

Chapter 2449

Zina was also slightly taken aback when she saw Harvey, not expecting to see him here of all places. She said with undisguised disgust, “Senior, this is Harvey. He’s my father’s friend.”

Zina then stared at Harvey with a haughty stare, disdainful. “Harvey, what are you doing here? Do you think this is a place you can come casually?”

Harvey didn’t care for her dislike for him and replied indifferently, “It was your father who called and begged me to come here.”

To prove his words, he whipped out his phone and showed her his call history.

Zina frowned, displeased. She snapped icily, “I don’t know why on earth my father called you.”

“But now that my seniors are here, they’ll definitely be able to handle the Hamiltons' problems!"

"I don't need you here!"

"Well, I guess we can't let you leave in vain since we're the ones who called you. Here, take it! One hundred fifty thousand dollars for your trouble!"

Zina took out a bank card and shoved it into Harvey's hands, her every action exuding arrogance.

Harvey was in no mood to play along with her childishness. He put away the bank card and said solemnly, "Polly Bolton is your mother, isn't she? The yin attacked her heart just now, and she almost died. But I've rescued her, so you can be at ease."

"I need to go to the ancestral hall for a look."

"Stop messing around!"

A middle-aged man hollered, interrupting Harvey's words.

“What nonsense are you spewing? Are you a Feng Shui master, you brat?! Where did you train? How can you spout so much garbage?”

“The Fourth Lady was obviously frightened before! She just had epilepsy and was rescued by the doctor. Why do you sound like you deserved the credit?!”

The man couldn't bear it. An ignorant brat such as Harvey who knew nothing, yet kept talking eloquently and even mentioned how the yin entered the body?

His teacher, Jon Surrey, didn't even say anything yet. Why was this brat who came out of nowhere acting so pretentious?

Most importantly, he had seen how Harvey had quietly accepted the bank card with one hundred fifty thousand dollars. His contempt for Harvey grew ever more.

From his point of view, Harvey was a charlatan who came for the Hamiltons' money.

Fakes live Harvey was responsible for smearing Feng Shui's respected reputation.

Jon Surrey and his colleagues worked to the bone just to rebuild Feng Shui's falling reputation in Hong Kong. As the old saying went, one bad apple spoils the barrel. How could they let one mere brat render all of their efforts vain?

Harvey simply cast a brief glance at the man before saying, "From the looks of it, you're also a Feng Shui master. You should understand what I mean."

"There's a dark mist on her forehead and red rashes around her eyebrows. If that doesn't signify the yin attacking the heart, then what else could it be?”

“If you can’t even understand this, I suggest you stop dabbling in this craft. Feng Shui is the essence of the Great Country H. Not just anybody can learn it!”

“You dare to clamor here and throw your weight around just because you happen to have some mediocre skills? Who do you think you are?”

“Enough! You’re a charlatan, but you have the audacity to deceive others!”

That man commanded heatedly, unwilling to yield.

“Get out! We’ll be taking over the Hamiltons’ problems. We’ll deal with everything in a flash, you’ll see!”

“A fake like you should leave!”

“Deceive?” Harvey frowned, displeased. “On the contrary, I think you're the swindlers.”

“Can't you see that the Hamilton Residence is full of yin energy, and there is the stench of blood everywhere? If we don't deal with it now, there'll be a big problem!”

“Also, are you planning to use these talismans to suppress the yin energy in the mansion? Aren't you too naïve?!”

Harvey then pointed at the yellow papers pasted on the walls, disdain written all over his face. He was thoroughly unimpressed.

Harvey's eyes swept over Jon. “Polly's condition is now stable, but the blood between her eyebrows mustn't be wiped away.”

“Otherwise, she will keep being sick and won't live long.”

Chapter 2450

The middle-aged man's expression worsened when he heard the words, "won't live long."

Jon remained aloof and said nothing, but his eyes instantly became a touch sharper. He stared at Harvey in quiet wonder.

Scarlett cast Harvey a hateful glare, utterly repulsed by him. She hurried to approach Jon to whisper a few words to him, which served to make his eyes narrow.

Then, Scarlett said, "Harvey, do you realize the situation we're in right now? This isn't a place for you to spew your nonsense."

"My master, Jon Surrey, is known as the number one Feng Shui master of Hong Kong."

"Thanks to him, the Fourth Lady was able to return to her normal state."

“So how about you quit it with your ridiculous accusations? We’ll sue you for slander and let you rot in jail your whole life!”

Harvey dismissed her, not even deigning to acknowledge that she was speaking. Instead, he looked at Jon and said, “Don’t you have any idea whether these talismans can solve the situation right now?”

