

She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement Annulment Chapter 810

/ She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement

Philip didn't look at Iris but stepped aside instead.

When Iris walked out from behind Philip, she was still a little in disbelief. After being trapped by him for half a month, she had become used to it. She didn't expect that she would really be freed.

She took two quick steps forward and came right up to Nora's side.

Nora looked at her.

Iris knew what she meant. She shook her head.

Only then did Nora give a casual wave. With that, the people from the Quinn School of Martial Arts and Jordan's men moved out of the way and allowed Philip to leave.

Philip, however, looked at Iris. "Iris, you can't bear to let us fight, right? I know you are afraid that I would get hurt, so that means I have a place in your heart, right? So why can't we be together?"

Iris lowered her eyes and sighed silently. "Philip, do you know what the biggest regret in my life is?"

Philip immediately answered, "That you didn't leave with me back then!"

However, Iris merely smiled wryly. She really didn't know where the man was getting all that confidence from. Word by word, she said, "My biggest regret is meeting you back then."

Philip stumbled and he stood still. "What?"

Iris slowly said, "I said, my biggest regret is getting to know you. If I didn't know you, maybe I would have been able to live in peace my whole life, right? I could happily get a divorce if I wanted to, and go wherever I wanted to, instead of being trapped by you in the suburbs of New York City for twenty years!"

Philip couldn't believe it. "Iris, I don't believe you. You must be trying to provoke me. Otherwise, why would you make Nora let me go so easily?"

Iris lowered her head. "I just don't want to have anything to do with you anymore. I hope you can respect yourself and never approach me or disturb my life ever again!"

After saying that, Iris turned and left with Nora while Philip stood where he was.

"Iris! You're lying! Everything you said is a lie!"

Philip shouted and rushed over to chase after her. However, he was stopped by Lucas and the others.

"Mr. Coleman, don't force us to take action against you." After Nora and Iris left, Lucas and the others also left one after another.

Only Philip and his men were left.

A shocked Philip stared in the direction that Iris had left. After standing there for some time, he finally looked at Jason and asked, "Tell me, Jason, have I really made a mistake?"

Jason sighed. "Boss, let's go home."

Philip shook his head. "Without her, where would my home be?"

Jason fell silent.

His boss' love was simply too extreme. Probably no woman, no matter how strong or powerful she was, would be able to stand his love, let alone Iris.

Jason was about to say something when Philip suddenly turned around with a cold look on his face. He looked at the man who had tried to grab Cherry just now and suddenly demanded, "Who asked you to attack the child?"

Philip was not a good man.

But for Iris, he'd wanted to keep the last bit of his moral boundaries in front of her.

Upon being questioned by Philip, the man got a huge shock and he got down on his knees right away. "Boss, I was just trying to save you!"

Philip, however, lowered his eyes, turned, and strode away.

Jason, who was following him, heard him say, "There is no need for a man who can't follow orders to return with us."

Jason understood at once.

"Yes, sir."

This meant that he was going to get rid of the man!

Jason followed closely behind Philip. "Boss, you can explain to Ms. Iris that you didn't order the man to do that. This way, maybe she won't blame you anymore."

Philip chuckled. "Would she believe anything I say?"

Jason was taken aback.

Philip said, "She didn't start getting angry at me because of this incident."

—

Iris, who had returned home with Nora, was currently looking at the three precious children. With a sorrowful face, she looked at Nora and suddenly said, "Nora, if you have anything you want to do, then just go ahead and do it. I can look after the children."

Now that Justin was gone, she didn't want to trap Nora with the Hunts.

If Justin was still alive, he probably wouldn't want Nora to be alone for the rest of her life, either.

For her son's sake, Iris had already been miserable all her life. She didn't want Nora to be like her.

Upon hearing this, Nora immediately said, "Yeah, well, it just so happens that I'm about to go and look for Justin too. I'll leave the Hunt Corporation to you for now!"

Iris was stunned by her words. She grabbed Nora's shoulders and said, "... Don't be sad. It has already happened, you have to face reality."

Nora: "?"

She was taken aback for a while. Then, she said, "I'm not sad!"

Iris, however, became nervous. "I understand, you may not be able to accept right away the fact that Justin is gone, but Nora, if you want to cry, then just cry. You don't have to put up pretenses in front of me."

She hugged Nora and continued comforting her. "Justin wouldn't want you to be like this. He loves you so much, he would definitely want you to be happy. Don't waste your own life, life is not just about romance. Besides, you can still find another man if you meet a suitable one in the future... I know it's not appropriate of me to say such things now, but I'm really afraid that you would do something silly... No matter what, you have to stay strong. You still have your father and your children, okay?"

Nora: "?!"

Only then did she realize that she hadn't yet told Iris that Justin wasn't dead!

She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement Annulment Chapter 811

/ She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement

Nora hurriedly said, "Iris... There's something I have to tell you. Justin is..."

"Let's not talk about him anymore, okay? If you're going to look for him, then I'd rather you forget him. Nora, one's life is what matters the most, remember this."

Iris looked at her, her eyes were full of heartache. "I'd always thought that you're a calm and rational person but it turns out that you are just like everyone else when you encounter something like this. Nora, I didn't expect you to love Justin so much. You really shouldn't do anything silly..."

Nora: "..."

The corners of her lips spasmed. At last, Nora found a break in Iris' speech and interrupted her.

"Justin is not dead."

"I know, I know."

Iris nodded.

Nora was stunned. "You do?"

Iris's eyes became even redder. "Yes, he is not dead. He will always live on in your heart."

Nora: "?"

Iris sighed and held her hand. "You should live on properly with him. Justin was only twenty-six years old when he said goodbye to this world. Take him with you as you look at every place in this world." Nora: "..."

"He'd want you to become his eyes and admire the Northern Lights and the frozen Antarctic that stretches on for miles. He'd also want to watch the three children grow up and have their own families... Nora, can you promise me that you'll look at all this for him??"

The corners of Nora's lips spasmed again. At last, she said, "He's not dead yet. He has eyes too, he can see all that himself."

Iris: "?"

She was stunned. "Nora, when you say he's not dead, you mean...?"

Nora nodded. "It's exactly what you're thinking. He's still alive, so he can look at this world! He's not dead!"

Iris: "!!"

The room fell silent for a moment.

