

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 1441

Chapter 1441

After Mike asked these words, Layla in his arms cried even louder.

Avery: "Can you stop the crow's mouth?"

Mike immediately shut up.

Avery coaxed her daughter, "Okay, Layla, don't cry. It's no big deal. your father told me clearly that the child in Rebecca's womb is a test-tube baby. It's not her and your father's. We trust Dad, Okay."

Layla buried her head in Mike's neck, her voice muffled: "I don't trust him. I don't trust him anymore."

Avery: "Baby, you don't trust him. It's fine. But don't let this affect your mood. When you didn't have a father, you were happy every day, right?"

Layla: "That's because I have my brother with me..."

Avery coaxed, "Your brother will back at the end of the year and it will be the end of the year soon. Although you don't have a elder brother to accompany you now, you have a younger brother to accompany you!"

"My brother, Robert is too young." Layla said with disgust.

"But Robert loves you as much as your elder brother. Look at you crying just now, and Robert crying with you."

"That's because I scared him." Layla raised her head with tears in her eyes.

Seeing her daughter's sober and aggrieved appearance, Avery couldn't help laughing.

"Mom, don't laugh at me." Layla blushed.

"Okay, mom doesn't laugh at you anymore. Actually, mom understands your sadness, but mom wants you to be strong. If I can be with your dad, that's the best thing, but if I can't be with him, then we have to live a good life, right?" Avery reasoned with her daughter softly.

Layla nodded. "Mom, I won't cry anymore."

“You’re so good. You cried so loudly just now that the aunts and uncles in the banquet hall came to ask what’s wrong with you. They all care about you. We need to see more people who care about us.”

Layla was silent for a few seconds, then asked : “Mom, dad won’t come back, will you go to him again? Mom, I don’t want you to leave me again.”

Avery’s expression was a little stiff.

Seeing this, Mike immediately settled the situation: “Layla, even if your mother goes to your father, you will accompany your brother. Besides, I think that since your father promised that your mother would return to Aryadelle, he will definitely not break his promise. Your little head melon seeds, think more about how to bring learning up.”

When she heard the word “learning”, Layla suddenly had a headache.

Bringing the two children home, Avery said to Mike, “It’s still early, you go back to the hotel to play with them. I’ll put the children to sleep, so I won’t go out.”

“Okay, but you should contact Elliot, Let’s see what happened.”

Even if Mike didn’t say anything, Avery would contact Elliot again.

Rebecca’s flamboyant attitude tonight is too arrogant.

After Mike left, Avery took her daughter to take a bath.

Robert was carried away by Mrs. Cooper.

“Mom, I’ll take a shower by myself. I have to do my own business.” Layla said, and began to undress herself.

“Then mother goes out?” Avery knew that her daughter would take a bath. Mrs. Cooper told her.

But in the days when Avery just returned to Aryadelle, Layla asked her to help wash.

Layla pulled her arm and said, “Mom, don’t go. You’re here with me or you can bring my homework in and help me check it.”

“Okay, mommy will get your homework.” Avery Bring her daughter’s homework and open the homework book.

Essay topic – “My Dad”

Layla didn’t let Avery teach her to write this composition.

However, there is a tutor to guide her, so this composition is also written in a relatively long length.

“My dad is a tall man with big eyes. He has deep dimples when he smiles. But he usually doesn’t smile because he’s a serious guy. He likes to smile at me because he loves me. I...”

Avery felt a pain in her heart after reading the composition written by her daughter, thinking of her daughter crying tonight.

Chapter 1442

Layla was not an ignorant child. In public, she loved face more than anyone else.

She was really sad to cry in the banquet hall. She felt that her father was hers, but Rebecca told her tonight that her father had a new child, and her father would not only be her father in the future.

As if her beloved toy was snatched away, how could she not be sad?

After Layla took a bath, Avery coaxed her to sleep, and then came out of the children’s room.

Robert also took a bath and was eating milk.

“Avery, go take a bath. When Robert eats the milk, I’ll take him to sleep for a while.” Mrs. Cooper said.

Avery: “Well.”

Avery touched Robert’s little head and went back to the room. After closing the door, she took out her phone and found Elliot’s number.

She wanted to dial, but hesitated again. How embarrassing would it be if Rebecca picked up the call again?

After thinking for a while, she found Nick’s number and dialed it.

The phone was dialed, and after a while, it was connected.

