Chapter 91

Frank's eyes glinted at the words, and he shot a glance at Ann. Frank declined, "Mrs Chaney, the Chaney Group has the fashion design department as well. Isn't it better for Ann to intern at your own company?" Ann was carried away by the love and caring meant for Jodie without appreciating them. Frank could not understand the Chaney family sometimes. Jodie was still out there missing, and the Chaney family just adopted Ann for the sake of marriage. Ann's face turned dark at Frank's refusal. Before Marilyn could get out a word, Gary saw his chance and broke in with a smile. "Mrs. Chaney, I'm afraid that it is inappropriate to make such an arrangement. Every employee of the Taylor Group made their way with their capabilities. It will only make Miss Chaney suffer if she is recruited just by riding someone else's coattails. *I cant agree with you, Mr. Powell, Ann is the wife-to-be of the chairman; there is no way she would have a hard time in Frank's company." Marilyn's raised his voice as if she was making sure to be heard by Judith and Alissa At a glance, Alissa knew what Marilyn had in mind. Alissa picked up her bag and glanced at Ann, who had been well-protected. She withdrew her gaze disdainfully and looked at Frank. "It seems that Mr. Taylor has been busy. Let's meet another day. We are leaving, Eric!" "Hold on a moment, Ms. Haywood!" Gary quickly called out to Alissa. They had to have the meal together today. Gary had no idea when the next opportunity would be if they missed this chance. "It's alright. We can take a rain check!" Alissa held Eric's hand. Eric waved at Judith and Frank. Alissa turned around and left determinedly with the resounding sound of her high heels. Frank's eyes were still cold. "Gary, Ms. White, please take Ms. Haywood to the restaurant and order some dishes I'll be there soon!" He said grimly. "No problem! Let's go, Ms. White!" Gary couldn't wait any longer. He would just go by himself even if Frank didn't plan on going. Judith answered with a mumble as she looked strangely at Marilyn and followed Gary to leave. Edwin took his leave as well.

Soon, there were only three people left in the transparent and luxurious office. Ann felt so angry that she could not breathe. She stood uneasily behind Marilyn. "Take a seat, Mrs. Chaney." Frank said nonchalantly. Marilyn did not hesitate to pull Ann to sit down on the leather sofa with her. "Frank, that child looks familiar. What does he do? Whose child is he?" Marilyn was deep in thought. She seemed to recognize the child from somewhere before, but she couldn't recall.

"He is the spokesman of our company's children's wear collection we just signed this morning. I am here to inform you, Mrs Chaney, that I will not marry Ann. If you really want to join the Taylor family, well, I am not the only son.. Frank said indifferently while Ann was torn to pieces. Marilyn frowned as she looked at Frank in anger, Marilyn watched Frank grow up

She wouldn't have to do this if Jodie wasn't missing. Jodie had been a sensible and considerate girl since she was a child. If Jodie hadn't left a hole in Marilyn's heart. Marilyn would not have adopted Ann on impulse.

Marilyn didn't adopt Ann for the marriage. Marilyn was at the orphanage when she saw the child resembled Jodie and impulsively brought Ann back.

Chapter 92

Biting her lower lip, Ann looked up at Frank as if she had been greatly wronged. She got up the courage to ask, “Frank, is it because I am the adopted daughter of the Chaney family so that you don’t want to marry me?” Ann would not give up without getting an answer today. Frank narrowed his eyes and raised his chin with a commanding presence. “It’s not about who you are or whether you are adopted or not. It’s just that love cannot be forced.” Despite his usual cold and distant manner, Frank spoke more words than he usually did so that he could have his life in peace in the future. Marilyn exhaled deeply and said earnestly, “Frank, I see what you are saying, but I hope you can give it a second thought about letting Ann work here as an intern. Your company is full of talents with more challenges. People can only grow with competitions.”

“Mom!” Ann looked like she was about to cry. How could Marilyn just let it go? Ann loved Frank, and she would not marry anyone but him. Marilyn did not look at Ann. She knew well about Frank’s temper. No one could force him to do something he didn’t want to do.

Frank stayed silent. A woman like Ann would never keep her nose clean, and Frank wouldn’t want her to mess up his company. “Mrs. Chaney, I should be going now.” Frank had finished what he needed to say.

Frank got up, and the sunlight that came in through the window shone on him, gliding his tall figure with the dazzling beam. Ann looked at Frank with infatuation. This man was the Prince Charming of Ann and countless other girls.