After a while, Iris finally understood. Nevertheless, she still asked, "Then where did he go? And why did he fake his death?"

Nora recounted what had happened. In the end, she shook her head and said, "I'm not sure about the specifics, either. He's in Switzerland now. Now that you're back, I'm going to Switzerland to look for him."

Iris asked, "He hasn't contacted you yet?"

Nora nodded, vaguely feeling a little uneasy. Iris frowned. "Surely he didn't hit his head in the explosion and lose his memory, right?"

Nora: "?"

Iris sighed. "That's why he hasn't contacted you all this time—because he has forgotten you. Nora, you should go to him now, but maybe he has already been rescued and is mistaking his rescuer for his lover in his daze. If that's the case, then Nora, hurry and bring him home!"

Nora: "???"

Did she think this was a TV drama? Or a novel?

How could something that corny possibly happen?!

The corners of Nora's lips spasmed. "Well, I have to go to Switzerland now, so I will leave the domestic affairs to you. As for the children... I will have to trouble you to take care of them!"

The journey to Switzerland was fraught with unknown dangers and the V16's whereabouts were still a mystery. Moreover, once she left the States, her days would no longer be this peaceful and crises might happen at any time. Therefore, Nora would never take the children abroad with her.

Iris understood what she meant. "Although I don't know what you guys are planning, since Justin had to fake his death, it must be very important. This is what the two of you have decided. As for me, I shall be your firm and solid support.

"So, Nora, go ahead. Leave the children to me! There won't be any problems!"

Nora nodded.

After handing over the company to Iris, Nora went out. By then, it was already noon. She didn't want to waste even a day, so she got Lily to buy her a plane ticket to Switzerland for the same night.

It was just that... How was she going to tell the three children—especially Cherry—that Mommy would be away for a while?

Cherry was very clingy to Nora. In the past, even when Nora was sleeping, the little girl would stay in the same room as her. Later, after she and Justin acknowledged each other as father and daughter, she was occasionally separated from her, but even so, she would still want to meet her every two or three days.

It could be said that Cherry had never been away from Nora since she was born.

This time, though, Nora would probably be away for a month at the shortest, or three months at the longest before she would be back...

She didn't know how to explain it to Cherry.

While she was troubled over this, Pete and Xander came out of their rooms. The two little boys looked at Nora. "Mommy, are you going to Switzerland?"

Nora nodded.

She looked at Cherry, who was behind the two of them, and coughed. She slowly said, "I can't take the three of you with me this time. Stay at home and take good care of one another, okay?"

Pete and Xander looked at each other. "No problem!"

Sure enough, Cherry pouted. "Mommy, can't you take Cherry with you? I miss Grand aunt!" Nora shook her head. "I have something to do over there this time. I will be back as soon as possible."

Cherry hung her head.

The way she looked was as though she had been abandoned made Nora's heart soften.

Just as she was about to speak, Cherry raised her head. "Then say hi to Grand aunt for me."

"Okay..."

Nora answered.

Cherry turned around sulkily and said, "I won't see you off then, Mommy. I'm afraid it will make me sad."

Nora rubbed her head. "Okay."

The little fellow really was very clingy, so she must really be very sad today.

Her sons were the boys they were, though. Pete and Xander didn't react as pretentiously as Cherry did.

Nora then said, "Okay, I'll go and pack for the trip. You guys can go play!"

"Okay."

The three children ran off after replying.

After Nora packed her luggage, she went out to say goodbye to them. But when she thought of how Cherry had said that she would be sad, Nora simply got in the car and went straight to the airport instead.

However, as soon as she arrived at the airport, she received a call from Iris. "Nora, the children are missing!!"

Upon hearing this, Nora's heart tightened.

She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement Annulment Chapter 812

/ She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement

Nora narrowed her eyes and looked straight ahead of her with a sharp look in them.

The kids were missing?

Philip likely hadn't left the country yet. Did he change his mind and decide to come back?

The thought had only just formed when something suddenly occurred to her, stunning her for a moment. She slowly turned her head and looked at the trunk of the car.

She was silent for a while. Suddenly, she walked over and opened the trunk, upon which she immediately saw the three little fellows hiding inside all curled up.

Cherry, who was at the innermost position, was trying to stretch her legs. "Pete, you're in my space!"

Pete shifted a little. "What about now?"

Xander complained, "You're kicking my butt!"

Nora: "..."

She let out a cough. Only then did the three little fellows raise their heads abruptly and look at Nora. Cherry didn't show any signs of sheepishness from being caught at all. On the contrary, she blinked and said, "Mommy, have we already reached the airport? That was quick—"

Her drawn-out last syllable when she spoke amused Nora.

These three little fellows were too daring!

To think they actually hid in the trunk! It was very dangerous for them to come all the way here like that!

This was especially true when she drove at high speeds. Fortunately, she was on the highway the whole way to the airport, so the roads had been very good. Also, because it was still early and she still had time until boarding, she hadn't been in a hurry and had driven leisurely.

With a displeased look on her face, Nora said, "Who said you guys can do something like this?"

Cherry immediately hugged her arm. "But Mommy, I can't bear to part with you—"

Nora lowered her eyes and took a deep breath. "I know, I can't bear to leave you, either. But there's something very important I need to do in Switzerland, so I can't take you guys with me."

Cherry hurriedly said, "I know, you are looking for medicine to treat Xander's illness, right? If so, then all the more we are going. I can even help Mommy."

Nora spoke very firmly. "No."

Pete said, "But Mommy, we really don't want to be separated from you. We've only just been reunited. Besides, the tyrant is not here anymore. If you leave too, then we..."

He did not finish his sentence.

But there was no doubt that the sensitive Pete must be feeling insecure.

Nora's heart softened a little. But after looking at the children, she nevertheless hardened her heart and said, "You don't have to say any more. I'm getting Uncle Richard to take the three of you home. You three absolutely cannot come with me this time!"

Given how dangerous the situation was, how could she possibly bring them along?

With that in mind, Nora turned to speak to the chauffeur, who had come with her. However, a small hand suddenly grabbed her wrist again.

