

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 2019

Avery saw that Margaret's face became dark blue, and her eyes became cold and fierce, as if she could blast herself out in the next second.

"Ms. Gomez, the reason why I raised this doubt is because I went to see Caleb yesterday." Avery was anxious, and explained, "After Caleb saw me, he hated me very much. With felt disgusting I left from him."

"When people encounter this kind of blow, their temperament is easy to change. I heard his father say that he used to be more stable and sensible than Emilio. Now it's like this, it's a pity." Margaret said, and then she changed the conversation, "I thought that I would treat him, but now I have more than enough strength."

Avery was puzzled.

"My hands...have been shaking uncontrollably for the past two years...it used to be only a slight tremor, but the impact was not very big. Recently, it was probably overworked, so the tremors became more and more serious. You are still young, and you may not understand that an elderly person like us may wake up one day and find that there is a new problem with your body." Margaret raised her right hand and glanced.

Avery immediately said with embarrassment: "I'm sorry, I didn't know there was something wrong with your hand. I came here today mainly to visit you. I promised to treat Caleb yesterday, so I won't regret it."

"You come to see me. Are you here to ask me for guilt?" Margaret raised her brows and teased, "Travis came back yesterday and asked me if I had slapped you before... You really hold a lot of revenge! If it wasn't for you to mention it, I would have forgotten about it."

"Ms. Gomez, if I was so upset because of the slap that you slapped me in the first place, I would have gone to you for revenge, why should I wait until now?" Avery continued in a calm tone, "Every time my mentor mentioned you before his death, it was always a compliment. I naturally won't be angry with you because of this trivial matter."

Margaret heard the word 'mentor', and the expression on her face suddenly turned cold.

Margaret: "Don't mention that dead man in front of me again and again!"

Avery: "Although my mentor is dead but he will always live in my heart."

"He is just a sc*mbag! You worship him so much, don't you know his true colors?" Margaret glanced at the diamond ring on the ring finger of her right hand, and said, "He accepted my confession on the front foot, and married another woman on the back foot.”

Avery was stunned: “What you said is true?”

“Otherwise, why did he not dare to see me? Because he did not dare to face me!” Margaret said more and more angrily, “I, Margaret, have always been open and upright, and I’m definitely not someone who can’t get involved with others, but Professor Hough...he owes me an explanation! I have an opinion! I call him a sc*mbag, right?!”

“If what you said is true, then Professor Hough must have something to hide.” Avery was reluctant to accept that her teacher was a sc*mbag.

From her contact with Professor Hough to the sudden death of Professor Hough, she has always respected him very much in the whole process of getting along.

Avery: “Even if he has something to hide, it’s a fact that he hurt me! I just want an explanation but he doesn’t explain it to me, and he doesn’t make it clear to others, so that others think it’s me. Ms. Gomez, who is entangled with him! Who is he? You don’t pretend to be a gentleman in front of you, but with me, even if he jumps into the Yellow River, he can’t clear the fact that he is a sc*mbag! Ms. Gomez, Professor Hough died of a sudden illness. If he didn’t die, maybe he would explain to you...”

“Avery, you are exactly the same as your teacher, it’s disgusting!” Margaret’s mouth rose and she mocked, “If you don’t mention him, I can still talk to you. In the future, if you dare to come to me again and ask him, I will directly ask the Jones family’s bodyguard to throw you out!”

Avery saw Margaret’s anger and her face burning, and immediately stood up from the sofa and strode away.

Travis: “Margaret, why are you losing your temper so early in the morning? Who made you angry?”

Margaret stood up from the sofa and said with a charming face: “except Avery, who else would dare to be so presumptuous in front of me! If I knew earlier, I should have killed her directly in the basement. I didn’t expect her life to be so big, and she would be so arrogant. I can escape.”

Travis walked to Margaret’s side, wrapped his arms around her waist, and said dotingly, “It’s not that Avery has a big life. It can only be said that she has a good life and can give birth to such an excellent son. This point, I really admire it.”

Margaret: "Hayden Tate is really good. But he is usually elusive, and I haven't even found a single photo of his face until now."

"He is a top hacker. He has the intention not to let others find his photos on the Internet, then we will definitely not see his photos." Travis took his girlfriend's hand and walked towards the restaurant, "Let's go have breakfast. Let's go!"

"I don't have any appetite...but, I'll accompany you to eat!" Although Margaret was mad at Avery, she felt a lot less angry when she thought that she now had a trump card in her hand.

Avery came out of Jones's house and got into the car.

The bodyguard asked, "Boss, where are you going?"

Avery didn't know where to go. She was very upset.

"Come on!" Avery replied.

"Oh... Then let's go to the Dream Maker Factory?" The bodyguard was particularly interested in the Dream Maker Factory. It would be nice if he could follow Avery to go inside.

Avery didn't listen to the bodyguard carefully, so she didn't answer.

The bodyguard thought Avery agreed, so he happily drove the car towards the Dream Makers Group.

Avery took out her mobile phone, opened the address book, and found the phone number of Professor Hough's son.

She was afraid that she would rashly call and disturb the other party, so she chose to send a message to ask for the contact information of the wife.

After seeing her message, the other party didn't ask her what to do with her mother's contact information, but directly sent her her mother's contact information.

Avery dialed the number after thanking him back.

"Avery, are you looking for me?" The person over the phone spoke first.

Avery: "Master, I didn't disturb you, did I?"

"How could it be? I'm retired now, and I have a lot of free time every day. It's a pity that I'm not in Bridgedale now, otherwise I'll definitely call you to come and sit at home."

Avery: "Master, when I have time in the future, I will definitely visit you. I called you today because I saw Margaret today. She told me that Professor Hough had lost her, and I don't believe it."

"Margaret? How did you meet her?"

Avery: "Margaret is now with Travis, the owner of MH Medicine. And I was investigating the Jones family recently, so I met her today." Avery explained, "Master, what Margaret said is false, right? You and my teacher are in love and harmony..."

"What she said is true." The mother interrupted her, "I told Professor Hough. It's the life of my parents, it's hard to disobey."

Margaret's anger suddenly appeared in Avery's mind.

"Your teacher is a filial son, so he married me. But he did bear Margaret, so he never knew how to face her." The mother continued, "For several years after I got married to your teacher, Margaret often called me can't be bothered to insult me. This woman is terrible, Avery, you'd better not provoke her. "