Frank was the sweet dream of Ann that she was desperate for, but he just didn’t feel the same way about her.

In Ann’s eyes, Frank was the brightest star.

Ann stared at Frank's back until he disappeared in her sight. She looked at Marilyn with tears. "Mom, let's not push Frank too hard. Don't worry. I will get in the Taylor Group on my own and earn the recognition from Frank."

Marilyn, on the other hand, had a solemn expression on her face as she smiled at Ann awkwardly. "Ann, I know that you like Frank, but he has been stubborn since he was young. You may try one more time, and if you fail, mom will find you a good man."

Ann cried and shook her head pitifully. And then she smiled confidently at Marilyn. "Mom, I will not give up on Frank. He will love me back eventually if I work harder. "I wonder if I could make Judith go away. Did you see how she flirts with Frank? She is trying to seduce him for sure."

It was the woman's intuition that made Ann naturally sensitive. She could feel that Frank was impressed by Judith. Maybe it was true when people said that the best things were what we could never get.

Instead of staying at home and letting her imagination run wild, Ann might as well come here to work and stay at Frank's side.

Marilyn was not happy with what Ann had said.

"Ann, if you want to be recognized by Frank, you have to prove yourself and make him impressed by your capability. But driving people away?" she said solemnly.

"You may successfully let her out of your sight, but Frank would still have feelings for her. Mom doesn't like such means. Don't ever say things like that again.

Love At First Night Chapter 93

Chapter 93

Ann quickly pulled Marilyn's arm and smiled mischievously. "Mom, I was too anxious and said the words without thinking. I always remember what you teach me. I will definitely get the recognition of Frank with my competency." Marilyn smiled. She didn't pay much attention as she thought Ann was just putting her foot in her mouth, "Let's go home and have breakfast with your father."

Marilyn was not angry as well. After all, she knew Frank's temper.

She felt that Frank was being nice enough today by speaking much more than he usually did. Frank had never given up searching for Jodie, as well as the Chaney family. Marilyn hoped she could wake up one day seeing her daughter again. The mother and daughter got up and left. They were chatting as they walked out of the Taylor Group. Ann looked back at the building behind her with her eyes glittered strangely. There would be a banquet tomorrow night, and Ann has already devised a plan with Gina. "Frank, you must marry me then." Anna thought.

After that, she would not be a lovesick fool anymore. And then Ann could establish her status in the Chaney family after she married Frank. A flicker of darkness crossed Ann's face. She held onto Marilyn's arm and left with a confident look. Frank just got a text message from Gary when Frank came out of the building. Gary and the others were in a pizza shop behind the company. Frank tilted his lips and walked briskly towards the restaurant. He was surprised that Alissa liked pizzas. In fact, Alissa was known for loving pizzas. If someone wanted to treat her to a meal, she wouldn't choose to eat steak or something fancy. Alissa would be happy to drink wine with pizzas. That was what Alissa was like. She was a frank and open person. She was not pretentious, and she was very loyal.

She didn't care what others thought of her. Alissa was even closer with Judith than with her own sister.

Judith and Alissa were very similar in this way, which was why the two of them got along so well. Gary booked a private room. The room was large with a great environment. The melodious light music was very comfortable and enjoyable to listen to. Judith and Alissa chatted happily, and Eric occasionally interjected a word or two. Edwin and Gary sat at the side, feeling awkward. They wanted to speak but failed to join the conversation. Gary and Edwin were both from influential families in Mayfield. Wherever they were, they would be the center of attention. Women always gathered around them and asked them all sorts of questions.

This was the first time women left them out during social engagements. Alissa paid no attention to Gary and Edwin at all. Nobody was as important as Judith and Eric to her. Alissa held Judith's arm. "Judy, I have gained some weight recently. Take my measurements later and make me a few pieces of recent staples. I want them red and black." Judith smiled, "Sure, I happened to have a sudden inspiration a few days ago with a series of couture. I'll do the sketching tonight and make some dresses for you in a few days." All these years, Alissa's clothes mainly were specially designed by Judith for her, and those could not be bought in any store. Alissa was always striking whenever she wore those outfits. Anyone could have an impression of Alissa with just a glance.

