called off, Triforce Enterprise would immediately fall from its position and might even be pressured by other enterprises without the Fuller Group's help.

After all, during these few months after she was engaged to Toby, Triforce Enterprise had been taking advantage of their relationship with Fuller Group to steal the resources of other enterprises, so Titus really didn't want the engagement to be called off. As he massaged his temples, Titus suddenly thought of an idea and turned toward Julia. "What if we secure a done deal for Tina and Toby?" "Huh?" She looked confused as he explained with a dark expression, "As long as Toby has had a physical relationship with Tina, he would have no choice but to continue with the marriage unless he wants to be criticized for the rest of his life!" She bit her lips. "Still... Wouldn't that be illegal?" "Of course.

That's the only way to maintain Tina and Toby's engagement." Titus stared at her intently. "Think about it. If the engagement is called off, other enterprises would start attacking us and their wives would laugh at us behind our backs as well. Do you want to be laughed at by others when you hang out with them? Don't you want to spend money on clothes and beauty products as much as you like in the future?" As soon as he said that, a fearful look flashed past Julia's eyes before she quickly shook her head. "Of course I do!" As she was someone born with a silver spoon, she never had to worry about money or inquire about the price of the things that she wanted to buy.

So, she couldn't imagine herself worrying about money whenever she wanted to buy anything in the future. Moreover, all the other wives in their circle buttered up to her because of Toby. If he called off the engagement, her peers would stop treating her well and could even crack horrible jokes about her. She couldn't help but shiver when she thought about that. Upon hearing Julia's reply, Titus smiled in satisfaction. "That's why we have no choice but to do this!" "Honey, how are you planning to do it, though?" she asked worriedly. He narrowed his eyes. "It's easy.

I'll get Tina to ask Toby to meet up at a hotel and ask her to drug him. When it's about time, I'll arrange for some reporters to head over there. If he still insists on calling the engagement off, he will definitely enrage the netizens and they will never let him or Fuller Group off the hook." "I get it now. You're planning to use the public opinion to force Toby to marry Tina." Julia nodded. "That's right. Now, I want you to contact Tina and get her to return home. We need to carry out our plans by tonight and we can't delay it any longer," Titus declared seriously.

She claimed with a conflicted tone, "Tina hasn't been accepting any of my calls, though!" Still, Titus couldn't care less as he rose to his full height. "Continue calling her until she accepts it. After all, we don't have much time." Immediately, Julia stopped talking and followed his instructions by contacting Tina. On the other hand, a man was holding the ringing phone in an abandoned garage as he approached the other two men at the entrance. "Mr. Lee, Tina's phone is ringing again." The man held her phone out while Carl glanced at it. "Ignore it. Just let it be." "Yes!"

Upon hearing Carl's words, the man kept the phone away again. Meanwhile, Tim glanced at his phone. "It's almost time now. You should head in and get them to start the operation. We'll dump her somewhere with a crowd at night." "Understood!" The subordinate's expression became serious before he turned around to enter the garage. At this moment, Tim took his pack of cigarettes out from his pocket. Then, he took two cigarettes out and passed one to Carl, who didn't reject the proffered cancer stick. A terrified woman's voice suddenly rang out from the garage behind them.

"Who are you guys?!" Tina was finally awake. She was forced to regain consciousness after a bucket of water was poured on her. When she woke up and realized that she was in an unfamiliar place with all of her limbs tied up, her face immediately paled. She came to the realization that she was kidnapped again! "Who are we?" The men standing in front of her snickered before all of them rubbed their hands in unison and replied, "We are ordered to give you a special treatment!" At once, Tina's pupils constricted. What is happening? Aren't they supposed to look for Sonia?

Why did I end up here? "That's enough. Why are you guys still talking to her? Get started. I still need to send the footage over to my client." A man was holding a camera and he urged from a distance away. Tina turned toward him. Her eyes widened the moment she did so and she recognized him almost immediately. "It's you!" That was the man who took her to the alley! At this moment, the man's gaze wavered a little before he quickly recomposed himself and faced the camera toward her. "Okay, I'm ready. Get started!" "Alright. Let's get this started."

