

No. 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 1201-1205

Chapter 1201

“Master Mason, what do you mean by bringing all these people?”

When the Chief of Windfall Pavilion arrived at the square, his face immediately sank to the deepest bottom of the abyss.

He did not expect the head of the White branch family-Mason White-to bring over elders and experts of grandmaster level.

He knew by heart that the people in the White branch family had not dared to fight against them all this while. Unless the White had a certain degree of confidence and certainty that they would win the fight. Moreover, he knew extremely well that the main White family had never seemed to care about this matter at all, hence dared not act recklessly and launch attacks at them.

Besides, what frightened the other party the most was once they fought against the Windfall Pavilion; their loss would be so great that it would affect the whole White branch family.

It was not worth it at all.

The only thing that the Chief of Windfall Pavilion did not foresee was that Mason had brought someone with him today.

Mason snorted frostily. He clapped his hands as a signal.

Without warning, several men of the White branch family stepping out from the crowd and threw the heads of Patronum Lanich and the gang onto the ground.

“You...”

The Chief of Windfall Pavilion’s face immediately went white as though all color drained out of his face. “Master Mason, what do you mean by this? How could you simply kill our men? And I don’t remember any of us have robbed you recently!” The Chief hissed angrily.

“Master Mason, don’t think that we’d be afraid of you! We drink blood like the vampires; we’re not ordinary men and certainly not afraid of shedding blood! And our overall combat prowess is no worse than yours!”

Several elders of the Windfall Pavilion huffed and puffed.

“Oh, let me tell you. Today at the bottom of the mountain, near our village, your people robbed our elder’s wife and daughter and even tried to force them both to...”

Mason sneered with an angry smile hanging on his face. “You people are getting bolder and bolder; you’ve crossed the impassable line! Today is your last day on the earth!”

“You’re gonna exterminate us? Heh! Funny! It’s easier to brag, isn’t it?”

The Chief of Windfall Pavilion laughed sarcastically at Mason’s statement. He then balled his fists, and a layer of chi energy enclosed his fists, vibrating vigorously. He swung his fist and blasted toward Mason.

Nevertheless, at this time, Jack moved like a thunderbolt and stood in front of Mason. He blasted his fist against the Chiefs.

Boom!

A loud thud rang. The seemingly simple punch made a terrifying collision, and the next scene was the Chief of Windfall Pavilion flying several meters backward.

“Pfft!”

It was thirty meters worth of strength. The Chief of Windfall Pavilion dropped onto the ground, his throat twitched, and a mouthful of warm red liquid spurted out of his mouth-blood.

“You...who the h*ll are you? You have the strength of a true god level, how is that possible? Such combat strength...you’re already at the middle stage of the true god realm, am I right?”

After testing out Jack’s true strength, terror thundered down upon the Chief. No wonder... No wonder Mason and the others would dare to come up the mountain and announce the extermination of the Windfall Pavilion. The White family did actually possess such a strong and powerful force.

“Who am I? It doesn’t matte anymore!”

Jack smiled blandly before he slowly spewed a few more words.” You only have to know that, from today onward, your life belongs to me!”

“Kill them all and leave this fella to me!”

After the last word of his sentence dropped, Jack waved his hand and gave the order.

Chapter 1202

"Holy moly! A strength of the middle stage of the true god realm? That's too.."

Several great fighters of the Windfall Pavilion's faces slowly became unsightly after hearing the Chief's words.

In fact, the Chief of Windfall Pavilion had always reminded them that since the White branch family was in close vicinity to them, it would be acceptable if they snatched some of their resources, but they should not cross the boundaries and kill any of them. If they had really angered the other party and the other party decided to fight against them, they would not at all be their opponents.

The Chief believed that if it was merely some petty snatches and robs, Mason and his people would endure.

On the contrary, for several other families, if they were out to hunt for the resources and materials, the people of Windfall Pavilion could act rougher and more reckless toward them.

Once the men of Windfall Pavilion finds out that the other party was alone or was a group of juniors, they would rob them mercilessly. After all, several other families did not even know where the Windfall Pavilion was. Hence, even if they wanted to avenge their people was not easy to do so.

The Chief of the Windfall Pavilion did not expect at all that Patronum Lanich and the others had targeted an elder of the White branch family. If this were not asking for a death wish, what would it be then?

The Chief of Windfall Pavilion's face became paler and paler once he thought of it. "Hold up!" He extended his arm in a panic and gestured a stop sign with his palm.

The men of the White branch family were just about to charge toward them but halted when they heard the Chief's words.

The Chief stood up from the ground and paced toward Jack. He bowed before Jack and said, "Sir, I don't understand. I have not offended you at all, why did you help the White branch family? Even if it's one of my people who made a mistake that they shouldn't have, you don't have to intervene in this matter, right?"

He knew by rote that, in general, such a powerful person did not like to meddle in nosy matters. Hence, he truly could not fathom the other party's behavior at all. Why would a martial artist with a strength of true god-level intervene?

Without waiting for Jack to further explain, Mason stood out and spoke aloud, "Munro Quinn, do you f*cking have any idea who he is? He is the heir of the White family head and the Young Master of the main White family! Now you tell me, does he have the right to take care of this matter?"

"Young Master?"

Munro gasped at the answer. "The Young Master of the White family is already this powerful? His combat prowess and strength are more powerful than some elders, am I right?"

"I'm only at the early stage of the true god realm. However, it's not hard for me to kill you!"

Jack gave a wan smile and said in an emotionless tone.

Munro was rendered speechless.

The strength of a fighter in the early stage of the true god realm could blast him away so easily and injure him that much? He was at the early stage of the true god realm, too!

Moreover, he had stayed at that level for almost three years and could be considered as a strong fighter of the early stage of the true god realm! This was also why the White branch family had not dared to act rashly and went against them, though they had many men.

Obviously, the young man before him acquired the ability to kill every single life of the Windfall Pavilion. What a terrifying existence!

"Hold on!"

Munro immediately stretched out his hand and showed a stop sign. His face was ashen and his blood froze in his veins, he was in complete terror. "My men had made a huge mistake. It's also true that I didn't discipline them well. But both the White branch family and Windfall Pavilion are located so close to each other, we can be considered as living in the same neighborhood, and we should live peacefully and help each other, right? How about this, I'll send you some spirited grass and resources, and we'll call it a wrap to this matter?" Munro proposed in a trembling voice.

"Heh, it's too late!"

Jack laughed. "You still have the nerve to talk about the neighborhood? When you bullied my men in the past, why didn't you say you were a neighbor and that we should live peacefully and help each other out?"

Jack gripped the black fine sword tightly, and a layer of chi energy enclosed the sword. He swept the sword and shouted, "Big Wave Hits!"

Like magic, waves of sword aura coalesced out of Jack's sword. The sword aura went straight ahead with formidable strength and horrendous power.

Most of these waves of sword aura, under the control of Jack's chi control ability, went straight to Munro. A small portion of these waves was sent directly towards several strong fighters of the Windfall Pavilion who were in front of him.

Chapter 1203

"Sh*t. What do we do in the face of a fighter who's of the true god status?"

Someone was so shocked that all the color leached from his face. For a grandmaster or someone of the semi-god status, there was no way to beat someone of the true god status. His aura alone had this much power, and it was difficult for them to close in on him.

An old man flipped his palm and took out an object that resembled a small tortoiseshell. He imbued it with his chi, and the tortoiseshell emanated a flash of light before growing in size.

That thing was actually a shield.

The old man raised the shield before him and heaved an internal sigh of relief.

"You actually had a treasure like that!"

Munro went speechless when he saw it. Logically speaking, he should have gotten a treasure like that. He never thought that the old man would actually stash it away for himself. If not for the peril they were in, the old man would probably have never taken it out-and Munro would never have known that such a treasure existed.

Bang!

An attack landed on the shield and glanced off; not a single scratch was left on the tortoise shell.

Still, that powerful attack sent him stumbling a few meters backward before he regained his footing.

As for the fellows around him, although they had quickly demonstrated their martial skills, they still crumbled like paper before Jack's attack, and they were all killed.

The old man took the scene in and loosened a breath.

Fortunately, he had the luck to obtain such a treasure-which could change its size as well. It made it convenient for him to keep it hidden. He would have been killed over it otherwise.

Munro was displeased because his First Elder had hidden such a treasure, but he did not have the liberty to give it much thought right now. Most of Jack's attacks were being directed at him.

"Damn!"

When he saw the attack, his expression tightened and he threw a fist out. A giant python manifested from the chi that coalesced in his body.

After the python appeared, it roared and charged toward the waves of the sword auras.

Munro quickly constructed a thin, protective bubble of chi around him to keep himself safe right after he threw that attack out. Only then did he feel a little more relaxed. He believed that he would be able to withstand Jack's attack then.

After all, his attack was considered a pretty high-level skill-one that was second-grade elementary. It could be said to be his trump card.

Bang!

A resounding explosion tore through the air. He never thought that his python was already starting to crumble beneath Jack's attack, although a few seconds had not even passed. It was going to disappear soon.

"No way. It only lasted for so long?"

Munro's eyes nearly popped out of their sockets; he was so shocked that he did not know what to say. At least thirty or forty percent of Jack's attacks were being directed somewhere else, yet he still was not able to withstand the attacks, even after using a second-grade elementary martial skill!

"I have to hold on!"

Munro told himself that, but he already sensed that day might be his very last. That punk was far too strong for him.

Chapter 1204

"I have to hold on!"

Munro was repeating the same phrase to himself inside, however, not even one second before he repeated the phrase, everything collapsed.

As soon as the thought of holding on was inside his mind, the giant chi python collapsed and disappeared into thin air completely.

Although his python had successfully neutralized most of Jack's attack, the remaining attack was still terrifyingly powerful and strong. It landed directly on the top of Munro's protective bubble of chi.

Wham!

The sound of the blow was lighter than before, but Munro's shield of chi could only withstand Jack's attack for two to three seconds before it completely crumbled and shattered into pieces.

Even after canceling out Jack's attack with the bubble of chi, the attack still had almost a tenth of the strength left, and it blasted solidly on Munro's body.

A mouthful of blood spurted out of Munro's mouth, and he flew backward-like a cannonball-into the roof of the house not far behind him, smashing a hole in the roof and falling onto the floor of the house.

"Hmph!"

The scene before Jack made the corner of his mouth curl upward, and in the next second, he darted into the house at a lightning speed.

"He's so f*cking strong! Our Young Master is so f*cking awesome! He actually killed several elite fighters in only one move! And I don't think Munro can survive this time!"

After killing a semi-god level fighter, Mason looked at Jack's lightning speed, his eyes filled with shock and puzzlement.

Before they came to the Windfall Pavilion, he was concerned whether Jack could defeat Munro, after all, even he himself was not confident in fighting Munro. However, unexpectedly, Jack not only injured him gravely but also killed several elite fighters for them.

Now, they only had to deal with the remaining, and the job was as easy as ABC.

It could be said that they basically only have to take care of the remaining without having to pay much of a price.

"Pfft!"

Munro-who had fallen from the roof-hit the ground heavily and spewed out another mouthful of blood. He, who was already injured from the previous attack, was now even more severely injured. His face went white, and all possible colors were drained out of his face; his breath turned weak.

"Cough cough!"

He coughed a few times, and every cough was accompanied by a mouthful of blood. He could barely support himself to stand up.

"Ah!"

The third daughter of the Cabello family managed to stand up from the bed. Her limbs were tied up, so she could only hop off the bed and landed on the floor. She tried to muster her chi energy to break the rope.

However, only then did she realize that the Chi Dispersing Pill that Munro had given her was too strong and effective, making it impossible for her to mobilize and gather her chi energy in her body.

According to what Munro had told her before, this strange pill would last for three days; one who swallowed it could not control the chi energy in his or her body whenever one tried to mobilize the chi energy, it would immediately dissipate.

Moreover, if one repeatedly tried to forcefully coagulate the chi energy in the body, he or she would experience some severe damage to their bodies.

Just when the Third Young Mistress Cabello was in despair, Munro fell down from the roof and plopped onto the floor not far below her feet.

"Great, you son of a b*tch! You deserve it!"

The Third Young Mistress Cabello felt a sudden flare of joy inside her, but soon some thought popped up in her mind. "Strange! When I was captured, nobody from the Cabello family had witnessed it. Could it be that someone accidentally saw it, informed my father of it, and then my father brought people to rescue me?" She babbled happily.

