

That Can Be Arranged chapter 76

Chapter 76 Hold Him Down

The bodyguards immediately swarmed forward and reached out to snatch the computer from Henry's hands. Of course, Henry refused to give in and protected the computer at all costs while struggling hard. Then, he said, "How dare you! This is my stuff! How dare you try to grab it from me by force!"

However, he was no match for the bodyguards, who were all well-practiced, and after three or two blows, they easily knocked him to the ground.

Henry fell down on all fours and his computer was taken away from him. After that, the bodyguards brought the computer to Silas and Lauren. An elated Lauren said, "Open it for me and remove the software!"

The computer was quickly turned on, but after that, the screen was set with an advanced fingerprint password, which required fingerprints to unlock.

What the hell! Her happiness dimmed as she instantly became furious and ordered, "Bring that brat over and use his fingerprints to unlock the computer."

"Very well." The bodyguard immediately stepped forward and dragged Henry over. Then, he forced Henry's hand on the computer to unlock it.

At this point, Timothy shook with rage. Who would have thought that the venomous Lauren would be so insane as to go this far? He originally wanted to have his friend come over to resolve the issue, but instead, he had caused his friend to be brutally treated like this. He could not help but feel so angry that his face turned purple.

Feeling wrath skyrocketing in his chest, he screamed, "You guys let go of him!"

All of a sudden, he recklessly rushed toward the bodyguards like a fierce beast, trying to drag Henry out of trouble. However, Silas was unwilling to release Henry and strode forward at once to push Timothy aside. "Brat, don't get in the way! Get lost!"

Since Timothy's legs were weak, Silas' push caused his body to uncontrollably fall backward. He fell directly to the ground, his head severely smashing against the corner of the table next to him, sending pain shooting through his head.

Timothy's expression contorted with pain, and all of a sudden, a stream of warm blood flowed from his forehead.

Powered by Hooligan Media

"Timothy, Timothy!" Upon seeing this, Henry was terrified and he desperately tried to break free from the bodyguard's grip to rush over to Timothy.

Unfortunately, Lauren would not give him a chance to escape and she bellowed angrily with fury, "Hold him down! Today, I must make him unlock the computer!"

The several bodyguards had to exert more force to grab Henry, not letting him move. In an instant, chaos ensued. Timothy wiped the blood from his forehead as it profusely flowed while Henry struggled hysterically like a maniac.

As for her, her expression was even more hideous than a mad woman while Silas was entirely dumbfounded.

At this moment, the main door was suddenly kicked open with a loud bang, after which a group of police officers aggressively rushed in. "Do not move!"

Almost all the people inside the house were astonished at the sight. Then, they saw several police officers entering with their guns raised. One of them spoke coldly, "Lauren and Silas Reinhart, you are hereby suspected of kidnapping Timothy Reinhart. Please immediately give yourself up and cooperate with us!"

Silas and Lauren were so shocked that they didn't dare to move while the bodyguards were so frightened that they froze. Henry, who now regained his freedom, immediately rushed over and held Timothy. "Timothy, how are you? Is everything okay?"

At the same time, Tessa rushed in from outside! Obviously, these police officers had come under her insistence. While she was at the police station, the police had initially refused to help her to file a report and she was so desperate that she didn't know what to do next. However, at such a critical moment, Nicholas appeared like an angel from heaven to pull her out of the dark abyss.

After Nicholas talked to the police, they immediately rushed over to the Reinhart Residence, where they of course failed to locate the person. The housekeeper finally cracked under the pressure of the police's questioning and told Tessa that Timothy was being locked up here.

It was after hearing those words that Tessa hurried over. Unexpectedly, when she entered the door, she saw her brother's bloodied face. "Timothy!"

She was so terrified that her face was drained of blood and she rushed over toward him. As she held her brother, she called out, "Timothy, what happened to you? Why is there blood all over you?"

Timothy's face was now pallid and his lips were devoid of color. However, once he saw Tessa, he immediately regained some life in him and asked worriedly, "Tessa, are you okay? Did they do anything to you? Did they hurt you?"

That Can Be Arranged chapter 77

Chapter 77 Please Arrest Them

Even though Tessa didn't understand Timothy, she still said, "I'm fine. They didn't do anything to me."

Timothy was relieved to hear that, and then he realized that he had fallen for Lauren's schemes! What a scheming fox Lauren is; I almost fell for it! Fortunately, Tessa arrived in time.

Feeling reassured, Timothy slightly smiled and tried to comfort his sister. "Tessa, I'm fine. Do not worry."

When Tessa heard this, her heart felt like breaking. How can I not worry? She gently asked Henry, "You should be Timothy's classmate, right? Help me watch over Timothy, okay?"

"Mm." Henry nodded at once.

