When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 1774

Chapter 1773

Elliot hung up the phone. He held the phone and his eyes were deep, but not focused. He quickly recalled in his mind the scene when he received a call from Avery at the airport.

He remembered very well when she said on the phone that he had betrayed his promise, but Avery didn't say anything else!

He was thinking too hard, his eyes were spinning and he was dizzy. He really couldn't remember when Avery said she couldn't see...she really didn't say that!

But why did Ben Schaffer say 'Avery said you know'?

Elliot wanted to get out of bed, but the moment he got out of bed, his ankles softened and he fell back onto the bed again.

He didn't care about getting dizzy, he immediately turned on his phone, found Mike's number, and dialed it.

If what Ben Schaffer said was true, then Avery would be forgiven for ignoring him.

Moreover, Avery ignored him for a long time.

He wanted to verify now, so he could only find Mike. As a result, the phone was dialed, but Mike's phone was turned off.

He didn't know if Mike turned off his phone, or blocked him like Avery.

He sat on the edge of the bed with confusion in his head.

After he divorced Avery, Ben Schaffer had been to Bridgedale several times, so what Ben Schaffer said should be true.

What went wrong... Why did Avery feel that she told him what she couldn't see, but he didn't know it?

After a while, a sound came from downstairs.

"Tammy, why didn't you tell me in advance when you came over? You guys stay for lunch!" Mrs. Cooper said enthusiastically, "Mr. foster is still resting upstairs, I guess he slept late last night."

Tammy took the children to go today After getting vaccinated, She went to the mall and bought some gifts for Robert and Layla.

"We won't stay for lunch. I'll come to see the children on the weekend." Tammy said, turning around and preparing to leave.

At this time, Elliot walked downstairs.

When Jun saw Elliot, he immediately showed an embarrassed smile: "Brother Elliot, did we wake you up?"

Because Tammy scolded Elliot last time, Jun didn't want to come over.

Even if he bought gifts for Layla and Robert, Jun was a little flustered.

Who is afraid of what will come.

Today's working day, Elliot actually slept at home.

"Let's stay and eat. I just have something to ask you." Elliot walked up to them and looked at Kara in Jun's arms. In the end, his eyes fell on Tammy.

Tammy must know everything about Avery.

Chapter 1774

Tammy felt uncomfortable looking at him.

The main reason was that she scolded him last time with a voice, and then made a video call to attack him.

Although Tammy knew that Elliot would not care about her, but Elliot's eyes at this time made people feel anxious.

"Let's go eat first!" Elliot didn't eat breakfast, and there was a sudden pain in his stomach.

Mrs. Cooper immediately walked up to Jun: "Give Kara to me, You go and have a dinner!"

Jun gave his daughter to Mrs. Cooper and said, "If Kara wakes up later, call me."

"Okay." Mrs. Cooper stayed in the living room holding Kara.

Elliot said just now that he had something to talk to them about, so after the cooking servant brought the dishes to the table, Mrs. Cooper gave him a look.

The servant immediately retired.

In the dining room, Jun and Tammy were sitting on pins and needles.

Looking at Elliot's appearance, he didn't seem to have any appetite.

"Brother Elliot, did you sleep late last night?" Jun had nothing to say.

"It's 12 o'clock now. I usually don't sleep at night, so I can sleep so late during the day." Tammy answered, and then asked Elliot, "You said you were looking for us just now, but you said so!"

Elliot Put down the dishes.

"When the accident happened to the Jobin family, Avery couldn't see?" Elliot threw the question and looked at Tammy's face.

Hope to tell from the slightest change in expression on her face whether she is lying or not.

"Can't see?" Tammy repeated his words, "I haven't heard of it!"

Jun's brain responded faster: "Conjunctivitis! Didn't Avery say that he had conjunctivitis a while ago?"

"But Elliot said that Avery can't see! Could it be that conjunctivitis can make her eyes invisible? Is it impossible?" Tammy also put down the tableware, "Although I have never had pink eye disease, some of my classmates have it. Isn't this disease a minor disease?"

"I also remember that this disease is a minor disease! I haven't had it either, but my junior high school teacher had it. At that time, my teacher didn't ask for leave after the disease, and still taking us to class while sick!" Jun said excitedly, took out his mobile phone, and checked online whether conjunctivitis can cause blindness.

Elliot looked at them and said, "what you said and I couldn't get in the way!"