When the thought process came to this point, she quickly shook her head to deny it, feeling that it was simply impossible. She was captured and brought there not too long ago, and the Cabello family was in a place where it was almost impossible for the commoners to locate, not to mention that the distance to that place was far. Even if the Cabello family knew about the kidnap, they would at least need ten days to come to her rescue.

Chapter 1205

Therefore, the rescuer was obviously not from the Cabello family.

"Don't tell me it's another group of bandits who set their eyes on them?"

Instantly, the Third Young Mistress Cabello's heart thumped at this possibility.

After all, no matter if the brigands were from the Windfall Pavilion or any other gang, they were all bad people. The phenomenon of a big fish swallowing a small fish-the strong bullying the weak-was common among groups of bandits.

It looked like this time there must be another group of mountain bandits coming to rob the Windfall Pavilion.

The Third Young Mistress Cabello' s thoughts ran wild within these few minutes, her heart was uneasy and her fear spiked.

After all, she had the most goodlooking face among the three daughters of the Cabello family, though her sisters were beautiful. Furthermore, several other young masters of the reclusive families were fond of her and wanted to pursue after her.

If such a good-looking woman were to fall into the hands of another stronger group of bandits, it was highly likely that she would be captured to be the wife of the chief of bandits.

She was in despair and could not even escape from the hand of the Chief of the Windfall Pavilion, what more a stronger and more powerful bandit? She would not even have the slightest chance to escape.

Swoosh!

At this time, a figure dashed into the room and stood not far from her.

When the other party noticed her presence, the other party did not make any move but studied her.

Jack's eyes lit up slightly when he saw the beauty before him.

The beautiful woman before his eyes was indeed very fascinating and alluring. Her look was somewhat perfect, and her body was even more indescribable. That beauty could definitely compete against Selena and the result was hard to say.

Jack's heart had actually pounded a little faster than usual at this moment.

"You, you, don't come over! I warn you, you won't get me! I am the third daughter of the Cabello family, and the Cabellos are strong and prominent! I'm warning you, if...if you dare to bully me, you're dead meat. My father will find you and kill you even if you've hidden underground!"

Seeing Jack staring at her attentively, the Third Young Mistress Cabello was even more frightened. She stammered, trying her very best to use her tied -up feet to move backward.

Jack woke up from her beauty, then he walked indifferent toward Munro, stopped in front of him, and stabbed his sword into Munro's chest emotionlessly.

When the Third Young Mistress Cabello saw that Jack killed Munro without blinking his eyes, she was so done for; she could feel nothing but blind terror.

If she had known it earlier, she would not be stubborn and sneaked out to search for treasure. She felt confident about her fighting prowess and martial status and wanted to come to mainland to search for treasure. She longed for the excitement and fun, but little did she know that she would be captured.

"You're the daughter of the Cabello family?"

After Jack ended Munro's life, he paced toward Third Young Mistress Cabello slowly.

"Yes, yes, I'm the third young mistress of the Cabello family! My father likes me the most! You this b*stard bandit, don't come near me! Don't you dare take advantage of me!"

The young mistress was scared to death in her heart, but she still clenched her teeth and tried her best to threaten Jack.

"Bandit?"

Jack was rendered speechless." Take a good look at me, do I look like another bandit?"

Only then the Third Young Mistress Cabello studied Jack in detail, she then huffed, "Hmph! You're either a bandit or a brigand and neither of them are good people! Don't think you can cheat me just because you're goodlooking! You this bandit, none of you are good!"

Now, Jack was completely tongue-tied. He shook his head helplessly and approached the other party slowly.

"Don't you dare come near!" She shouted. "You...what are you doing? I have a good reputation, if you dare to ruin me, I...I'll not spare you even when I become a ghost in the future!"

The Third Young Mistress Cabello was so scared that she tried to move backward quicker, however, she seemed to have forgotten that her legs were all tied up. She wanted to move swiftly but her tied-up feet did not allow, instead, she plopped back onto the ground. No. 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 1206-1210

Chapter 1206

Jack did not bother at all to pay attention to the Third Young Mistress Cabello who just fell heavily onto the ground, instead, he continued walking toward her and aimed the sword in his grip at her.

"No, don't!"

The Third Young Mistress Cabello thought that this would be her last day. Her brows puckered together, she closed her eyes and shouted with all her strength.

Swoosh!

Unfortunately, the Third Young Mistress Cabello had guessed wrongly. Jack flickered the sword in his grip, and the next second the rope that she was tied up in, snapped.

The Third Young Mistress Cabello soon felt that the rope seemed to have loosened, only then did she open one of her eyes to peep. Jack had cut the rope.

"You...you're not going to kill me?"

The Third Young Mistress Cabello breathed a huge sigh of relief, but soon her face sank again, "Wait, you must have known that I took the Chi Dispersing Pill and knew that I couldn't control the chi energy in my body to defend myself! That's why you cut the rope and let go of me, right?" She assumed. "Let me tell you straight, this beautiful body you're looking at right now, you're not getting it!"

Jack was once again at a loss for words. "First of all, I'm neither a bandit nor brigand. Secondly, I'm married and have a four-year-old daughter. Although you're goodlooking, I've no interest in you at all." Jack explained with a bitter smile on his face.

He studied the other party, paused for a moment before saying, "Count yourself lucky today to have met me, otherwise, I'm afraid that you'll end up as the wife of the head of brigands. Hehe, now leave, you're freed!"

"You, what you say is true?"

Color of disbelief and puzzlement was plastered on the Third Young Mistress Cabello's face. Did she really misunderstand this man before her and mistaken him as some sort of bad guy? Was he not a bad guy?

"Young Master Jack, great news! We've defeated them all! All of us are well except for a few people who suffered an injury. What a great victory!"

At this point in time, the sound of battling outside the house had stopped, and Mason bolted in excitedly.

However, he quickly noticed the beautiful woman in front of him, then he asked, "Who is this woman? And why are there ropes on the ground? Damn, that mother f*cker Munro hid a girl here?"

"This is the Third Young Mistress of the Cabello family. I don't know how she got caught. Anyway, she was saved in time."

Jack let out a bitter laugh and explained.

"The Cabello family? Young Master Jack, aren't we on bad terms with the Cabello family? The Cabellos always compete and fight against us. How about we kill this what Third Young Miss? The head of the Cabello family will not know it anyway. He'd only think that his daughter was killed by these brigands!"

Mason quickly thought of something and proposed to Jack, smilingly.

"Nah, although we have some unpleasant episodes with the Cabello family, all those episodes are rather minor. If we really kill the daughter of the Cabello family, then the problem will become bigger and graver!"

Jack smiled gently and said to the Third Young Mistress Cabello, "Miss Cabello, you're free to leave!"

"Now I finally know, you're the Young Master of the White family!"

Daniella Cabello smiled faintly and asked, "You're the young master of the White branch family here? Your talent is amazingly good! I thank you for saving me this time... So, may I leave now?"

"What? This..."

Mason stepped forward, wanting to tell the other party that this gentleman was the heir of the family head of the main White family.

However, he was quickly held back by a sign from Jack. Jack held out his hand, signaling him not to utter further, thus, Mason immediately had his mouth shut tightly.

"This..? What?"

Daniella frowned and puzzled slightly.

Mason returned with an awkward smile. "Well, I wanted to say that this time it was the White family who saved you, so don't you ever forget our kind gesture!"

Daniella bobbed her head and replied, "Don't worry. I'll go back and tell my father about this. And I'll let our people pay more attention in the future and not to collide with the White family anymore!"

After Daniella finished her sentence, she looked at Jack again and smiled, "I'm sorry that I've misunderstood you before this. Will you forgive me?"

Chapter 1207

"Heh. I never thought much about it because I'm not that kind of person!"

Jack gave a wan smile and wheeled around, stalking off.

Astonishment flashed across Daniella's eyes as she watched his silhouette.

Many men fawned over her looks. The geniuses from the Cabello family and other families all clamored to catch a glimpse of her.

That man was no brigand, but logically speaking, he should have at least asked for her name or show some semblance of attraction toward her. Yet he just turned around and left. Dissatisfaction roiled in her.

She quickly chased after him. "Hey, aren't you curious what my name is?" she said to Jack.

Jack turned his head to look at her. "Why should I?" he replied impassively.

"I..."

Daniella was furious. The man was completely clueless. Did he not consider trying to show some interest in a beauty like her?

She rolled her eyes at him. "I'm Daniella," she said. "You?"

"Oh. My name is Jack!"

After he said that, he walked out. At this moment, the White family members were sorting through their war trophies.

"Young Master, this is a true treasure. You must take it!"

The First Elder ran over happily, thrusting an object that resembled a tortoiseshell toward Jack.

"Yes. You must have this. We would not have been victorious if not for you today!"

Mason quickly said.

"Thank you!"

Jack smiled and took the object. He flipped his palm and kept it in his martial ring.

"We'll burn the corpses along with this house later! Let's take the war trophies and head back before we do the cleaning up!"

Jack announced after thinking about it.

Daniella was stunned speechless when she saw this. Who on earth was this man? Was he a young master from the main family of the White family? Why would the fighters from the branch families all listen to him otherwise?

After considering it carefully, she felt sure that this was the case. No way that he would be so strong if he were not from the main family, he would not have been able to kill Munro.

"Why haven't you left yet?"

After everyone had cleaned up the corpses, Jack noticed that Daniella was still standing nearby. A crease formed between his brows. The White family did not have good relations with the Cabello family. He did not want to show the slightest bit of weakness.

"Why so fierce?"

Daniella grew even more speechless when Jack seemed impatient. Never mind that he did not try to butter her up, and now he was trying to chase her away? Never had she suffered such humiliation before.

She shot him a glare. "I'm not leaving. I'll be staying at the White family's place for two or three more days!" she said.

Jack was internally speechless; his expression soured. "Miss Daniella Cabello, am I correct? I saved you because you so happened to be there. It was an accident. Never mind that you don't wish to return the favor, but why do you want to stay here? You're stepping out of your boundaries."

"Can't a beauty like me want to stay a few days at the White family's place? You really don't know how to prune a rose when you see one. I've no idea how someone like you found a wife!"

Daniella folded her arms across her chest, speaking indignantly.

Chapter 1208

When Mason heard this, he grinned at Jack. "Young Master Jack, she said it herself-you truly don't know how to recognize a rose," he said. "Since you saved her in such a dashing manner, of course, she has an interest in you now. How cruel of you to reject her request so outrightly!"

Another elder from another branch family also chipped in, "That's right. You two look as though you were a match made in heaven. Just agree with her request. The third daughter of the Cabello family is famed for her beauty. How could you decline her just like that?"

Daniella's cheeks reddened as the two spoke that way. She rolled her eyes at Mason. "What are you talking about? I have no other way out, okay? I won't have access to my chi for these few days, since I ate those Chi Dispersing Pills. If I run into any danger while I'm alone, I won't be able to fight back at all."

Here, Daniella paused before she continued, "That's why I must stay at your place for two or three days. I'll leave once my chi comes back!"

"Chi Dispersing Pills?"

Jack frowned. "I never thought that such a pill would exist. It's my first time hearing of it."

"Oh, it's here, Young Master!"

Mason quickly took out one such pill from his martial ring and gave it to Jack.

Jack quickly discovered a counter pill's prescription, as well as a small pill furnace. "I never thought that Munro would have gotten this. It's a first-grade elementary pill, but this pill can come in handy. It's a wonderful product!"

"Really? That man actually knew alchemy. Not everyone can do that. I never thought that Munro knew all this!"

Mason could not help but exclaimed after he heard that.

"Hah. I'll be keeping the prescription and the pill furnace. It 'll be useful for me!"

Jack laughed. Being able to obtain such items was indeed a propitious incident.

Furthermore, the shield that resembled a tortoiseshell from before seemed pretty good too. However, Jack would only determine how precious it truly was once he had the time to study it properly at home.

"Hah. Just take it if you like it, Young Master. The pills and the pill furnace are useless to us."

Mason laughed. At that moment, the house on the opposite side began to catch fire. The corpse of Munro's men burned along with it.

After all the corpse had been cleared, Jack and the others head down the mountain.

"Hey, if you're not saying anything, I take it that you agree to let me stay at the White family' s place for these few days!"

When she saw that they were leaving, Daniella quickly skipped after Jack.

"Fine. It's not like we lack rooms!"

Jack could not be bothered with her. This time, the White family had obtained plenty of martial resources. Mason and the others should be overjoyed now.