Thereafter, Tessa stood up, brimming with anger. Her eyes were scarlet with rage as coldness emanated from her. "Who pushed him?" she demanded in all seriousness.

Silas trembled, but he avoided looking at her because of guilt. Immediately, she stared him down. "Was it you?"

At this time, Lauren felt anger rising in her chest, and she could not help but shout, "Tessa, what kind of a daughter are you? How dare you talk to your father like that and even dare to call the police here? Are you nuts?"

Tessa glared at her coldly, and suddenly, she slapped Lauren across the face. Then, she clenched her jaw and gritted her teeth, saying, "You b*tch! Yes, I must have been nuts to think you all would be nice to Timothy because he's related to this family by blood! Now it seems that I really underestimated your hardheartedness! I'm telling you, Lauren, you have a wicked heart! I won't let this matter go just like that."

After saying that, Tessa turned her head to look at the police and solemnly said, "Officer, they are the ones who kidnapped my brother. Please arrest them immediately."

Hearing that, the police were about to go forward, causing Silas and Lauren to panic on the spot. For a moment, Lauren forgot that she was slapped and hurriedly explained, "Officer, you have misunderstood! These are just some family matters. In fact, it is just a family conflict, so how can you accuse us of kidnapping Timothy? Officer, you must not listen to this girl's nonsense!"

Powered by Hooligan Media

Silas also spoke anxiously. "Yes, yes, it's just a conflict in our own family. Besides, I am their biological father, and the reason why I brought my son here is just to talk to him about some things. We wanted to discuss some personal matters, and it is totally not some kind of kidnapping going on."

He fumbled for a pack of cigarettes in his pocket, then handed them over to the police one by one, smiling fawningly. "Sorry for causing you all to make a trip here for nothing. I hope you don't mind. Anyway, there will be conflict in every family. Later, when we are done with our family issues, we will definitely go and personally invite all of you to dinner."

Unexpectedly, the police officers coldly glared at him. "Mr. Reinhart, what do you mean by that? We are here to do business, not to take bribes from you!"

Silas's face suddenly stiffened, and he hastily explained with a smile, "No, Officer. How can this be considered a bribe? It's just that there was some misunderstanding, and I want to make it easy for you."

Snorting, the police officer replied seriously, "Misunderstanding? But according to our investigation, this is not a misunderstanding. You did forcefully kidnap the boy from the school entrance without his consent, and we have gotten confirmation from the school entrance surveillance cameras too. In addition, your so-called bodyguards were pinning this other young man down, and we also saw it with our eyes. As for Timothy, his head is still bleeding even at this moment. How can any of this be fake? Hence, you are not only suspected of kidnapping but also battery! This matter cannot be explained away by mere family conflict!"

The police officer's icy words made Lauren and Silas's expressions change significantly. For a moment, they realized there was no way around for them to argue about this!

The police officer's tone was stern and non-negotiable as he continued, "Okay, no more talking. You two come with us to the police station!"

Then, the officers came up to take them away. Obviously, Silas was deeply reluctant to go with them.

In a state of panic, he no longer cared about anything and suddenly said in a loud voice, "No, Officer! You really misunderstood! I am the chairman of the Reinhart Group, and I usually have a good reputation. How would I even do things that are against the law? Officer, please be more accommodating!"

That Can Be Arranged chapter 78

Chapter 78 This Must Be a Misunderstanding

Lauren was even more alarmed as she quickly begged for mercy. "Yes, yes, Officer, this must be a misunderstanding!"

However, the police officer still had a strict attitude. "It doesn't matter whether or not it is a misunderstanding. Just come with us to the station. We'll find out the truth through the investigation."

His attitude clearly implied that there was no negotiation allowed.

Silas felt chagrin in his heart. He never thought that the police would be so uncompromising, so he was a bit exasperated. Then he suddenly thought about how everything was because of Tessa, immediately turning his head to glare at her. "Tessa, you d*mn girl! You're really something now, aren't you?! Not only did you not help when something happened at home, but you even called the police to arrest your own father. You! You animal! You're simply traitorous!"

Hearing this, Tessa sharply glared back at him. She laughed coldly and replied, "Mr. Reinhart, don't you feel guilty when you say this? Do you still remember how my brother and I were kicked out of the house by you many years ago, Mr. Reinhart? At that time, I begged you to save my brother's life, but you didn't care, and now you are trying to accuse me of being the traitor of the family? I'm sorry, but you're even better at that than I am! And as far as acting like an animal is concerned, you seem to be better at that than me too, right? You didn't care about my brother's life in the first place, but now that you see he is of use, you hurriedly try to acknowledge him as one of you. I think you are the only one who could be shameless enough to kidnap your own son! Honestly, even if you are not ashamed about it, I'm freaking ashamed of you!"

“You!” Upon hearing this, Silas was so furious he almost exploded. “Tessa, I dare you to say it again!”

