

Chapter 933

Decision made, Caleb then instructed, “Alright! Move quickly. Both of you, follow them in your car to see where they live. Be smart and keep your distance—don’t let them see you, understand?” After all, the trio had not walked far and they did not come to the restaurant by car. Surely his guards would catch up to them if they followed them swiftly. “Yes, Young Master!” Both bodyguards nodded respectfully and sneakily followed after Fane, Selena, and Lana. Meanwhile... “We’ve spent half a day outside but haven’t seen any good shops suitable for doing business with!” Selena was extremely tired upon arriving home. She took a bath and laid on the bed. “We don’t need to work, but it definitely won’t work for us if we don’t do some business. People will question us and our backgrounds.” At that moment... Members of the Lambert family had arrived in Middle Province and started their investigation secretly. Hearing the report of the incident, the Lambert family’s third elder, Tao Lambert and the Freeman family’s master, Louis Freeman wore an ill-omened expression. They found out that Fane and his family had left Middle Province dead of night, anticipating that they would search for them. The Lamberts discussed among themselves before they came to a decision and barged into the George family’s mansion. “You are?” Winston George glanced at his bodyguards who were on the floor, injured, as he asked the unwelcomed guests before him, all while he wore an uncongenial expression. “Haha! Master George, it came to my attention that the son-in-law married into the Taylor family, Fane Woods gifted you a villa before he left. Is that correct? It seems like you people get along rather well,” came Louis’ languid comment. Winston’s face darkened and his heart sank when he heard that. He never expected that the Lamberts from Gin City would come to Middle Province that quickly. More importantly, they went straight to his residence after failing to find Fane and the others. “Gentlemen, I don’t have a good relationship with Fane, though we’re thankful to him for healing my daughter, and I won’t deny his incredible medical skills! Apart from that, you also know about how all the Gods of War attended Fane and Selena's wedding. Anybody in their right mind would attend their wedding and try to please them. At the very least, we had to maintain a good relationship with them as we're afraid of offending them. Our family did the same." Winston smiled indifferently, momentarily pausing before he concluded, "We, the George family, are the same as any other families. We try to keep a good relationship with Fane and the Taylors, and we don't know anything else about them!" Winston's answer seemed to make sense to Louis, but he still pressed on, "If you don't have a good relationship, why did they give the villa to you?" "Haha! They left in such a hurry that they couldn't get rid of the villa in such a short time, and it didn't help that a dozen people wanted to kill them before they left. Fane killed the assassins, though, and the ground was littered with bodies everywhere. They asked me to help them get rid of the bodies as they've disbanded their bodyguards previously and were only left with a meager handful. "They gave me the villa so that I can send people to clean up the bodies. I mean, why else would they just hand me the entire villa like that?" Winston laughed. He did not want to lie to them about things like this; they were intelligent and would know everything with just a simple investigation. They would not be interacting with them so nicely if they knew he lied to them. These people were powerful masters, and they could not offend any of them. Louis could tell Winston was not lying to him after hearing his entire explanation. He thought of it and said, "Oh, right, do you know which way they headed off to? You must know something, right?" Winston smiled bitterly. "How would we know? Fane's no fool, and they left in the middle of the night. They must've been hyper-alert that others would see them and know which way they headed off to!"

Louis did not know what to say after hearing Winston's answer. He went silent for a moment as he thought things through before he commented, “How about this: We’ll leave now, but we’ll leave our contacts with you. Call us as soon as you receive any news about them, know where they’ve gone, or if they’re back. As long as you provide us useful news, we’ll give you a handsome reward as our thanks.” “Alright, don’t you worry, gentlemen. I’ll surely contact you once I have news about them!” Winston nodded and agreed to it. “Excellent.” Louis nodded and left with Tao and his subordinates. Winston wiped the cold sweat on his forehead after they left his mansion. “They almost gave me a heart attack. They’ve brought more than a hundred people with them, and there must be a lot of masters in their ranks!” At this moment, Sharon—who had been standing behind Winston and the others—walked forward. “Fane and the others made a wise decision. Who would’ve known that these people would come looking for them in such a short period of time. They’d be in so much trouble if they hadn’t left!” “I wonder if Goddess of War Lana can match up to those people. Of course, Lana can’t always be next to Fane and his family, no? What if these people manage to catch up with Fane and the others before they leave? They might be dead by the time Lana manages to catch up with them!” Winston wiped his cold sweat as he spoke. “That’s right. Although Fane has a good relationship with these Gods of War, the Lambert family is a powerful family from Gin City. Who knows if the Gods of War will offend such a big power for Fane and his family!” A thought then occurred to Sharon as she hastily said, “I need to quickly call Miss Selena and get her to change their phone numbers. I’m afraid that they’ll locate Fane and the others with their phones if they manage to catch one of the Taylors’ extended relatives!” Winston nodded after he heard what Sharon said. “Definitely. Fane and the others helped us greatly, and Fane is an incredibly great person. I suspect that he was the one to have overturned several clas, or perhaps he asked someone else. Our lives had gotten better without those forces causing trouble!” Sharon nodded. “If they hadn’t offended the Lamberts the Taylors would’ve surpassed the Drakes. Now that the Taylors have left Middle Province, the Drakes benefit the most from all this.