Mason and the others still had grins plastered onto their faces.

Mason sang all the way down the mountain.

"No way, no way. I'm tired!"

Not long after, Daniella was already tired. "All of you are martial practitioners. You all walked in a fast pace walk as though it were nothing. Now that I have no access to my chi, I'm as good as a normal person. I don't want to walk anymore!"

"You don't want to walk? Then what should we do? Don't tell me you want me to carry you?"

Mason stared at her. "What a pain!" he snapped.

Chapter 1209

"I'm not getting on your back!"

Daniella rolled her eyes at Mason. She had no inclination toward his hulky figure.

Her eyes sidled toward Jack. She pressed her lips together. "Youyou carry me down!" she said bashfully.

Jack did not know whether to laugh or cry. However, it was true that they were making slow progress with her tagging along.

He could only walk toward her, huffing. "I can carry you down, but you owe me a favor then. Got it?"

"Got it. I'll definitely return the favor. How could a man be so petty? It's your privilege to be able to carry a beauty like me!"

Daniella scuttled toward Jack's back and hopped on. "Let's go, Young Master Jack!"

"Let's go. What are all of you staring at?"

Jack roared when everyone was staring at him. Only then did they continue downward.

Meanwhile, Daniella's heart was pounding wildly in her chest.

Once she knew that he was not a brigand and that he was the young master of the White family, her impression of him grew more positive. It meant that he had a pretty lofty position. He could match her, at least.

Daniella's mind began to wander. After all, it was the first time she had met such a handsome man who showed no interest in her.

'He's strong too. So much stronger than the young masters I know!'

The more she thought about it, the more she realized how attractive Jack was. She looked at the scene as they trod down, her face hot. She felt that this was fate.

"Hey, you're a member of the White' main family, right?"

Daniella rested her head against his back and asked softly.

"Yup!"

Jack answered as he strode down the mountain.

"Can't you walk a little slower? Be considerate of me."

Daniella pursed her lips. With the uneven mountain road, hers and Jack's body frequently bumped against each other. Since she never dated before, she felt extremely embarrassed.

"You told me to carry you down. It's a wonder I gave in to you. And now you're complaining?"

Jack did not know whether to laugh or cry. "You must have been spoiled in the Cabello family and rarely left the house," she said. "The treasure spots, the monsters, and the martial artists of the outside world will never entertain your whining!"

"You're a psychic! I do very rarely leave the Cabello family's house!"

Daniella smiled. "If I had never met you, I would have been a goner."

"Really? Then are we friends now?"

Jack paused for a while. A scheme began to stir in his mind.

Chapter 1210

"Of course. You're my savior. So I'll definitely find a way to repay you!"

Warmth spread in Daniella's chest. She thought of something and quickly added on: "But don't you let your mind wander everywhere. I won't repay you with my body. Hmph. Anyone who wishes to go after me must prove that they're worthy. Got it?"

"You're really confident, aren't you?"

Jack did not know whether to laugh or cry. It was true that she was not half-bad looking, and the light fragrance emanating from her was intriguing, but Jack was confident in his self-restraint.

"Hmph. I know all you men speak one thing and then think another. You're definitely thinking of something, what with a beauty like me splayed all over your back now!"

"I'm telling you, it's your privilege to carry me. So many men wish to do so but don't have the chance!"

Daniella was as proud as ever, as though she were a princess high above the clouds.

"You're saying that it's my privilege to carry someone as heavy as you? Heh. I'll be more than happy to get rid of this weight!"

Jack smiled. This girl was far too cocky.

She was pretty, but he was not the sort to butter up to nasty people.

"You-you're calling me fat? What are you talking about? Hmph. So many people admire my figure!"

Daniella was furious when Jack told her that she was heavy. She resisted the urge to strangle him. His vision must have had problems. She was a little plump in some areas, but she was not fat at all.

After talking to her for a while, Jack popped the question, "Right. I heard that the Cabello family has a precious ancient tome. Something about forbidden medicine, right?"

"That's right. How did you know? Do you know medicine?"

Daniella answered without thinking twice.

"That's right. I have an interest in medicine. I heard that the tome contains precious knowledge, so of course, I know of it. It'll be fantastic if I got the chance to look at it!"

Jack told Daniella after he thought about it.

"Heh. You want to take a look?"

Daniella chuckled. "I don't even get to take a peek at it even if I wanted to. It's currently in our First Elder's possession. That old man hangs onto it as though it were his life source, always talking about how complex it was and how he needed to study it. He even said that it contains alchemy methods of crafting third and fourth-grade pills. My father and the others know about this!"

"Third or fourth-grade pills?"

Jack took a sharp intake of breath after he heard this. Even second-grade spirit grass was extremely hard to find, yet this tome contained alchemical records of third and fourth-grade pills? Did this mean that he was getting close to finding the mother of pills? No. 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 1211-1215

Chapter 1211

If there were third or fourth-grade pills, that meant that the third or fourth-grade spirited grass existed. If that was the case, where were these spirited grass? Spirited grass or pills like that would likely cause a person of the true god status to combust with energy. This meant that the legends of the ultimate god status may very well be true.

"That's right. My father said that the third and fourth-grade pills exist which means that the ultimate god status might be real."

Daniella did not seem to have many walls around her, and she spoke easily with Jack, "That's why the tome is a true treasure to the First Elder. He'd study it with every moment of spare time he has, trying to dissect its secrets. And sometimes he goes looking for true treasure, to see if he can find the third-grade spirited grass described in the tome!"

"Have his searches been fruitful?"

Jack's eyes brightened when he heard that. He asked her a question.

Daniella gave a bitter smile. "Zilch. He's got nothing to show for even after all these years. I don't think the third and fourth-grade spirited grass exists. He did not find a single stalk. Perhaps someone wrote that tome just to play a long-running joke on future generations!"

"I don't think so. Your First Elder would have noticed that it was fake after studying it for so long. Besides, I heard that he's pretty skilled in medicine. He's pretty famous for alchemical research too!"

After Jack thought about it, he spoke with firm resolution, "I believe that the ultimate god status is real. We cannot give up on the clues that point directly toward it!"

"Heh. That might be a little difficult. All eight reclusive families are trying to discover the path to the ultimate god status. Everyone thinks that there is a this now. He needed to get that tome to see if there was a technique to heal Fernando.

"That's right. At any rate, I don't really believe in all this talk of 'ultimate god status' and whatnot. Besides, I don't have a high martial level, and I'm still young. I'll leave the thinking to my father and the elders-especially for those who are at the peak of the true god status. They have no way to improve anymore, so nothing else interests them more than finding a way to break into the ultimate god realm!"

Daniella smiled and said, "But there's no way you're going to look at that tome. The First Elder won't heed my commands even if I screech at him to take it out. He's even the one to flip the pages for my father when he wants to read it!"

"Your father needs to obtain permission from the First Elder if he wants to see it?" Jack frowned. "That means the First Elder has a very powerful position in your family!" he continued.

"Of course. The First Elder is at the true god status, just like my father, and his martial skill is even higher. More importantly, he knows alchemy and medicine. That's why he has even greater status in the Cabello family than my father. My father has to be respectful to him!"

Daniella's voice was full of pride when she spoke of her family. "Not many families have more than one fighter at the peak of the true god status like the Cabello family. Even you people from the White family must only have one at most!"

Jack was internally speechless when he heard that. He did not expect the Cabello family's First Elder to be so powerful.

It would be extremely difficult to get the tome from him.

Chapter 1212

"The Cabello family truly is strong!"

Jack gave a wan smile and threw the words out in a callous manner.

Yet he was internally speechless. It was evident that the First Elder treasured the tome more dearly than his own children if he had any-and wanted to find the way to break into the ultimate god realm within its pages. There was no way that Jack was going to be able to borrow the tome for a split second. If he did not even allow the third daughter of the Cabello family to take a peek at it, never mind him, a complete outsider.

That was why the only way around that was to get his hand on the tome.

Although Jack was still at the beginning stage of the true god status, he felt that it would not be a problem to kill someone at the intermediate stage of the true god status. He could probably give someone at the advanced stage of the true god status a good run for his money.

However, the First Elder of the Cabello family was at the peak of the true god status. Even among the fighters who were ranked the same as him, he was outstanding. With all this considered, it was impossible to snatch the tome directly from him.

Unless Jack was stronger than the old man. Only then did he have a chance.

"Of course. The Cabello family is probably one of the top 3 strongest families among the eight reclusive families. But the strongest still isn't us!"

Daniella had a huge grin plastered onto her face. It was evident that the Cabello family gave her a lot of pride.

Soon after, they finally arrived at the residence of one of the branch families. Jack set Daniella down.

"Not bad. I thought you would have abandoned me halfway down the mountain. I didn't expect you to really carry me all the way here!"

A smile curved Daniella's lips when she saw the beads of perspiration on Jack's forehead. She laced her fingers behind her back. "Don't tell me that you wanted to carry me for a while longer?" she said. "Is that why you didn't put me down?"

Jack was internally speechless. In order to dispel some of her worries, he had struck a conversation about the Cabello family-at the same time, he could understand her family's situation a little better. As they spoke, they gradually came close to the village. He was not giving her much thought, honestly.

He gave a bitter smile. "No one would want to carry you for a while longer, with you being so heavy," he replied. "I just forgot to put you down because I was talking to you. I would have dropped you at the foot of the mountain if I had realized it earlier!"

"As if I'd believe you!"

Daniella rolled her eyes. "Where are you staying?" she asked bashfully. "I'll stay in the house beside yours!"

"What!"

Jack did not know what to say. "Why do you want to follow me? Don't tell me that you like me now? I do have some confidence in my charm, after all!"

He was only joking, but his words made Daniella panic. She quickly wheeled around, cheeks flushing. "What are you talking about? No way that I like you. There are plenty of other young masters who are better than you," she said. "Hmph. I just had the impression that you're a pretty good person, so you won't get any funny thoughts. That's why I wanted to stay beside you!"

Jack did not know whether to laugh or cry. He stretched his arms. "I'll get them to choose two talented youths and their branch family master in the afternoon, then I'll be moving to another branch family tomorrow morning!" he said. "Don't worry. I'll tell the branch family members that I'll skin anyone who dares to lay a finger on you alive!"

"That won't do!"

Unexpectedly, Daniella immediately retorted, "If something happens to you and my purity is tainted by someone, it 'll still be a great loss to me, even if you kill that someone. Besides, not a single one of the lives of your branch families is worth mine. Hmph! At any rate, I'll be tagging you around for these few days. I only trust you now. I'll leave once my chi returns to me!"

"Fine. It doesn't matter to me anyway!"

Jack brought her along and instructed Mason to arrange a room at the place he was staying for Daniella.

In the afternoon, Mason and the others had categorized their spoils of war-including spirited grass-and lay it before Jack, allowing him to choose whichever objects he liked.

After he studied the items for a while, Jack only chose a few stalks of medicine that would be suited to make chi pills.

"There's plenty of spirited grass here, Young Master. Why don't you take more?"

Their First Elder blurted after he noticed that Jack had picked out so few items.

"No need. I have enough!"

Jack smiled. "Mason will be leaving for the main family. Have you selected your next house head?"

The First Elder gave an apologetic smile. "They all chose me. So I-I have no choice but to take up the mantle of house head of this branch family."

Jack bobbed his head. "Then what about the talents? I need two names. Will you be using a fighting competition to decide on the champions, or do you already have obvious talents among you?"

"We do have two clear geniuses in our house, Master," Mason explained as he stepped forward. "Amos and Dawson. We wanted to nominate them both, but the Second Elder's granddaughter, Nikini, still wants to have a martial arts competition, even though she's not as strong as either of them... What should we do?"

Jack was slightly taken aback when he heard this. "How big is the gap between them?" he asked.

"Amos and Dawson are at the intermediate stage of the semigod status, whereas Nikini is at the beginning stage of the semigod status. Seriously, I don't know what that girl is thinking. She's a whole level lower than them but still insists on a battle to prove their position. No way that it'll be easy for her to beat them. Besides, she just broke into the beginning stage of the semi-god status. That kid..."

At this moment, a teenage girl not too far away stood up and cried out to Jack, "Young Master Jack, choosing geniuses is not solely a matter based on their current fighting skill, am I right? I won't be satisfied unless we have a competition, at least. My parents also wish for me to enter the White family. My chance to uphold my family's name depends on this!"