Does Avery have conjunctivitis? Pink eye?

"It is said on the Internet that this disease did lead to blindness when medicine was underdeveloped in the past. But with the development of medicine, conjunctivitis will no longer cause blindness." Jun read out the answer on the Internet.

"So this disease also has no risk of blindness." Tammy concluded.

"That's it!" Jun said, looking at Elliot, "Brother Elliot, has Avery ever lost her sight because of this disease? Tammy and I have never heard of it! Did it happen when the Jobin family had an accident?"

What Ben said. I don't know the specifics." Elliot's mood was up and down, and his voice was dull and he continued, "The last time you went to Bridgedale, how was Avery's eyes?"

Jun replied, "Avery's eyes are all right, but a little red. We asked Avery about her. She said it was a minor illness, so she didn't tell us. If she was blind, she wouldn't say it was a minor illness, right? Blindness isn't so easy to cure, right?"

"Not believing, Jun asked Tammy: "Tammy, am I right? I remember that Avery did say that her illness was a minor one."

Tammy: "Yes. That's what Avery said. She said that because of her illness, the doctor told her not to use her cell phone, so she didn't use her cell phone during that time."

"Conjunctivitis..." Elliot drooped his eyes slightly and whispered.

"Yeah! I checked the disease online, and it's really not a serious disease." Jun put down his phone and added, "Brother Ben said that she is blind, is it possible that she has passed on several news? Tammy and I are visited Avery's house and Avery and Mike told us personally."

Elliot couldn't contact Mike and Avery, so he couldn't determine the truth.

Chapter 1775

But Jun and Tammy met Avery with their own eyes, so he was more inclined to believe their words.

Moreover, Avery's eyes have recovered now, and it can be regarded as a near miss.

Tammy teased, "Hey, you asked us to stay for dinner, just to ask this question? Both of you are divorced, and you are planning to bring down Avery's company, and now you show that you care a lot about her. It looks like you are not contradictory?"

Elliot said, "Avery sold the company and Ben Schaffer blames me for being too hard on her. Ben Schaffer is right. I was really hard on her this time. If I..."

Elliot wanted to say that if he knew about her illness, he wouldn't be so hard on her. But before he could say what he said later, Tammy jumped up and stood up.

"Elliot! You are an absolute b*stard. I wish you the best of luck in the future! People like you don't deserve anyone's love." Tammy said angrily, and strode out of the dining room.

Jun saw that his wife was left, and Elliot's face was ashen, caught in the middle, it was very difficult.

Jun: "Brother Elliot, don't take it to heart..."

Elliot: "Jun! Are you still leaving?!" Tammy had already carried her daughter from Mrs. Cooper's arms, Yelling across the dining room.

"Wait for me, wife! I'm here!" After Jun said goodbye to Elliot, he immediately walked out of the dining room.

After the family of three left, the entire villa fell silent.

Elliot reached out and rubbed his eyebrows, but his heart couldn't calm down.

Elliot began to wonder if it was possible that he was at the airport at the time. Avery did tell him that she couldn't see clearly during the phone call, but he was thinking of going to Yonroeville to find Haze, so he didn't hear her clearly.

Avery was not a very unreasonable person. It must have been something wrong with her eyes at that time, but he insisted on going to Yonroeville, so she was so angry that she didn't hesitate to give up Layla and Robert, and also divorced him.

To prove this, there was another way.

That was to check the call recording.

Elliot turned on his mobile phone and found the call record between him and Avery at the airport a few months ago.

He glanced at the call time. When he was talking on the phone at that time, he always felt that he had been talking for a long time, but he didn't expect it to be more than three minutes.

It had only been a few months, and his memory had begun to deviate.

Therefore, the content of the call may also be biased.

He hurriedly finished his meal and went out with his cell phone.

He went to the communication company and asked to tune up the recording of the call.

The staff said, "Mr. Foster, because the recording of the call you want to check has been recorded for a long time, it may take a while to check. You can go home first. If we find the recording, we will notify you as soon as possible."

"The recording will be sent directly to my mailbox." Elliot wrote the mailbox on a piece of paper and handed it to the other party.

The staff: "Okay."

After coming out of the communication company, Elliot drove to the company.

The world around him seemed to be paused, and he felt as if he was in a dead city.

He unscrewed the car music, and felt a headache again.

–What was the truth?
