

Chapter 2599

Kaitlyn Parson looked resentful.

Vince York had prepared a lot for this time. His purpose was straightforward: to crush Harvey York to death one time.

It was said that Morgan Johnson promptly brought his men over after getting a message from Elmer Evans. Hence, Kaitlyn and Vince deliberately came over to watch the fun.

However, the scene they saw was not what they had imagined.

Morgan, who was always arrogant and stubborn, did not stand up for Murphy Evans, but he even respectfully invited Harvey to a meal.

What the hell was going on?!

“Kaitlyn, I’ve told you many times that you have to be calm whenever you encounter big problems. Why are you so anxious?”

Vince seemed indifferent, as if everything was under his control.

“I’ve got the news. When Master Bauer previously appeared at the Dragon Palace’s branch, he sided with Harvey, and Morgan knew about this.

“Morgan is a cunning old man. He wouldn’t take sides easily.

“Inviting Harvey to a meal is most likely to see how strong he is and find out more about him!

“Once he has confirmed that Harvey is a person who lives off people, I’m afraid how respectful he is now, how badly he will end up then.

“After all, there’s one thing Sharon Pearl said is right!

“The Johnsons have indeed risen in the past with the help of the royal family of the Empire of the Sun that Never Sets!

“If Morgan ascertains that Harvey wasn't the successor to Master Bauer, I'm afraid he would attack and kill Harvey right then and there.

“To explain to the Empire of the Sun that Never Sets on one hand and the Law Enforcement of Longmen on the other.

“And lastly, he could also give the Evans, the Yorks of Hong Kong and Las Vegas an explanation.

“What an idea!”

Vince sounded so sure.

Kaitlyn let out a sigh of relief and said softly, “Young Lord York, are you so certain that Harvey isn't the successor chosen by Master Bauer?”

“Of course not.” Vince said indifferently, “Longmen could only belong to the Bauer family, and no one else could own it!

“If Master Bauer chooses an outsider as his successor, Eldest Young Master Bauer won’t agree to it even though all the members of the Longmen agreed!

“Otherwise, why would the Law Enforcement of Longmen come to Hong Kong? Are they really here to preside over justice for the Islanders?

“They’re here to crush Harvey to death!

“Harvey didn’t have much ability, but he is very ambitious.

“Wanting to suppress the people of Law Enforcement of Longmen in Mordu just by having the position as the branch leader of Longmen?

“Does he really think he has become a somebody?”

“Unfortunately, things might backfire on him!”

“With such behavior, it would only let the aloof Eldest Young Master Bauer come forward and trample him to death instantly!”

Vince felt unbelievable when he said this.

According to the information he got, Harvey definitely did not fear death.

Not only did he offend one of the Four Young Masters of Wolsing, Hector Thompson in Mordu, he even offended Eldest Young Master Bauer.

And now, Harvey even offended Vince York when he arrived in Hong Kong and Las Vegas.

At every turn, Harvey was just digging his own grave.

In the end, he might not even know how he died!

Kaitlyn lamented after hearing those words and said, “I see. In this case, Harvey is indeed a grassroots.

“Even after joining our circle, he still doesn’t know what piety is.

“Does he really think he can do whatever he wants with just a little ability?

“He doesn’t know that the world’s a pretty big place!”

Chapter 2600

Kaitlyn Parson repeatedly lamented, apparently not expecting a grassroots who had just risen recently would be fearless of death.

Did he not know that even the second and third generations sometimes needed to behave in their circle?

Acting arrogantly and showing no respect might have offended people that they should not and would end badly.

Just as she was lamenting, her phone suddenly vibrated intensely.

She glanced at it and quickly answered the call. She then showed a surprised look on her face.

“That old man, Morgan Johnson, didn’t step forward to welcome Harvey York.

“Instead, he finds an excuse to leave after bringing Harvey to Emerald House.

“He even let Irene Johnson keep him company. He is planning to sell his granddaughter out!

“Could it be that Morgan is trying to be friends with Harvey?!”

Kaitlyn looked worried when she said this.

If Morgan had a connection with Harvey, then Harvey’s power in Hong Kong and Las Vegas would be greater.

This was certainly not a good thing for Vince York.

“Irene Johnson...”