The men rubbed their hands together again before they chuckled as they headed toward Tina. At the same time, her heart sank as she instinctively knew what they were up to. As her face paled even more, she shrieked in panic, "Stop it! Don't come any closer!" Yet, they ignored her and continued to move toward her. In no time, those men reached her and pushed her to the ground before securing her limbs in place. Then, one of them took a syringe containing a pale pink substance in it. As he flicked the syringe, he smirked at Tina before he teased, "Do you know what's in this?"

This is enough to make a good girl become a bad lady." With that, he injected the substance into her arm under her fearful gaze. Tina's facial expression immediately changed as she started to struggle with all her might while she screamed, "Let me go! I'm warning you guys to let me go at this instant, or I'll make you guys regret ever being alive!" "You'll make us regret ever being alive?" The men couldn't help but snort while the one holding the syringe gave her a slap.

"Ouch!" Tina's face was pushed to the other side from the force of the slap. She could feel her cheek burning as her brain buzzed and the corner of her lips started to bleed. She looked like she was in a mess. Then, the man threw the syringe aside before he grabbed her by her hair and cursed, "How dare you try to threaten us instead of begging us for mercy when you're just our toy?"

Do you think that we are afraid to touch you? If that's so, we can't disappoint you now, can we? I can't believe she used to be the Fuller Group president's ex-wife. I'm getting tingly just at the thought of screwing rich women!"

Chapter 272 Tina's Downfall, Boss, Your Wife's Asking for A Divorce, Again!

The men became excited and they started to shred Tina's clothes into pieces. As she regained her senses, she shrieked with a twisted look on her face. "I'm not the ex-wife of the president of Fuller Group! You guys have mistaken me for someone else! I'm not Sonia!" Tina finally understood why she was kidnapped and why these people claimed that they were going to give her a special treatment. It was because these bunch of fools had mistaken her for Sonia. As expected, the men stopped after hearing her. The man who previously injected her asked as well, "You're not Sonia?!"

Tina, whose eyes were reddened, quickly nodded. "No, I'm Tina. Your client's friend!" "Well..." All of the men turned around to look at the one with the camera. However, the man who was filming replied nonchalantly, "Don't listen to her; she's lying. Our client had mentioned that Sonia has a red mole on her wrist and this girl clearly has it as well, so she's definitely Sonia. Moreover, the client also said that she's an intelligent girl, and she might try to fool us by claiming that she's not just so that she can escape. You guys can't be fooled by her!" Upon hearing that, the men checked Tina's wrist to see a red mole there.

Even Tina was dumbfounded. She had always known that she had a red mole on her wrist, but she never knew that Sonia had one as well! Could this be a coincidence? It is extremely rare to have a red mole, not to mention them being in the same place. It's just impossible! Something's wrong. Still, before Tina could figure out what was wrong, the man who injected her earlier slapped her on the other cheek and roared in anger, "How dare you lie to us?! Guys, let's do the deed!" Then, the other men nodded at each other before they all pounced on Tina as if they had been deprived.

Tim and Carl looked devoid of any emotions as they stood at the entrance of the garage while her pitiful shrieks continued ringing out from inside. They both felt that Tina finally paid for her actions. It was a shame that she tried to get Sonia killed in the first place! Under the street lights' illumination at night, a few suspicious-looking men carried a sack to the city. Then, they threw the bag onto the ground while no one was noticing before they quickly left. Not long after their departure, someone stumbled upon the sack and went to investigate out of curiosity to find a naked girl inside before he quickly filed a police report.

The news of the daughter of Triforce Enterprise's president being found naked and seemingly assaulted went viral on every social media platform. In no time, everyone on the Internet was discussing it. At the same time, Sonia, who was about to head to bed, received an unexpected call from Tim. "Check the Internet!" "Why?" She was confused. Then, he adjusted his glasses. "Remember that I told you that I was going to subdue Tina today?

You can check the Internet for the results." Upon hearing him, the exhaustion in Sonia's eyes immediately disappeared as she got off her bed and walked toward her study room. As soon as she opened her laptop, all of the related articles about Tina popped up before she could even search for them. Sonia saw a video footage after she tapped into the news article. Although the footage lasted less than a minute, it contained a huge load of information. She could see a naked woman being released from the sack by a female police officer. Then, the female police officer covered the naked woman with a rug and escorted her to a nearby waiting ambulance.