She lowered her head to see Xander looking up at her. The little fellow was grinning. Whenever he spoke, there was always a somewhat unorthodox temperament around him, his canine teeth were so white that they were gleaming

He slowly said, "Mom, you said today that you'll be in Switzerland for a month at the shortest and three at the longest, but you will definitely be back after that. But what if you can't find the V16, have you thought about that? When you return three months later... Would it be to bury me? Just like how I buried Butterscotch in the soil, are you also going to bury me in there?"

His words completely breached Nora's defenses.

She bent down, lowered her head, and put her arms around Xander. She said, "No, that won't happen, Xander. Don't worry, I will find the antidote for sure!"

Xander continued grinning as he said, "But it's also possible that you won't find it. If so, then I only have three months left to live."

In a low whisper, he slowly said, "For these three months, I just want to be with you and the tyrant."

The stunned Nora was frozen in place.

Indeed.

Her mindset all this time was that Xander had only less than three months left to live, so she had to try her best to find a way out for him. However, she'd neglected something-what if she couldn't find one?

Then, in the last three months of Xander's life, was she going to be away from the boy's side?

She finally gave in. "Okay, I'll take the three of you with me!"

"Yay!" Cherry stretched out her arms and jumped right into Nora's arms excitedly. She circled her arms around Nora's neck and said, "Mommy is the best! At last, we don't have to be separated anymore!"

Pete was also relieved.

Xander beamed, his smile somewhat relieved and courageous.

Every time the topic of death came up, to be honest, he was terrified.

Come to think of it, though, if he could die in Mommy's arms, then it wouldn't seem that scary anymore.

There were still two hours till boarding time. Nora contacted Lily urgently and bought three first-class tickets for the children. Only then did she get out of the car with them.

The group didn't have much luggage. When they were walking to the airport, a troubled Pete even said, "Is it okay that we didn't bring any luggage? We don't even have a change of clothes..."

"Don't worry, Pete! Grandaunt will definitely get everything ready! I'll tell her right away that we're coming to see her soon! I guarantee that Grandaunt will definitely be there to pick us up when we get off the plane!"

As soon as she said that, Nora stopped her. "Don't tell your Grandaunt."

Cherry was surprised. "Why?" Nora explained, "We are going there secretly this time, it's not good for us to attract attention from too many people. So, we won't be going to your Grandaunt's for the time being."

Nora planned to infiltrate the university and search for the V16 straightaway.

Trueman and the other few experimental subjects must all be watching her, especially the expert fighter... She must keep as low a profile as possible!

Cherry was a little disappointed to hear this. "Oh, I see"

She missed her grandaunt so much!

Nevertheless, she nodded sensibly. "Okie-Dokie!"

Fifteen hours later, the plane landed in Bern, the de facto capital of Switzerland.

Nora had lived there for five years, so she was very familiar with everything about Switzerland.

She dragged the suitcase with Cherry sitting on top. Xander and Pete followed beside the suitcase. The group of four got off the plane.

There were foreigners all around, but since both Cherry and Xander had grown up abroad, they didn't find it unusual.

Although Pete had never been to Switzerland, he had been exposed to many things, so he was also very calm.

When the four of them were about to head to the exit, Nora suddenly stopped-because she saw a familiar figure in front!

Before she could react, Cherry had already slid off the suitcase. She ran over and shouted, "Daddy!"

She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement Annulment Chapter 813

/ She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement

Nora was also a little dumbfounded.

The side profile of the man in front was exactly the same as Justin's, especially the height of his nose bridge. Even the firm curvature of his jawline was the same as Justin's.

She was aware that Justin was in Switzerland, that was why she had come to look for him. However, the four of them had stayed very low-key when they came. In fact, when they were buying plane tickets, they had even gotten help from Morris to hide their identities.

Therefore, no one would know that she had come to Switzerland. So, how come Justin was here?

Moreover, if Justin showed up here, then wouldn't he have died for nothing? Er, she meant faked his death for nothing?

While Nora was thinking about this, Cherry had already rushed over. Just as she was about to touch 'Justin's arm, a few black-clad bodyguards suddenly rushed over and stopped Cherry. "Little girl, no going near, okay-?" Cherry: "?" She blinked and pointed at Justin. "I'm here for Daddy!"

But no matter what she said, the bodyguards simply wouldn't let her pass.

Cherry had no choice but to shout at the man standing beyond the bodyguards. "Daddy! Daddy! I'm Cherry! Don't you know who I am anymore?"

A puzzled Nora also quickly walked over.

Perhaps because he heard the commotion, "Justin' finally turned his head and looked over.

The moment he did, Nora and Cherry were stunned.

The man in front of them had a profile almost identical to Justin's, but when seen from the front, there was only a 30% resemblance. Also, the man was pale and a little sickly, and there was a sense of frailty in his eyes, which looked just like Justin's. His lips were slightly thicker than Justin's and he was wearing makeup.

He wore heavy foundation which made him seem a little effeminate. The feeling he gave off was completely different from the cold, inadvertently noble, and sensual one that Justin had.

When he saw Cherry, he was taken aback for a moment. Then, he let out a low scoff. "Are you my fan? Fans these days are really just So... Do they bring their children with them when they go star-chasing now?"

Fans? Star-chasing?

Nora was dumbfounded.

"Ahhh! Kelvin! Look over here!"

While Nora was still in a daze, several female fans around her rushed forward and shouted, "We have been following you since we got to know that you're coming to Switzerland for filming! Kelvin, can you give us an autograph?"

When Kelvin Hart heard this, a touch of a smile flashed across his eyes. He covered his mouth and coughed. Then, he walked over, took the book from the fan, and signed it with a flourish.

Nora especially took a look at his signature his handwriting when he signed his name "Kelvin Hart" was also different from Justin's usual handwriting. She looked at Kelvin at close range again.

The man did indeed resemble Justin very much. However, his makeup was too heavy, so she couldn't tell what he really looked like...

She wanted to observe him some more, but a bodyguard had already walked over and blocked her prying eyes.

After Kelvin gave the fan an autograph, the fan said, "Kelvin, I will always cheer you on! I know you have been overseas for shoots all this time, but wherever you may be, our hearts will always be with you!"

Kelvin's lips curled into a smile. His voice was calm and emotionless as he said, "Thank you."

Those two words, however, took Nora and Cherry aback once more.

Cherry couldn't help but ask, "Are you really not Daddy? But why do you not only look a bit like Daddy but also sound like him?"

Yes, that was right.