"Judy is the best!" Alissa rubbed Judith's arm happily. Their intimacy made all the men jealous. Gary's gaze had constantly been falling on Alissa

Love At First Night Chapter 94

Chapter 94

Gary felt that Alissa was somewhat different from any other woman he had met. Although Alissa was arrogant, she was not spoiled. Alissa was indifferent, but she was also elegant and generous. More importantly, Gary was always attracted by the charm she showed silently. Unfortunately, Alissa had a boyfriend. Gary lowered his head slightly, his eyes filled with disappointment. It was a pity. Before Gary's love for Alissa had even sprouted, it was ruthlessly cut off by Alissa's words "I have a boyfriend." Gary didn't want to give up, but he had to accept the fact no matter what. When Edwin saw that the water had boiled, he carefully placed the vegetables into the pot. Edwin did it slowly. Eric was drinking tea while listening seriously to the conversation. Even though he was still a little boy, he was very calm and steady. Suddenly, Eric's phone rang, and his phone was in Alissa's bag. Alissa took out the phone and took a look. She suddenly said happily, "Well! It's a call from Lucas." Eric heard it. After explaining to Gary and Edwin politely, he took over the phone and left the private room to answer the call. "Lucas! I will go back to Kimshire with Alissa a little later." Just as Frank reached the corner, he heard Eric's happy voice. "Have you signed the contract today?" Lucas, who was on the other side of the line, asked in an emotionless tone. "Yes! The contract has been signed. I will finish it before school starts. Since I will go to school in Mayfield, I can work on weekends or after school. It is not easy for Alissa to support the family alone. I'm glad that I can share her burden." "That's good! Grandma is waiting for your news. I will tell her! Bye!" Lucas hung up the phone. Eric looked at the phone doubtfully. Why was Grandma concerned about his contract today? Without much thought, Eric went back to the private room. Then, Frank walked out of the corner. Frank looked sullen. He heard Eric say “I’m glad that I can share her burden.” Eric’s last sentence lingered in Frank’s ears like a spell. Frank suddenly panicked. Today, he had to get Eric’s hair. Doing a DNA paternity test was the fastest way. When he reached the door, Frank calmed down and pushed the door open. His tall figure was shockingly imposing. Frank walked slowly but steadily. Just his back could fascinate everyone. As soon as Frank came in, Judith and Alissa stopped talking. Alissa smiled without much enthusiasm, and she teased, “Mr. Taylor, you just come in time. The dishes are just ready.” Frank glanced at the seat. There was a vacant seat beside Judith, and Eric was sitting next to Alissa. Frank sat down beside Judith with a satisfied expression and then he said indifferently, “Many thanks to Ms. Haywood and Eric for inviting me!” After Judith heard this, she suddenly remembered what Eric had just said. She wondered if Frank met Eric yesterday. However, Judith did not ask after reflection.

Alissa looked at Frank and said with a smile, “Thanks for your compliments. Mr. Taylor, you are our funder. We can’t afford to offend you! Come on, raise your tea as a substitute for wine. Let’s have a toast and wish us pleasant cooperation.” No one would dislike Alissa’s openness and directness. Frank raised his teacup at her, saying with a smile, “I’m looking forward to a pleasant cooperation!” Few people drink wine at noon as they had to go to work in the afternoon. Driving while intoxicated would bring on-the-spot fines. It would also do no good for one’s business, and that was the most vital thing. Therefore, with tea as a substitute for wine, everyone had no objections,

Love At First Night Chapter 95

Chapter 95

“Ms. Haywood, do you have to leave today?” Gary put down the teacup and looked at Alissa, asking. “Yes. Eric has an event tomorrow morning. Time is tight. I have to put aside the other artists and deal with Eric’s matter first. We can’t stay here any longer.” Alissa explained unhurriedly. If she had not received a call . from the Taylor Group, they would have left last night. “Ms. White, you have a great son!” Gary said with a face full of envy. If Eric was really Frank’s son, it would be the best. Frank was very lonely. If he could have a son, he would finally enjoy some happiness in his bitter life. Judith smiled and did not speak: All her three kids were great. “Gary, send Ms. Haywood and Eric to the airport later!” Frank instructed. Frank did not have the chance to take Eric’s hair, but Gary had. “Alright!” “Thanks, but no!” Gary and Alissa spoke at the same time. The two looked at each other at the same time. Gary chuckled, his eyes full of smiles. Alissa looked away expressionlessly. Gary smiled and said, “Ms. Haywood, let me send you. We are working together now. It’s my duty to send you to the airport.” Alissa didn’t insist since she saw that Gary was insistent. Taking a taxi was costly. Since there was a free ride, she didn’t need to waste it. “Alright, then we’ll leave after the meal! We can’t be late.” Alissa was straightforward, so she freely agreed. Gary suddenly chuckled. If he won Alissa’s favor before she got married, he would have a chance to be with