Tessa’s eyebrows gradually tightened in ruthlessness. “What if I do? Everyone can see what kind of person you really are! Besides, let me warn you, if this kind of thing happens again, I will never let you go! Let’s go!”

After saying that, she leaned down and picked up Timothy, ready to send her brother to the hospital. The police also came forward without saying anything and wanted to take Silas and Lauren away. Silas looked flustered as he thought that he was the chairman of the Reinhart Group after all.

If word got out that I was brought to the police station today, what would outsiders think?

Thinking of this, he immediately shouted loudly and angrily, “Tessa, stop right there! Are you sure you want to do this to me? I am your father! If you treat me like this, aren’t you afraid of karma?”

When Tessa heard the words, she paused and turned back, smiling sarcastically. “Really? I don’t know if I’ll suffer karma, but at least I know that it’s time for you to be punished for all the terrible things you have done in the past now! Enjoy it; it’s all your own doing!”

Powered by Hooligan Media

After saying that, she picked up her brother and left without looking back. No matter how much Silas and Lauren shouted behind her, she no longer paid any attention.

These idiots! Would they do what they did if they knew they would face this today?

Soon, all the people walked out of the house. At this time, the luxurious dark gray Rolls-Royce was still waiting at the roadside. After hesitating for a while, Tessa slowly walked over with her brother and gently knocked on the car window. The car window slid down, revealing Nicholas’s impeccable face and powerful aura.

Biting her lip subconsciously, Tessa felt some apprehension but still asked, “President Sawyer, it’s hard to hail a cab in this neighborhood, so will you please send us to the hospital?”

Nicholas raised his indifferent gaze and glanced at Timothy’s blood-stained forehead, then let them in without saying a word. At this time, Henry also followed along. He was still clutching the laptop in his hands, and there were bruises on him. Thus, he went to the hospital together with the others.

On the other hand, Silas and Lauren were also escorted to the police car without pity. Sophia had never seen this scene before, so she felt terrified in her heart. She hurriedly caught up with them, calling out desperately, "Dad, Mom!"

"Sophia!" Lauren's eyes brimmed with tears. Silas, on the other hand, was calmer. Before he left, he made sure to tell her daughter what to do next.

"Sophia, it's okay. Talk to Mr. Fisher, our company's lawyer, and have him help bail me out. Do you hear?"

That Can Be Arranged chapter 79

Chapter 79 Business Matters

"Mm-hmm, I will!" Sophia was reduced to tears, but she could only watch Silas and Lauren being sent away in the police car.

...

After Tessa sent her brother to the hospital, she immediately had him undergo medical examinations and had his wounds bandaged. Fortunately, other than suffering some superficial wounds, there was nothing serious about Timothy's injuries, and Tessa could not help but breathe a sigh of relief when she heard that, feeling much more relieved in her heart. After her brother got the wounds treated, they all left the hospital.

At this time, Tessa unexpectedly saw that Nicholas had not left yet and was still waiting outside. Thinking about what had happened today, she bit her lip and immediately went forward to thank Nicholas. "President Sawyer, thank you so much for today. If it weren't for your help, my brother might still be locked up right now."

She was really grateful to him from the bottom of her heart this time. After all, if he hadn't been there, she really wouldn't have been able to guarantee that she could get her brother out by herself alone.

Nicholas's expression was as usual, without the slightest ripple. He said indifferently, "It's not a big deal. As long as you're all fine."

As they were talking, Henry happened to come out with Timothy. Seeing his sister talking with a man, Timothy was slightly surprised, so he went close. "Who is this, Tessa?"

Smiling, Tessa quickly introduced, "Timothy, this is President Nicholas Sawyer of the Sawyer Group."

Once Timothy and Henry heard who this man was, they were both stunned, especially Henry, who immediately snapped into a proper posture. It was widely known that the Sawyers were the top family in the country and that the president of the Sawyer Group was a legendary figure.

Both of them didn't expect Tessa to know this man. However, Tessa did not notice anything and continued to smile. "Timothy, in fact, I was only able to bring the police over thanks to the help of President Sawyer. Without him, I really may not be able to save you."

Upon hearing that, Timothy quickly came back to his senses, then politely bowed. "Thank you, President Sawyer."

Powered by Hooligan Media

Nicholas still looked indifferent; he simply said in an icy voice, "No need to thank me. It's not a big issue. Since you're fine, I will leave first."

Tessa nodded slightly and said, "Don't worry about Greg. I will go over to teach him."

Hearing this, Nicholas looked at her deeply for a moment, then nodded and was about to leave. Unexpectedly, before he could step away, Timothy suddenly shouted after him, "President Sawyer, please stay for a minute!"

Stopping, Nicholas slightly raised an eyebrow and looked back in confusion. "Is there something else?"