Kelvin's voice was also very similar to Justin's.

It was just that Justin's was lower and deeper.

Nora's gaze at Kelvin became even more scorching

She really wanted to remove his makeup and see what he really looked like!

Her gaze was too intense, causing Kelvin to look over. He ruffled Cherry's hair, and then said with a chuckle, "Did your mom play videos of me at home every day and tell you that I'm your father? Thereby giving you the wrong impression? Miss... Please be rational as a fan!"

After saying this, Kelvin gave them another amicable smile and then turned to leave.

Nora wanted to chase after him but was stopped by the bodyguards. "Mr. Hart is very tired. Please go back!"

When the fans heard this, they could only leave.

Nora, however, stared at Kelvin from the back as he departed, somewhat contemplative.

Behind her, Pete and Xander also stepped forward. The two little boys also stared in Kelvin's direction.

He walked out of the airport under the protection of the bodyguards. However, at the exit, he suddenly turned his head and looked at the four of them. The corners of his lips hooked upwards into a sneer, and then he got into the car.

Nora was a little taken aback by that smile of his.

Her sixth sense told her that the man knew who she was!

Yet, he really was rather different from Justin...

When she broke into a frown, Pete said, "That's not the tyrant! Daddy has never smiled like that before!"

In her young and cute voice, Cherry asked, "... Then is he Daddy's twin brother?"

But Xander curled his lips disdainfully and said, "He doesn't look like the tyrant, though!"

After the little fellows finished their evaluation, they looked at Nora again.

Nora had already taken out her cell phone. "We can just ask Google."

She didn't pay attention to the entertainment industry, so she didn't know of Kelvin or whatever his name was.

But if Kelvin really was famous, then there would definitely be information about him on the Internet.

With that in mind, she typed in the search term “Kelvin Hart”. The next moment, information about Kelvin popped up on her phone...

She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement Annulment Chapter 814

/ She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement

There was a lot of information about Kelvin on the Internet. After all, he was a famous Hollywood star with an impressive track record.

Even though he had been filming overseas a lot due to frequent involvement with foreign productions, his status in the American entertainment scene was not low.

The Internet also listed a lot of movies he'd starred in. All of them were big productions, with some even being box office hits. He could be found in all those movies.

Nora usually didn't watch such movies.

The photos on Kelvin's social media accounts were also similar to his appearance from just now. He indeed bore a 30% to 40% resemblance to Justin from the front while in some occasional photos his profile was almost identical to Justin's.

Nora frowned.

One could always hide similarities in appearances from the front with makeup but they wouldn't be able to hide anything with their profile-because a person's skeletal structure was unchangeable!

Therefore, she still wanted to know what Kelvin really looked like under his thick makeup and didn't rule out the possibility that he was Justin.

Nevertheless, Nora still opened up Kelvin's personal schedule.

Famous actors like Kelvin naturally had fans and stans. In fact, some overzealous fans from overseas even immigrated to America just so it would be more convenient for them to follow him everywhere.

Therefore, Kelvin's schedule was publicly listed very clearly. There were even videos as proof.

During the time Justin was with her in America, Kelvin had been filming with a crew... There were pictures to prove it!

At the sight, Nora could only frown.

From the looks of it, Kelvin really was not Justin.

The two men looked so much alike, though. Were they really unrelated to each other?

Nora put down the phone.

Never mind.

It didn't matter what Kelvin's relationship with Justin was. She was here in Switzerland to look for the V16 for Xander, not for a holiday!

Nora put down her cell phone, looked at the children, and said, "Let's find a place to stay first."

Cherry pouted. "But Mommy, if we're not going to Grandaut's, then where are we staying?"

Nora smiled. "I've already made all the arrangements."

Her grandaut had a special status in Switzerland, so there would surely be a lot of people paying attention to her. If the four of them went to her, it would be very easy for them to accidentally expose their identities.

Before she found a suitable excuse for them to be in Switzerland, Nora must keep a low profile.

She went straight to the parking lot with the children. Soon, she spotted an old and rundown car parked below. The car wasn't locked, but there was no one inside.

Nora walked over naturally and opened the door. "Get in."

Obviously, this was part of Nora's arrangements. The three children sat in the back. Nora started the car and drove out of the airport.

On the way, Cherry watched as the familiar environment around her slowly went past her. She suddenly remarked, "It's been so long!"

Pete was observing the surroundings.

Xander pouted and asked, "Mommy, where are we staying? Surely not the basement, right?"

Nora smiled. "Of course not. We'll reach in a sec.”

As she spoke, the car suddenly turned the corner into a residential area.

A bright-eyed Cherry asked, “Mommy, are we staying here?”

“Yup.”

Nora turned a few more corners in the car. Soon, she stopped in front of a villa with a characteristic design. “This is where we’ll be staying.”

The four got out of the car and entered the three-story villa.

The villa was very neat and clean-obviously, someone had cleaned it up.

Nora had lived in Switzerland for five years, so she would certainly have her own connections here.

She took the three children to look at the rooms and allowed them to choose which rooms they wanted. When she was about to take the children out for a bite, someone knocked on the door.

Nora walked over and opened the door to see a man in a black suit outside.

“Hello, Ms. Smith, right? My boss would like to invite you to dinner.”

Nora: “?”

She frowned. “Your boss?”

The man in black nodded. “Yes.”

He shifted to the side and nodded in a certain direction, where Nora saw parked a huge black car. The windows were tinted, so people on the outside would not be able to look inside.

Just as Nora was about to refuse, the van’s window suddenly rolled down a little and the man inside appeared in front of Nora.

His profile was strong and his silhouette well-defined.

He looked so familiar that Nora instantly became a little excited. The next moment, however, the man turned and looked over.

It was not Justin but Kelvin. His lips curled into a smile.

“Wanna know who I am?”

She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement Annulment Chapter 815

/ She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement

The interior of the limousine was luxuriously decorated.

It was only when Nora sat in it that she found that the car was extremely comfortable. The space in the center was very wide and there was even a tray with expensive red wine and crystal wine glasses on it.

After she got in, the man handed her a glass of wine.

Nora raised her eyebrows and took it from him. Before she could do anything, Kelvin had picked up another wine glass and bumped hers, making a melodious clink with the light touch.

The clink resounded in the van.

