

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Chapter 1911

Chapter 1911

Lumi was in front of her. Wearing a beautiful tight skirt, the whole person is full of delicacy and a bit of innocence.

“Sure enough, it’s you. I heard Joseph said that you were leaving, so I came here. Isn’t it a coincidence!” Lumi smiled excitedly.

Nicole smiled, “Why are you here?”

“Of course I came to visit my sister.”

Lumi flipped her hair, “The two most important things in life are making money and loving my sister!”

Nicole slightly restrained her smile and glanced at Julie.

Julie’s expression was also a little stiff.

Lumi, who was kept in the dark, still cared for this half-sister?

I’m afraid I don’t know, my corners will be dug away, right?

Julie coughed: “Samuel is here too? Is he so busy?”

Lumi snorted and sat across from them, picked up another fork and tasted some dessert unceremoniously: “Where did he go with him? Is it related to me? It’s impossible to report whereabouts to me, anyway, just send me money in time every month!”

Nicole breathed a sigh of relief, if it was such a relationship, the truth would hurt Lumi much less.

Julie obviously thought so too.

But in the next second, Lumi suddenly laughed and looked at them with squinting eyes: "But my husband is still very kind to me, I didn't tell him about my birthday yesterday. He didn't know who he was asking, and he deliberately asked people to Prepared a gift for me, called me to apologize, my words were sincere, and I was not angry at all."

Julie's face changed slightly, and she stopped talking about what she wanted to say.

Last night, she seemed to see Samuel and Kirsi together.

Lumi was immersed in self-righteous happiness. It makes people feel pitiful, but can't bear to break it.

Nicole paused, "Lumi, do you... like him?"

Lumi was stunned, blinked, and immediately concealed the blush and panic on her face.

"I like his money, because he likes what I like. When Samuel came to talk about marriage with my dad, he came to my door many times just to marry me, saying that he had a crush on me for a long time, and my dad agreed... .."

The love on her face and the arrogance in her tone are her confidence in this marriage.

Don't tell her about some things.

Otherwise, how will she face it?

Nicole lowered her eyes and smiled lightly: "That's it." Lumi leaned forward and said, "I told you when I played play-cards last time that there was a little fox beside Clayton, did you catch it?"

She hasn't forgotten?

The little sympathy I had for her just now disappeared.

Julie also held back a smile and did not speak.

Nicole twitched the corners of his mouth: "Thank you for your concern, let's take care of your husband!"

Lumi shook her head innocently: "What should my husband care about? He has all his heart on me, I love it to the death. I just hope he likes me less or it will suffocate me."

Nicole was speechless.

For some reason, she turned around and left. She is the one who should suffocate!

Julie changed the topic in a timely manner, and calmly mentioned another matter related to her: "How do you know that Kirsi is filming here? I heard that Samuel also has investments..."

Lumi was stunned For a moment, her eyes narrowed.

Julie knew that Lumi was filming here because she was watching the stills posted by her circle of friends. But she didn't know that Samuel also invested in the play.

Lumi's smile was genuine: "It's not worth mentioning how many dramas she's cast in!"

"I heard the first female lead was temporarily replaced by Kirsi, did Samuel do it?" Nicole gritted her teeth.

She was about to remind Lumi emphatically. If she doesn't understand again, she's in big trouble.

Lumi frowned slightly and stretched: "Isn't this quite common? Perhaps my husband gave my sister a chance because of my appearance."

Nicole was taken aback. She was speechless.

Julie gave her a sidelong glance and shook her head.

I can't keep going.

Nicole sighed in frustration.

The next time she and Julie talked about Joseph, Lumi sat there boredly listening. Listening to the noise over there gradually faded away unconsciously.

The black fans have had enough and have left.

After a while, another group of people arrived.

"Kirsi has arrived... Quickly stand up and prepare to shoot!"

Nicole and the others all looked over when they heard the field manager yell.

A luxurious car arrived slowly.

"My sister and the big star Kirsi is here." Lumi exclaimed, "come with me, you can get a free autographed photo, you don't have to line up, let's go..."

Julie and Nicole pretty sure that they don't want to go there.

But Lumi wouldn't let the two of them go, so she dragged Nicole and the others away, taking the dessert they hadn't touched yet.

"Try it on my sister; she's been eating this since she was a child!"

Lumi couldn't even pretend to keep her heart safe.

Nicole and Julie were dragged to the front of the line.

Kirsi's car came to a halt, and someone opened the back door.

Kirsi emerged from the car dressed in a foggy purple costume, and her behaviour was amazing, with her seductive facial features saying nothing.

It was too easy to entice, and everyone present calmed down excitedly as they waited for Kirsi to arrive.

Lumi became even more ecstatic and continued forwards.

But there was another person in the car after Kirsi got out. The man is tall and straight, handsome and romantic, with a noble aura and an exceptional demeanour.

Lumi, who had just walked in front of him, came to a complete stop as soon as the man got out of the car.

Samuel, you're staring at her in disbelief.

How could he possibly be here?

When Nicole and Julie saw Kirsi and Samuel, they froze.