Timothy's heart was pounding, and his breathing was a little quick. He subconsciously gulped and finally gathered the courage to ask, "President Sawyer, are you free? May I take up some of your time? I have some business matters that I want to talk to you about."

On hearing that, Tessa and Henry were startled. The latter naturally knew what Timothy wanted to do, and all of a sudden, he too got a little excited, and his gaze also shone. Nicholas's deep eyes were slightly averted, but he was a tad surprised. Originally, he was planning to find an opportunity to talk about this, but he did not expect the other party to take the initiative to approach him.

However, Nicholas was not impatient. His black eyes swept across Timothy, and seeing the bandage around his head, he could not help but ask in a light voice, "Will you be fine?"

"I'm f—" Timothy wanted to say he was fine, but after talking for some time, he felt a little dizzy and stumbled backward suddenly. When Nicholas saw this, he said without changing his expression, "There is no hurry. Since you are not feeling well, go back to rest first, and we can set another time to discuss work-related matters."

Hearing this, Timothy had no choice but to nod. "Okay, then have a nice day, President Sawyer."

No longer hesitating, Nicholas turned around and quickly left. After the Rolls-Royce drove away, Tessa breathed a sigh of relief. Turning her head, she asked in a slightly puzzled tone, "Timothy, is the work-related matter you guys discussed just now about the software you developed?"

Timothy replied, "Yes. I developed a piece of software with Henry, and it was also the reason Silas came for me."

That Can Be Arranged chapter 80

Chapter 80 A Favor

"I see." Tessa nodded, then added, "No matter what, you'd better get well first. Let's talk about the rest later."

Timothy nodded docilely. "Okay. Thank you, Tessa."

Tessa smiled happily but felt a little worried in her heart, so she added, "But Timothy, you should not go home these days. Go and live on campus for a while, where it is safer."

Timothy understood she was worried about the Reinhart Family going to their house to look for trouble, so he naturally nodded in agreement. Then, he couldn't help but ask, "Then where would you live?"

Startled, Tessa realized she had forgotten to consider where she would stay at night. It seemed to be a difficult problem. However, she thought that things would naturally fall into place, and so she gently smiled while reassuring her brother. "Don't worry, I will find a place to stay."

Although Timothy was not at ease, there was no other way, so he nodded. On the side, Henry was a little confused, so he asked, "Tessa, are you worried about that family looking for you again? But haven't they all been arrested already?"

Tessa smiled bitterly. "What's the use of being arrested? They will be released sooner or later. It's just a matter of time. The danger from the Reinhart Family still exists, and considering what they are like, they will never let us go now that they were harmed by us."

Hearing this, Henry could not help but fall silent, sighing quietly inside. Timothy and Tessa are really unlucky to have such a horrible father!

Of course, Henry did not dare to say this aloud. After all, it was akin to rubbing salt on their wounds, so he simply just kept it in his heart.

Then, Tessa thought of something and asked gently, "Henry, may I ask you for a favor?"

"Yeah. Tell me." Henry nodded.

Powered by Hooligan Media

Smiling, Tessa then said, "Actually, it is not a big deal. I just want to ask you to help take care of Timothy because he is physically weak. Now that he is injured, I feel uneasy letting him stay on campus. So, I hope you can help him with things. As for today's incident, I'm really sorry to involve you in it and cause you to be injured."

When Henry heard this, he smiled brightly. "Tessa, you are too polite. I am Timothy's good friend, and I have thick skin, so they did not hurt me at all."

Tessa smiled even wider as she praised, "You are courageous and righteous. Timothy is lucky to meet a good friend like you. Anyway, thanks a lot."

Faced with the compliments, Henry felt a little embarrassed and blushed without saying another word. Soon, they arrived at the campus. Before the two got out of the car, Tessa continued to remind her brother, saying, "Timothy, if anything happens on campus, remember to call me. Take good care of yourself."

Timothy nodded obediently, then smiled. "Don't worry, Tessa. I will take care of myself. You take care of yourself too."

Satisfied with the answer, she said no more. After that, she watched the two enter the gates before leaving and heading to Dynasty Gardens.

"Miss Pretty Lady is back!"

When Tessa entered the door, Gregory did not expect her to come back so soon and was surprised. His unhappy little face lit up, and he immediately rushed over with his short legs before he hugged Tessa's leg.

Likewise, she also smiled warmly. Squatting down, she lovingly rubbed the little boy's head and asked, "When I was not at home, what did you do?"

Gregory sprang up and said, "I was with Grandma!"

At that, Tessa was stunned, and when she looked up, she saw Stefania. Stefania was now sitting on the sofa quietly, her expression somewhat serious and her gaze complicated when she looked at Tessa.

When Gregory had food poisoning, she blamed Tessa at the first instance, causing the atmosphere to become very awkward. Unexpectedly, in the end, she had wronged someone innocent.