

Chapter 2749

A prideful smirk graced Lexie's arrogant face.

She didn't even want to blink once as she blatantly ridiculed Harvey.

In fact, she was afraid to miss out on the moment he got cut down.

Akio grinned, delighted, and boasted, "Madam York, don't forget you and Young Lord York's promise to me when I kill this clown!"

"Enough talk! As long as you deal with him, that diplomatic status is all yours!"

"You can do whatever you please in Hong Kong after that."

"With my and Vince's help, nobody can hold anything against you even if you break the law!"

"Now, shut up and stop bothering me from enjoying the show!”

Akio smiled, silent. He loved working with people who could sell out their own country for their own sake the most.

At the same time, the Sons of Raiden's strikes had Harvey completely encapsulated.

The glares were locked right onto Harvey. He had no chance to dodge anywhere.

Yet in the face of this terrifying attack, Harvey only let out a calm chuckle.

“You're pretty impressive to bring up the Sons of Raiden this way, Akio...”

“It's a shame you're my opponent.”

“Even Gods of War are just ants to me, let alone fake ones.”

Harvey took a step forward, A second later, he pounced forward while swinging his palm.

His movements looked harmless and his face was calm, but they were enough to completely change everyone's expression in an instant.

In front of the Sons of Raiden, the palm of the ordinary man in front of them was expanding infinitely.

The palm covered the skies, shaking the surroundings violently. It was as if Harvey's palm was the only thing left in the entire world.

“Bastard!”

The swordsmen who had taken ok pills weren't able to control their bodies at all as they forcefully swung their longswords forward.

Bang!

In the very next moment, a loud bang could be heard.

The Sons of Raiden trembled before they were sent flying in an instant.

“Guh!”

Blood gushed out of their mouths while they were midair.

They were all in a dizzied trance after their bodies smashed painfully into the ground. They couldn't crawl back up, even when they tried mustering all their remaining strength.

A single slap had defeated the Sons of Raiden completely!

Harvey stood still, apathetic and emotionless.

Even the invincible Gods of War didn't have the aloof temperament he displayed.

Bang!

Without her even realizing it, Lexie's phone dropped to her feet.

Fear filled her previously smug eyes.

She knew Harvey was quite skilled, but she didn't think he would be this powerful.

Even the Sons of Raiden were sent flying with just a single slap!

He was definitely a God of War.

Vince had finally met his match...!

...

On the yacht, Harvey glanced at Akio calmly and taunted the latter with his finger.

A few gunners hiding in the shadows were prepared to shoot Harvey, but they felt a cold shiver run down their spine as soon as they saw Harvey's movements. They were rendered utterly numb, unable to even move a single inch.

Never in their wildest dreams did they imagine that Harvey could take out the Sons of Raiden, Akio's very own disciples.

At this very moment, their beliefs were completely shattered.

“Impressive! Truly impressive.”

“I believe you now.”

“Even without Dean's help, you'll definitely be able to take down Miyata on your own!”

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2750

Akio hung up his call with Lexie, his face scrunched in confusion.

“Strength like this is almost on par with mine!”

“You’re so close to being a peak God of War!”

“If that’s not the case, how did you manage to defeat my Sons of Raiden that easily?”

Akio sighed, shaking his head.

“You’re unpredictable, Harvey. You’re already this powerful even at such a young age! You must be really talented.”

“Why don’t you show yourself to the world, then?!”

“You’re making it harder for people like us if you keep yourself hidden!”

“If we don’t prepare enough, who are we supposed to complain to if we get beaten up by you?!”

Akio then flashed Harvey a confident smirk.

“Thank goodness I’ve been secluded for so many years in order to study the way to unite man and nature. My swordsmanship has increased exponentially because of that.”

“If not, I might not even be a match for you right now!”

“It’s a shame, but Country H will definitely lose a God of War this time!”

Akio shook his head, feigning a look of pity.

The Islanders exchanged gleeful glances with each other, filled with exhilaration.

They were sure that they had completely lost to Harvey, but they didn’t think Akio would still remain this calm despite facing such a fearsome man.