Just by this action alone, Nora became sure that the man was not Justin.

Justin wasn't so pretentious.

The corners of her lips spasmed and she put down the glass of wine.

Kelvin said, "Drink, and I'll tell you who I am."

The man had a malicious smile on his face and he was slightly leaning forward, his attitude high and mighty.

With her eyes lowered, Nora looked at him.

The man glanced at the wine glass, much like he was forcing her to drink. "Don't you want to know who I am?"

The inside of the van suddenly became quiet.

Nora and Kelvin looked at each other, both with great momentum.

After a while, Nora suddenly said, "I know who you are."

Her words took Kelvin aback.

Nora leaned backwards away from him. "A person who looks like Justin must have blood relations with him. Chester and Roger both look a little like him but neither of them resembles him as much as you—someone who bears a 30% resemblance to him. Right, Kelvin? Or should I say, Calvin Hunt?"

Kelvin was just his stage name.

Many changed their names when they entered the entertainment industry. This was a very common practice.

In truth, though, his real name was Calvin Hunt!

When Nora did a Google search and found that Kelvin and Justin were not one and the same, she'd sent a text message to Howard and gotten him to check the genealogy of their generation. Sure enough, he had found the name Calvin Hunt.

The Hunts would never easily reveal their genealogical information to outsiders.

After all, Nora was not married to Justin, so she was technically not a Hunt yet.

Therefore, Howard hadn't shown her the actual family tree but just a family relationship chart that he had drawn himself.

The Hunts were a century-old family, so they had many branches of lineage.

For example, even Howard and Justin didn't share the same grandfather. Instead, they had descended from sibling grandfathers. Therefore, Howard's family, who lived in and looked after the family home, was referred to as the Californian Hunts. Howard's grandfather was the second oldest among his brothers.

As for Calvin, he was a child from the third brother's line of descent.

His grandfather was Howard and Justin's grandfathers' younger brother.

Because Howard was living in the family home, he had a slightly higher position in the family. However, people on the fringes like Calvin would never be noticed by the main branch—in other words, Justin and his immediate family.

Needless to say, Howard was so cooperative because he was at the stage where he was full of admiration towards Nora, the Big Sister of the Quinn School of Martial Arts. After all, a single sentence from her had allowed him to become Quinn's disciple!

Through the relationship chart he drew, Nora had also figured out Calvin's identity and status.

Although they were distant cousins, Calvin and Justin's grandfathers were said to resemble each other very much. Therefore, it was unsurprising that Calvin and Justin would bear a 30% resemblance to each other.

Nora had exposed Kelvin's—or rather, Calvin's—identity. Calvin was stunned for a moment. Then, his eyes widened in surprise. "Everyone says that my sister-in-law is both smart and beautiful. It seems that it is indeed so."

After he spoke, he smiled again. "It's just a shame that you became a widow at a young age."

There was hostility in his words.

When Nora realized his identity, she'd asked Howard how his relationship with Justin was... Howard's reply to her had been: The two were like oil and water, they were mortal enemies.

Justin was like a big brother at home. He was always high up in the air and he was always the best in everything he did. Children like him were naturally the center of attention ever since a young age.

Under such circumstances, Justin would be faced with two situations:

One where people admired him, like Howard and Chester. Such people saw Justin as an idol. However, the other was with people like Roger and Calvin, who were indignant towards him.

Roger's indignation stemmed from his desire to fight for the Hunts' inheritance.

As for Calvin, he was too far away from the direct line of descendants, so he didn't even have the right to fight for anything. Howard once said that after Calvin grew up, his family had planned to send him to work in the Hunt Corporation. They had also wanted Justin to arrange a good position for him.

But Calvin had his own pride. Without even saying a word to anyone, he'd moved to another city to become an actor.

The Hunts didn't want an actor in the family. After all, just like Katharine Hepburn once said, "Acting is the perfect idiot's profession... and not a very high-class way to earn a living", the Hunts thought very little of acting. Therefore, Calvin had taken on the alias Kelvin Hart in the industry and also told his family not to make use of the Hunts' connections for his career!

Calvin's parents had even approached Justin. They wanted Justin not to help him, in hopes of forcing their son to change his mind.

Therefore, no one knew that Kelvin was a Hunt.

Because of all this, Calvin had become very hostile towards Justin.

Nora couldn't be bothered to speak any further with a rebellious child like him. Calvin looked like he was only 25 or 26 years old. She turned to get off the car.

But at this moment, someone held her shoulder.

Then, Calvin's voice rang out in her ear. "Are you leaving already, Nora? Actually, I called you over to ask you something. Have you heard how some men like playing with their sisters-in-law...?"

She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement Annulment Chapter 816

/ She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement

His tone was ambiguous. When he spoke, his breath almost stuck to Nora's neck.

The hand pressing on Nora's shoulder was not obedient either. It pressed gently and was filled with ambiguity.

Nora's back froze. Just as Calvin's words fell, she suddenly turned back. Immediately, she waved her arm and slapped away his hand on her shoulder!

"Tsk, why? Nora, do you think I don't earn as much money as Justin?"

Calvin leaned closer to her. "But doesn't all the money in the Hunts belong to you now? With the money in your hands and my appearance similar to him... In fact, I don't look any different from him. Everyone says that I'm the most handsome man in the US. Nora, are you not interested in me?"

Nora narrowed her eyes and swept her gaze across his face. She suddenly said, "You're indeed a little handsome."

Calvin narrowed his eyes and looked pleased.

However, the next moment, Nora said, "After all, you look a little like him. Unfortunately, when I see things about you that don't look like him, I'd feel disgusted."

Nora pushed open the car door and got out neatly.

She strode into the villa, leaving Calvin staring angrily at her back in the car!

Calvin was so angry that he gritted his teeth in the car.

What did she say just now? She would feel disgusted by him?

How could this be?!

He was the most handsome man in the Hunts! His facial features were even more iconic than Justin's!

His looks, which were enough to make fans go crazy, were worthless in her eyes?

She was too much!

Too much!!

Calvin was so angry his chest heaved up and down. He glared ruthlessly in the direction Nora had left in and then closed the car door. After the car door was closed, he picked up his phone aggrievedly and made a call. "Hello, Brother. Am I not handsome? Nora is really, really too much!!!"

