Chapter 2013

Travis was stunned.

“Ms. Tate, I really don’t know what you said. If she doesn’t mention these old things, I can’t find out. “

Avery: “Well. It’s all little things.”

“It’s not a trivial matter, is it? Why did she hit you?” Travis’s tone seemed to be an injustice to Avery.

It has been many years since this incident, and Avery recalled that it was no longer painful.

Avery: “Ms. Gomez insisted on seeing my teacher, but my teacher didn’t want to see her. So I helped my teacher stop her and tried to persuade her to leave, but she called me a v!xen and slapped me. I’m not sure if she still Remember me, but I remember her deeply because of it.”

When Emilio told her Margaret Gomez’s name, Avery immediately thought of this woman.

“My son has studied under Professor Hough like you, so why doesn’t my son know about this?” Travis wondered, “When I brought Margaret to meet my children, it was the first time they saw Margaret. “

“Your son wasn’t in the laboratory at all. I haven’t seen him a few times.” Avery’s answer pierced Travis’s heart.

Travis said, “Margaret and I have known each other since early years, but we just nodded. Margaret never mentioned you in front of me. I think she just took her anger at Professor Hough on you. But her behavior is still wrong, and I apologize to you on her behalf.”

“No need. I didn’t take it to heart. Professor Hough said that she was fine except for her bad temper. I believe that Professor Hu will not see the wrong person.”

“Yes, it’s not that she has a bad temper, but that she has a weird temper. As long as she follows her temper, she can say anything.” Travis continued to defend his girlfriend, “We plan to have a simple wedding, I don’t know Ms. Tate. Will you be able to show your face then?”

“Okay!” Avery responded immediately.

After the coffee was finished, Avery followed Travis to his villa.

In order to facilitate chatting, Travis asked Avery to get into his car.

“Originally, Margaret also wanted to help treat Caleb’s illness, but she is now older and her energy is far less than you. Besides, we are planning to get married. Margaret values this wedding very much.” Travis explained to Avery.

Avery: “Well. Mr. Jones, I heard that you are still working normally now. I really admire you for having such a good body.”

“Haha, that’s just an outside rumor! I’m old now and I only work two or three hours a day. The main affairs of the company have been handed over to my children and professional managers.” Travis said truthfully, “Ms. Tate, What’s the situation of your ex-husband now?”

Avery didn’t expect that Travis would take the initiative to ask.

Avery: “I got an anonymous courier last night with two pictures in it. It said my ex-husband was dead.”

“Oh...that’s a pity! Elliot is a famous business genius, and I’m really jealous!” Travis sighed regretfully, “But I heard that you and him divorced before and it was very unpleasant.”

“Well, Mr. Jones, I heard that you have had many marriages. When each term ends, did you break up peacefully?”

Travis shook his head: “Most of them break up peacefully. Because most women marry me for my money. As long as I give enough money, they naturally have no complaints. But there are also a few women who are more difficult... There is a big disadvantage, that is, it is easy to like the new and dislike the old. Sometimes I know that some women don’t want my money, but once I don’t love them, I can’t continue to live with them.”

Avery didn’t answer.

They were completely different people, and she was afraid of angering him by her words.

Before finding Elliot’s clues, she had to endure.

“You seem to have several children. Now that your ex-husband has passed away, your children will be raised by you.” Seeing that Avery didn’t answer, Travis continued to return to the previous topic.

Chapter 2014

Avery: "Yeah! I don't want to be raised by myself, so I have to keep looking for him. Even if he dies, I have to find his remains. What if he hides somewhere happy? I don't want to die from exhaustion. Live, with so many children alone."

Travis: "Haha! Ms. Tate is joking. Elliot is dead, doesn't all his inheritance fall into your hands? You can find as many babysitters as you want... You take his Money, as long as you are happy."

"Mr. Jones, what you said really makes sense. I didn't even think of this." Avery didn't want to continue chatting with him, so she took out her mobile phone and pretended to play with it.

After the car arrived at Jones's villa, Avery got out of the car with the help of bodyguards.

"This is Caleb's house, so I won't go in!" Travis stood beside Avery and explained, "Caleb is my favorite son, he is smart and capable, I thought he could take over my position, but I didn't expect him. Such a thing happened. Now every time I see him, my heart aches. So I try not to see him."

Avery couldn't understand that he could be so different from Travis.

Basically every word Travis said, Avery wanted to refute.

And Travis didn't care about Avery's feelings at all.

After saying these words, Travis got in the car and left under the protection of the bodyguards.

A man who looked like a housekeeper came out and invited Avery into the room.

"Ms. Tate, our eldest young master is in the room, come with me."

Avery immediately followed the housekeeper and walked towards the master bedroom on the first floor.

The bodyguards followed Avery step by step.

The housekeeper looked back at the bodyguard and seemed to be very unwelcome to come with him.