As expected of the Sword Saint of the Shindan Way!

At this very moment, the Islanders regained their courage once again.

“You hear what our Sword Saint just said, you bastard?!”

“You think you can show off in front of Sword Saint Yashiro just because you’re a God of War?! Ha!”

“Come back after ten years, kid!”

“Even if you practice martial arts when you’re still in your mother’s womb, there’s no way you’ll be on par with our Sword Saint!”

“Just get down and grovel already! Sword Saint Yashiro might just be generous and let you go!”

“If it was up to me, I’d have you be his servant! You’d serve under all of us!”

“Shut up!”

Harvey wasn’t the one who said that; it was Akio.

Without warning, Akio took a step forward and sent an Islander flying with a single slap.

The Islander flew right into the yacht’s engine with a loud, painful bang.

The engine was instantly destroyed. The entire yacht immediately fell into dead silence.

Everyone dared not utter even a single word.

“Sir York is a true God of War! You think you can just insult him willy-nilly?” Akio spat, his tone calm.

“So young, so vigorous... Even someone such as myself needed to use all my might just to defeat him!”

“An opponent like him deserves respect!”

Akio then turned to Harvey and gave the latter a respectful bow.

He approached the deck and narrowed his eyes at Harvey, exuding a fierce aura all the while.

“I’ll only show you three cuts today, Sir York!”

“If you manage to block my three strongest cuts ...”

“I’ll admit defeat and end my life in front of your eyes!”

“But if you can’t do that, then you should accept your fate!”

At this very moment, Akio was filled with righteous pride.

At the same time, he gestured to one of his trusted subordinates to hand Harvey a longsword.

Naturally, he wanted a fair fight against Harvey.

Harvey was confused. It was his first time seeing an Islander with such an attentive Bushido Spirit.

Just as Harvey grabbed the longsword, with the subordinate blocking his line of sight for a split second...

Akio wasted no time and dove right into the sea.

He ran!

Harvey's eyes twitched in disbelief at the incredulous sight.

The Island Nation God of War, the Sword Saint of the Shindan Way, the master of the unity between man and nature...

Fled with his tail between his legs without hesitation?!

Chapter 2751

Even though Akio was the Sword Saint of the Shindan Way, The Island Nation God of War, the Imperial Physician, and the master of the unity of man and nature...

He was well aware of his own limits.

He knew exactly when to give in to the circumstances.

He prepared for a lot of plans, and even got his very own disciples, the Sons of Raiden, here.

Despite that, they were all sent flying with just a single slap...

Under these terrible prospects, Akio would never go against Harvey unless he was truly fearless.

That was why, after “righteously” slapping his subordinate across the face and sending the latter flying into the sea, Akio escaped without any hesitation.

He was extremely experienced in running away as well. Even though he was in the sea, it didn't slow him down one bit. In just a blink of an eye, he was already nearing the shore.

Harvey then took in the remaining Islanders on the yacht with a calm gaze.

All of them were slack with shock and fear, looking as if their beliefs had completely collapsed and shattered their minds.

Harvey couldn't be bothered to exchange any words with them. He sent a text, and then wasted no time diving right into the sea to chase after Akio.

Akio was a God of War and a Sword Saint after all. Even if he was a coward, his strength was still evident.

That was why Harvey wanted to deal with the problem once and for all.

Harvey would be completely fine if a God of War was lurking in the shadows waiting to strike, but he had to think of the people around him as well.

Akio quickly realized Harvey wasn't planning to let him go. He hurriedly got to shore before fleeing into a dense forest.

The forest was located right behind Taiping Mountain. It was considered the backyard of the upper social circle, and development was completely forbidden here.

It was said that the forest was filled with all sorts of birds. The forest was a rare untouched place in the entirety of Hong Kong.

A shame that Akio had no time to even enjoy the view.

He mustered all his strength to run, before coming to a cliff halfway up the mountain. A gazebo that was out of repair for many years could be seen there.

