Chapter 4807

The security screening process for checked baggage at the airport is not,

The same as the security screening process for carry-on baggage.

The carry-on luggage is carried by the guest through the security check,

While the checked luggage is sent to a special place for security check,

Through the conveyor belt after the check-in and check-in procedures are completed.

At this time, Elaine had no idea what was going to happen next.

After she checked both suitcases, she took her boarding pass and swaggered to the security checkpoint.

And the woman who was watching her nearby, after seeing her check-in,

And her suitcase being sent away by the conveyor belt,

Was relieved and immediately stood up and walked out of the airport.

Elaine carried her Hermes, leisurely came to the VIP security check channel,

And immediately enjoyed the warm service of the staff after showing the first-class boarding pass.

While others were still queuing up for the security check,

She quickly completed the security check, and then found a nearby first-class lounge to rest.

At the same time, the two suitcases she checked in were queuing up to pass through the security check machines at the airport one by one.

During this process, if no abnormality is found,

The flight to which the passenger is taken will be released directly.

Once any abnormality is found in the luggage,

The border inspection personnel of the customs will immediately open the luggage for inspection.

Generally speaking, the contraband that is carefully hidden is basically well concealed.

In addition, the risk while leaving the country is far less than that of entering the country,

So this link will be relatively relaxed, and criminals at least have a 50% chance of winning,

And they can successfully pass the exit security check.

However, the entry security check after landing will be much stricter,

Because many countries and regions have strict entry standards,

And some countries do not even allow any fresh fruit,

Even if the fruit brought by the passengers on the plane is not finished when they land,

If there is one apple left, if it is found by the border inspection, it will also be punished heavily.

Therefore, the biggest test is actually in the entry link.

In this link, the odds of winning will plummet to only about 30%.

Combined with the 50% in the first stage, the overall pass rate is actually around 15%.

It is precisely because the success rate is very low that the price of this new type of contraband, in East Asia is surprisingly high.

The price per gram is as high as more than 2,000 US dollars. It is an exclusive product for the super-rich.

As long as Elaine can successfully land in Hong Kong this time and pass the border inspection,

The contraband she is carrying will be worth more than ten million US dollars.

At this time, she was sitting in the luxurious first-class lounge,

Drinking coffee while taking pictures and posting in the circle of friends.

Her accompanying text was: "I'm about to leave for my home country,"

"And I'm still a little reluctant to leave as my friend's private jet is being maintained by Gulfstream and now I have to travel First Class."

After editing the circle of friends, she did not forget to specifically block her own family of three.

After posting on the Moments, she leisurely sent a video call to Claire.

At this time, Charlie and Claire had already driven out of New York and started to return to Providence.

Claire, who was sitting as the co-pilot, connected the call and asked: "Mom, have you boarded the plane?"

"Not yet," Elaine said with a smile:

"I'll have to wait for a while to board the plane, I'm in the first-class lounge!"

Claire reminded: "Then you must pay attention to the time."

"Don't affect the boarding. The boarding will start half an hour before the departure time."

"Go early to save yourself from rushing on your way later."

Chapter 4808

Elaine said disdainfully: "Cut that Claire, what are you afraid of,"

"I'm a distinguished first-class passenger if I don't board the plane,"

"They wouldn't dare to take off, besides, they will definitely call my name on the radio,"

"Remind me to get on the plane, and it's not too late to leave at that time."

Claire said helplessly: “Mom if it can be solved in an orderly manner ten or twenty minutes in advance, so why to bother others?”

Elaine hummed and said, “Silly girl, do you know that we spent this amount of money on the plane ticket?”

“Otherwise, why is our plane ticket several times more expensive than others? It’s all right to cause him trouble.”

Claire only felt a big head.

Sometimes, she feels that she and her mother are people from two different worlds,

And she can’t find the same communication frequency at all.

Moreover, she also knew that her mother had a very weird mind.

Once her decision maker came up with a certain plan, no one else could say anything to change her decision.

So Claire didn’t say more, just reminded: “Then you get on the plane,”

“And you must tell me before the plane takes off, so I can rest assured.”

Elaine said with a smile: “Okay, okay, I know, you don’t have to worry about it,”

“Tell my good son-in-law, you must pay attention to safety when driving, I will hang up first.”

After speaking, she hung up the video directly.

After the video hung up, she immediately went to check the Moments she just posted, which made her angry again.

Like the circle of friends posted on the private jet last time, no one liked her at all.

Elaine couldn't help scolding and muttering:

"These people just can't see that others are doing better than them! It's boring, really boring!"

Just as she was talking, someone in the circle of friends suddenly gave a like.

When Elaine saw it, she almost didn't lower her anger.

Because the person who likes it is Horiyah.

With so many WeChat friends, Horiyah's likes are the least valuable in Elaine's eyes.

While depressed, Horiyah suddenly sent a video call,

And Elaine couldn't help but have a big head.

At this moment, she even wanted to hang up the video directly.

However, she quickly thought about it: "Anyway,"

"If you don't pretend to be unhappy about this today, it's the same as whoever pretends."

So, she pressed the answer button, looked at Horiyah at the other end of the video,

And said with a fake smile, “Oh Horiyah, what are you doing?”

Horiyah hurriedly said: “Sister, I just got up. I saw in your circle of friends you are coming back to China?”

“So I made a video call to greet you.”

Elaine asked in surprise: “It’s almost night, you just got up?”

Horiyah hurriedly said: “Hey, Sister, you are really a noble person who forgets things a lot.”

“You forgot that the time is different. It’s still morning here!”

Elaine suddenly realized, nodded, and murmured: “How could I forget about this...”

“No wonder no one in the circle of friends gave me a thumbs up, everyone must be sleeping...”

Horiyah said with a flattering smile: “Sister, when are you flying? When are you arriving in Aurous Hill?”

Elaine said proudly: “The plane takes off in about an hour, but I won’t come back to Aurous Hill yet.”

“Ah?” Horiyah couldn’t hide her disappointment and asked her,

“Where are you going if you don’t come back to Aurous Hill?”

Elaine said very proudly: “The air ticket that Charlie booked for me happened to be a first-class flight to Hong Kong,”

“And I will stop by to visit Hong Kong for a few days.”

“It happened that I have a good sister who kept inviting me to Hong Kong to visit her.”

“Staying in Shi Xundao’s villa for a few days is really a kind of hospitality.”

Horiyah said enviously, “Oh, my mother, Sister! It has to be you! Everyone knows you!”

“You are a good sister, the one who has a private jet as you said in your circle of friends, right?”

“Yes.” Elaine was held in the mouth by Horiyah, and her mood immediately became a lot, and she said with a smile:

“They are really powerful, worth billions of dollars,”

“I heard that it is the same as our domestic beverages. Your Majesty is still a distant relative!”