"What's wrong?" Avery asked the housekeeper.

“That’s right, our eldest young master has been reluctant to meet strangers since he had a car accident.” The housekeeper explained.

“That can’t be helped. Mr. Jones asked me to treat him.” Avery replied.

“Ms. Tate, that’s not what I meant. I mean, your bodyguard may be able to wait outside.” The housekeeper said.

Without waiting for Avery to speak, the bodyguard took the lead: “Where is my boss, where is he? If young master can’t see strangers, but he has to see my boss, then seeing another stranger won’t kill him. “

“Since I promised to treat your eldest young master, it is definitely not at home. He will still go to the hospital in the future. No one can guarantee that every medical staff in the hospital is an acquaintance of your eldest young master.” After speaking Avery, the housekeeper said nothing to her.

The housekeeper opened the door and let Avery and the bodyguard go in.

The bedridden eldest young master Caleb saw Avery and his bodyguards come in, and the gloomy mood on his face deepened.

“Young master Jones, I watched your film, you can walk on both legs, it’s better to stay in bed less.”

Caleb: “The doctor made me stay in bed more.”

“Excessive bed rest will only make your body less functional and not beneficial. Either you are lying or your doctor wants to harm you.”

Caleb’s face suddenly turned red.

“Young master Jones, I can cure your illness, but you must give me what I need. I don’t know if you are willing to make a deal with me.” Avery walked to the hospital bed and whispered to Caleb.

Chapter 2015

Avery told Travis just now that he would not charge any money, just to come to negotiate directly with Caleb.

Caleb didn’t expect Avery to say these words to him. He was stunned.

"I heard from your father that you are the son he values the most. He said that your family had such a big family business, and he said that he originally planned to let you inherit it because you were his most intelligent and capable child... But now He is very distressed by your appearance. If you can recover, he will definitely re-entrust you with important responsibilities." Avery said, "You must also want to return to your original life, right?"

Caleb hesitated for a moment, and then asked: "What do you want? Do you think I can meet your requirements as a waste person?"

Avery: "I want to bet once. You are Travis's most important son. If you can't do it, it's even more impossible for others to do it."

Caleb: "What do you want?"

Avery: "I want Elliot's whereabouts."

"Oh! I don't know!" Caleb gave the answer without thinking, "I don't know Elliot! I haven't seen him, let alone where he is! Why do you think I would know?"

"I didn't say you knew." Avery corrected him, "your dad might know."

"Even if my dad knows where Elliot is, I can't help you find out such important news!" Caleb said in a hoarse voice, with his throat rolling, "You really don't know my father! He said I was the most important son, do you believe it?"

"Why don't I believe it? He is your father, and you are his eldest son. The eldest son is generally favored and relied upon by his parents..." Avery speculated.

"Ridiculous!" Caleb looked at Avery with the eyes of a fool, "Do you think that all parents in this world are good parents who love their children? You must have never met a bad person, right? Naive and stupid woman!"

Avery was scolded for no reason, her cheeks flushed instantly, and anger ignited in her heart.

But considering what happened to Caleb, it is understandable that her temperament has changed, so she did not argue with him.

"Be careful what you say! My boss is your doctor now. If you can agree to my boss's request, you will agree. If you can't, you will pull it down! Don't waste my boss's precious time!" The bodyguard roared harshly.

Caleb glared at the bodyguard.

After all, this is the Jones family! Not the Tate family!

"I'm talking to Caleb, you don't need to interrupt. If I'm really angry, I'll scold me back myself." Avery whispered to the bodyguard.

"Oh...Caleb said that to you just now, aren't you angry?" The bodyguard wondered why Avery had such a good temper.

When Avery was with Elliot in the past, sometimes Elliot's casual words could make her frizz.

"You go out first, I want to chat with Caleb alone." Avery said to the bodyguard.

"No... I can't go out. I swear, I have to follow you wherever you go in the future." Having learned from the previous lessons from Country Yonroeville, the bodyguard never dared to leave her for half a step.

"You wait outside the door. I'll call you for something. He's sick now, so he can't do anything to me." Avery said to bodyguards. Considering that the bodyguards are here, might make Caleb unable to say something directly.

After listening to her words, bodyguards had to go out the door reluctantly.

In the bedroom, only she and Caleb were left.

"You said just now that I have never met a bad person, and if I had never met a bad person, I wouldn't have nearly lost my life in country Yonroeville!" Avery retorted what Caleb said just now, "if your father doesn't love you, why would he ask me to do it for you? Are you healing?"

"Then do you know, who did I suffer like this?" Caleb showed a strange and terrifying smile on his face.

It was obviously daytime, but his smile made Avery feel gloomy and evil.

"Who did it?" Avery asked, following his words.

"Who are you? Why should I tell you?" Caleb suddenly changed his face and said irritably, "Get out of my room! Get out of my room!"