On the other end of the line was a deep voice. The man paused for a moment and suddenly asked in a low and hoarse voice, "You saw her?"

Calvin said, "Yes, I saw her! She's already in Switzerland. She's quite smart. She knows that staying here won't attract much attention. I even saw Pete. He grew up in the blink of an eye. The last time I saw him, he was still drinking milk..."

After Calvin rambled on, he finally said aggrievedly, "Brother, I don't care. Nora said I'm disgusting. You have to take revenge for me!"

The man opposite him chuckled and said, "Yes, you can come back."

Calvin was stunned. "What for? I still have a shoot tomorrow! One of my scenes is in a university..."

The person on the other end of the line suddenly said, "You don't have to go..."

Calvin: "???"

After Nora returned to the villa, she greeted the neighbor with the three children.

The neighbor was very enthusiastic. "Oh, we're all Americans. We should help each other. By the way, guess where I come from?"

Nora: "Florida?"

The neighbor was shocked. "How did you know?"

Nora returned a polite and awkward smile before taking the children to visit another house.

The people living here were all Americans. The people on both sides of her were also very kind and safe. Of course, Nora had already arranged a few secret guards around to prevent anyone from hurting the three children when she was not at home.

After visiting the neighbors, Nora walked the three children around the area.

After all, if nothing went wrong, they would be staying here for the next three months.

After walking around for a while, they bumped into an old lady when they returned. She was standing in front of their house. When she saw the four of them, the old lady instantly revealed a look of disdain. After sizing them up, she pursed her lips. "What do you do for work? The people living in our villas are all high-class people. We don't want any shady neighbors..."

Nora: "?"

She raised her eyebrows and asked, "What do you mean?"

"You have three children at such a young age. Don't tell me you got pregnant at 17 or 18? Are these three children illegitimate too?"

Cherry immediately placed her hands on her hips and replied, "My daddy and mommy are husband and wife! We're not illegitimate children!"

Being engaged also meant they were husband and wife!

Hearing that, the old lady pursed her lips. "What about your father?"

Cherry: "?"

Nora lowered her eyes and slowly said, "I'm working outside. I don't usually go home."

"Tsk, are you working part-time? How much money can you earn? If you don't have money, why do you have to go overseas? You just want to stay here when you don't even have the money to match our standard of living... Let me tell you, my son has a decent job! He's a director at NTT!"

The old lady raised her chin proudly as she talked.

Nora: "?"

Cherry was stunned. "NTT?"

"Yes, NTT. Have you heard of the company? Let me tell you, my son works there. He's a really respectable person, understand? He's not like you guys. You're working part-time! Can you afford to rent this place? Why do you have to stay here? I advise you to go to the slums!"

Cherry: "!!"

How could she not have heard of it? She had grown up in the NTT headquarters!

NTT was her grandaunt's company!

She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement Annulment Chapter 817

/ She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement

+ - Turn off Reset

Although she could not expose her grandaunt's identity to avoid being noticed, Cherry was not one to be bullied. She retorted, "Grandma, I thought your son was NTT'S boss. So he's also working for someone else!"
They're all working for others, so why is she looking down on them?

The old lady was instantly furious. "What do you know? There's a difference between working for someone else and working part-time! NTT is the hottest company in Switzerland in recent years. Everyone working at high positions there can get a million-dollar annual salary! Your father worked hard every month, but does he have ten thousand dollars? The rent here isn't cheap. In my opinion, you should live on the streets! How many months can you bear the rent here? You're preventing others from renting a house here. You're a dog in the manger!"

Cherry was about to say something when a plump middle-aged woman jogged over. When she heard the old lady's voice, she immediately placed her hands on her hips and scolded, "Hey, what's wrong with you? You promised to live together peacefully in my house. How can you bully the new tenant?"

When Mrs. Long saw the fat woman, she pursed her lips. "Landlady, you have to understand. Who bullied them? Don't make irresponsible remarks. I'm just telling them the rules of living here. Besides, who knows where this woman came from? Everyone who lives here has a clean background!"

The plump landlady retorted angrily, "She's renting my house. What rules are you talking about? If you don't want to stay, then fine. Can't you just leave? Many people are queuing up to rent my house! Besides, this isn't some random person. She's a foreign student from Staav University!"

"Okay, okay, I'll stop talking about it, okay?!" After Mrs. Long said this, she looked at Nora again before turning around. Even though she was far away, she was still nagging softly. "Doesn't she just have a few stinky houses? What's she showing off for? My son works in NTT! He'll be able to afford such a house sooner or later!"

After Mrs. Long walked away cursing, the landlady finally looked at Nora. "Miss Smith, right? Come, there are a few things to take note of in the house. I'll show you."

With that, she opened the door but did not enter first. Instead, she waited respectfully at the door.

After Nora brought the three children in, the landlady closed the door and walked in. The next moment, the arrogance on her face disappeared and was replaced with kindness. "Miss Smith, you're back! Oh, let me see Cherry. Has she gained weight?"

Cherry also smiled and said, "Cindy!"

Cindy was the friend Nora had made when she was overseas. Back then, she was homeless with her husband. It was Nora who took her in and asked her to stay here to collect the rent.

That's right. This row of houses belonged to her. When she had bought and rented them out back then, the price was not high. It was just to give those Americans who came to Switzerland a resting place.

It was just that... Cherry said, "Cindy, why did such a bad old madam rent Mommy's house?"

Cindy smiled bitterly and said, "That old lady sounded too pitiful back then, so I let her rent the house. Her son is earning money now and she wants to bring her sister over to live with her, so she asked me to rent her this house you're staying in. However, Miss Nora asked me to keep it for her, so I didn't rent it. I said that someone has already booked the house. She didn't dare to offend me, so she took her anger out on you." Cherry was stunned. "Why does she have to rent this house?"

Cindy said, "Who doesn't want to rent our place? It's cheap and the house is good. Miss Nora has no intention of earning money from this rent, so many people want to stay here now! Besides, she got her sister to rent a house nearby. Don't worry, their contract will expire next month. When the time comes, I won't rent it to them again no matter what. A person with such a character doesn't have the right to receive Miss Nora's care! Besides, isn't her son rich? Go out and rent an expensive house! She only knows how to take advantage of others!"