Avery: “Nick, it’s me.”

Nick said depressedly, “There’s a caller ID on my phone. You’re arguing with me so late, and you’re not letting anyone sleep?” “You woke me up just after falling asleep.”

Avery: "I'm sorry! I was in a hurry, so I forgot the time on your side."

Nick: "What are you in a hurry for?"

Avery: "I called Elliot tonight, but Rebecca picked it up."

"Oh, Elliot was beaten. , I guess the injury is not light." Nick was awake, he simply sat up and took a sip of water, "Of course, I don't know the specifics. Rebecca has protected him well and won't let us visit."

"What's the matter? What happened?" Avery's strings were tense, and she frowned.

Nick: "It's a long story... We made a game and let Rebecca kill Kyrie."

"Kyrie is dead?" Avery's back suddenly turned a layer of hot sweat broke out.

"Yeah! This matter was kept quiet, and the funeral was held in a low-key manner. Because it was Rebecca who killed it. She didn't want people to know about it." Nick spoke of this, and his spirit suddenly rose, "I heard that Lorenzo put the Elliot gave him a beating. I just heard that we don't know the details."

Avery: "Can't you go and see him?"

Nick said, "I can't see it. Rebecca won't let me see it. Since she killed her father, she seems to have changed. I've got someone. I also called Elliot, but no one answered. So I guess Elliot's situation is not very optimistic now."

Avery: "I'll go to him now."

"Hey, don't wait. Come." Nick had a headache, "Wait a while. If Elliot is really injured and is in the hospital right now and when he recovers, he will naturally contact you. Just wait."

Avery: "Nick, thank you tell me this. Otherwise, I was almost deceived by Rebecca."

Nick: "When I saw Elliot for the last time, his attitude didn't change. He was still determined to go back to Aryadelle and didn't want to stay here."

Avery: "Yes. What you said made me feel much more at ease."

After hanging up the phone, Avery thought about it, and it was difficult for me to calm down.

-Elliot can't be reached now.

–If he is injured, how is he injured?

–If I wait, who knows how long it will take and what will happen?

Avery quickly made up her mind– ‘Go to Yonroeville and find Elliot’.

Chapter 1443

She wanted to go to the airport immediately and take the nearest flight to Yonroeville, but after thinking about it, she held back.

She has to talk to her daughter first. Otherwise, her daughter will definitely be heartbroken.

Before the change, she must have ignored it and rushed to Yonroeville, but now, she can't do that anymore.

During this time, the things Avery has experienced have made her grow a lot. She can't always just focus on her own emotions and ignore the feelings of others.

This is true for children, and the same is true for Elliot.

The next morning.

Avery got up early, went to the children's room, and called Layla up.

“Layla, your dad is injured, and mom has to go see him.” Avery sat beside the bed and discussed with her daughter, “I'll bring him back this time when I go there.”

Layla's sleepy eyes were open and she didn't react: “Oh...”

Avery continued, “Mom bought a plane ticket this morning. After sending you to school, mom will go out. After mom leaves, Uncle Mike will come and stay. You have What's the matter, you can tell Uncle Mike, you can also tell Uncle Eric...”

“What? Mom, are you leaving?” Layla was completely sober.

Avery: “Yeah, mom just told you that your dad was hurt.”

“How did he get hurt? Is it serious?” Layla looked worried.

“Mom doesn't know yet. I'll find out after I've passed it.” Avery brought over the clothes that her daughter was going to wear today, “Don't worry, the worst person is dead, and mom won't be in danger.”

“Kyrie died?” Layla asked in surprise.

Avery: “Yes! Who told you his name?”

“Uncle Mike told me.” Layla’s mood suddenly improved, “The bad guy is finally dead. Mom, can I go to Yonroeville too.”

“Haha, baby, you have to go to school.” Avery took off her pajamas and put on her skirt, “It’s not fun over there. Wait for Mom to go and bring Dad back. We’ll never go there again.”

“Of course. Mom will miss you and your brother, Robert.” After sending her daughter out, Avery returned to her room to pack her luggage.

Mrs. Cooper walked into the bedroom with Robert in her arms.

“Avery, will it be dangerous for you to pass this time?” Mrs. Cooper was very worried.

Avery said, “No. Kyrie is dead. Now Kyrie has only one daughter, Rebecca, Elliot’s wife in Yonroeville. I have dealt with Rebecca, but she is a childish child. I’m not afraid of her.”

