Son-In-Law Madness Chapter 421

Son-In-Law Madness Chapter 421

Chapter 421 Unidentified Subterranean Objects Five submarines could be seen rapidly closing in on the laboratory on the radar.

“Ohno!” Lilith furrowed her brows. Ryan rushed into the room and said, “Professor Snowden, several unidentified subterranean objects are approaching us swiftly.

They must have sensed the energy fluctuations here!” “They’re either here for the controlled fusion technology, or they’re here because the news of Lord Campbell’s death has spread,” Lilith uttered. Ryan was stunned.

“How can that be?” “That means there’s a mole in Chiliad Avion!” Lilith narrowed her eyes.

Three hundred nautical miles away from Pollerton were the international waters. At that moment, an advanced destroyer was quickly nearing Reclamation Area One. Everyone knew that controlled fusion technology was being researched at Reclamation Area One. However, most thought that those were just rumors, and many ignored them as a result. The question was—when did these people begin believing in the rumors? Three months ago, they detected energy fluctuations coming from Reclamation Area One.

It was then they were certain that Lord Campbell had truly obtained the controlled fusion technology.

If that technology was released to the rest of the world, the world would certainly change drastically. First of all, super energy batteries would appear in the world.

Then, a new power source would be found. Nuclear submarines were gradually becoming obsolete.

Once a new super renewable energy that could be supported by controlled fusion technology appeared, Yorksland's international power would rise to unimaginable levels. That was something all one hundred and seven countries would not allow to happen. Nations' Union had contacted Chiliad Avion several times as well, hoping that the latter would share the technology with them. Yet, Chiliad Avion had pushed the responsibility of the matter to Lord Campbell. Now that Lord Campbell seemed to have died, those forces could not sit still anymore. They had to get the controlled fusion technology while Donald was dead and before Horizon Group could return. A large dark-skinned man who was 2-meter-tall with a ferocious expression was standing in the destroyer. That man was Leviathan the Sea Monster, also known as the King of the Sea.

He was also one of Atlantis' men. Beside him was a man with a pipe between his lips.

That man was Noah the Parasite. Beside Noah was another man.

The other man was in a cloak and a straw raincoat, and he had a rusty sword hanging by his waist. That man was the top fighter of the overseas Order of the Infinite, Javon Waine. If one were to ask how impressive he was, someone would answer them by saying that Javon was extremely powerful. The man had a power level of eight hundred thousand.

He had fought the Golden Lord back then and managed to exchange a hundred blows with the latter.

Javon was the only one known to be capable of lasting that long in a fight with the Golden Lord. "The Golden Lord is dead, and Lord Campbell is suspected to be dead.

Other than Nathan Collins and the few top-ranking government officials, no one's my match now." Javon lifted his head, revealing a cross-shaped scar on his cheek that added to his ferociousness. Even though his words were said in a soft tone, the confidence he had was audible. "How does the man by Silas' side, Francesco, compare to you?" Noah asked. Francesco's power level back then had been close to a million as well. "Francesco has not engaged in any fight for a long time.

Most of the time, the Eighteen Copper Men that he trained are the ones to deal with the affairs.

However, I doubt he's a match for me." The destroyer was getting closer and closer, and it was already nearing Pollerton's perimeters.

Pollerton's destroyer appeared as well.

As it stopped by the perimeter, the man in the ship began shouting, "Attention, up ahead is Pollerton's perimeter.

Please return to your course." The destroyer stopped, and Ryan let out a sigh of relief.

The humongous Sea Monster then yelled, "Hand over the controlled fusion technology, and we'll depart immediately.

Lord Campbell is dead, and Horizon Group is stationed at Quadfield.

You won't be able to defend this place well!" "Is that so?" Kingsley appeared on the deck and coldly stared at Sea Monster.

Son-In-Law Madness Chapter 422

Son-In-Law Madness Chapter 422

Chapter 422 Without Lord Campbell "We're not afraid of Horizon Group without Lord Campbell around." Sea Monster cackled. Indeed, Horizon Group was terrifying only because of Lord Campbell. After all, he was the man who had the highest power level that mankind had ever witnessed.

No one was scarier than him. "How dare a young boy like you call yourself Wyvern King?" Javon took off his cloak to reveal his weary and fierce face.

"I'm going to kill you!" By then, Kingsley's gaze was colder than ice.

He had received the news of Lord Campbell's death, but he could not bring himself to accept it. Therefore, he was absolutely livid and on the verge of killing someone. "Intruders shall die!" he uttered. Then, a blade slowly appeared in his hands, glinting under the sun.

A beat later, he pointed it at Javon. Javon took off his cloak and began staring at his opponent despite the distance between them.

In the next second, he jumped.

He leaped toward the ocean, but instead of sinking, he stood on the surface of the water. Everyone widened their eyes at that. This move had stunned many, including Kingsley. Then, Javon made his move. He was moving at the speed of light, and a white line appeared on the surface of the water before the seawater split into two. He came running above the waves. "Oh my god, he's this powerful?" Ryan's heart skipped a beat.

"I'm afraid only Nathan will be able to defeat him!" Nathan was watching over eight warzones, so he definitely would not be able to come back. In the blink of an eye, Javon reached the destroyer that Kingsley was on, and he jumped aboard. The entire destroyer shook tremendously, and Kingsley raised his Azure Wyvern Blade to swing at the intruder. "Die!" Javon uttered, expressionless as he swung his rusty steel sword. A loud clang sounded out, and Kingsley was sent flying.

He even almost lost his grip on the Azure Wyvern Blade.

On the other hand, Javon was collected, and he continued charging toward Kingsley with his steel sword aimed at the latter's throat. Kingsley's eyes turned red, and he lunged toward Javon again. However, just as Kingsley rose to his feet, Javon's hand shot out and smacked Kingsley's chest. "Urk!" Kingsley retched up a mouthful of blood and collapsed on the deck.

However, his eyes remained wide, and the look in them remained furious.

"Is that all you've got? Horizon Group without Lord Campbell is a bunch of useless trash," Javon commented before turning to look in the direction of the land reclamation project. Dozens of Azure Wyvern Guards rushed over, but before they could get close to Javon, Javon casually swung his rusty sword. A dark red line cut through the air, and more than a dozen Azure Wyvern Guards were instantly beheaded. "How dare you?" Kingsley bellowed. However, Javon was too powerful.

He was the top fighter of the overseas Order of the Infinite, and his master was none other than Quadruple-crowned King, Caleb Infield.

He was the man who had emerged as the victor in four seasons of a competition held by an overseas organization meant to rate the power levels of various individuals.

Thus, he was known to others as the Quadruple-crowned King. Just as Javon was about to end Kingsley's life, Leviathan suddenly said, "The energy fluctuations have suddenly risen by a few levels. We should leave first. Something's up."

Javon frowned and pressed his earpiece.

"What's going on?" "I don't know, but the radiation levels are off the charts."

If we continue to stay here, we'll suffer from radiation poisoning," Leviathan said to him as he looked at the monitors in the destroyer. "I'll kill you next time." Javon shot Kingsley a look before departing. Lilith had noticed the strange situation in the laboratory as well.

"Why are the radiation levels suddenly spiking?" There was still no change in Donald's vitals, but the radiation levels in his room were skyrocketing.

However, they soon died down. Lilith knitted her brows, confused by the situation. "What's going on?" Ryan entered the room.