Alissa

Life was too short. A man should never let go of a loved one. “Don’t worry, I will send you to the airport on time.” Gary’s elegant smile was very charming. He looked deeply at Alissa as if he wanted to see through her. Coincidentally, Alissa just didn’t like this look. Through Gary’s gaze, Alissa wondered if Gary intended to flirt with her. In Alissa’s heart, it didn’t mean that Gary was serious in pursuing her. But in Judith’s eyes, she saw a hint of seriousness in Gary's look. Alissa nodded and didn't speak. "Judith, I want to eat fish balls and fish rolls." Eric was short, and the table was too high for him. Eric knew it was not polite to stand up while other people were having meals, so he simply let Judith give the food to him. "Alright!" Judith was about to pick up the spoon to fish balls when Alissa picked up the spoon and glanced at Eric. Alissa said aggrievedly, "Eric, I'm right beside you. You ignore me and ask Judith to help you. Aren't you deliberately angering me?" Eric chuckled. On his handsome little face, his star-like eyes were smiling brightly. "You are wearing white clothes today. I'm worried that the oil stains will splash on your clothes." When Alissa heard this, she was touched. She thought Eric was such a thoughtful boy. Alissa's voice was tender and cute. "Oh! Baby, you are so sweet and considerate. Okay. Let Judith bring the food for you." Judith also smiled and picked up the bowl in front of her. She scooped up some of the meatballs for each taste and placed them on Eric's plate. "Thank you, Judith!" After Eric said that, he lowered his head and ate happily. As Frank watched, he couldn't help but smile.

Frank was looking forward to knowing the result of the DNA paternity test. Frank had been a steady man and had never expected something so much. But he wanted to know the result immediately. Frank had been carefully observing Eric and he noticed that Eric was similar to him in many ways.

Chapter 96

As Frank thought of this, the smile on his face widened. Then Frank turned to Judith, who was eating gracefully. Judith always had a faint smile on her face, which gave people an impulse to get close to her, but they would also feel that they wouldn't make it. Frank could not suppress the joy, and even Edwin and Gary noticed it. During the meal, everyone surrounded Eric and chatted and laughed, having a good time. This was the first time Frank had attended a lunch party. He had a wonderful time and thought that everyone was very sincere. Frank found that he didn't need to hide his true feelings deliberately and that he could just be himself. After lunch, Gary was going to send Eric and Alissa to the airport. Frank sent Gary a Line message when Gary went to pick up his car. Gary, who had just started the car, heard a message notification sound. He quickly picked up his phone to take a look. "Gary, find an opportunity to get Eric's hair." A smile lit up Gary's face. He knew that Frank couldn't wait. This was the first time Gary had seen Frank so impatient since they became friends. Gary drove out of the parking lot smoothly, picked up Eric and Alissa, and drove to the airport. Judith, Edwin, and Frank returned to the company. However, not far from the restaurant, they met Sherly and Julissa. Besides, the eldest son of the Cooper family, Baron, was also with them. "Mr. Taylor, what a coincidence!" Baron said with a smile. Frank just nodded, his face indifferent. Baron was dressed in a tailored black suit. He looked like his father. With deep-set eyebrows, a round face, and delicate facial features, he was quite handsome. However, Judith knew that her step-brother was a jerk. When Baron was in college, he dated several girls at the same time. Baron even got some girl pregnant and Julissa settled it with money. "Mr. Taylor, you are really nice to this new director of your company. I have never seen you bring Hana out for a meal before." After Julissa finished speaking, she even looked at Judith with a scheming and snobbish look.

Judith smiled as she calmly looked Julissa in the eye. Frank pursed his lips coldly. His face turned sullen. He glanced at Julissa coldly, then slowly retracted his gaze. His voice was emotionless. "Mrs. Cooper, do I have to call you and tell you who I have lunch with today? "Even if I have special care for Ms. White, what does it have to do with you?" If Judith was really Judy, Frank would never forgive what the Cooper family did to Judy. Julissa was somewhat embarrassed as she stood rooted to the ground. Julissa knew that Frank did not care about others' feelings. But she had no idea that Frank would make her lose face.