Before Akio could sit down to take a break, Harvey crossed his arms and emerged from the darkness of the forest.

“You’re such a handful, Sir York. I ran all this way! Can’t you let me off the hook?”

“I gave you so many people to kill on the yacht! Was that not enough?!”

“Why are you still chasing after an old man like me? Don’t you know how to respect your elders?!”

A helpless look rested on Akio’s face, as if he couldn’t do anything to Harvey.

But right as Harvey touched the ground, Akio took the opportunity to unsheathe his sword and pounced forward in an instant.

Swish!

His glaring blade was aimed right at Harvey's head. It was an unimaginably terrifying strike.

Naturally, the Sword Saint had no choice but to take action then and there.

Harvey calmly gazed at Akio's attack, as if he already knew that this would happen. Still as composed as ever, he took a step forward before swinging his palm at Akio.

Slap!

The crisp sound of a loud slap rang in the air. Just like that, Akio was sent flying in the air like a rocket ship.

He then slammed into the ground with a loud bang.

Harvey trembled slightly as a frown hung on his lips.

Akio was a despicable coward, but he was worthy of the Sword Saint title.

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2752

Akio let out a miserable cry of pain before coughing up blood, a powerless look on his face.

“You really are impressive, Sir York.”

“You’re already a peak God of War at such a young age. If I didn’t see it myself, I wouldn’t have believed it...”

“How great would it be if such a talent like you came from my country’s royal family?”

“Enough talk. Nothing can save you now,” Harvey replied calmly, unfazed by the praise.

“Back at the yacht, I sent a text to block all communication services in the area.”

“Simply put, the message you sent in secret will never be received.”

Akio froze before instinctively pulling out his phone. There was a red exclamation mark right next to the call for help he sent ten minutes ago!

“Bastard!” Akio screamed, furious.

“You damn child! Are you forcing me to fight you?!”

“Take this! Undying Slash!” Akio shouted, slashing his blade forward.

Harvey frowned. He had no choice but to step back, for he didn't have any weapons on him.

Right when Harvey thought Akio would take the opportunity to attack, Akio flashed right past him and made a run toward the top of the mountain.

Harvey was completely stunned. He couldn't believe that a high and mighty God of War would be this shameless! To think Akio would actually run off immediately after pretending to strike.

“Stop running already!” Harvey growled, seething.

“You stop chasing already!”

Akio didn't even turn his head around while he ran right through the dense forest, desperately trying to shake Harvey off.

Harvey narrowed his eyes at Akio while trailing behind the latter at a steady pace, keeping a safe distance between the two.

The two moved extremely quickly, as if they were competing in a sprint race.

Soon, they came to an empty place near the mountaintop.

As soon as Akio arrived there, his face morphed into a sinister look.

He rolled on the ground immediately, and then pulled a machine placed on the ground.

Swoosh, swoosh, swoosh!

Eighteen whole tree poles were flung right at Harvey from every single direction.

Swoosh!

Harvey was already prepared. With a simple twist of his body, he weaved between the poles and dodged them before landing to the ground again.

As soon as he landed, the cowardly Akio thrust his sword right at Harvey's heart.

Akio's strength was at least three times stronger than when he was running before.

If Harvey wasn't prepared for it, he would've had a blade stuck through his chest.

Bang, bang, bang!

The two clashed in an instant. Shattered rocks flew into the air. A fallen leaf was immediately turned to dust as soon as it appeared right in front of them.

Clang!

Harvey closed the distance and grabbed Akio's knife from the latter's waist, and then swung it forward at a near-impossible timing.

Akio flashed a horrible expression when he raised his sword to brace Harvey's attack. Amid the sparks flying everywhere in the sky and the horrible sounds of metal clashing, the two let out a burst of fierce aura before zooming past each other.

The moment they passed each other, Akio turned around and raised his hand to shoot a hidden arrow from his sleeve at Harvey's head.

But Harvey didn't even bat an eye as he swung his back palm in retaliation. The moment he evaded Akio's hidden arrow, his palm was already on Akio's face.

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>