Something seemed wrong when the two looked at each other.

How could this be so coincidental?

They simply discussed it!

Kirsi was the first to notice Lumi. She carried her skirt proudly and waited for the assistant to open the umbrella.

When she raised her eyes, he was stunned to see Lumi standing there with a pale face.

"Sister, you... why are you here?" Kirsi asked, taking two steps forwards.

Lumi recovered quickly and took two steps back.

When the people around him noticed this, no one said anything.

Lumi was obvious to Samuel.

Samuel expression changed, he quickly recovered, and he walked over with his feet raised.

Samuel smiled casually: "What brought you here? I'm here to meet with the director; how can I still meet you?"

He approached Lumi and reached for her hand, but she threw it away and glared angrily at him.

Samuel approached her, his eyes narrowed, and he explained in hushed tones: "I'll explain later that Kirsi and I just met on the road and stopped to talk about things."

Samuel raised his hand to brush the hair behind Lumi's ear. That kind of intimacy was Lumi's favorite.

However, Lumi refused this time. She avoided his hand by turning her head.

Samuel's face froze, and his gaze inadvertently swept behind her.

Nicole and Julie exchanged half-smiles with him.

There was no warmth in their eyes, as if they could see right through his hypocrisy.

Samuel smiled as he lowered his eyes: "Ms. Stanton appears to be present as well. It's no surprise that my wife is upset. Ms. Stanton, thank you for spending time with her."

Nicole paused for a moment before responding: "Ms. Makinen was visiting her sister when we happened to meet."

Kirsi quickly recovered and smiled as she walked over: "I know my sister adores me the most; are you coming to surprise me?"

She said with a smile. Before that, I introduced myself to the director: "Director, please allow ten minutes for my sister to visit the class..."

"Okay, no problem!"

Everyone carried on with their business as if nothing had happened.

There are only a few people left standing here.

Kirsi and Samuel had never made eye contact since they first met.

People are taken aback when they see someone deliberately avoiding suspicion.

That kind of deliberately avoiding suspicion makes people feel surprised.

Lumi stood there, her face stiff and ugly, her eyes dark and deep, with a faint glow of water, but she kept her mouth shut.

When she noticed Kirsi and Samuel getting out of the car together. She may have realised something, or she may refuse to acknowledge it. For a brief moment, the mind was stunned.

Lumi ignored Kirsi and raised her eyes to Samuel, her voice trembling slightly: "Didn't you say you were going on a business trip to another country?"

For a brief moment, the people around her froze.

Nicole and Julie exhaled a breathless gasp.

The person who was supposed to be abroad showed up in the car of his sister. Whatever reason he gives, it feels like he's lying!

Samuel's face stiffened; he wasn't particularly attractive. He wanted to be perfunctory after that, but he heard Lumi snort softly, "I will definitely investigate your whereabouts later. Do you dare to lie?"

Lumi's relaxed smile had faded with a gentle warning. Her expression was serious than before. She was beginning to have doubts. Not only from the scene today, but also from what she just said to Nicole.

Samuel invested in the play, and Kirsi took over as the heroine.

Did you make an investment specifically for Kirsi?

Is it just a coincidence?

Lumi initially assumed Samuel was staring at her own face. But she no longer believes that, and even believes that she was a little self-indulgent before. It is difficult to explain doubts in the heart once they have been planted. Her heart's clarity gradually faded, and more and more doubts sprouted. She couldn't calm down when she saw her sister and husband in front of her.

Lumi turned to face Kirsi before slamming the dessert in her hand to the ground.

Kirsi was stunned for a moment, staring at the items on the ground as if she realised what was going on.

Her face was filled with guilt and pain. After a few seconds of struggle, she opened her mouth and said, "Sister..."

Lumi's eyes were red.

"You said..."

Despite the fact that she was not born from a mother, Lumi expressed her love for this sister, saying, "I have loved it since I was a child."

Lumi is beautiful and soft, and when others bully her, she responds with a brick!

She has protected her older sister since she was a child, so she betrayed her like this?

The kind of pain that rose from the depths of her heart threatened to drown her sanity.

Chapter 1914

Lumi wants to hear Kirsi and explain everything!

Kirsi opened her mouth, her face flushed, and she bit her lower lip, unsure what to say.

Samuel took a step forwards from the side and dragged Lumi away: "Let me explain, get in the car."

Lumi stumbled two steps and was dragged almost to the ground. She became enraged and shook her hand away, her voice harsh: "Let go, what are you afraid of, being heard and losing your job and face?"

Lumi turned back suddenly, staring at Julie and Nicole for two seconds with red eyes: "Did you know this a long time ago? Have you been hinting at me just now?"

Julie pursed her lips and remained silent.

Nicole paused for a half-second before saying flatly: "I'm not afraid you'll be sad, but I think you'll be even sadder if you're kept in the dark like a fool."

She inhaled deeply and looked at Lumi: "You should ask yourself if what you see is always the truth, and if it's not just a misunderstanding?"

"Nicole..."

Samuel clenched his teeth, a worried expression on his face.