After a while, Vince slightly squinted his eyes and said indifferently, “Since Morgan has such thoughts, we’ll have to teach him a lesson and let him know that it’s not easy to pull out from my side.

“After all, the two cities, Hong Kong and Las Vegas are the territories of the Yorks of Hong Kong and Las Vegas.

“No one could act boorishly on this turf!!

“Even if it’s Harvey.”

Harvey sat in the main seat at the Emerald House, Hong Kong, looking helpless.

There was a girl sitting opposite him who looked at most in her twenties, smiling.

However, her body was slim, and she had a pretty face.

As for Morgan, he had something urgent to settle, so he left after he had just sat down. Meanwhile, only Harvey and Irene were left there, looking at each other.

This was a blind date!

Harvey instantly understood Morgan's intention after seeing the girl opposite him looking at him with a strange look!

He wanted to introduce her dear granddaughter to him.

Harvey was feeling a little helpless at this moment.

He had no problem attending meals, although he still did not like such a sudden set-up out of nowhere.

Irene stood up after seeing Harvey's weird expression. She poured him a cup of tea and said, "Young Master York, my grandfather really has other urgent matters to attend to. I hope you won't blame him!

"I'll treat you today. You can order whatever you like at the Emerald House. I'll pay for it!"

Harvey smiled and said, "I don't know what are local favorites here. You can just order, Ms. Johnson."

Irene thought for a while and said, "Well, it would be boring if just the two of us were eating. How about this? I'll ask a few friends to come and keep you company. I'll do the honors on behalf of my grandfather."

Harvey did not reject on the idea after listening to Irene's words. Instead, he nodded.

Soon, Irene called some of her besties and a few male friends over.

When her besties knew Harvey and Irene were on a blind date, they started chattering, apparently very curious about Harvey.

This was because Irene was like a princess in their small circle, and all the guys were pursuing her.

However, a guy suddenly appeared to be Irene's blind date. Sure enough, these besties of hers would be very curious about him.

As for those guys, all of them looked at Harvey with strange eyes, apparently very dejected about it.

Chapter 2601

Although Irene Johnson was the eldest young lady of the Johnsons, she rarely came to eat at the Emerald House.

Now that her group of friends were here, this hugely satisfied her ego.

She also did not seek Harvey York's opinion at this moment. Instead, she quickly picked up the tablet on the table and started ordering.

After that, Irene started chatting with her group of friends.

Harvey stayed quiet while looking at this scene.

Even though Morgan Johnson wanted to set these two up, Harvey had no interest in such a little girl.

However, he would only leave after having the meal since he had already come here.

Harvey did not say anything. As for Irene, her eyes occasionally fell on Harvey, including the few besties, and they were also looking at Harvey.

After all, Branch Leader Johnson set him up with Irene. Hence, there must be something special about him, right?

The few guys thought Harvey was awed by the luxurious Emerald House after seeing Harvey being extremely quiet. Suddenly, all of them showed a derisive look, and then they started to compliment themselves.

Those guys were the second generation that was somewhat well-known in Hong Kong.

Otherwise, they would not have gotten along with Irene.

Meanwhile, they showed the Rolex and Omega watches on their wrists, and even took out their BMW key and Benz car keys, flaunting their wealth.

Irene's besties were all in awe while looking at those guys.

Only Irene could not care less about those second-generation guys.

Although Dragon Palace's branch was low-key, its power was certainly on par with the four top-class families in Hong Kong.

Thus, people like Irene abhorred these little tricks.

However, this complemented Harvey, who had been silent and drinking tea quietly without any movements, becoming more mysterious and attractive.

Sure enough, with Irene's ego, she would never come over to talk to Harvey if Harvey did not take the initiative to speak to her first.

Time passed by. About half an hour later, Harvey had finished drinking a pot of Black tea, but still, no waiter came to serve the dishes.

Then, a guy named Rupert Howell stood up. Pop. The door was opened, and he thundered, “Where is the waiter?”

“Why haven’t the dishes been served yet?”

“Hurry up and serve them!”

“If not, just wait to shut the Emerald House down!”

This Emerald House could be considered one of the oldest buildings in Hong Kong.

