The Man's Decree Chapter 371

Chapter 371 Josephine Is Here

"I don't know about the others. But the Phoenix Regiment is definitely going to fight for a share of the Whitaker family's properties. To be honest with you, I have already gotten two real estate agencies of the Whitaker family." Phoenix displayed a cold smile.

"Phoenix, this is preposterous..."

Upon hearing that, Zachariah slammed the table wrathfully, his gaze filled with hostility.

"Why? Do you want to fight?"

Phoenix showed no weakness at all.

At the moment, the two of them were just about ready to pull out their weapons. All the other martial arts families watched closely and did not say anything.

"All right, that's enough..."

Before a fight could break out, Luke stood up and tried to ease the situation. "Based on the rule, what Phoenix said is correct. However, it is a special case between the Whitaker family and the Jantz family. Why don't you both make some compromise? Why don't the Jantz family give out half of the Whitaker family's properties? That will solve everything!"

"That's impossible..."

Zachariah immediately refuted, "I won't give out even a single penny. I swear I will make you pay it if you insist on getting a share!"

He was beyond exasperated. He would not give up a single property of the Whitaker family. After all, he still needed the money to buy the herbs needed for Crescent Sect.

Being the peacemaker whenever there was a conflict within the alliance, Luke was caught in a rock and a hard place when he saw how Zachariah refused to give in. It seemed to him that a fight could not be avoided this time.

“Let’s go with the old rules then. We’ll compete in the arena!”

Just then, Bane, who had been keeping silent all the while, suddenly weighed in. Upon saying that, he stood up and left the scene.

“Sure. Let’s meet in the arena after three days!”

Bane’s suggestion was exactly what Zachariah wanted. The latter left abruptly as well after saying his piece.

“Arena it is! Do you think I will be afraid?”

Phoenix showed no sign of being intimidated and with a harrumphed, she left too.

In the end, Luke was the only one left. He let out a helpless sigh and waved toward the crowd. “All right. The conference is now dismissed...”

The Warriors Alliance Conference only lasted less than ten minutes and ended on a tense note. Even though many martial arts families were not satisfied with the outcome, they were fully aware of their strengths. With that, they had no choice but to keep silent.

Two days later, at Lizbeth’s house.

Jared sat at the dining table, where Lizbeth had prepared a table full of dishes. For the past two days, Lizbeth did not allow Jared to go out because she was worried that the Jantz family might come for him. Yet, to her bewilderment, the Jantz family did not make a move. In fact, they seemed to have forgotten all about Jared.

When Lizbeth was done preparing the meal and was just about to sit down to eat, the doorbell rang.

Her heart skipped a beat at that. Fear overwhelmed her instantly as she thought of the Jantz family.

"Let me get it..."

Noticing Lizbeth's stiff expression, Jared stood up and was about to walk to the door.

However, Lizbeth stopped him and told him to sit down before she headed toward the door cautiously. "Sit down. I'll get it..."

The moment she opened the door, she was stunned by the sight that greeted her. "Josephine? Why are you here in Summerbank?"

Josephine was standing outside with some fruits in her hands.

"I got worried about Jared, so I came!"

Josephine smiled faintly.

"Josephine..."

Hearing her voice, Jared ran to the door excitedly. He felt utterly touched when he saw her.

"Jared..."

Josephine jumped into Jared's arms.

During these few days, Josephine had been worrying herself sick in Horington. After all, Summerbank was not as safe as Horington.

Seeing Jared and Josephine's intimate action, Lizbeth stumbled backward, suddenly unsure of what to do.

"It smells nice. Did Lizbeth cook?"

Josephine stared at the table full of dishes.

"Yes, she can cook well. I've been eating her dish these two days."

Jared nodded.

The Man's Decree Chapter 372

Chapter 372 Matchmaking

Upon hearing that, Lizbeth got anxious and immediately explained to Josephine, "Josephine, I was just worried that the Jantz family might come after Jared. So I asked him to stay at my place. He's been sleeping on the couch..."

Noticing Lizbeth's nervousness, Josephine flashed her friend a smile. "Lizbeth, there is no need to explain yourself to me. I trust you guys!"

Lizbeth was left embarrassed by Josephine's words.

"Did you come here alone? Wasn't it dangerous?" Jared asked Josephine.

"Tommy sent me here. He went to park his car and should be here soon..."

As soon as she finished her sentence, Tommy came in.

"Mr. Chance..." Tommy greeted Jared humbly after seeing him.

"How is it? How are you feeling?" Jared asked with concern.

"I'm feeling fine. In fact, I feel better than before!" Tommy laughed.

"Come on in. Let's have a meal together. I've cooked more dishes today!"

Lizbeth invited Josephine and Tommy to the table.

After eating, the two women went off shopping. It was their favorite thing to do, after all.

Meanwhile, Jared brought Tommy to the Phoenix Regiment. He figured that he should introduce the latter to Phoenix as they were both his subordinates.

“My Lord, do you mean to say that Phoenix Regiment belonged to Dragon Sect too?”

On their way there, Tommy asked Jared with shocked expression.

“That’s right. Phoenix recognized my Dragon Ring right away!”

Jared nodded firmly.

“I didn’t expect the biggest gang in Summerbank is one of ours. With this, you have nothing to fear in Summerbank!”

Tommy was both startled and in awe.

At Phoenix Regiment, Phoenix personally came to welcome Jared.

She was stunned momentarily upon seeing Tommy beside Jared. However, she immediately recollected herself and nodded at Tommy with a smile.

Tommy was stunned, too, upon seeing Phoenix’s smile.

“Hello, I’m Phoenix!” Phoenix extended her hand for a handshake.

Tommy’s face flushed red as he nervously shook Phoenix’s hand. “I’m Tommy!”

“Mr. Lewis, I can see that you’re as great as the rumors say. As the underground king of Horington, your reputation precedes you.”

Phoenix started flattering Tommy.

“Thanks for the compliment...”

Even though Tommy was a great elite, he paled in comparison to Phoenix in terms of strength and influence.

After chatting for a while, Phoenix invited Jared and Tommy to a secret room.

"My Lord, I have something to tell you. The Warriors Alliance will be holding an arena match tomorrow. Since the Jantz family is working against you, I intend to kill Zachariah in the match!" Phoenix said.

"Do you have confidence in it?" Jared questioned.

"Yes!" Phoenix nodded without hesitation. "To be honest with you, my strength is now on par with that of an Internal Energy Grandmaster. I have been hiding my real power so that I could surprise them at the right moment!"

"Well, since you've said so, you have my full support in your decision." Jared nodded. "Can I go watch the arena match?"

"Of course! You can go with me tomorrow if you'd like, My Lord!" Phoenix responded.

After staying at Phoenix Regiment for around half an hour, Jared left with Tommy.

On their way home, Jared suddenly popped a question at Tommy with a smile. "Tommy, what do you think of Phoenix?"

"She's not bad, I guess. She's good-looking and strong too..." Tommy responded without much thought while driving.

"Then, I shall match make you two when there is a chance!"

In truth, Jared had noticed how Tommy had been staring at Phoenix secretly. Not to mention how Tommy's gaze was filled with admiration when he did so.

"My Lord, I don't think that that's appropriate. There is a huge gap between our strength, after all..." Tommy muttered with a dejected expression.

"Don't worry about it! Just leave it to me!"

Upon saying that, Jared leaned back against his seat to rest.