“Mr. Taylor, that's not what my mother meant. Don't take it to heart.” Sherly smiled and came to the rescue. Obviously, Frank just ignored that as he did not even look at Sherly. Edwin stood at the side with his hands crossed over his chest, watching the show leisurely. Judith was about to say something when Frank glanced at her out of the corner of his eye. Suddenly, Frank opened his lips again. His gaze was very cold, but his voice was neither fast nor slow. “I have a question. Actually, I've wanted to ask you, Mrs. Cooper, if you have any opinions about Ms. White. “Why do you always make insinuation when you see Ms. White? If Hana was here today, aren't you deliberately sowing discord?”

Frank's accusation almost made Julissa lose her breath.

Chapter 97

“Mr. Taylor, my mother didn't think too much when she said those words. You have been generous. Please don't take those words to heart. Well ... I find Ms. White very familiar. “Seven years ago, my adopted sister suddenly went missing. My sister's face was somewhat similar to Ms. White's face.” Baron said with a strange tone and looked at Judith with a fake smile. Judith was not afraid at all as she looked at Baron's eyes that were filled with ridicule coldly and indifferently.

It sounded that in Baron's memory, his adopted sister got lost. What a ridiculous reason! Frank raised his eyebrows and smiled. His tall and elegant figure slightly blocked before Judith. He was like a mountain that no one could push down, protecting Judith firmly. Frank was invisibly protecting Judith with his actions and words. Judith was very grateful to Frank for righting wrongs for her. Frank kept saying coldly, “Mr. Cooper, you must be joking. I have never been generous. If you gossip behind my back, I don’t mind. Nothing will happen. “But Mrs. Cooper said that nonsense to me, and the words will sow discord between my employees.

“Ms. White is very important to the operation of our company. If she leaves our company because of Mrs. Cooper’s sarcasm, the Taylor Group’s business worth dozens of millions of dollars might fail. Mrs. Cooper, you would be the one to blame then!” Frank’s voice was soft and gentle and it was beating the hearts of three Coopers, whose hearts started to hurt more and more as Frank spoke. They even breathed quickly.

Julissa kept the same action in a daze. She froze as she saw Frank move his sexy lips in disbelief. Julissa never imagined that her sarcastic words would make Frank wouldn’t let her go. Frank even charged her for the possible loss of tens of millions. Julissa instantly felt a sense of humiliation spread throughout her body.

Even though Julissa had been in business circles for many years, she did not dare to go against this young genius in front of her. Frank held the lifeline of the entire clothing industry in Mayfield. Even the Cooper family had to rely on the annual order form of the Taylor Group. The smile on Edwin’s elegant face had disappeared. Judith lowered her head slightly and narrowed her eyes. She wanted to laugh but did not dare to do so. Frank’s words were powerful enough to rout someone. What happened just now made Judith believe that. In Judith’s impression, Julissa had never been so humiliated before, who was always above Judith. When Julissa looked at Judith, she would always raise her chin like she was looking at a criminal. In Julissa's eyes, Judith was like a criminal. The three Coopers were completely dumbfounded by Frank's words. Baron was the first to come back to his senses. He swallowed his saliva and smiled flatteringly at Frank. "Mr. Taylor, I'm sorry. I apologize to you on behalf of my mother. I promise you that she will never say such words again. Mr. Taylor, please forgive her this time." Baron's tone of flattery was completely different from the arrogant him just now. Frank lowered his head slightly and gave a half-smile, which was as cold as ice. Frank did not look at Baron. Instead, he shifted his gaze to the pale and embarrassed Julissa and said in a pitiless voice, "You should apologize to Ms. White, not me."

Love At First Night Chapter 98

Chapter 98

Some people know they can't have too much of a good thing when they are with businessmen, But that was not who Frank was.