Jack nodded his head after he heard that. "All right. We'll have a competition since someone is unsatisfied with the selection criteria!"

After he said that, he addressed the audience, "Those of you who are not satisfied may step forward as well to participate in the battle. Does anyone wish to pit themselves against the three of them?"

Jack waited for a while. No one raised their voice, so he spoke to Nikini, "All right, you can choose to fight either Dawson or Amos. I'll judge your potential based on the duel!"

"Thank you, Young Master Jack!"

Nikini's heart leaped in delight when he agreed to her proposal. Her eyes flickered between Dawson and Amos.

"Heh, I'll fight you, Dawson!" she finally declared.

Chapter 1214

"Challenge me?" Dawson White widened his eyes and was obviously not convinced. "Nikini White, turns out I'm not as good as Amos White in your opinion. Are you looking down on me?"

Nikini immediately smiled in embarrassment. "No. Brother Dawson, both you and Brother Amos have similar fighting prowess and your combat power is almost the same too. To be honest, I have to choose one even though I really don't know which one of you to choose. Hence, I choose you!"

Dawson glared at Nikini. "Young girl, I'm sure you feel that I'm not as good as Amos and that I'm a weakling, right?"

Dawson directly walked toward a slightly empty area and raised his eyebrows at Nikini provocatively. "If that's the case, Sister Nikini, I will not hold back. After all, the chance of entering the White main family is very important for me. It's relayed to me or my parents' destiny!"

"Who's waiting for you to hold back? It's meaningless for me to win the competition if you're holding back!" Nikini soon arrived in front of Dawson. She curled her hands into fists and Chi started surging on top of her fists.

"Alright, let's have a serious fight today!" Dawson was immediately filled with the urge to fight when he saw how serious Nikini was. He curled his hands into fists and the two of them soon started their battle.

It had to be mentioned that although Nikini's fighting prowess was much lower than her opponent's, their combat powers were almost the same when they started battling.

Jack had a decision after he observed for a while. If Nikini's fighting prowess was slightly stable, she would be able to win against Dawson even if she did not enter the intermediate level of the semi-god stage.

Unfortunately, Nikini had just achieved the initial stage of the semi-god level and she was not so skilled in the utilization of her Chi. Together with the fact that the Chi in her body was not as sufficient as that in Dawson's body. Compared to Dawson, she would not be able to withstand the use of her Chi if the battle continued.

"This young lady has quite a good combat ability, does she have the opportunity to win?" Third Young Mistress Cabello could not help but ask Jack. She was also stunned as she looked at the duo fighting aggressively.

"She won't be able to win! She might be able to win if they have the same fighting prowess. Sadly they have huge differences in their fighting prowess and she will not be able to hold it if the chi consumption continues!" Jack smiled bitterly and continued to speak. "The main thing is that the both of them have almost the same martial skills, hence she doesn't have any advantages!"

Daniella nodded in realization after she heard this. "That's sad!"

Sure enough, just as Jack expected, Nikini's forehead was covered in sweat and she seemed unable to withstand anymore after the both of them battled for some time.

Bang!

Finally, Nikini took a kick and she flew backward like a kite with no strings. She vomited a mouthful of blood and her face turned pale.

"Nikini!" Nikini's father could not help but sighed as his heart hurt for his daughter when he saw this.

"Nikini, you've lost!" Dawson stopped and looked at Nikini, who fell on the floor, and said, "To be honest, you have really strong combat ability. Unfortunately, there's no other choice as there are only two positions for us today and I have to fight for it!"

Unexpectedly, Nikini petted the floor and once again flew upward. She wiped the bright-colored blood from her mouth as she stood there. "Haha... It's just some attack and it's a small wound. This is nothing and I've not admitted defeat. The battle is not over yet!"

Nikini stepped on the floor again after she spoke and directly rushed toward Dawson's knife.

"Again?" Dawson was speechless. He had no idea that Nikini was so stubborn and would still want to battle him.

Dawson dared not take it easy when he saw how fiercely Nikini was coming at him. He quickly curled his hands into fists and continued rushing forward.

Bam! Bam! Bam!

A wave of fighting noises could be heard but everybody knew clearly in their hearts that Nikini, who was already hurt, would not be Dawson's opponent no matter how hard she tried.

"My child's father, please try to persuade Nikini!"

Chapter 1215

Beside them, Nikini's mother could not continue looking at them so she asked her husband.

"It's alright, she has always had this character of unwillingness to lose. I won't persuade her on this!" Although he was also extremely distressed, Nikini's father still tightened his fists and said persistently.

"Sigh!" Nikini's mother sighed.

Bang!

After a while, Nikini flew backward once again and laid on the floor. She once again vomited blood and her face grew increasingly pale compared to previously.

"Nikini, admit defeat, you're not my opponent!" Dawson also felt sorry for this young girl as he looked at Nikini.

After all, they had a good relationship between them. To search for martial enhancement material, the youngsters of the branch families had always been taking care of one another in that dangerous forest. They also grew up together and had good relationships.

However, they had to fight on that day for their respective futures.

"I have not lost yet! You will not admit defeat so easily!" Nikini gritted her teeth and once again stood up. She curled her fists and once again rushed outward.

However, her speed had obviously decreased and Dawson managed to easily evade her punch, instead he flipped his hand and slapped her on her back.

Puff!

Nikini flew forward and fell face down on the floor. Blood splattered and some dirt sputtered upward.

"This girl!" Nikini's mother could not hold it back anymore and yelled at her. "Nikini, admit defeat, you're not Dawson's opponent."

"Mother... I.. I can still fight!"

Nikini once again stood up and still wanted to fight.

"Enough!" At this moment, Jack actually said softly and the entire area quieted down.

"Young Master Jack, I haven't admitted defeat. This competition is not over yet!" Nikini looked at Jack with expectations written all over her face.

"There's no need to continue fighting!" Fand smiled at her before speaking loudly to the crowd. "After observing the battle between them, I have to say that they are all geniuses that are hard to come by. It's a great thing for the branch families to have such great geniuses. I believe that they will definitely be masters of the true god status in the future if they are nicely groomed and trained!"

Jack paused here before continuing to speak. "Hence, I've decided to add a position for this branch family. Dawson, Amos, and Nikini, the three of you only need to follow Patronum Mason and report yourselves to the main family!"

"What! Is... Is this true?" Nikini's parents were extremely excited and had no idea what to say.

"Your daughter is really marvelous, I'll give you guys another quota!" Jack nodded in satisfaction and said while looking at them.No. 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 1216-1220

Chapter 1216

Overwhelmed with joy, Nikini's eyes reddened as she almost cried.

"Thank... Thank you, Young Master Jack!" muttered Nikini shakily.

Mason, who was by their side, then chimed in, "Young Master Jack, I know that you're kind, but isn't this somewhat unfavorable? We from the branch family are facing shortage in numbers. The other branch families who also only have two quota will be unhappy when they see that three of our people go over."

Nikini's father also frowned and solemnly added, "Yes. If this is the case, the other branch families might feel that this is unfair. I'm afraid that this will affect your image by then, Young Master Jack. Although they won't say anything on the surface, prodigies from the branch families will definitely say something when they come down."

The initially elated Nikini bit her luscious lips as she heard Mason and her father's opinion and thus spoke, "Young Master Jack, thank you for your kindness, but thinking things through, it does seem rather unfavorable for you. I think it's best if I don't go over, but I'll strive for it when there's a chance like this in the future."

Jack was touched when he heard this and responded with an indifferent smile, "Don't worry. Since I've spoken about this, then it wouldn't be a problem. So long as I feel that you're good enough, it's nothing to break the rules and increase the quota. You don't need to worry yourselves over this matter. If the other branch families have prodigies with such talents, it's not a big deal to add another quota for them. I'll speak with those from the other branch families about this."

"Then... If that's the case, we thank you, Young Master!" Mason immediately gestured politely to Jack with his hands. "You truly have thought of us kindly, Young Master Jack. We from the branch families will go over and beyond if you need anything, even if it needs our lives."

Bikini's father gazed at Jack admiringly and excitedly. "Young Master Jack, you... you really are our family's benefactor!"

"Haha... Don't mention anything about benefactors or what not. We're all members of the White family, and we naturally can't let good seedlings go to waste! Apart from that, if Nikini had the same fighting prowess as Dawson, I think that even with Dawson and Amos working together, they can't beat her. Won't it be a waste of time if I don't bring such a good seedling to go train with the White main family from the start?"

Jack chuckled and added, "After all, a youth has the best talents and understanding for training. It's also the best timing for training!"

Nikini's mother gazed at Jack appreciatively. "Young Master Jack, can you stay a couple of days here with us? We'll give you cordial hospitality."

Jack gave a small smile and turned them down, saying, "There's no need for this. I'll be leaving early tomorrow morning after a night's rest to go to the next branch family. After all, there are quite a lot of branch families and powers that rely on our main family. Even if we try to shorten the entire journey, it'll still take an estimated time of two days on this."

Everybody nodded-Jack's position in these branch families' hearts was obviously different.

When the Third Elder was still alive and Lily still in power, they would bully the branch family's members. They handed in increasingly more martial enhancement materials that they worked hard to get. There was really too little in their hands for their training.

After all that was over, everything progressed for the better ever since Jack stepped in. Everyone was happy after the Third Elder died and Lily was removed from the White main family as nobody would continue this cruel treatment towards them.

Meanwhile, Lily was brought home to the Lagorios under the lead of an old man of the Lagorio family.

Her wounds gradually healed after several days of rest on her way back.

It was bad enough that her son's status was uncertain and she was thrown out of the White family, but the fact that Wade had used and manipulated Lily turned her haggard in just mere days.

Chapter 1217

Lily had lost almost five kilograms within several days.

Lily exhaled a long breath as she gazed at the entrance to the Lagorio family's residence before entering with the old man.

Not long after, several young men guarding at the mountainside saw Lily. "Eldest Miss has returned!"

Someone immediately ran to inform the others after they saw them.

A girl walked toward her and smilingly spoke, "Eldest Miss, why did you come back alone?"

It was not long until the girl take much. Didn't I bring all of it to our Lagorio family?"

Lily grew increasingly agitated as she spoke, "Apart from that, Lance is so talented. Why must the position of the family master inheritor be given to the illegitimate child, Jack? On what grounds? We gave so much, and I gave so much for the White family, so the next family master of the White family has to be my son!"

Master Lagorio also nodded and said to the old master. "Father, I also feel that what Lily says makes sense. Lily shouldn't have been with the Third Elder and the others, but it was for our family. Otherwise, how could we have noticed something wrong with Lily. Once an all-smiles, joyful woman every time she returned, the current Lily looked as if she did not have any energy and was extremely dispirited.

The young girl frowned and asked carefully, "Eldest Miss, what... What happened to you? Why do you look so languish?"

The old man beside them sighed." Young Susan, stop nosing in. It's hard to explain everything in just seconds."

The duo continued walking forward and they soon arrived at a huge square at the mountainside.

At that moment, Master Lagorio, along with Old Master Lagorio and quite a number of elders, rushed out to welcome them.

As Lily had not returned to her maiden family for many years, the Lagorios were naturally happy when they heard she was back.

"Daughter, what... What happened to you?" Lily's mother immediately recognized that something was wrong with Lily the moment she saw her daughter and immediately guessed, "Had... Had they found Lance's body? Could it be that Lance really died?"

Lily shook her head lifelessly before raising her head to look at her father. With reddened eyes, she spoke, "Father, I don't even have my fighting prowess right now. That bastard Nash White chased me out of the Lagorio family and destroyed my fighting prowess. I'm a commoner right now."

"What?!" Master Lagorio almost fainted due to anger after he heard this. He took a long while to regain his composure before asking, "What actually happened? How dare Nash White treat you like that!"

The old man from the Lagorio family sighed and said, "Master, Eldest Miss was in an illicit relationship with the Third Elder, and they... They even wanted to rebel to take the White family master title. They didn't expect to fail, and Wade White was killed. Several elders and patronums that were ready to rebel together with them were also killed."

Stunned at what he heard, Master Lagorio grew increasingly doubtful. "What is all of this? Wasn't everything alright previously? Why do you want to rebel? Didn't Nash catch a weird disease and was dying? I just thought of visiting him in another two days, too. Why am I hearing treasons and illicit relationships?"

The old man, who carried the surname Lagorio and brought Lily back, explained, "It all happened like this: Lance has yet to return, and since there was no news of him, the White family members have been searching for him."

