The More the Merrier Chapter 191

 "I don't even want to know how your daughter got the child. Right now, one thing's for certain. She hasn't been kind to my grandson, so stop begging for my mercy! Let the law deal with her!" Darius snapped.

 "Mr. Graham, Danna didn't mistreat Gavin. Gavin's just naughty, that's all. She had to punish him a little-"

"A little? Have you read the news at all? What else has your daughter done behind everyone's back? Who knows? What a devil! I don't care how naughty my grandson has been. That doesn't give you the right to punish him like that! Get lost!"

Darius' eyes widened as he yelled. He got so angry that his body trembled violently.

Edwin immediately rushed over to the old man and offered some soothing words.

"Mr. Graham, Danna has learned her lesson, so please free her. We can have a nice talk about everything else…"

Zayden decided to let go of his pride and pleaded some more. He was not willing to see his daughter suffer.

"Hmm! I don't give a f*ck what you know. Why hadn't you two talked things over with me when your daughter impersonated my grandson's mother? Do you seriously think an apology is enough?" Darius retorted.

Zayden replied shamelessly, "I truly have no idea that she has done something so foolish. I'm telling you, Gavin is really her son! There's no way he isn't Danna's child. Please don't listen to such nonsense!"

Darius waved his hand, urging the two to leave. "Edwin, get them out of here. I don't want to see their faces ever again!"

By mistreating Gavin, the Adams family had disrespected the Graham family, and had no right to ask for favors.

"It's best you leave, Mr. Adams!"

Edwin had no intention of treating them respectfully after reading the news.

At the same time, he was heartbroken. He never thought Danna would be so cruel to Gavin.

That was unforgivable.

Gavin was the apple of everyone's eyes. They pampered him so much, except Danna.

It was no wonder Gavin was such a quiet kid. There were times he would shut himself off. It was likely all Danna's doing.

It became clear that Darius would not give in. Zayden and Vivian eventually left.

Bang!

Darius vented his anger by slamming his cane against the back of the couch. It broke upon impact.

"Calm down, Old Mr. Graham! It's not worth jeopardizing your health because of what they did!"

Edwin rushed over and comforted Darius again.

He poured the old man a glass of water

Darius' expression turned somber as he instructed Edwin, "Inform everyone that we're no longer on good terms with the Adams family!"

"Understood!" Edwin nodded, and went on his way.

Darius sat on the couch. His lips were tightly pursed, and his presence was an imposing one.

By the time Benjamin returned, it was already midnight.

He frowned when he saw Darius in the living room, still wide awake.

"Dad, why aren't you asleep yet?"

Darius merely glanced at him for a moment before looking straight ahead.

Benjamin walked over and took a seat across him.

"You should go to bed now. It's already twelve!"

Suppressing his anger, Darius questioned his son, "Why didn't you tell me about this? It's gotten out of hand. Have you found Gavin?"

Darius might be mad, but he was more concerned about Gavin's whereabouts.

That was why he insisted on waiting for Benjamin.

Benjamin shot his father a glance before pouring another glass of water and placed it in front of the old man.

"I didn't tell you because I've been busy. No, I haven't found him yet."

Seeing Benjamin so calm, Darius only got more furious.

"Well, keep looking! I don't care how much you spend, but you must get him back! The longer he stays out, the more danger he'll be exposed to! Why did you come back anyway?"