The middle-aged man from before was the one who replied. Angry, he roared, “B*stard, son of a b*tch!”

“Watch the way you talk to my master!”

“Do you have a death wish?”

At this moment, the rest of the Feng Shui masters were also filled with righteous indignation. All of them felt that Harvey’s words slandered their idol.

Were it not for Jon's continuing silence, they would've long cornered Harvey and give him a few beatings to teach him a good lesson!

“A drop of blood saved my mother?”

Zina went to look at her mother, Polly, and saw the drop of blood between her mother's eyebrows. Her expression changed and she let out a scandalized scream.

“Harvey! Who the hell do you think you are?”

“How dare you stain my mother's face with blood!”

“Don't you know that my mother's always been a clean freak?”

“What you did is an insult to her! I'm going to have someone teach you a lesson!”

“Get out of here!”

“Get out of here this instant!”

Zina pointed an angry finger at Harvey, spitting out furious curses.

Many Feng Shui masters echoed her statement and pointed at Harvey as well, shouting in unison, “Didn’t you hear her? Get out now!”

Harvey’s expression instantly became a touch colder. Polly’s life was at stake just now, and she would’ve long died had it not been for him.

Harvey saved her life for Fabian. But with the way Zina acted, he became cold.

Exhaling to calm himself, he said quietly, “Your mother is alright.”

“Good. Otherwise, I’ll kick you and have my men beat you up!”

“You’re so full of yourself! You think I’ll be tricked by you after my father was deceived?”

“Saved my mother with a drop of blood?”

“Ha! Do you think you’re God?”

Zina had Jon and Scarlett by her side, so she was very confident that she had the situation under control. Thus, she let loose all of her disdain for Harvey.

“You shouldn’t have appeared in our world, and you shouldn’t take advantage of us Hamiltons!”

“Take the one hundred fifty thousand dollars and get the hell out of here!”

Harvey took out the bank card from his pocket and threw it on the ground.

“I saved your mother for Fabian’s sake.”

“After all, the King of Gambling asked for my help. Obviously, I must do him a favor!”

“Now that the favor is done, I don’t give a crap about you anymore.”

So saying, Harvey spun around and left without a care.

“You...you’ll see. If anything happens to my mother, I...I won’t let you go!”

Zina, who was forced to bear the full extent of Harvey’s sharp words, trembled with fury. She refused to concede, no matter what. He was wrong, and she was right!

<https://t.me/HarveyTolkEnglish>

Chapter 2451

Meanwhile, the Feng Shui masters from Hong Kong proceeded to check Polly's condition.

All of them let out a sigh of relief when they saw the dark mist on her forehead dissipating and her breathing becoming steady.

Even the number one Feng Shui master, Jon Surrey, was quite astonished by this. He was naturally aware of Polly's condition. However, saving her was a difficult task for him as it required a lot of energy.

However, he never expected someone other than himself could solve this problem so easily.

Zina, who was jumping up and down on the spot, hurried over. When she saw that the Feng Shui masters were silent, she interjected anxiously, "Master Surrey, quickly take a look at my mother!”

“She doesn’t seem fine. She looks calm right now, but she could have a seizure at any time.”

Zina’s face was filled with fear as she said this.

Jon stepped forward for a closer look. He then coughed and said loftily, “Ms. Hamilton, the Fourth Lady is in a very good condition now. She is unlike other people who are afflicted with evil and she doesn’t need an exorcism.”

“Just let the doctor handle it.”

“Also, let her keep this talisman. With this, things won’t go awry.”

Jon took out a yellow talisman and handed it over to Zina.

“Thank you so much, Master Surrey!”

Zina was relieved. Her mother’s critical condition just now terrified her.

Thankfully, everything turned out to be a false alarm. Her mother was quite lucky, and nothing would happen to her.

Immediately afterward, Zina's eyes fell on the drop of blood between Polly's eyebrows. The more she looked at it, the more disgusted she became.

“Son of a b*tch!”

“Using this filthy thing to defile my mother's noble face!”

“I really want to strangle him!”

To say that Zina was annoyed would be an understatement. Grumbling, she grabbed a tissue paper and carefully wiped off the blood between her mother's eyebrows.

Jon and the others didn't say anything. None of them could fathom that it was the blood that saved Polly's life.

On the contrary, the expressions of the doctors who had just participated in the rescue changed drastically. Fear and anxiety colored their faces as they tried to stop Zina. However, they were much too late.

“Di, di, di...”

The equipment that had just returned to normal suddenly emitted a shrill sound.

Zina, who was about to turn around to talk to Scarlett and the others, swiftly turned around and looked back at her mother.

The next second, everyone in the room felt a sudden tingling in their scalps. A strange chill struck their spine, filling them with eerie foreboding.