The old man paused before continuing, "None of their searches came up fruitfully, however, and the White family members naturally thought that Young Master Lance is dead. Coincidentally, the White family master, Nash White wanted to meet his mistress in the outside world, Joan and his illegitimate child, Jack. Displeased, Eldest Miss secretly poisoned Nash. Nash wasn't suffering any weird disease-he was poisoned by a rather peculiar poison..."

The old man slowly told the Lagorios everything, from the beginning to the end, with a cold expression.

Old Master Lagorio was infuriated with everything he heard and pointed at Lily angrily. "Lily, what ... What did you do? No wonder Nash destroyed your fighting prowess and expelled you out of the White family. The Third Elder is so old, and you don't cherish your position as the Eldest Madam. You actually poisoned Nash and even got together with the Third Elder?! You shame me so!"

The old master grew extremely agitated as he spoke, so angry that his entire face turned green. He never thought his granddaughter would do something like this. If news of this got out, the Lagorio family will lose all their honor.

"Grandfather, I did all of this for our family!" Lily, on the other hand, still had no remorse as she glared at the old master angrily. "We supported the White family so much in the beginning," she argued, "and shouldn't they support us now that they've risen? I secretly took many martial enhancement materials together with the Third Elder, but he didn't take much. Didn't I bring all of it to our Lagorio family?"

Lily grew increasingly agitated as she spoke, "Apart from that, Lance is so talented. Why must the position of the family master inheritor be given to the illegitimate child, Jack? On what grounds? We gave so much, and I gave so much for the White family, so the next family master of the White family has to be my son!"

Master Lagorio also nodded and said to the old master. "Father, I also feel that what Lily says makes sense. Lily shouldn't have been with the Third Elder and the others, but it was for our family. Otherwise, how could we have gotten so much martial enhancement materials over these years? Apart from that, I also feel that the White family master should be my grandson. Lance is so talented and worked so hard. Why should a young man who returned from the outside inherit the title instead?"

The old master sighed and said, " But Lance hadn't returned after such a long time, and there's a huge possibility that he's dead. No matter what, that guy named Jack is Nash's son. It's not going overboard if he wants to meet his son and wife after so many years. It's also nothing if he wants them to return and restore their positions."

The Lagorio family master, Trenton Lagorio, solemnly nodded. "It's definitely nothing, but I don't agree if he, Nash White give the position of family master inheritor to Jack. Apart from that, even though my daughter made mistakes, it doesn't matter if he expels her out of the White family...but why did he need to destroy her fighting prowess? How many years does she need to train to get back to her original fighting prowess? Even if she managed to train back, my daughter would be old by then!"

Old Master Lagorio was speechless-it did seem like Nash went too far. Yes, Lily made some grave mistakes, but the White family wouldn't have had their current position if the Lagorios hadn't helped. No matter how huge the mistake Lily made was, it shouldn't have resulted in her being expelled from the White family. Destroying her fighting prowess was much more painful than killing her."

He also felt a wave of heartache when he saw how haggard Lily had become.

Lily almost started crying as she spoke, "Father, I don't care. From today onward, the White family is our enemy. I want to wipe out the entire White family! I want to make them pay!"

Chapter 1219

"Eldest Miss, why.... Why do you think that? You were married to him, might I remind you, and you were the one at fault in the beginning. Master Nash wouldn't have treated you in such a way otherwise."

The elder who carried the Lagorio surname tried to coax Lily after hearing her rather aggressive stance. "I think it's best to just let it go; surely Master Nash won't harm Young Master Lance should he return if you stand down. He'd surely ask him to return to us Lagorios since there can't be two tigers in a mountain. He definitely won't let Young Master Lance to continue staying in the White family as you've already been expelled from the White family."

The old man paused before he added, "As for the situation where both families really started a war ... Firstly, the Lagorio family is definitely no match for the White family. Although the White family lost the Third Elder and several people who were faithful to you, Miss, but the White family can definitely withstand this loss. Secondly, once the war starts, how do you think the White family members will treat Young Master Lance if he's alive and returns to the White family? They'll kill him on sight!"

Old Master Lagorio also nodded in agreement after he heard this and said to Lily, "Lily, I think Xavier has a point. No matter from which point of view we look at it from, we don't have the capability right now to wipe out the White family. Apart from that, Lance's situation is unknown. Although he's Nash's son, Jack is the family master inheritor right now. Our relationship with the White family will affect Nash's attitude towards Lance after he returns."

Master Trenton also nodded after he thought about it. "It's true, my dear. I also understand that you want to kill Nash and Jack badly, but we can't act impulsively on this matter. As the saying goes, 'a starved camel is bigger than a horse.' We'd get nothing out of a war, so we'll have to keep ourselves in check on this matter."

Lily's mother, Diana Simpson, also stepped forward to persuade her daughter, "Daughter, it's best if you go back to your room and rest well for the next two days. I believe that Lance is still alive, and for the sake of Lance's safety, we shouldn't fight with the White family right now. Fret not, my dear, the Lagorios will deliver justice in your stead, little by little."

Only then did Lily nod in agreement. She thought about it and spoke again, "Father, our Lagorio family also needs to send some people into the White to search and see if we can find Lance. It'd be best if we can find him."

"Alright, alright, alright. I promise I'll send people to carry out the search." Trenton nodded continuously and promised Lily.

Diana glanced at the servants by her side and ordered, "The few of you, bring my daughter so she can take a rest. Cook some good soup tonight for her to replenish her body."

Soon, Lily left with several servants in tow.

Finally, Trenton looked at the old man who sent Lily back and asked, "Xavier Lagorio, how about you? Do you plan to go back to the White family or stay at the Lagorio family from now on?"

Chapter 1220

Sheepish as he was questioned on the spot, Xavier smiled bitterly and said, "Master, I plan to return to the White family. After all, the White family master treats me well, and he even saved me once... While I am a Lagorio, I used to be a mere member of the Lagorio branch family..."

Hearing his response, Trenton smirked bitterly. "Amazing. Never thought you'd be the White family's lapdog despite being there for several years. Haha... This is absurd! Have you forgotten that you're a Lagorio?"

Xavier was enraged to hear Trenton's remark; never once was he treated well when he stayed with the Lagorios, extremely angry. Instead, he was bullied.

Surprisingly, upon entering the White family, not only was he given an important position but he was also saved by Nash once. He had secretly vowed from that day on that his life belonged to the White family.

That was why he chose to side with the White family instead of being with Lily and the Third Elder.

Never did he think that him kindly sending Lily back to the Lagorios would be met with sarcasm from Trenton, who even called him a lapdog.

Through gritted teeth, Xavier denounced, "I'm well aware I'm a Lagorio, Master, but as humans, we need to push forward, not to mention that I owe Nash White my life. My family name is Lagorio, but I understand the need to have gratitude.

A person can't be without their conscience! My sons died fighting for the Lagorio family, and I don't owe the Lagorio family anything!" He turned around and was prepared to leave.

"Are you insane? How dare you speak to our family master like that!" The First Elder of the Lagorio family flipped his hand and took a sword out, ready to attack.

"Stop!" came the sharp order from the Lagorios' Old Master. "Let him leave."

Xavier stopped walking and turned around to look at the crowd before gesturing with his hands. "Goodbye."

After he spoke, Xavier stepped with the tips of his toes and Chi appeared under his feet. He directly rushed upward into the sky and flew downward.

Within several breaths, Xavier had disappeared from everybody's sight.

The Lagorio family's First Elder said to Old Master Lagorio anxiously after Xavier left, "Old Master, Xavier has a high martial level, and we can't let him leave. We're considered enemies of the White family, and we'll be in war against them sooner or later, it'll be in our best interest to kill such a strong semi-god master. He's at the peak level of the semi-god stage, and he might be able to break into the true god-level someday soon."No. 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 1221-1225

Chapter 1221

However, Old Master Lagorio shook his head. "We can't kill him no matter what. If news about this gets out, our Lagorio family will be the laughing stock of the entire world."

"Why? We're getting rid of a hidden problem. Apart from that, he's a member of our Lagorio family, and now he's an accomplice to the enemy, willing to work for the White family. Could it be possible that the other families will say something if we kill him?" The First Elder frowned, unable to comprehend his logic.

Old Master Lagorio replied, "His sons died fighting for our Lagorio family in the past, and he did nothing to wrong our Lagorio family. Won't others say we're savages when news about this gets out?"

Old Master Lagorio placed both arms behind his back and looked at the area where Xavier left. He continued to speak, "He would've died if he sided with Lily from the beginning and instead of being with the White family to repay their kindness. Sending Lily home is a generous act from his part."

At this moment, Trenton also nodded. "True... If nobody escorted Lily back after her fighting prowess was destroyed, who knew what dangers she'd face as she returned alone. Surely, the White family won't send somebody to escort her back. Xavier's action of proactively sending my daughter back here is considered as him doing something great for our Lagorio family."

The First Elder, after hearing their rational thoughts, nodded, "You're right... And I acted out of impulse just now. Thankfully, the old master stopped me, or I would've done something I'd regret for life. After all, Xavier sent Eldest Miss back without anyone telling him and if I killed him then and there, we'd get the bad brunt of it all if people found out."

"Nevermind, nevermind... We'll be enemies in the future, and we can attack without holding back the next time we meet him." The old master sighed before he added, "Lily gave us a lot of martial enhancement material during the previous two to three years, and our family has grown quite a lot, though we still beat them-both parties will lose. We still need to make plans if we want to avenge Lily."

Diana said angrily, "It's indisputable Nash is responsible over how my daughter ended up in this situation today. Why did he have to get Joan and Jack back home? None of this would've happened if he didn't have such thoughts. He should've focused on solely searching for and making him the family master! He's the one in the wrong, and that's why my daughter would go to such extremes."

Another slightly younger middle-aged man also said angrily, "We have to avenge my sister. Sadly, it's been four months and we still haven't found Lance without even a clue or lead to where he is. It's going to be very difficult. Not only him, but there's also no clues about those from the other families. After all, they went hunting for treasures together!"

"No matter what, let's send a dozen people to start searching from tomorrow onward. If we don't do that, Lily will forever be restless." The old man smiled bitterly. He thought about it and soon his eyes lit up. "Oh yes, I almost forgot. One month later, there will be a martial art competition among the younger generations of the eight reclusive families, right? A martial art competition that happens once every three years. Perhaps we can use that to our advantage."

Trenton's eyes also lit up after he heard this and smilingly added, "Yes, this is a huge event. The White family definitely suffered a huge loss after what happened this time. If we tell others about this, many families which are of the same capabilities as them won't agree to their position and identity!"

Diana thought about it and said, "Some families had quite the rift with the White family, such as the Cabello family, and there are also those who had smaller disputes with them. If we can drive a wedge between them and deepen their conflicts, we'd be able to act together with them. There's a possibility for us to win if we fight against the White family together!"

Old Master Lagorio also nodded and said, "Seems like rallying with other families will be our only option; we'd be delusional if we plan to wipe out the White family on our own."

Chapter 1222

Diana frowned when she thought about it. "Though these families have misunderstandings with White family, it's nothing too bad, too much. Previously, some families suppressed them and didn't want them to rise, but Nash was really good at handling issues. He disciplined his subordinates and stopped them from having conflicts with the others. Hence, it's obviously very difficult to let them and the White family completely start a war with just mere misunderstandings."

Old Master Lagorio also nodded and said, "Don't worry, there will be opportunities. Otherwise, we'll make some our own."

From then on, The Lagorios readied themselves and became the White family's enemy.

Jack woke up early the next morning and went to wash up. Walking to the garden soon after, he noted Daniella was already waiting for him there.

Smiling, Jack spoke, "You're up so early this morning, Third Young Mistress Cabello!"

"Can't I do that? Hmph. You'll probably sneak away had I woken up any later. What should I do by then?" Daniella pursed her delicate mouth and placed both hands behind her back before she poked, "Anyways, I don't care. I'm following you for these two to three days before my fighting prowess returns, when I can use my Chi again."

"Alright, you can follow me if you're alright with wearing yourself out. After all, you can't keep asking me to carry you on my back as we're traveling for such a long journey, no?" Jack shrugged his shoulders and walked toward the main entrance..

"I never thought of that! You came up with that yourself!"

Daniella's face flushed a crimson red as she followed behind Jack. She then pursed her lips and said, "Did you have that thought since you carried me yesterday? Did you gain something out of it?"