Moreover, almost all of the upper circle knew that boss behind the Emerald House was the Dragon Palace’s branch.

Many nobles from Hong Kong and Las Vegas liked to come here because of that, considering it to show the Dragon Palace's branch some respect.

As for the Dragon Palace's branch, they had been transferring many shares over the years to thank everyone for their support.

After all, they should make money together!

However, due to those reasons, ordinary people rarely knew that the Emerald House was actually related to the Dragon Palace's branch.

Sure enough, keeping a low profile was also what the Dragon Palace's branch deliberately wanted to achieve.

After all, even though the Dragon Palace's branch was powerful, they had always been low-key in Hong Kong and Las Vegas.

Bang!

Just when Rupert was about to ask for the dishes, the room door was pushed open.

Then, a tall lady with a delicate face in a cheongsam walked in.

She seemed to look about thirty years old, but her skin was flawless. Age did not seem to have left any marks on her.

Her fragrance wafted as she walked closer.

Harvey, who was enjoying his tea, raised his head and glanced at her.

This woman was quite pretty, and her body was also quite good. However, she was exuding a malicious and indifferent aura.

Chapter 2602

“Manager Anderson, what’s the matter? We’ve ordered since half an hour ago, and the appetizers haven’t even been served yet?”

“Are you mocking me?”

Rupert Howell, who was eager to perform, stood up, showing the Omega Speedmaster on his wrist on the one hand, and swinging the BMW car keys on the other, and said condescendingly.

“Dear young masters and ladies, good evening.”

Mabel Anderson slightly smiled, but she did not even glance at Rupert. Instead, her eyes fell on Irene Johnson in the end after looking around the place. She smiled and said, “I’m so sorry, everyone.

“I was just informed that this Heavenly Box has been booked by someone else.

“Moreover, there aren’t any other rooms available at this moment. Could you please enjoy your meal in the hall?”

“I’ve arranged a table for you beside the restroom.

“To show my sincerity, we’ll offer you a twenty percent discount for this meal.”

Mabel smiled at this moment and said her purpose calmly.

“Someone booked it?”

Rupert was displeased.

“Ms. Johnson booked this room, and we’ve been sitting here for so long, and now, you’re telling me that someone else booked this room?”

“And wants us to leave?”

“You must be kidding!”

“Really? It can’t be. The girl at the front desk must have forgotten to tell me in advance. I’ll deal with her later.” Mabel smiled. “But, we’ll still have to settle this.

“Although everyone here is the second-tier young masters and ladies of Hong Kong, you should know that only those with certain status and identity could enter this Heavenly Box, right?

“With all due respect, normally, you aren’t eligible to enter this Heavenly Box even with your status and identities.

“Setting up a table for you beside the restroom is already considered giving you face.

“I hope you can also do me a favor and make our jobs easier. Is it okay?”

Mabel even said it carefully while speaking, “After all, when the few nobles arrive here in a while and see that you're still here, the one who offends them will be you, not us, the Emerald House.

“Can't you see that I'm doing this for your own good?”

Those second generations present looked extremely horrible when they heard this.

The Emerald House was initially established by the Dragon Palace's branch. If some shares were to be sold, the Johnsons still held thirty percent of the shares.

In short, all these staff, including Mabel, were working for the Johnsons.

However, the eldest young lady of the Johnsons, Irene Johnson, wanted to have her meal here, but the manager came and even had the audacity to drive her out. This was undoubtedly disgracing the Johnsons!

Harvey looked at this scene with great interest. Typically, how would a manager of a restaurant have such a low EQ?

This was obviously someone's instruction, trying to mess around with Irene!

Nonetheless, Harvey kept quiet. Instead, he continued drinking his black tea.

He wanted to see whether the other party was coming after him or the Johnsons.

Irene seemed to have figured out at this moment. She stopped Rupert, who was acting angrily, frowned, and asked coldly, "Mabel, tell me, who needs to use the Heavenly Box?!"

"It's Ms. Kaitlyn Parson from the Parsons."

Mabel showed a half-smile.

"Ms. Parson's secretary called just now, stating that Ms. Parson would like to treat some friends to a meal in the Heavenly Box. Thus, we need to empty the room right now.

“Do you understand, Ms. Johnson?”