Mrs. Cooper: “I still have to plan for the worst.”

“When Kyrie dies, I don’t know how many people are thinking about the Jobin family’s property. Rebecca now has wolves and tigers. If she wants to deal with me, I can ask Nick to help me.” Avery returned after thinking it over.

Mrs. Cooper: “Well. Call home when you arrive.”

Avery: “Okay.”

Avery packed her luggage and prepared to go out with her suitcase.

Robert looked at his mother about to leave, and seemed to realize something. Suddenly, the little guy exclaimed, “Mom! Woo!”

He struggled to get down from Mrs. Cooper’s arms, ran to Avery, and hugged Avery’s leg.

Avery’s peaceful heart was disturbed. She wanted to laugh and coax her son, but her eyes suddenly became wet.

“Robert, mom will be back soon.” Avery put down the luggage, picked up her son, and looked at his big eyes, “Mom will pick up dad. Then mom and dad will play with you, okay?”

Robert pouted and hugged her neck tightly with both hands, refusing to let her go.

Mrs. Cooper silently carried her luggage into the yard and put it in the trunk.

Avery hugged her son, went to get a bag of bread and opened it: “Baby, you are good at home. Mom will come back to play with you soon. Mom will make video calls for you every day, okay?”

Avery put the bread in Robert’s hand. The little guy had snacks, and the tears in his eyes were held back.

Mrs. Cooper returned to the living room and took Robert from her arms.

“Avery, don’t worry! Go early and return early.”

“Well.” Avery strode out of the villa after kissing Robert’s forehead.

....

Yonroeville.

Avery came out of the airport and looked at a country that was both familiar and unfamiliar in front of her. Her mood was completely different from last time.

“Boss, let’s go to the hotel to check in first.” The bodyguard said while carrying her suitcase.

“Go to the hospital first. Nick said that Elliot might be injured, but he’s not sure. I want to confirm this.” Avery didn’t fall asleep on the plane because she thought Elliot might be injured, and he wasn’t very injured.

“Boss, you look haggard and vicissitudes of life now. Regardless of whether Elliot is injured or not, I feel that if you don’t get some sleep, you may be hospitalized at any time.”

“Why are the people around me all crowmouths?” Avery sighed. She gave up the idea of going to the hospital immediately, and decided to go to the hotel to take a shower and change her clothes.

"I'm just telling the truth. You should think about it, is it that you usually do your own way." The bodyguard muttered softly.

Avery: "Are you educating me?"

The bodyguard: "I'm obviously begging you. If you fall ill, I will be very sad."

Avery: "You will be sad when I die."

The bodyguard: "Who is the crow's mouth? Together, Mike and I are no match for the power of your mouth."

...

The two quarreled and arrived at the hotel.

After checking in and getting the room card, the two took the elevator to the housekeeping department.

The bodyguard sent her to the room and warned: "If you go out, you must call me. Although Kyrie is dead, Rebecca definitely doesn't want to see you here."

"Got it. I'll take a shower first. Take a shower, go back to your room and rest." Avery sent the bodyguard out, then closed and locked the door.

About half an hour later, after taking a shower, Avery was about to go to the hospital to inquire about Elliot's whereabouts.

When she came out of the room, she took out her mobile phone and called the bodyguard. Because when the bodyguard let her out just now, he must call him.

According to her previous habit, she felt that there was no dangerous little thing, and she would definitely do it directly.

But now she decided to get rid of her bad habit.

She dialed the phone and got through, but no one answered. She suspected that the bodyguard might have fallen asleep. Thinking of this, she put away her phone and strode towards the elevator.

In the hospital.

Avery found her former attending doctor and presented the fruits and flowers she had bought.

When the doctor saw her, his jaw dropped: “Ms. Tate, haven’t you returned to Aryadelle? Why are you here again?”

“I came here to thank you.” Avery sat down in the chair and said, “If not With your superb medical skills, how can I be healthy now?”

The doctor got goosebumps: “Ms. Tate, don’t mess around with me, what the h-e-l-l are you coming to me, tell me directly.”

“Elliot, is injured, right? Where is he being treated?” Avery said nervously.

The doctor shook his head and sighed: “I knew that you came to me, it must be the drunkard’s intention not to drink.”

Avery: “Just tell me. There are still patients queuing outside.”