Jack was speechless. "You seem really confident of your own beauty."

"That's for sure. My beauty is obvious for all to see!" Daniella had an arrogant expression on her face as she followed behind Jack, though she grew abashed at what she spoke. "But, seeing you rescued me yesterday, I guess I can let you carry me."

The fact that Jack allowed Nikini to join the main family yesterday made Daniella see Jack in a new light. It seemed like Jack was quite kind, and his act could win the hearts of the people. This caused members of the branch families to completely venerate him.

As they walked toward the village's entrance, Jack noticed that Mason and the others were already there, waiting for them.

"You're all up so early in the morning!" Jack smiled and was slightly moved-it was evident they wanted to see him off.

"Young Master Jack, we prepared a fine steed for you, and this is the best horse among all the horse thieves' horses!" Mason led a horse over and smilingly explained, "This is Blood Dragon Horse and can be considered a low-level monster beast. Swift and speedy, it won't take you long to reach the next branch family. The most important point is that you'll be able to conserve your Chi if you don't use it to fly, right?"

Jack's expression shifted uneasily as Mason explained it all. "What a gift you've prepared for me, but I've never ridden a horse before, and I don't know how to ride this even if you give it to me."

"How's that possible? You don't know how to ride horses?!" Many were stunned at Jack's reply. Everybody was a trainer, and most of them knew how to ride such horses. Jack not knowing how to ride a horse baffled them.

However, it seemed true when they thought about it. Jack was different from the others as he had returned from the outside world. It was normal that he had not practiced riding a Blood Dragon Horse.

"I know how!"

Chapter 1223

Although she could not use her Chi, Daniella still retained her physical strength.

Hoisting herself up with, one hand, Daniella saddled herself on the back of the horse, smiling at Jack as she called out, "Come sit behind me; I'll carry you!"

"This doesn't seem right, though ...?" Jack felt slightly embarrassed, seeing they were of two different genders. This Third Young Mistress Cabello was not only pretty, but she had a nice figure to boot as well. Jack tried not to hold back unnecessary thoughts when he carried her on his back yesterday, though he was still a young and vigorous man, so there were occasions where he still had some interruptions in his thoughts.

If he had to sit behind Daniella on that horse throughout their journey, he feared that...

Daniella, on the other hand, silently harbored interest in Jack when she noted how shy he was when a rather 'interesting' opportunity was given between the two.

She rolled her eyes at Jack and sourly remarked, "Are you a man? You don't even have the balls to jump up here. I'm only willing to carry you because you carried me up the mountain yesterday, and I want to pay back this favor. Alas, though you're a man, you're still not man enough to get up here."

Mason tried to bite back a smile as he stood near. Why did it sound like these two were flirting like lovers?

Apart from that, he prepared one horse for today with hopes to see them riding a horse when Daniella left with Jack. Who could have expected that Jack would not do it?

"Who says I'm not man enough? You're no tiger-you think I'm afraid of you?"

Jack threw himself up and saddled the horse behind Daniella.

However, Jack dared not sit too close, seeing the physical differences of men and women. He purposely distanced himself so their bodies would not touch.

"We'll meet again at the main family's residence, Young Master Jack, but it seems like we'll have to wait much longer, seeing as you may need around one month to finish doing everything." Mason waved his hand with a smile when he saw how awkward Jack had gotten.

"Goodbye, Young Master Jack!" Everybody immediately waved and said goodbye to Jack.

"Alright, everybody, do go back. You've gotten lots of martial enhancement materials after we wiped out the horse thieves, so it's best if you guys take this time to train well. Those who are able to break through should strive to go up another level." Jack looked at the crowd as he waved and bade farewell.

"We'll take our leave no. Go!" Daniella pulled the reins and softly nudged the horse with her heel. The tall and handsome Blood Dragon Horse, with that, began to race away.

"Ah!" Caught off guard at the sudden motion, Jack was frightened as the horse rushed forward, stopping for a while before it raced again. Jack fell right against Daniella's back due to inertia, hugging Daniella's waist in a conditioned reflex.

"Ah!" Daniella shrieked at the sudden contact, blushing sheepishly as her heart raced. She was inwardly relieved, nonetheless, as the horse had brought them several hundred meters away from the eyes of the White branch family members... How embarrassing would it be if they saw it all!

Jack was flushed out embarrassed. "This... This horse runs really fast!" His heart thumped uncontrollably as he hugged her delicate waist. Their bodies rubbed against each other as the horse galloped and ran. All out of ideas and embarrassed, Jack attempted to shift the awkwardness with a different topic.

Chapter 1224

"This horse is rather fast!" Daniella had ridden a fair share of Blood Dragon Horses when she was young, though she stopped as she grew up and trained her fighting prowess instead.

Never before had a man sat behind her with his arms around her waist; never did she think such a day would come as well.

Her heart was thrashing against her ribcage that it felt like jumping out of her chest at that moment.

All Daniella could do was act normal and speak normally. With Jack's chest against her back, she felt much shier than she was yesterday when Jack carried her.

It was not long when Jack realized something quickly reminded Daniella, "No, no, we're going the wrong way. Go right!"

That baffled Daniella. "Well, why didn't you say so earlier? I don't know where your next branch family is located!" Not knowing where to go, she only knew to continuously run forward and had totally forgotten to ask Jack which direction to go.

"There's a small power that relies on our family over there. Although they're not members of the White branch families, they've been treating the White family well. They had always handed in materials based on the requested percentage. We can't leave any of these powers when we're choosing prodigies to join the main family!"

Jack smiled and spoke, "We can't let them down, right?"

"No, we can't... Seems like you really think for everyone else. You'll make a good family master if someone like you becomes the family master!" Daniella blushed. "However, the family master's position is normally inherited by the family master's son. If your father isn't the family master, you won't inherit the family master title no matter how talented you are."

That caught Jack off-guard.

Daniella obviously knew Jack was one of the young masters from the White main family. He might be the son of an elder or a patronum and was out running chores for the family. What she did not know was that Jack was indeed the White family master's son and the main family master's inheritor.

He smiled sheepishly. "I'm not really interested in that."

Daniella wore a silk dress, and though it was made of good material, it was still rather thin. With nowhere to place his hands, Jack wrapped his arms around her waist and felt the silkiness of her skin at the same time.

Considering it was his first time riding a horse-and a rather feisty, fast one at that-he feared he would fall down. Because of that, he could only act nonchalant and placed his hands on her waist.

He purposely made small talk with Daniella the entire trip with hopes to ease the embarrassing atmosphere.

"You're genuinely not interested in the family master position. You' re quite a special person!" Daniella grew interested in getting to know Jack in their journey, and she noticed that.

This man was obviously different from the other men she met previously.

However, Daniella could not help but frown after they rode on for some time...

The embarrassing thought occurred to her as she blushed so much that blood seemed to be bursting out from it.

Jack was also speechless, thinking of how disappointing his acts were.

Soon, the both of them arrived at the entrance of a small village.

Chapter 1225

Both Jack and Daniella got down from the horse right after it stopped.

The blushing Daniella tied the horse under a tree not far from where they were before she walked back to Jack. "Well? How's your first experience riding a horse?" she spoke in an attempt to diffuse the awkward atmosphere, only realizing moments later how wrong it sounded.

Did she just ask Jack how he felt?

To disperse the tension, Jack so casually replied, "It's my first time riding a horse. I felt quite nervous initially, but it became exciting soon after!"

Jack noted that Daniella's face turned a crimson red after he spoke as she lowered her face, not daring to meet his gaze.

"Alright! Let's go in!" Jack's behavior baffled her-'this man just blatantly said it was 'exciting.

What a pervert! How could it not be when he held her by the waist? Jack probably liked her, but he refused to admit it.

Jack was also speechless as he knew that this pretty last had misunderstood him. However, he did not know how to explain himself. Why did he even say it was 'exciting' in the first place?

Not long after they entered the village, two men guarding the entrance walked forward to them and spoke, "Greetings. The two of you are...?"

Jack smiled indifferently. "I'm from the White main family. Please ask your family master to come out."

"Somebody from the main family?" One of them was stunned as they had never seen Jack. They nodded in doubt before going in to make the report.

Soon, the master of this clan came out with several people, his expression shifting into excitement when he saw that it was Jack. He quickly brought his people with him and greeted them, "Greetings, Young Master Jack!"

"Jack? It's Jack!" Many from this small clan that relied on the White family had never met Jack, though they had heard about things happening in the main family after their family master returned. When they heard that the person before them was Jack, all of them were extremely excited.

"Greetings, Young Master Jack!" Everybody immediately saluted him.

"There's no need for such politeness. I'm here today to choose two prodigies for training at our main family. I believe that Master Asher Owens has informed everybody?" addressed the smiling Jack.

"Yes, he told us!" One of the elders of this power immediately walked forward happily and nodded in satisfaction. "The family master told us that Young Master Jack might come over to pick, prodigies and asked us to make a preselection. We've made our selection, but we thought that you won't be coming. After all, we're a small clan that doesn't carry the White family surname... We thought you won't be coming."

The elder then glanced at Daniella as he smilingly added, "However, our family master only said that Young Master Jack was coming; we never thought you'd bring your wife as well. We've heard rumors about how extremely beautiful Young Master Jack's wife is. Seeing her now in person, she really lives up to the rumors!"

"Wife?" Jack was baffled, stunned silent at such a remark. It seemed like this old man had never met Selena, so he thought Daniella was his wife.

Daniella, who stood next to them, blushed so hard, wanting to bury herself in a deep hole.No. 1
Supreme Warrior

Chapter 1226-1230

Chapter 1226

"Oh my, Mrs. Jack White is so abashed that she's blushing like a little girl! Nonetheless, you still look sweeter. No wonder Young Master Jack chose you!" added the elder, much to everyone's surprise.

That comment filled Daniella with mirth.

She rolled her eyes at the other party flirtatiously before speaking, "You're right about me being beautiful, but I'm not his wife."

"W...What?" The elder was embarrassed when he heard that. Had he gotten it all wrong?

Go back to exit full-screen view.

Jack gave an awkward smile before he walked forward to explain, "This is Third Young Mistress Cabello, Ms. Daniella. Please don't misunderstand us."

The elder was shocked to hear Jack's explanation. "Third Young Mistress Cabello? She's one of the well-known bells, which is why I assumed her identity wrongly. After all, I heard Young Master Jack's wife is also extremely gorgeous and that...that's why I misunderstood. Please forgive me, Third Young Mistress!"

"Don't sweat it-one who doesn't know, isn't guilty! After all, you've never seen me before, too!" Daniella waved her hand dismissively, though the butterflies still fluttered in her stomach. After all, that meant that she looked gorgeous, and any girl would have been just as flattered with such a compliment.

Jack was dumbfounded at the elder. "Seems like you've got a knack for flattery!" He could see that this old guy was flattering them with wishes so he could make a good impression or familiarize himself with Jack. Never did the elder think the person following Jack was the young miss of the Cabello family.

"By the way, since you had your pick from your people, ask them to come out so that I can register their name," said Jack, getting back to business.

Startled, the Owens' family master stuttered, "They c-can register right now?"

Jack was slightly stunned before he said, "Definitely. It's alright since you people have made your choices and there are no objections. It saves up my time too!"

"It's no trouble at all! I just feel like we're dreaming right now... I thought that you'd ignore us after analyzing our people, knowing their fighting prowess isn't good enough!"

The Owens' family master glanced at the boy-and-girl pair from his clan before he added, "After all, small clans like us normally don't have any martial enhancement resources, so although they're quite talented, their fighting prowess reaches only the ninth-grade grandmaster level. They aren't even in the elementary level of the semi-god stage. I fear you'll regret having them when you find that their fighting prowess is too low..!"

Jack immediately replied with a smile, "It's not about whether anyone's suitable or not. It doesn't matter if you're big or small clans -you're still clans of our White family, and every clan has at least two positions. How can I take your two positions because of a low count of members or 'not good enough' prodigies? This would be hard to explain. Our White family aren't like that!"

After he spoke, Jack looked at the two young people and said, "What are your names? Come and register yourselves."

"Thank... Thank you, Young Master Jack!"

The young man and woman glanced at each other, joy filling their eyes as they walked toward Jack and registered their names.

Jack smiled and said, "Alright, you guys can prepare yourselves to register at the main family."

"Young Master Jack, do you want to go in and take a rest? It's still early, no?"