With that, she put down Cherry and looked at Pete. "This is Pete, right? I heard from Miss Nora that she finally found you. I haven't seen you before! Your small body is stronger than Cherry's!"

Cindy patted Pete heavily before turning to Xander with a grin. "This little kid must be Xander. Am I right?"

Xander: "..."

He was now as smart as a 14-year-old. He felt so childish when she spoke to him in such a coaxing tone.

The corners of his mouth twitched. He grabbed Cherry and Pete. "Let's go upstairs and take a look!"

"Okie-Dokie!"

Cherry and Pete did not plan to go to school. These three months would be considered a vacation!

The three children went upstairs inseparable. Only Nora and Cindy were left downstairs.

Cindy said, "Miss Nora, go to Staav University tomorrow without any worry. I'll help take care of the three children!"

Nora nodded.

She then gave Cindy some instructions regarding Cherry, Pete, and Xander's hobbies as well as their favorite foods.

The next day, at the entrance of Staav University.

Nora took out her student ID. After handing them to the guard, she entered the school.

She came here as an exchange student from the New York University School of Medicine. Every December, there would be exchange students coming to study.

As a professor at New York University School of Medicine, creating a fake identity and getting a place was a piece of cake.

She needed to report first and then take the opportunity to go to the library to look for files.

After entering the university, Nora was attracted by everything in front of her.

Staav University was indeed one of the top international universities. The environment inside was especially beautiful. As she was admiring it, a voice suddenly came from behind. "Oh my god! Kelvin really came to our university for a shoot!"

She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement Annulment Chapter 818

/ She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement

+ - Turn off Reset

There were many international students at Staav University. The Europeans, Asians, and African-Americans were all harmonious and without discourse. This was the center of academic discussions worldwide. There was no hatred between countries and there was no disdain between skin colors. Everyone who entered this place was a student who worked hard for scientific research.

This was the feeling given off at Staav University.

The approaching aura was filled with youth.

Of course, in such a friendly atmosphere, there were also young people who chased after idols. Therefore, when they heard the cry, many people turned their heads in unison to look at the door.

Kelvin?

He was an international superstar!

Be it his singing, dancing, or acting—they were all remarkable in the industry. Furthermore, he had received the title of Best Actor in Hollywood. This man had conquered all the men, women, old, and young in Switzerland.

Therefore, everyone stopped in their tracks.

However, university students were also well-known figures in their respective fields. They had their own pride, so they were not like the usual fans who swarmed around their idols.

After exclaiming in surprise, they stood politely at the side and watched silently as Kelvin and his assistants walked over.

Nora originally did not want to care about Kelvin.

However, the person walking in front of her stopped and blocked her way. She did not want to stand out, so she simply stopped in her tracks and looked over.

Kelvin was still wearing heavy makeup today. His dark circles seemed like he had not slept for the entire night. The smokey makeup was so thick that Nora could not bear to look at him.

She really did not know how this man was so confident that he was more handsome than Justin.

Nora thought about this and pursed her lips.

However, the next moment, Kelvin suddenly stopped in his tracks and looked in Nora's direction. Their eyes met in the air.

Nora's eyes narrowed and a smile appeared on her lips.

This Kelvin was teasing her yesterday, but he still dared to look at her today?

Nora was just thinking about this when she saw that the disgusting eyes of 'Kelvin' in front of her were very deep at this moment. There was an unfathomable light in his dark eyes.

This familiar gaze made her freeze on the spot as if she had been struck by lightning.

However, when she looked closer, she saw that Kelvin's eyes had returned to their usual warm smile. He smiled and greeted the surrounding fans. This made Nora shake her head.

What was wrong with her?

For a moment, she felt that Kelvin and Justin were very similar.

If she had not personally investigated Kelvin's true identity yesterday, she might have followed him again today to get to the bottom of it.

But now, she did not want to waste time.

Kelvin and Justin were not on good terms. If she went over, she would only be inviting humiliation.

When she thought of this, Nora simply took a few steps forward and walked straight to the Department of Biomedicine.

This time, when she came to be an exchange student, the medical academy's staff was already full. It was not appropriate for her to take someone else's seat. On the other hand, the Department of Biomedicine just happened to have a vacant seat. Therefore, Nora came here as a student of the Department of Biomedicine.

It did not matter which school it was, as long as she could get in touch with the archive room!

She came here this time to get a student card and then go to the file room to look for clues about V16!

The few lines her mother had left in the metal box had directed her to the private room 004 in the Staav University archives.

Nora thought about this and went to report to the Department of Biomedicine. She also prepared a student card.

After all the procedures were completed, she asked the counselor who had handled these procedures, "Excuse me, may I ask how to get to the archive room?"

The counselor was stunned for a moment before saying, "The archive room in our school is the library. Do you want to borrow a few books?"

Library...

No wonder she could not find the file room on the map.

It made sense. It had been more than twenty years since her mother had left the note. The archive room must have ceased to exist long ago. It had probably been merged into a library.

Nora smiled. "Yes, I want to borrow a few books related to the curriculum."

The counselor instantly smiled. "Oh, then you can go to the library. By the way, Lisa, remember to come to class tomorrow. Don't be late."

Lisa was a fake name Nora had given herself.

Nora nodded.

After separating from the counselor, Nora simply walked straight to the library.

Although Nora was already 25 years old and would be 26 years old after the new year, because she looked young and had a slender figure, her fake identity was that of a 22-year-old university student.

As she walked to the library, she bumped into a few boys who came to chat with her.

The atmosphere overseas was more open. After rejecting them, Nora simply went around the field and straight to the library.

However, just as she reached the entrance of the library, a basketball suddenly hit her!

The university students on the field instantly shouted, "Move aside, beautiful girl! Move aside!"

At the same time, everyone's hearts rose. If such a beautiful girl was hit by a basketball, they would feel terrible.

Just as they thought about this, they saw that Nora seemed to have heard the wind. She turned around beautifully and caught the ball. Almost instinctively, she turned the basketball on her wrist and aimed it at the basket, throwing it over gently.

Thud!

The ball entered the hoop.

Everyone was silent. Then, someone suddenly asked in surprise, "Are you from New York?"

Nora nodded.

The person immediately said, "Impressive!"

“Impressive, impressive!”

The others immediately applauded. Nora instantly became the focus of the crowd.

Nora: “...”