Suddenly, a dark mist surged from Polly's face at a speed visible to the eye. She was calm only seconds ago, but now, her body began to shake and she began convulsing in pain. Her mouth hung open as foam and saliva escaped her lips.

It was only for a moment, but the situation from before had repeated.

“Epilepsy!”

The doctor nearby looked terrified.

“Hurry up! Think of a way!”

Another doctor trembled in panic and stammered, “What can we do? Call that exorcist!”

“He was the one who calmed the Fourth Lady just now!”

“Without him, we can’t do anything!”

Both Hong Kong and Las Vegas were relatively conservative, with even the doctors believing in exorcism and Feng Shui.

Their words sent Zina's face paling. She stood there frozen, taking in their panic outburst in stunned silence.

Exorcist?

'The exorcist they're talking about... It couldn't be Harvey, right?'

"I-I don't believe it! Y-you're lying!"

Frightened, Zina hurriedly picked up the talisman Jon gave her with shaky hands and stuck it on Polly's body.

Immediately, Polly calmed down and stopped convulsing.

Color returned to Zina's face and a complacent grin made its way to her lips. She scoffed triumphantly, "Didn't I tell you that nothing could go wrong since Master Surrey's here?"

Chapter 2452

“Stop!”

When Harvey left the hall, several bodyguards in black suits followed him.

Despite the way they were dressed, these men were not the Hamilton family's bodyguards.

With cold faces, they glared daggers at Harvey.

The man in the lead was a burly and bald man, not a single hair on his round head. He narrowed his eyes and said to Harvey in a condescending tone, “You're Harvey, right? I'm Master Surrey's bodyguard, Levi Surrey.”

“The Fourth Lady's condition suddenly changed dramatically. Master Surrey thinks this is a good opportunity for him to witness the skills of a greenhorn like you. He hopes you return to the manor and solve the problem.”

“You must understand, Master Surrey is the number one Feng Shui master in Hong Kong. It’s your honor to have him vouch for your skills!”

Although Levi wanted Harvey to return to the manor to save Polly, his mannerisms reeked of arrogance. He saw Harvey as someone far beneath his station.

The way Levi saw it, this was a great honor for Harvey.

“Witness my skills?”

“Solve the problem?”

Harvey remained stoic and unmoved.

“I’m not a Feng Shui master, nor am I working in this field. What’s the point of trying to ascertain my skills?”

“Is there any problem that the even number one Feng Shui master of Hong Kong can’t solve? So much that he needs someone like me to solve it?”

“Don’t you have a lot of talismans? If they don’t work, just use more.”

Harvey wanted to check on Fabian, so he had no intention to waste time on others.

As for Jon Surrey...?

This number one Feng Shui master who came out of nowhere didn’t deserve even a lick of his respect.

“Mr. York, you are putting us in a bad position!”

“Since you insist on being stubborn, you’ve forced our hand.”

Levi’s face was frosty as his tone grew threatening.

“Let me remind you, this is Master Surrey’s order!”

“An order, not a request!”

“I hope you know your place and your status, and what you should do!”

Levi was arrogant as he gloated, his pride growing the more he spoke.

Since Master Surrey had spoken, this brat should immediately accept it and thank Master Surrey for the great honor!

Still, it seemed this brat lacked sense and tact. He seemed to have no intention of sucking up to Master Surrey at all!

Damn it!

“Master Surrey’s order?”

Harvey smiled, but it didn’t reach his eyes.

“You’re just a fraud who knows Feng Shui. Do you think you’ve become a big shot just because people happen to tout you so much?”

“Order?”

“Who does he think he is? How dare he order me!”

“Why should I do him a favor?”

“Because it’s an honor to be favored by the number one Feng Shui master of Hong Kong!”

Levi was shouting now, and his glare at Harvey had grown infinitely colder.

“With just a word from Master Surrey, you won’t be able to survive in Hong Kong and Las Vegas!”

“So what you should do now is to turn around obediently. Go and greet Master Surrey, and see what he wants you to do!”

“Having Master Surrey think highly of you is a great honor for you!”

“If you still refuse, you leave us no other choice!”

“I must apologize, but I’m warning you, we won’t accept a rejection!”

“It’s useless to fool around with us!”

“Now, go quickly!”

Levi was under the impression that Harvey was trying to take advantage of this situation and reap as many benefits as he could.

After all, the one standing he would soon be facing was the number one Feng Shui master of Hong Kong. Many wanted to fawn on him, but were denied the chance!

Knowing all that, this foolish brat didn’t even cherish such a rare opportunity. How could that be possible?

Such a person couldn’t exist! At least, Levi Surrey had never seen someone like that.