Frank took Jodie very seriously. Although he had not yet confirmed that Judith was Jodie, he felt the odds were good. After searching for so many years, Frank thought Judith was the most likely person to be Jodie. Frank cared about Jodie so much that he couldn't watch her being bullied by others. When Julissa was looked at by Frank like that, she instantly understood what Frank meant. Frank wanted Julissa to apologize to Judith. Julissa didn't want to apologize to Judith at all. Julissa despised Judith. Julissa felt Judith owed her a lot. However, as Judith White refused to admit that she was Judith Cooper, Julissa could do nothing. After all, Julissa knew nothing about Judith Cooper except Judith Cooper's appearance. However, Julissa knew that Judith Cooper was allergic to mango and pineapple. Julissa decided to verify it if she had the chance. But today Julissa had to get herself out of trouble first. As Julissa had been suffering for many years, she could take temporary setbacks. She didn't want to lose that large sum of money because of herself.

Julissa didn't think it was too hard to apologize. Julissa gracefully took a step forward and looked at Judith. With a smile on her face, Julissa said, "Ms. White, I'm sorry. I made a slip of the tongue. You won't take what I said to heart, will you?" Judith could size up the situation, but she was angry when she saw Julissa. Judith said, "Mrs. Cooper, I heard you traded your adopted daughter for a deal of 2 million dollars seven years ago..." Judith then suddenly stopped talking as if she had said something wrong. Judith looked a little guilty. Looking at Julissa's awkward smile, Judith smiled evilly. The tone Judith raised was a mockery of Julissa. "Mrs. Cooper, I am sorry. It was a slip of the tongue. We are even now." "Where did you hear this news from? Are you slandering me?" Julissa finally couldn't hold back her anger. Her graceful face, with its delicate makeup, was distorted in a somewhat ugly way when she lost control of her emotions.

If this matter were to spread in the upper-class society, it would be disastrous. Frank looked sideways and saw the strange look in Judith's eyes. He felt that she should be upset because she revealed her own scars.

Judith, however, smiled and said apologetically, "Mrs. Cooper, I already said that it was a slip of the tongue. Since it is not true, there is no need for you to be so nervous." Julissa was about to speak when Judith's phone suddenly rang. Judith looked at the caller ID and found it was a call from Adam. Judith smiled apologetically at Frank and walked to the side to answer the phone. "Adam!" "Judy, the Cooper family is throwing its shares," Adam said happily.

Judith looked up and glanced at Julissa who was angry but could not vent her anger. With a bright smile on her face, Judith said, "Adam, is the money I gave you enough? If it is enough, buy all the shares." "Judy, I also have some money. I will use my money to buy the shares if your money isn't enough. You can return it to me when you have money in the future." Adam knew Judith wouldn't borrow money from her easily, so Adam offered to lend it to Judith. "Alright! Adam, thank you!" Judith said gratefully. "Then treat me to dinner tonight. After dinner, let's go to view the house. It's your style." Adam took the opportunity to make a request. "OK! You decide where to eat." Judith agreed to the request without hesitation. "Alright! I'll pick you up after you get off work! I'm hanging up!"

Judith smiled and hung up the phone. Then she walked up to where she was before. Frank looked at Judith and said, "Ms. White, let's go back to the company! It's almost time to work!"

Chapter 99

Frank's eyes were as deep as ink. He was extremely charming. People would be easily enchanted by him. His sexy and thin lips were full of temptation as he looked at Judith with a smile. Judith saw Frank's look and she was a little nervous. She nodded somewhat awkwardly and softly replied, "Alright!" Judith then looked at Julissa who looked pale. Sure enough, people are all the same by nature. When people meet someone who can control their destiny, they can give up their dignity. Compared to the pain Julissa had suffered back then, what she was going through now was not worth mentioning.

Judith would give Julissa a hard time in the future. The three of them then left under the gaze of the Coopers. "Oh my god!" Julissa heaved a sigh of relief. Julissa took a step back as if she had suffered a blow. "Mom!" Sherly quickly supported Julissa worriedly. Sherly thought Julissa had never been like this before. Julissa had been biting the bullet just now. When Frank left, she felt as if she had been paralyzed. There was no strength left in her body. All the people in Mayfield knew Frank was ruthless. There was absolutely no way for the people he wanted to deal with to survive. “Mom, that woman is Judith Cooper. Why didn’t she admit it?” Sherly roared angrily. Sherly’s makeup was messed up. When Sherly saw Judith Cooper’s pure and lovely face, Sherly was very jealous. Sherly hated Judith Cooper since Sherly was a child, and that was because no matter what Judith Cooper wore, Judith Cooper was more beautiful than Sherly. Baron narrowed his eyes slightly. Thinking of Judith’s arrogant look just now, he put on a mocking smile. He said, “How could she be Judith Cooper? She just looks like Judith Cooper. Judith Cooper is not as capable as Judith White. Moreover, Judith Cooper does not have the ability to hold the post of director. “Mom, you don’t have to be angry with Judith and Frank in the future. After all, the life and death of our company still depend on the Taylor Group. Over the past year, the Cooper Enterprise’s stock has been falling. It’s been the same for the past few days. As for Frank, nothing bad can be allowed to happen to him.”