Chapter 1227

One of the elders walked forward and looked at Jack expectantly.

Jack glanced at the young man and woman in front of her. He thought about it and said, "How about this: I'll go take a rest first, but can you both meet me in my room about one hour from now?"

"Alright, Young Master Jack!" The young man and woman looked at each other. Although they were slightly puzzled, they still nodded and agreed to it.

Soon, the Owens family arranged residence for Jack and Daniella in a secluded garden.

"Weren't you in a hurry? Why aren't you in a hurry now?" Daniella glanced at Jack and said curiously. "Why did you ask the geniuses of this family to meet you in your room later? Is there something that you need to personally tell them?"

"The two of them are ninth-grade grandmasters, and they're only one step away from the elementary stage of the semi-god level," Jack explained to her. "I happen to have several groups of ingredients for pills. I can cultivate one for each of them and help them break into the elementary stage of the semi-god level."

"You... You know how to cultivate pills?" Daniella was taken aback by the news, she did not know Jack knew how to cultivate pills.

After all, alchemy was not something any random person could learn... That meant Jack had to be talented enough and had a high mental capacity.

Smiling, Jack replied, "I learned by myself and had some knowledge as to how to cultivate certain pills. I can't say that I'm well-versed in it!"

That added more shock into her system. It was difficult to enter the field of alchemy without a teacher, or anyone for that matter, to guide him, yet Jack told her that he learned everything himself?

Goodness... What a genius!

"You're really clever." Eyes lit up with interest, Daniella insisted, "No, I need to see it with my own eyes!"

Jack frowned and glanced at her before he spoke, "I'll let you, but you can't make a sound as it'll disturb me. The art of alchemy requires the alchemist to be one hundred percent focused, and no one should interrupt them."

"Alright, alright, I get it!" Daniella pursed her lips and smiled.

They both closed the door to their room and, with a flip of Jack's hand, he took out a small pill furnace.

Meanwhile, at the entrance of the village, the young man and woman stood under the trees as they conversed.

The man leaned against the tree and looked at the young woman in front of him curiously. "Why do you think Young Master Jack asked us to enter his room after an hour? Is there something important that he had to purposely stay here for?"

"Who knows? We'll know about it in a while, won't we?" The young woman had a smile on her face. "Never thought Young Master Jack is that fetching, and added to that mix is his kindness in offering us two positions even though we're a small clan. We need to train well in the future and fight to break through to the semi-god level. We need to be masters of the semi-god level after we reach the White main family!"

Her excitement was met with the young man's worried expression. "I'm worried. You're so beautiful, could Young Master Jack have other thoughts toward you? I mean, why else would he change his mind when he planned to leave right after finishing his business here?"

Chapter 1228

However, the young woman rolled her eyes at the young man. "What are you talking about? Why would he ask you to go come along if he's interested in just me? Unnecessary, no? Would he ask you to observe us when he takes advantage of me?"

The guy smiled bitterly. "I'm worried because you're quite the pretty face. What if Jack made up that excuse because everyone else was present-including the family master-and have me leave after we both go to him later? What if he asks you to go into the room alone? We'll never know!"

"What are you talking about? Young Master Jack isn't that kind of person!" The young woman once again rolled her eyes at the young man before a sweet smile appeared on her face. "It's good if such a prepossessing man like Young Master Jack can fancy me... but I heard that his wife is dropdead gorgeous. You can see what a beauty that Third Young Mistress Cabello is. I think those two share a tight bond, which probably explains why such an angel is willing to follow him!"

The young man frowned. "Didn't they explain themselves? The woman isn't his wife, and they're only friends!"

"Are you really dumb?" grumbled the young lady. "Just think about it: If they truly are just friends, how can they both share a horse? I can see the eyes of the Third Young Mistress of Cabello lighting up when she looked at Young Master Jack. They obviously have an unusual relationship, even if they aren't husband and wife!"

"You got a point. Why didn't they ride two horses and instead rode just one? Seems like it truly is some ambiguous relationship!" The man nodded and thought about it before speaking again, "Of course, no harm in them both being together; the Cabello family is hauntingly powerful after all. The White family's position must've plummeted after what happened with the Third Elder and First Madam. If Jack can be together with the young miss of the Cabello family, it ensures a prosperous development for our White family!"

The young lady frowned. "Yeah, that's true, but the relationship between the White family and Cabello family has always been strained. Hence, it's definitely difficult for the Cabello family's master to give them blessings..."

Meanwhile...

Busied with cultivating pills in the room, Jack would have been appalled to hear whatever the Owens family's prodigies were discussing outside.

Daniella, who was by his side, fell silent in awe at what she saw-the pills Jack cultivated were indeed first-grade intermediate pills. The most important thing was how skilled Jack was. He looked almost the same as a First Elder who had researched pills for many years.

Daniella was completely attracted to Jack when she saw how focused he was. As his expression would shift from frowning to smiling lightly, Jack's expressions seemingly affected her thoughts. She eyed the changes in his mood, his nervousness, and happiness. It was as if Jack was not the person cultivating the pills but her as well.

"Done!" Finally, Jack raised his hand and finished cultivating a furnace of pills. Two pills flew upward before landing in Jack's palm.

The pills looked round and plump. They carried a faint smell of herbs and medicine and were obviously of good quality

"Look at you, you're all sweaty!" Daniella could not help but take out her handkerchief and helped wipe Jack's forehead when she saw that Jack had completed cultivating the pills.

Her beautiful eyes looked very serious when she helped him.

"Err, well... Thank you!" Jack had an embarrassed expression on his face as he smiled shyly, placing the furnace away.

Chapter 1229

Resting for a couple of minutes, the Owens family's prodigies came to Jack's room not long after.

"Young Master Jack, is there anything important that you've asked us to come?" asked the duo curiously, glancing at one another when they realized that Daniella was also in the room.

Jack had cultivated five firstgrade intermediate-level pills just now. He took two out with a flip of his hand and said, "Here's one for each of you. These are first-grade intermediate-level pills, used to increase fighting prowess. They should be able to help you both break through and achieve the elementary level of the semi-god stage. I suggest that you both spend some time here and leave for the main family after you've broken through. That would help increase your speed when you travel."

"W-What? This...this is for us?" The young man gulped, wondering if he heard wrongly. These were pills, and having these were much better than having spirited grass.

It was because of this that pills were extremely precious and hard to obtain.

Jack had genuinely taken two incredibly rare items to give them both!

"Thank you, Young Master!" The young girl took the pills with a small frown on her face before her expression shifted into utter shock and awe. "Why... Why are these still hot?"

The man took the other pill and was just as surprised. "Oh, my stars... It's still hot! Are these recently cultivated?"

Jack nodded at their shocked faces. "Haha...! Yes, they are, considering I had just cultivated them. There's no loss of Chi from the pills, so the effects are best if you take it right now. While it's not much, the pills will gradually lose their Chi."

"You're incredible, Young Master Jack! Did you truly cultivate these pills yourself? That's mighty kind of you to cultivate these yourselves for us!" The young girl was extremely excited. "I... I don't know how to thank you for this!"

"That's right, Young Master Jack. I had no idea that you're so nice and considerate toward us..." The guy gazed at Jack appreciatively yet guiltily, as he did secondguess Jack while he stayed in the residence merely to cultivate pills for them. He thought Jack had his eye on his beautiful prodigy companion from their Owens family. Thinking back at it, he truly was gauging the heart of a gentleman with his own mean measures!

"Alright, we should leave. I need to save time and complete my mission as soon as possible!" Jack glanced at the two prodigies and said, "The two of you don't need to send me off; just train well. The best way to repay me is to break through the semi-god level soon."

They then left for the village's entrance once more. At this moment, the Blood Dragon Horse was full and was enjoying the warm sunshine.

Daniella brought the horse over, subtly shy when she glanced at Jack. Getting up the horse, she said to Jack, "Come up. I don't know which directions the next branch family is at, so you need to lead the way!"

Chapter 1230

"Thank you very much...!" Still embarrassed at what happened this morning, he fought his shyness and got up the horse's back, sitting behind Daniella.

"Are you sure you don't want to hold on to me? Don't fall later!" reminded the blushing Daniella.

"Alright...!" replied Jack before placing his hands around Daniella's waist from behind.

Recalling something, Daniella then said, "Oh, right. The triennial martial arts competition among the reclusive families is coming up next month. Although it's just for us to learn from each other, it bears great importance for the eight families and the other reclusive families. As a member of the White main family, you have such high fighting prowess. You'll definitely join since you must be a genius of the main family, right?"

Jack nodded. "My father told me about that, and that's why I got to make this trip of choosing prodigies for the main family short. I need to go back earlier so that I can join this martial arts competition, and that's why I don't want to rest here for too long, leaving once everything is settled."

Jack paused for a moment before a smile grew on his face as he spoke, "I'm lucky that the White branch families aren't far from the clans depending on us. I'll get to wrap up everything if I get to it quickly."

"But you'll still be out of time!" Daniella thought about it and said, "I got an idea: Why don't I just take the reins on the horse from now on? This will be much faster. You'll only wear yourself out and deplete your Chi if I leave and you rely on flying. You'll also need more time, too!"

"It doesn't sound too good..." Jack was embarrassed. Riding the horse from one place to another would spare him several days, and they would need an estimated 20 days to get things done.

If things went out of plan, however, they would need at least 20 more days, meaning he would not have enough time to return for the tournament.

"Hey, what's not good about it? If it wasn't for you, I would've been insulted by that bastard back then, and that's even worse than killing me. This is the same as saving my life, do you understand? You saved my life, so what's the big about me helping you?" Smiling, Daniella then added, "Of course, you'll have to repay me since I'm helping you!"

"What is it, then?" Jack frowned, never expecting she would ask for a favor after she offered him help without him asking for it.

"It's simple: I'd like to follow you to the White family and take a look after we're done. I've never been to the White family yet. Will you welcome me there?" Daniella was filled with expectations. Not only was Jack handsome, but he had a respectable position and identity. He was nice to people and even knew how to cultivate pills. To her, Jack had surpassed many of the young masters who had courted her.

Those genius young masters who bore great positions seemingly paled insignificantly when compared to Jack, and that was no stretch nor lie.

"This doesn't sound too good, right?" Jack was slightly worried.

After all, the Cabello family and the White family never had a good relationship. Should the Cabellos turn hostile entirely, things would take a turn for the worse as Daniella knew where their branch families were.

"Hey, what's so bad about that?" Daniella soon thought of something. "I get it... Knowing that the White family and the Cabellos aren't on good terms, you don't want to let me go there, right? True, the Cabello family doesn't have a good relationship with the White family, but it's not that bad, right? Apart from that, I can't completely represent the Cabello family. I just want to go to the White family and play!" No.

1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 1231-1235

Chapter 1231

Jack fell silent for a moment before he spoke, "That's not the only problem. You've been out for so long, and if you don't go back, the Cabello family members will search everywhere for you when they learn you've been captured. Won't your parents be worried if you don't go back for such a long time?"

Daniella's face darkened when she heard this. She thought about it and said, "They don't know I was captured by Munro Quinn. All they know is that I've gone out to play, so they won't be too worried since I have good fighting prowess, though they'll still worry if I don't come home after quite some time."

Stopping the horse at that moment, she turned to Jack and smilingly spoke, "However, I've made up my mind to follow you to the White family to play. After all, you guys will be joining the martial arts competition within several days, so I'll follow you to the competition and meet my parents then..."

"A... Alright!" Jack nodded, agreeing to her stance. It was nice to have a genial relationship with this Third Young Mistress of the Cabello family, and he would at least get information about the Cabello family...even if it was to learn about the Cabellos' first elder so he could take the ancient book from them.

Jack kept his thoughts in check, however, reminding himself that he needed to prioritize breaking through into the intermediate or the later stage of the true-god level. Only then could he get the ancient book.

Otherwise, he would not stand a chance against that person.

Jack thought about it and set a goal for himself. "It's alright. Fernando has three years, so I'll try my best to strive and grow as quickly as I can."

"That's set, then. You've made your promise!" Delighted that Jack agreed to her, she then called out to the horse as it began to gallop again.

As the saying went, 'familiarity breeds fondness,' they both met every day for the next 20 days as Jack would sit behind Daniella and held her waist. Unknowingly, an unfamiliar feeling for Daniella blossomed within Jack.

There were even times when Jack could not control his excitement when he sat behind this beauty and caught whiffs of her pleasant scent.

