

Episode 465 A True *sshole!

Only a few people knew who Javier was, but most people knew how to surf the Internet.

Thus, when everyone realized that Javier's picture on the internet matched the features of the man standing in front of them on the stage, they were instantly shocked!

"Are you really the chairman?!"

Besides being behind the movie "Ackerman" and the car brand Chinean, Reivaj Group had successfully obtained a very good reputation thanks to those feats.

On top of that, these people had families and friends who had gone to Reivaj Hospital, which was located in the city. They had all been diagnosed and treated in a very friendly manner for low fees, which had made Reivaj Group somewhat famous. Thus, none of them even needed to ask what sort of benefits they would receive from Javier as they rushed over to stand on Javier's left side.

In fact, Javier's left side was so packed that everyone was pushing one another away to make room for themselves, afraid that they might get mistaken for standing on his right.

When everyone on the scene was standing on Javier's left side, Ronnie had successfully won over...himself.

He was especially embarrassed at that moment. If he had known that the man before him was Javier, the chairman, he would not have been that arrogant.

Javier clapped his hands. "Thank you for placing your trust in me, everyone. Reivaj Group is going to rely on your help to work toward restoring this company's former glory." Javier's simple speech, which did not seem to be very motivating, actually made everyone applaud. This was the function of a leader. Now that Javier was standing there, he was their leader, and they would all do as he said.

After gesturing for everyone to wait for someone from Reivaj Group to assign work to them, Javier turned to look at Ronnie once more.

"Looks like you aren't suitable to be the person in charge here. Nobody here seems to want you to be their leader."

At that moment, Ronnie's expression was filled with regret. 'Why did I have to try to be arrogant in front of Javier?!

'Now, look...I'm in deep sh*t this time!'

Hence, Ronnie hurriedly smiled and apologized. "Mr. Kersey, I'm also trying to contribute whatever I can to help bring Reivaj Group to its former glory, am I not? I'm seriously trying to make an effort here. Seriously!"

Javier was laughing out loud deep inside, 'I've seen people be shameless before, but this is the first time I'm seeing someone be so shameless. 'He's literally discarding all his ego, making his skin so thick that not even a f*cking bullet can penetrate him!'

At that point, Javier could not be bothered to say anything else to Ronnie, so he waved his hand and said, "You majored in Driving and Maintenance, didn't you? I'll see if the factory has a need for a driver. If it does, you can go ahead and do that. After all, it's right up your alley."

"Hang on, Mr. Kersey! I really am talented at management. In fact, if you really don't trust me that much, you could at least let me be the deputy manager!"

Javier was not interested in listening to Ronnie's bullsh*t. In fact, he would much rather go out and smoke a cigarette than talk to him.

Thus, when Ronnie tried to chase after Javier to say something, Herschel pulled him back and grabbed his neck before slamming him against the floor with a loud thud. Ronnie was slammed so hard that he neither moved nor made a single noise.

For many people, this was a very effective method to shut someone up by attacking them.

They were not afraid of someone talking back to them but beating them up...

Since Javier had put Doug in charge of taking over Blissful Medical Group, there was nothing for him to be worried about.

After reminding Doug about a few more important matters to look out for, he left the entire thing to him.

While others had half a month's worth of vacation, Director Quinn of the research facility obviously did not get to enjoy such a long vacation. She needed to make sure everyone had tasks to do when they returned from their vacation, so the moment she found out that Javier had acquired a medicine-manufacturing company and a research center, she took a taxi to the place, looking through the entire place with Javier.

- "The facilities in the factory are pretty decent, but there aren't that many people I can make use of, and most of them are only suitable for ordinary procedural jobs. It's worse at the research center. Everything's just for show, and the equipment in there is no different from pieces of junk."

Suzanne was absolutely relentless as she commented on both places.