Baron was also afraid of Frank. Baron knew he would lose everything if the Cooper Enterprise went bankrupt. In this society, it is almost impossible for a company to start over from scratch. “I know that. I just didn’t expect Frank to care about that woman!” Julissa remembered everything that happened just now and still had lingering fears. Seeing Julissa frightened like that, Sherly was even more furious. Sherly suddenly raised her eyes to look at Baron. With a frown, Sherly said, “Baron, that woman is obviously Judith Cooper. I can’t be wrong.” “Shut up! Do you really want Judith Cooper to come back? What did you do back then? Don’t you understand that if Judith Cooper wants to come back, she won’t leave seven years ago?” Baron roared. Hearing what Baron said, Sherly and Julissa forced themselves to calm down. “Sherl, send mom back to rest first! I still have things to do in the company.” After saying that, Baron left. As Julissa watched Baron leave, she felt uneasy. Thinking back to what Judith had said, Julissa felt that Judith’s words were hostile. Julissa was nervous and her eyebrows were tightly knitted. “Sherl, your words remind me of something. If Judith left because she knows about what happened that year, then what will she do when she comes back?” A trace of panic flashed through Julissa’s heart.

Chapter 100

Sherly frowned and pouted her pink lips. She thought for a moment and said with a sarcastic smile, “Mom, even if it were her, what can she do? She’s just a miserable creature that has no parents. Okay, mom, I’ll send you back first.”

Sherly supported Julissa to the roadside and stopped a taxi. But Julissa was still worried. She planned to investigate the background of Judith after going back. On the way back, Frank involuntarily slowed down and deliberately walked abreast with Judith. He glanced at Judith who looked beautiful and innocent with an imperceptible smile. His smile was like a cherry blossom which added brightness and charm to the surroundings. He noticed that she seemed to be in a good mood. “Indeed, it’s a pleasure to see Julissa gets her results,” thought Frank. Even Frank had never seen Julissa being in such a panic. Julissa was a tough woman, and she would do anything for what she wanted. So she would naturally make use of Judith, her adopted daughter. The three of them chatted casually, and soon they arrived at the company. Frank was also in a good mood. He spoke all the way back to the company. It even made Edwin doubt whether he was really Frank or not. Judith returned to her office after they arrived at the company. She was satisfied to see her desk neat. However, she began to doubt Myla's identity. Myla was not in the office, so she should have gone to have lunch. But there was still a lot of work to do today. The Autumn fashion designs had been set to be launched. The unsteady things were the fabric and the color, but they were not things to be worried by Judith to worry about. Thanks to the good management of the Taylor Group, Judith had a good team to run all these things. All she needed to do was to give orders in written form. All departments were working in order. Yet they now also produced children's clothes, so Judith's workload increased. She took out colored pencils, pens, and papers and began to design. She would usually use the computer to design after getting a satisfying draft on the paper.

Judith would become totally buried in her work once she started it, so she even didn't notice that Myla returned. And it was already four in the afternoon. It was not until Myla brought the color plates over and asked Judith to confirm the color did Judith stop focusing on her drawing. Myla glanced at the girl who had been lowering her head and focusing on designing. Myla then looked at Judith's designs and found that the children's clothes she drew were all very special and beautiful. It only took Myla one glance at the designs to find that Judith was a very experienced designer. Myla then spoke slowly. There was no arrogance in her tone like before at all. "Ms. White, please check the colors." "Alright!" Judith took the color plates. Then she put it on the table and began to put the work that she had drawn all morning into her handbag. She needed to bring them home for furnishing tonight. Then she would discuss the styles with Frank later before making the electronic version.

The Taylor Group was the fashion leader. Judith opened the book of color plates and saw on the first page the SY fur series that she had long been expecting. The SY fur series were made of the best soft fur in the world. The series could be used to make limited clothes. The fur looked and felt perfect, and it was also durable.