His understanding of Daniella had grown over those 20 days. While she was considerably arrogant and spoiled by the Cabello family, she was not a bad person. Apart from that, she was also a simple and uncomplicated person.

She did not seem to place her guard up against Jack, at least.

"Goodness, I'm tired from all this running around with you during these couple of days!" When they finally left the last branch family, Daniella, who was on the horse's back, could not help but complain. "Apart from that, there are several clans and families on this trip who think I'm your beautiful wife. I'm really looking forward to seeing how your wife looks."

"The past couple of days must've been tiring for you!" Jack smiled. "As for my wife, you'll meet her as you follow me to the White family."

"It must've been tiring for you? No, that won't do-you gotta treat me to a drink at least!" said the grinning Daniella

"Alright. Let's go left and follow that direction. We can rest for a night if we see a town, seeing that it's almost nightfall. I'll treat you to a drink tonight as a reward for your help these couple of days. How does that sound?"

"That's more like it!" Daniella rolled her eyes at Jack, but her heart felt like it was lathered by something honey-like and sweet.

Chapter 1232

Thus, they continued their journey ahead on their steed, with Daniella eager at the thought of having dinner with Jack alone.

Moreover, she found that being next to Jack gave her a sense of security. Although he was six or seven years older than her, the mature Jack made her even more fascinated as she spent days with him.

He was a far cry from the other young masters that gifted her roses, chocolates, jade pendants, and spirited grasses. They bored her senseless.

Eventually, the duo arrived outside a small town as the sky slowly turned dark.

The small town seemed rather vast as it was brightly lit at this hour, festive-looking as many night market stalls were put up on the streets.

"Not bad... This small town looks much like an ancient, bygone town. What a sight for sore eyes!" Daniella had a smile on her face as she walked on the wide bluestone street with the tall Blood dragon Horse in tow.

"Feel free to tell me whatever you'd like to eat, Third Young Mistress Cabello, there's no need to be polite. You can choose from any of these restaurants!"

"There's a hotel in front that looks promising, too!" said Jack to Daniella as he enjoyed the night view.

"Well, I don't want to go to big hotels. Let's just find a small restaurant with a better environment; that's the highlight of it all!" Daniella nodded before turning to Jack again and said, "By the way, can you stop addressing me as Third Young Mistress Cabello? You know that you...you can call me Daniella, right?"

"Alright, Daniella." Jack smiled. The two of them walked for a while before they found a quaint yet pleasant restaurant.

"Let's go to the second floor. We can still sit on the side of the second floor and enjoy the night view of the streets below." Daniella pulled Jack, ready to go to the second floor after asking the waiter to bring the horse to the stables.

Two muscular men guarded the staircase that led to the second floor, however, and when they saw Jack and Daniella about to go upstairs, one of them stopped the duo with an extended hand.

"What's the meaning of this?" Daniella frowned, confused at the sudden gesture.

Eyeing them both, one of the men sneered, "Guests, in our restaurant, the first floor is for the commoners, but the second floor is different. Only the young masters in our town can afford to pay for things that are served on the second floor. Besides, the recipes here are different. They serve monster beasts' meat, and spirited stones are used to pay the bill, got it?"

Spirited stones were materials that martial artists often used for training, and they contain immense Chi. The purer the stone, the more Chi it contained.

Ordinary low-grade spirit stones were similar to Chi Congregation Pills, but its effects were not as good as Chi Congregation Pills.

However, the more advanced middle-grade or high-grade spirit stones were far more potent than the Chi Congregation Pills, especially the high-grade spirit stones that were awfully rare. A high-grade spirit stone was equal to one hundred medium-grade spirit stones.

Of course, there were also the legendary top-grade spirit stones, which only existed in legends. No one had ever seen them since topgrade spirit stones were also rarely seen. It was considered good enough to occasionally see some middle-grade spirit stones.

Being a martial artist meant that they obviously did not have much interest in money. They basically trade with spirit stones, as spirit stones were much more practical.

Therefore, the two Herculean men thought that Jack and Daniella could not afford to be on the second floor when they could not recognize them as any members of the families in this town.

Chapter 1233

Much like casual martial artists, people like them would only have small amounts of spirited stones. It was considered nice to have several pieces, though they would use such spirited stones to train and try improving themselves as much as possible. How could they use it for food?

"This is ridiculous! Open your doglike eyes and see who I am! Do I look like somebody who can't afford a meal?" It was apparent that Daniella had never received such treatment in the past as she was on the verge of exploding. She never expected to be looked down on when she came to a small town for food.

"What are you talking about, young girl? Do you know who the boss of our restaurant is? How dare you say 'open your dog-like eyes' to us! Haha...! Let me tell you this: even employees like us aren't people you can simply offend!" The burly man immediately got angry and looked at Daniella despicably. "You're a stunner, but that's all you are, no cash on you. Women like you are trophy women -what else would you know apart from looking pretty?"

"That's right!" The other burly man also immediately chimed in. "I think you're just a trophy woman, too. Haha...! If you can't afford things, just let this handsome young man treat you to a simple meal. You want something nice instead? You look like the leeching type, those who' 11 dip after having their fill!"

Not forgetting Jack, the man turned to him next. "Young man, you look like a good person, so I'll leave you a piece of advice: There are many women out there who suck people dry these days. You should be careful and not let her control you."

"What the f*ck..? I'm really, really angry now!" Daniella saw red at that instant. She was the Third Young Mistress of the Cabello family, a family completely capable of entering the top three positions among the eight reclusive families. They had three people with the fighting prowess of peak level true god stage, and such power was much stronger than the White family, who was at the bottom of the food chain.

As the third young mistress of the Cabello family, she was treated as a precious girl among the Three Golden Flowers.

Both her sisters spoiled her and her entire family loved her.

How could she not be angry when somebody called her a trophy woman that leeches off of others?

Before Jack could speak, she threw her fist at one of the men, squarely at his abdomen.

Thomp!

The burly man flew backward for a couple of meters before landing on the ground, and blood leaked out of his mouth.

Daniella could utilize her Chi, one with power of a peak stage semigod level master that no regular person could withstand.

Hence, a simple punch would inflict intense pain on her opponent.

"How dare you cause trouble here! Do you have a death wish or something?!" The other burly man was enraged at what transpired. Balling his hands into fists, he threw one at Daniella.

"Pfft! You, alone?!" Noting how the man was charging straight for her, Daniella swung her fist and sent that person flying.

Thump!

That guy also fell to the ground and vomited blood.

A man soon rushed in from the entrance with a dozen people and surrounded the duo. "Who are you? How dare you cause trouble in the place owned by our Murphy family?"

Chapter 1234

Upon seeing who came for them, both burly men scrambled to their feet from the floor as they whimpered and muttered, "Young master, this young girl is too...too much..! She hit members of our Murphy family!"

Annoyed, Young Master Murphy glared at both men. "You're both useless. You can't even win in a fight against a woman!"

"Young Master, this woman has the fighting prowess of the semi-god level, and it's only natural that we in the grandmaster stage will lose..!" one of them reasoned as he held his abdomen, face scrunched up in pain. "She doesn't look to be from around here and seems to be more than just a casual trainer!"

"Semi-god level?" Young Master Murphy's face darkened when he heard this. A person with this level of fighting prowess would be regarded as a master.

His father was also in the final stages of the semi-god level and was a considerably formidable force in this town. Their family also had several masters, but they could not go offending some master of the semi-god level, especially those of the last or peak stage.

That was why he held back from promptly acting out, even though many were present.

Jack, who was next to them, smiled indifferently and said, "They deserved what came for them. This is the Third Young Mistress of the Cabello family, yet they dared to ridicule and said she 's a trophy woman. Aren't they asking for it?"

"Cabello family...?" Although Young Master Murphy was a young master in this small town, he was quite knowledgeable. He inhaled sharply when he learned she was from the Cabello family and noticed how beautiful this young woman in front of him was.

The Cabello family was one of the eight reclusive families.

"Here, this is my token." Daniella flipped her hand and revealed a black-colored token, shoving it to their faces soon after.

The other party broke out in cold sweat when he recognized the token and thanked himself for not picking a fight with them both. He was also lucky that he did not have other thoughts when he saw how beautiful this girl was.

Otherwise...

Forget the restaurant, their entire Murphy family would disappear from this world in a blink of an eye.

"It really i-is the Third Young Mistress Cabello!" The man from the Murphy family gulped before turning to the two well-built men and barked, "You buffoons! This is the third young mistress of the Cabello family! How dare you two offend her?"

Terrified, both men knelt on the ground and bowed incessantly as they begged Daniella, "We're sorry, Third Young Mistress Cabello! Please forgive us! We're really ignorant and had no idea that Third Young Mistress Cabello would come to such a humble place as ours. That is why we offended you!"

"Hmph!" Daniella indignantly spoke, "Who gave you the right to call me a trophy woman? Take them out and kill them, or I'll wipe out the entire Murphy family!"

Overwhelmed with horror, Young Master Murphy inhaled deeply and snapped, "Take them both out and kill them!"

There was nothing he could have done. Under such circumstances, comforting Third Young Mistress Cabello was better than anything befalling on the Murphy family.

"Please forgive us, Third Young Mistress..! We know that we're at fault, and we won't do it again!" Both burly men were so frightened that their legs turned into jelly and were paralyzed on the floor.

Several other men pulled up both men, ready to take them outside.

"Let it go, Daniella. You can't blame them, seeing as they genuinely don't know who you are," interjected Jack after assessing the situation. "I say, have them slap themselves a thousand times and we'll let this go."

Daniella blushed when she heard what Jack said, but she nonetheless turned to the Murphies and said, "Alright, alright. I won't take your lives as Jack is treating me to a meal today. Since he asked for forgiveness on your behalf, I'll spare you both. Slap yourselves for a hundred times then!"

"Of course, of course...!"

Relieved that they were pardoned, both burly men knelt again and started slapping themselves.

"Thank you for forgiving the faults of these petty people, Miss Cabello!" Young Master Murphy was also relieved. After all, these two subordinates of his were at the grandmaster level. They were fifth or sixth-grade grandmasters, and such fighting prowess was considered stellar to the Murphy family. That was why they were sent to guard the restaurant.

He never foresaw such an event would happen, and it made him feel helpless.

He thought about it and said again, "All of you, listen to me: Everything Third Young Mistress Cabello orders tonight will be free, understand?"

"Yes, Sir!" The other waiters in the restaurant immediately replied.

"That's more like it!" Daniella patted Young Master Murphy on his shoulder when she saw how understanding he was. "Remember to ask your subordinates to not look down on others in the future. I'm not the only one they can't afford to offend. This good friend of mine is the White family's young master, and they shouldn't cross him as well. He can wipe out your entire town with one hand. Do you believe that?"

"I believe... I do believe..." Young Master Murphy's sweat dripped down his forehead unknowingly. Still, it made sense that the friends of Third Young Mistress Cabello had high positions. How else could they be qualified to stand beside the Third Young Mistress Cabello?

Jack smiled and said, "Let's go."

Danielle turned and walked upstairs before remembering something. "Serve us a serving of every specialty you have here!" she called out.

"A...Alright!" Young Master Murphy wiped his cold sweat and nodded vehemently.

"That's more like it!" Daniella smiled and turned to walk up the stairs.

"Goodness... Who would've known that the Cabello family's third young mistress and the White family's young master would come to our town? F*ck... My heart shook at that! Our Murphy family nearly got destroyed!" Young Master Murphy relaxed as both Jack and Daniella went upstairs, and he then noted how his legs turned to jelly.

"Luckily, that guy helped us to beg for forgiveness, or we would've died!" The two burly men, their faces swollen and bruised from all their slaps, were inwardly relieved. They never imagined that two people of such honorable positions would dine at a humble place like theirs.

"We have a situation, Young Master!" At this moment, a guy standing beside Young Master Murphy yelled in surprise.

"What? What happened?" Young Master Murphy nearly fainted from fright. He just got the time to take a breather!

Why did his subordinate shock him again?

That subordinate immediately said, "The young master of the Ladenberg family, Ezra Ladenberg is also having dinner upstairs tonight."

"Ezra Ladenberg...!" Young Master Murphy's face darkened. The Ladenberg family was the enemy of the Murphy family, and their overall power was slightly stronger.

That was why Ezra Ladenberg had been tyrannical and bullied those around him all the time. He never paid whenever he had meals in their restaurant, much to Young Master Murphy's chagrin, yet there was nothing he could do.