She grimaced and continued walking but the boy playing basketball chased after her. “Hi, I’m Jack. May I ask where you’re going?”

Nora: “Library.”

Jack instantly spoke, his teeth white and bright. “Oh, then I’m sorry to tell you that Kelvin’s crew is filming there now. You might not be able to enter... They booked it for two hours.”

Jack looked down at his wristwatch. “You have to wait another hour and a half.”

Nora: “?”

Seeing that the clue to V16 was inside, how could she wait?

She frowned and was in thought. Suddenly, a low male voice came from ahead. “Director, let that girl in. It’ll be too strange if there’s no one in the library. I think she can be an extra with her looks!”

Nora turned around and saw “Kelvin” staring at Jack unhappily.

She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement Annulment Chapter 819

/ She Becomes Glamorous After The Engagement

If Kelvin spoke, the director would definitely agree.

He got someone to let Nora in. Jack instantly raised his hand and shouted, “Hey, director, look here. I want to be an extra too. It’s free! Can I? I can pretend to be a couple with this girl. I...”

“No.”

Before the director could speak, Kelvin rejected him, stunning Jack. He scratched his head in confusion. “Why?”

Nora was also confused.

Jack was already frowning.

Kelvin ignored him and looked at the director. "The scene we're filming focuses on how hard the students work. Acting romantic in the library is bad for the school's image."

Jack instantly understood. "Then I will do something else. Can I read? I can read with this person. Can I?"

Kelvin laughed softly. "No. There are already too many extras."

In the end, it just couldn't be done.

Jack was furious, but he could only watch as the bodyguards and the security personnel on the scene made way for Nora to enter the library.

Nora: "..."

The scene they were filming was a classic Hollywood fight scene. It was about the male lead played by Kelvin who had discovered the secret of genes in university.

As a weak little boy, he was bullied until one day he decided to become stronger.

He and his professor developed the spider gene. The professor used him as an experiment and injected him with the spider gene. He wanted to become Spiderman. He succeeded and his physical abilities really improved, but in the end, he was swallowed by the gene and he became a real spider. His humanity was gradually swallowed up as he became stronger and stronger.

He lost his mind and became a killing machine.

The National Security Bureau sent agents to kill him, but he was too strong. He defeated all the agents alone.

While being chased, he was saved by the female protagonist. During the time they spent together, he went from being ignorant to one with his feelings.

The professor had seen him become stronger, so he injected himself with the genes to become a true Spiderman. He wanted the male protagonist to rule the world with him.

The professor used the video of the male protagonist being bullied to anger him and restrain his gradually awakening consciousness again. The male protagonist accompanied the professor to destroy the city.

In the end, his girlfriend appeared and pulled back the male protagonist with love. She made him suppress his genes and he finally was finally able to control his abilities. He then defeated the professor and saved the city.

At the end of the story, he successfully joined the National Security Bureau and began to protect the world.

In short, it was a story of a person who gradually recovered his humanity with the help of love.

Western blockbusters were all about sci-fi.

Now, they were in the early stages of the filming.

The scene Kelvin was filming today was of the male protagonist being bullied again. He hid in the library while the strong students outside whistled and waited for him to come out so that they could beat him up.

The male protagonist was very flustered and stayed in the library until nightfall.

In the end, he discovered the secret of genes in the library. His high intelligence was recognized by the professor. The two of them hit it off and began the development of the spider gene.

Nora did not know the storyline. She just found it fun to watch Kelvin film.

However, she was not here to watch a show.

She had more important things to do.

She pretended to be a passerby and walked around inside, wanting to look for file 004.

There was a corner in the library where files were placed. In order to make it look real, the male protagonist played by Kelvin was in this corner. An abandoned gene file was needed.

Nora searched in the library. After learning that the files were all in the corner where Kelvin was, she slowly moved over.

This continued until...

“Cut!”

The director suddenly shouted and immediately said to Nora, “Student, may I ask what’s wrong with you? Why do you keep walking in front of the camera? Do you want to get my attention? Or do you want to act too?”

After the director finished speaking, he looked Nora up and down. Then, his eyes lit up. “Hey, there are not many girls as beautiful as you. If you want, I can add a role for you!”

Nora: “... There’s no need.”

The director pestered her. "You may be used to rejecting others but you really don't have to talk to me like that. If you want to act, I can be your guide to enter the entertainment industry." Nora: "There's really no need."

She was not interested in acting at all. She only wanted to complete her mission and go back to sleep!

The director did not believe her. "How could you not want it? If not, then why did you scuttle in front of the camera? I noticed you the moment you entered. You've been trying to approach the camera for a while. Although you're very careful, it's obvious that you're doing this for the camera!"

Nora: "?"

She explained calmly, "I'm not doing this for the camera."

"Then why?"

The director questioned.

Nora: "..."

Of course, it was for file 004!

But could she say that?

No, she couldn't!

She was a new student, so it was very odd for her to need a file from here!

Nora thought about this and was about to reply to the director when Kelvin's deep voice interrupted. "What else could it be for? It's for me!"

Nora: "??"

The director: "?"

Kelvin walked over and looked at Nora. "I know. You're my fan. You're crazy about me, but this is the production team. Please don't interrupt our shoot."

With that, Kelvin touched his nose and looked at the director. "Director, since she likes me so much, why don't we let her stay beside me? Someone has to come to the archives to make it seem more real."

The director: "...Okay, let's do that!"

Nora: "..."

She looked at Kelvin and was about to speak when Kelvin said, "When the filming starts, don't look at me like that. You have to pretend not to know me, okay? Although it's difficult for you to not like me, bear with it for the shoot."

Nora: "!!"

Bear with it?!

Moreover, why was this confident and narcissistic look so familiar?!

Nora was about to speak when the director shouted and the filming began.

She immediately retracted her thoughts and turned to take out a file on the bookshelf.

The file was labeled 009.

009?

Nora's eyes suddenly lit up! The library's files were regularly needed.

They were all placed in order.

If 009 was here, then 004 must be in this row!

As she thought about this, Nora quickly turned around. She retracted all her thoughts, including how Kelvin had taken advantage of her earlier. She began to look for her file in the row seriously...

004 was the V16 her mother had left behind!!

She had to find it!

Sure enough, beside 009 was 008, followed by 007, 006, and 005. Then, beside 005 was... 004!!