The footage ended shortly after the ambulance left. Although the woman's appearance was masked with mosaics, Sonia could still recognize that the woman in question was Tina. "Did you get your men to discard her there?" Sonia took her phone again to ask Tim. He nodded slightly in response. "Yes." "Aren't you afraid of being found out?" Sonia raised her eyebrows. Nonetheless, he chuckled. "Are you worried about me?" "I'm not," Sonia answered lightly. Still, Tim merely shrugged and he wasn't angry at all. After all, how could he be exasperated with his guardian angel?

"Don't worry, no one will discover me," he replied while he stared at Carl, who was seated in front of the computer and tapping away on the keyboard. As Sonia was unaware of his situation, her eyes narrowed. "Are you sure?" "Of course!" Tim nodded once again. His response had caused Sonia to purse her lips. "If that's the case, good luck to you." "Thank you." He chuckled with a deep voice before he asked again, "Do you like the result?" Since she knew that he was asking whether she liked seeing Tina in this state, she smirked a little before replying, "If I'm being honest, I actually do. Still, I'm not one to promote using violence to settle issues. Instead, I would prefer for her to be imprisoned."

After seeing the footage, Sonia finally came to believe that Tim wasn't on Tina's side, which was why she was willing to speak more with him now. "I know what you mean. However, we don't have any criminal record of Tina or any evidence of her committing her crimes even when we all knew what she did to you. We can only do this to subdue her since there's no way to send her to prison," Tim explained as he massaged his temples. Since he used to mistake Tina for his angel, even when he knew that Tina had done something against the law, he would never leave any evidence of her doing so and even helped to clear her mess. At this moment, Tim really regretted having done so in the past. Sonia sighed.

"Yeah, we don't have any evidence. The only evidence I previously had on Tina was also snatched by you too!" If she had the evidence, she would have sent Tina to prison a long time ago. Even if Toby had wanted to protect Tina at that time, he wouldn't have been able to! After all, Tina's voice in the recording was clear and she sounded logical. It was obvious that she wasn't schizophrenic based on the recording. A glimpse of guilt and awkwardness then appeared in Tim's usual cold eyes as he rubbed the tip of his nose. Then, he apologized, "I'm sorry!"

"It's fine. It's too late anyway. What's Tina's situation right now?" Sonia waved her hands before changing the topic to what it was. Tim's glasses reflected the light in the room as he answered, "Her condition is rather bad. She was completely battered as her ovaries were badly injured and had to be removed. She won't be able to get pregnant for the rest of her life." This was the result that Tim had received after checking on Tina before he asked his men to throw her in the city. Sonia inhaled a cold breath. "Seriously?!" The removal of ovaries was an extremely cruel thing to do to a woman.

Still, she figured that it wasn't as bad as Tina wanting to take her life away. After recomposing her emotions, Sonia yawned before saying, "Alright. I should sleep now since it's already late. I'll see what happens tomorrow." "Sure." Tim nodded. "Go to rest." After hanging up, she turned off her laptop and went back to her room. At the same time, Tina was being wheeled out of the operation room and pushed to her ward.

At the side of the hospital bed sat Julia; she was a sobbing mess as she looked at a completely pale Tina, who looked like she was dead. "Tina! My dear Tina... Sob, sob..."

Meanwhile, Titus, who was also in the ward, was smoking by the windowsill when he heard Julia's cries, which further annoyed him. After throwing his cigarette butt on the ground and flattening it, he scolded, "That's enough. Stop crying, it's annoying!" Julia then stopped crying before giving Titus a furious look. "Titus Gray, how dare you become annoyed when I'm crying because of what happened to our daughter?"

"Are you insane?!" "You—" Titus was too stunned to speak before his head started to ache. As a result, he merely sighed. "Alright, alright. Do whatever you want!" Immediately, she started to cry again. "Titus, look at what happened! Why did this befall Tina? This is not how it's supposed to be!"