Fortunately, Javier had already expected that to happen, so he replied, "I wanted you to take a look and identify what can be used, what can't, and what else we need to purchase. I've already booked a flight overseas, so we can fly there and choose some better equipment from Heinfensmirtz Inc. this afternoon."

Suzanne was slightly stunned. She had never thought that Javier would be able to work so quickly, even to the point that he would choose to purchase equipment of higher quality.

"Boss, although the equipment of Heinfensmirtz Inc. would be the best, the results produced by equipment produced in Sammius or Yuzuia aren't that bad in comparison. Most importantly, the equipment of Heinfensmirtz Inc. is much more expensive, some of it even 50 % more expensive than the equipment of the other two companies I just mentioned, so everyone's willing to go for the equipment produced by the other two countries. "Usually, we wouldn't choose to purchase equipment from Heinfensmirtz Inc. unless there was a specific need for it."

Javier waved his hand. "Of course we should be getting the best equipment if we're doing this. I don't want to have to work with subpar equipment. All I want is for you to be able to work with the most convenience. After all, it's your fault for being so likable!"

Suzanne helplessly rolled her eyes. "You're such a shameless man! You're the one who wants me to develop a lot of decent products for you, yet you're making it sound like you're doing this for me. Boss, you really should learn how to be a little less shameless!" Javier chuckled and did not deny anything. After all, he knew when it was time to stop advancing

That afternoon, after they had lunch, Javier and Suzanne headed to the airport, and Herschel brought along Running Man and GTR on the same flight.

At that point, the three of them were almost inseparable from Javier, as the force hiding in the dark was absolutely terrifying. Aside from the fact that they might somehow show up at any given moment, Javier and the rest would be absolute goners should they one day attack Javier at full force.

The flight lasted a few hours before they finally landed at Mundich airport way past 9 p.m.

When they all got off the plane, they checked into a hotel near the airport.

After putting down their bags and freshening up, they all headed out to grab something to eat. Seeing Javier with three large men walking behind him, Suzanne mumbled and said, "I just feel that something's off about me being the only woman here. If only Alyssa was here..."

At that point, Suzanne hurriedly shut her mouth.

After all, if Alyssa were there, she probably still would not have been allowed to return to visit her parents!

Suzanne was not missing Alyssa, but her presence had grown into a habit.

Suzanne shot a few furtive glances at Javier and noticed that he did not seem bothered by her remark. Only then did she heave a sigh of relief.

She had seen Javier furious before, bringing along thousands of people and charging into a farmhouse. Plus, he had even scolded her entire team of people before.

So long as Javier was not furious, she thought that he was a rather gentle man she could get along with Fortunately, Javier was not the kind of person to go on a violent rampage on a whim. Although he was a little bit of an *sshole to her, he had not actually done anything to her.

Just as Suzanne's thoughts started running wild, Javier leaned in close to her and whispered, "Can we discuss something?"

Suzanne was slightly stunned and subconsciously asked, "What?" "Can you let me hold your waist?" "Absolutely not!"

Suzanne subconsciously wanted to move to the side, but Javier forcefully held onto her slender waist.

Then, he said, "Herschel and the others know that I'm pursuing you, but I haven't gotten anywhere after such a long time, so they're all laughing at me for failing. Can't you just help me out and at least let me seem a little better in front of them, hmin? You'll be building up good karma at the same time."

Suzanne was completely speechless. 'I'll be building up good karma? Is that even applicable in this case?!

'Plus, it's not as if I don't know the three of them would never dare mock you... You're obviously lying about this.'

However, Suzanne had no idea what had gotten over her, but she actually nodded her head and agreed to it.

Then, she began to ponder whether she had to agree to it since Javier had already forcefully grabbed a hold of her waist.

Her face turned slightly red as she shot a glare at Javier. Then, she softly muttered, "I've never seen a boss as shameless as you!"

Javier smiled and replied, "I'd rather have a beautiful woman with me than preserve my ego!" Suzanne was thoroughly in awe of the man, who was an outright shameless *sshole.