Nicole was unconcerned, let alone any fear.

She shrugged, "I don't want to meddle in your own business but one of you is her husband, who she believes loves her the most, and the other is her favourite sister, so don't be too bullying..."

She then ignored the two people's expressions, glanced at Julie, and the two walked away together.

As soon as Nicole said it, Samuel and Kirsi's expressions completely changed.

The board has been nailed, and there is nothing to conceal.

Lumi shut her eyes. She was almost knocked out. She cast a glance at Kirsi, then at Samuel.

Shee turned around and wanted to leave, as if she was meeting them for the first time. But then she remembered something and turned around.

Kirsi wanted to follow but Samuel stopped her. "Don't worry, I'll explain it to her."

Kirsi squatted on the ground, her eyes turning red, and picked up the smashed dessert.

The surrounding staff did not dare to come forwards to comfort them after witnessing this scene.

Kirsi's blunder could have been predicted a long time ago.

Almost everyone close to her is aware of her and Samuel's relationship, but they are unable to tell.

Kirsi squatted there like a beautiful and gorgeous puppet, her eyes wet, taking the pride off her shoulders.

This sister, whom she both despised and admired, may never have been wary of herself.

She remembered how painful it was when she lost weight, came over to persuade her to eat, and personally prepared nutritious meals for her.

Lumi is the person in this world who treats her the best. It's the one who has always been envious.

Nicole and Julie were talking but Lumi suddenly came back.

Lumi eyes were red, but she was trying hard not to lose control. "I don't believe them any longer; tell me everything you know!"

She almost suppressed her inner collapse and hysterical gaffe.

Julie hesitated and looked at Nicole: "I only ran into them a few times in and out of the hotel. Samuel had gone to the hotel where Kirsi was staying the day before... The business manager also observed Samuel bringing Kirsi in and out of social events."

Lumi's face gradually faded as a result of the blood.

She was nearly suffocated even breathing hurts.

Samuel rushed over, frowned, and looked at Julie and Nicole before stopping, "I said, I'll tell you, this has nothing to do with Kirsi. I've been pestering her before, but she's always refused."

Chapter 1915

Lumi was in a daze, her body stiff, and she didn't look back.

Nicole viewed it from her own perspective and noticed that Lumi's expression was stunned and did not change.

Seeing that Lumi didn't respond, Samuel was perplexed. He turned to face Nicole and Julie: "Are you two able to avoid it?"

Lumi moved, her lips pale, before Nicole and Julie spoke: "Is it because you're afraid that what they said won't match what you made up?"

Samuel surprisedly opened his mouth.

Lumi's reaction was a little surprising.

She had anticipated that if she found out, she would probably cry and make trouble out of control.

At that time, it would not be difficult to give her some pocket money to settle it.

However, now...

She is unable to keep her mouth shut.

Julie and Nicole went to the next room.. Despite being right in front of them, the soundproofing was poor, and their conversation could be clearly heard.

"I knew Kirsi when she first made her debut and I held her up. She kept her identity hidden at the time, and she was an 18th-tier actress, which made it difficult to fit in. I didn't know you either at the time. I'm just... playing with her."

Samuel's voice was hoarse and when he spoke, it seemed a bit difficult. He didn't want to dwell on the past too much.

But Lumi chuckled: "Oh, I heard about your romantic anecdote, you like to look after little stars before marriage, is that Kirsi?"

When this relationship ends, the beginning will be difficult to bear. But, regardless of how bloody things are, they are all facts.

Simply put, it's not pretty.

Samuel's face was also unattractive, and he simply frowned at her words with no explanation.

That was, after all, the case at the time.

Take only what you require.

Lumi's tone was a little sarcastic: "What happened after that? When did you discover she was a Makinen family member? Now that you know, why didn't you marry her instead of marrying me? Are you attempting to deceive me?"

Lumi clenched her teeth, a little too tightly, and squeezed her fist.

Samuel said: "I just know I want to marry into the Makinen family; I have no idea who the other party is, and I don't care. My father showed me your picture, and I agreed. It was at our wedding that I discovered her identity. But I ended things with her before the wedding."

Lumi was stunned for a moment before opening her mouth slowly: "So you've been hooking up with me again since the wedding? You consume alcohol on your wedding day. Is it due to her?"

Samuel pursed his lips, knowing he was guilty, but also feeling sorry for Lumi. However, the fact has already occurred.

"I was simply not reconciled at first, not reconciled that she had deceived me, and even less reconciled..."

He paused for a moment before Lumi said, "I am not reconciled because they are all Makinen family members, but you can marry her. It's the one you don't love, and you hate yourself for it, right?"

Samuel closed his eyes and was silent for a moment, caught up in Lumi's words, before speaking in a hoarse voice: "I apologise... I was completely perplexed for a while, but Kirsi was not paying attention on me. I despise her for deceiving me, but you are so important to her, and I know you will be the most hurt..."

Lumi's voice was filled with emotion: "You continue to hurt me! I would never marry you if you told me from the start, and even if you did, I would divorce you. What exactly is it now?"
