

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

Let me go, Mr. Hill Author: Shallow South

Chapter 2825

Chapter 2825

"Ha! Aren't you overestimating me?" Max mocked.

"I didn't say that. You battled your way through the warzone, and now you're in charge of The Lodge's security," Mrs. Langston said. "Your dad and I nurtured you painstakingly and witnessed you bring glory to the Langston family. Max, don't make the wrong move. It wasn't easy for you to come this far. Listen to me. I've already agreed for you to go on a blind date with a military officer's daughter."

"Mom..." Max looked awkward. "Why did you decide on things without my permission? It's too much."

"If I don't force you, how long will you delay this for Eliza?" Mrs. Langston put on a stern face. "You might not be happy now, but you'll thank me in the future."

"I don't need to thank you. Eliza is amazing to me. I'm the one who's not good enough for her."

Mrs. Langston was unconvinced. "Don't be a fool. You two are from different worlds. Take Chester, for example. He's now disabled from rescuing Eliza. A woman can't possibly be indifferent to that. My son is outstanding. You shouldn't be someone's backup."

"Mom. I'm not great." Max could feel a headache coming. He built his career up and out from a small place, whereas Charity, on the other hand, was the daughter of a wealthy family.

CLICK HERE TO JOIN OUR TELEGRAM GROUP FOR FAST
UPDATES <https://t.me/NovelsFuns>

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

"Anyway, you must go on that blind date. Since we've already made a promise, you shouldn't stand the girl up. Don't offend her family."

Max tightened his grip on the steering wheel, feeling annoyed.

The next day, Mrs. Langston brought the chicken soup she made to the hospital.

"Didn't I tell you not to come?" Larissa felt embarrassed. "You come every day. Eliza is fine now. She can be discharged in the evening after her medical results are out."

"I came because I heard she's going to be discharged today," Mrs. Langston said with a smile. "I made chicken soup, so you don't have to rush back to cook it in the afternoon."

"Thankyou, Mrs. Langston," charity said gratefully.

"Eliza. I need you to help me with something," Mrs. Langston said sheepishly. "I met your friend Freya when I came yesterday. I heard she's the girlfriend of the prime minister's son. I have some organic eggs and wild mushrooms picked from the countryside. Please help me to pass them on to her. It's a token from me."

Charity was stunned for a few seconds, but she reacted quickly. " Mrs. Langston, you don't have to do this. Freya and I are good friends, and Max is close to her boyfriend too. Besides, Ryan probably doesn't like to accept gifts."

"Them having a close relationship is another story. Or else, you can ask your friend to pass these to the prime minister." Mrs.

Langston deliberately put on a straight face, "charity, your mom and I are friends. You won't refuse to help me, right?"

CLICK HERE TO JOIN OUR TELEGRAM GROUP FOR FAST
UPDATES <https://t.me/NovelsFuns>

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

"...Okay." Charity was put in a difficult position. However, to avoid Mrs. Langston from being unhappy, she still bit the bullet and agreed to help. "Mrs. Langston, have you informed Max about this?"

"Him? He's dense. What use is there in being honest nowadays? You still have to learn how to please others." Mrs. Langston sighed and said, "But he's not free today. He's on a blind date."

"A blind date?" Larissa was the one who spoke.

"That's right." Mrs. Langston laughed and said, "I've been living in Max's place these few days, and I discovered that many families with prominent backgrounds want to introduce blind date partners to him. As a matter of fact, he's on a blind date with a military officer's daughter today. The girl's background is great, and it'll be helpful for Max's promotion in the future."

"That's... That's good," Larissa said sheepishly after glancing at her daughter.

"I think it's great as well. His dad and I have been looking forward to him having a family and a successful career, when that time comes, we'll come to Canberra to look after his children," Mrs. Langston said emotionally. "I only have this one son, and we've put in all our efforts to raise him."

"Max is very hardworking. He won't disappoint you two."

CLICK HERE TO JOIN OUR TELEGRAM GROUP FOR FAST
UPDATES <https://t.me/NovelsFuns>

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

Let me go, Mr. Hill Author: Shallow South Chapter 2826

Chapter 2826

Larissa chatted with Mrs. Langston for a while before sending her off.

After returning, she observed her daughter and said, "Is Mrs.

Langston... trying to hint at something?"

"Isn't that obvious? Even you sensed it." charity smiled faintly.

"Don't blame her." Larissa sighed. "If I were her, I might think the same too. Which parent doesn't wish for their child to have a successful career? Our neighbor says they have a good son and that he'll surely be a high-ranking officer. During festivities, the city and district higher-ups would always visit Mrs. Langston's home, and the Langston couple would smile from ear to ear whenever they mention Max." 1

Charity found it funny. "I don't blame her. I understand."

"Then..."

"If Max can meet a suitable girl, I'll sincerely wish him happiness."

Max had been treating her too well and helping her out a lot, so much that Charity felt guilty.

She had thought about dating him properly after she recovered.

CLICK HERE TO JOIN OUR TELEGRAM GROUP FOR FAST
UPDATES <https://t.me/NovelsFuns>

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

However, after hearing from Mrs. Langston that Max had gone on a blind date, she felt relieved.

“Do you really... have no feelings for Max?” Larissa probed.

“Mom, Mrs. Langston is right. We’re from different worlds. I’m a public figure whom people will always talk about. If he marries me, he’ll be talked about as well, and it’ll affect his career development. Larissa nodded. “If so, we can’t waste Max’s time anymore to avoid Mrs. Langston having opinions about US. We’re neighbors, after all. “

In the evening, the results from every medical checkup came out showed that charity’s body was fine, so she could be discharged.

When Freya came over to help, Charity pointed at the items Mrs. Langston brought and explained the situation to her.

“I can’t take them,” Freya said quickly. “Ryan told me we can’t accept these things. People have gifted me more valuable things, but I never dare to touch them.”

Charity also guessed so, so she did not force Freya. “I’ll get Max to take them back afterward. This was his mom’s decision, and I don’t think he knows about it.”

“Exactly. Max and Ryan are friends. How could he possibly do this?” Freya frowned. “Isn’t his mom putting US in a difficult situation by doing this?”

“It’s normal for parents to want to help their children as much as possible.”

Freya recalled Max’s mother flattering her after finding out that she was Ryan’s girlfriend when they met yesterday. With that, she frowned in annoyance. “I don’t like his mother. We have different opinions. To be honest, I thought that you dating Max would be nice, but I don’t think you’ll be able to get along with his mom. It might’ve been fine for the real Eliza, but you’re not her.”

CLICK HERE TO JOIN OUR TELEGRAM GROUP FOR FAST
UPDATES <https://t.me/NovelsFuns>

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

"His mom also hinted that she doesn't wish for me to be with Max." Charity shrugged her shoulders. "I'll just stick to being friends with him."

"You really do move on quickly. It seems like you might not have any romantic feelings for Max, and it has nothing to do with your illness," Freya said.

Charity pursed her lips in silence.

She could sense that herself, even without Freya reminding her about it. 2

CLICK HERE TO JOIN OUR TELEGRAM GROUP FOR FAST
UPDATES <https://t.me/NovelsFuns>