

Apex Chapter 497

Chapter 497

Frustration Javier had been selling his products overseas for a very long time, and a lot of people knew that the price of the vaccines overseas was 8 thousand dollars. In other words, the foreign medias' reviews of Javier were that he was a devil, a heartless businessman.

More specifically, they were complaining about how the price difference was just so great, with it being so cheap to Chineseans but ridiculously expensive to foreigners.

However, this joke of an expert was blatantly lying on television! Javier was enraged to the point he wanted to find out just who this expert was and what his intentions were.

In the end, before Javier even needed to investigate , the host of the television show himself could not tolerate it any further.

"Do you not like it when your own country is doing well? Do you despise it when there's a businessman with a kind heart in our own country who's producing medicine for the right price? I've got in my hands solid proof that this vaccine is being sold to foreigners for 8 thousand dollars, while it's only 80 dollars here in our country.

"I don't know where you stand in this, but thinking that you'd come out and say that we're being sold this vaccine at a much higher price than foreigners is ridiculous. What? Has our country's economy improved so much that 80 dollars here are equal to 8 thousand dollars overseas?"

"Or are you saying that you, a medical expert, have zero sense of monetary value, and you're just spewing nonsense right now?"

The host hurled furious words at the medical expert on live television. As the host, he should not have brought any bias into his discussion.

However, this host's attitude ended up winning him the support of many citizens and netizens, The Internet was filled with messages that supported him. On the contrary, the expert had ended up being scorned mercilessly, to the point where he could almost drown in the number of hate comments he received.

Of course, these comments on the Internet would not be able to drown him, but they were enough to bring about an actual flood of people's anger toward him in the real world.

Several people who recognized this expert began to expose his past ventures, such as conning others of their money and medical patents, on the Internet. In fact, during his time in school, he had almost r*ped a female student and was expelled. In conclusion, this expert's life was finished because all kinds of relevant departments opened up an investigation against him.

The moment they did this, they all realized how much dirt this expert had, with all the baseless accusations hurled at him on the Internet slowly being brought to light...

Meanwhile, Javier's vaccine became widely popular, earning him huge profits within a little more than a month To be more specific, he had earned millions of dollars in profits.

However, all these profits were thanks to foreign consumers since the price for the vaccines still remained very fair within the country. Unexpectedly, a minority of people would complain that the vaccine was not even worth 80 dollars, claiming the medicine produced by Reivaj Group should be even cheaper.

Soon after that, countless people began criticizing these people, challenging them by asking if they would bear the colossal amounts of money to develop the vaccine. If they were, then the price of the vaccines would surely be much lower.

These were not evaluations from experts, so it could be seen how the quality of netizens within the country was increasing.

They were beginning to understand even more than met the eye, rather than believing just about anything they read on the Internet.

Over the next few days, the sales of the vaccine increased consistently, and the hospitals that relied on these vaccines to develop themselves grew more and more popular.

Everything was going very well, so all that was left was to develop the new strain of vaccines.

Naturally, Suzanne was the one in charge of all this.

Javier suddenly felt something strange. 'If Suzy has other plans in her mind, she shouldn't be focusing on developing this new vaccine. Yet, she's developing it at a rapid rate. Why would she use someone else's identity if she didn't have planned something in her head?'

Javier was unable to figure it out, even though he was not dumb by any means. Despite the fact his relationship with his subordinates was pretty decent, he still could not figure out what Suzanne was planning. However, since she was still tirelessly developing the vaccine, he would not mention a word about it.

Most importantly, he would be on his guard around her so that she wouldn't end up biting him back if she were to have a change of heart someday in the future.

Javier knocked on Audrey's room door that night.

in the end, his cell phone rang because of a text message she sent, asking him not to knock on

At the same time, Audrey expressed that they should end their relationship because she could no longer carry on living like that anymore

Javier then replied

I really think you're right!

Javier started to be agreeing to whatever Audrey wanted, as usual

However, #1 remained to be seen whether Javier would carry on doing it even after agreeing

At the same time, the beyan yeting at Audrey's door, I want to do it take to

Audrey wantedately opened her door with a pale expression before Javier could even finish yelling his sentence

Seriously? There's just nothing I can do against this domn pestIt's as it he's invincible!

'He would shout something out if I didn't open the door just now!

'How am I supposed to carry on managing this hotel if rumors begin to spread about me!?'

After opening the door, Audrey was furious with Javier for his actions, but there was nothing she could do about him.

"I already told you we can't continue this relationship anymore. We-"

Before Audrey could even finish her sentence, Javier sealed her full red lips with his lips... However, a huge accident Javier would never see coming happened at that moment!