Powerful clans like the Eagle Clan and Kingston Hall have disappeared, and nobody can stop the Drakes on their path of expansion.” “Yes, but the Drakes are reasonable people, luckily,” said Winston with a small nod on her head. “By the way, I heard that nobody could reach the Goddess of War Lana these couple of days. Nobody saw her leaving her house.” A frown appeared on her face as Sharon thought things through. “Could she have left with Fane and the others? That’d be for the best. Lana’s skilled in combat after all, and Fane and the others would be much safer with her!” Winston inwardly sighed when he saw his daughter’s happy expression. “Sharon, I know that you like Fane very much, but he’s a married man and shares a beautiful relationship with his wife. Above all, he’s rather far above the pedestal and doesn’t share your feelings for him.” “Sigh! I really hope that you can let go of those feelings and start to look for a man who’s good for you. Find a boyfriend so that your mother and I can stop worrying about you.” Sharon’s smile immediately disappeared. She pursed her lips and said, “Father, I understand the situation. Fane truly is a stellar individual, and we may not be suitable for each other. Don’t you worry, I’ll see if there’s someone I like and I’ll try to get into a relationship. I’ll treat Fane as a dear friend of mine.” “Good. My Sharon has grown up!” Winston nodded in satisfaction and soon went back into the house. ... At that moment, Fane, Selena, and the others were enjoying their meal when Selena received a text message.

Chapter 935

“Miss Sharon sent me a text and said that about a hundred people from the Lambert family came to Middle Province, asking about us even going to their house for information. She suggested that we change our phone numbers so that we can be much safer,” announced Selena as she eyed her phone. “Yes, we’ll have to change our phone numbers. What do we do if we don’t change and they manage to find us?” Fiona was startled when she heard the news and was afraid that they would come looking for them.

Andrew agreed and added, “It’s best if everybody ceases contact with our other relatives after we change our numbers. They might end up telling who we are and where we’re staying—it’ll be hell to get through!” Old Master Taylor sighed. After all, those were also members of the Taylor family. Although they chose to leave heartlessly, they never wanted anything to happen to the other relatives nor did they want to stop contacting them. Fane, on the other hand, nonchalantly spoke, “Truthfully, I don’t think that it’d be a big deal if we change our numbers or not. I’m not really afraid of this Lambert family, especially now that we’ve got so many masters here with us. Both King of War Celestino and Goddess of War Lana are with us, too. “I chose to hide from them and come here for another reason. Apart from that, I didn’t want to involve myself with the troubles of the Lambert family!” “You can continue your boasting. Just tell the truth about how you’re not confident! How can you say that you don’t want to involve yourself in the mess? What’s so good about us running to such a faraway place? I rather stay in the Middle Province; life was good there!” Fiona rolled her eyes at Fane and felt that Fane was boasting. “Mother, there are many advantages in moving here!” Fane smiled and explained, “Did you notice that this city is always veiled by clouds and mist? This city is also known as the City of Martial Arts, and there are many masters here. What I’m trying to say here is that this city is located at a special geographical location. People who work in this city have a longer lifespan, and the prosperity of such a big city is incomparable to Middle Province!” “This city can make people live several years longer? Are you lying to me?” Fiona was suspicious of what Fane was saying. Fane chuckled at her suspicion as he commented, “Mother-in-law, there are many things in this world that are unexplainable. For example, grandfather’s luminous pearl. Now that he’s placed it by his bedside while he sleeps, don’t you see that the old master’s body is much healthier than before? He doesn’t get sick so easily, and the probability of him getting the flu has been reduced as well!” “Haha! This is true. I don’t get the flu so easily, and my appetite and spirit have gotten better as well. I'm enjoying my meals better, and it seems that this luminous pearl Fane gifted to me is an incredibly special item!" Old Master Taylor chuckled heartily. "Since Fane said that this is a good place, then it must be so. Let's see if I can live till I'm a hundred years old." Fiona momentarily went silent at that, thinking things through before she replied, "I don't know if you can live that long, but I insist that everyone changes their numbers tomorrow to be safe. Got it?"
