“How do you know I can’t afford it?”

Trevor frowned.

Only then did he notice Thelma’s attitude.

He really wanted to buy a car today, but he did not expect to come across such a snobbish salesperson.

“Wow. How could a poor loser like you talk that big?”

Before Thelma could say anything, a fat man with a big golden chain around his neck laughed at Trevor.

The fat man was standing nearby, so he overheard Trevor and Thelma’s conversation. Pointing at the sports car that Trevor was interested in, he said, “Do you have any idea where this car came from and how much it is? You’re saying yo ted every potential customer with respect regardless of how they looked. Besides, she was very displeased by the snide comment Thelma made about Volkswagen.

So, the saleswoman decided to be better than the competition in one key aspect, which was customer relations. Mercedes-Benz might have better-looking and more expensive cars, but Volkswagen had salespeople that actually cared about their clients regardless of their appearance.

“I want to see your most expensive car for sale, please.”

Seeing that the attitude of the saleswoman here was better than Thelma’s, Trevor felt better already.

“Sir, are you sure you want to see our most expensive car?”

The saleswoman was a little confused.

She added, "Well, although our mission at Volkswagen Group is to produce cars that the masses can afford, we also have a line of luxury cars that are on a par with other car brands across the board, but those models are extremely pricey."

"Good. Please show me your priciest one,"

Trevor said nonchalantly.

"Very well. Please come with me. I'll show you our new Bugatti. Its suggested retail price is 24 million dollars."

The saleswoman was being accommodating, but deep inside, she was anxious.

How could a young man in cheap clothes afford such a car? She added at her with a smile. Obviously, he was pleased with his niece's performance as a salesperson.

"Really? Oh, thank you, manager! You're the best!"

Thelma was overjoyed. The deal was worth a lot of money, and if the commission was increased a little, she would make a fortune.

"There was a poor guy who looked like a student here earlier. I knew at a glance that he couldn't afford a car, so I drove him away."

She was even prouder of her judgment. She pouted and said coquettishly, "But the saleswoman at the Volkswagen exhibition stand welcomed him. Their sales must not be good lately, so they're just letting everyone take a look at their units."

"Come on, I'll show you that poor guy,"

Thelma said and pointed at the Volkswagen exhibition stand.

She went to find Trevor, but she did not see him anywhere.

"Next time, if you meet such a man, just ignore him. You don't have to drive him away."

The regional manager shook his head, feeling a little disappointed at his niece's rudeness.

Thelma scoffed and commented, "Why are you afraid of offending penniless men?"

She was not worried at all about being punished for treating Trevor poorly.

Just as Thelma and her uncle approached the Volkswagen exhibition stand, the headlights of the Bugatti Chiron Pur Sport there f a lesson on behalf of my sister today."

Before he was out of earshot, Trevor heard Thelma's uncle curse and slap Thelma in front of the crowd that gathered.

He also heard Thelma cry bitterly.

Feeling the pain of being reprimanded and then hit in public, Thelma could just sob. Apart from losing her dignity today, she also lost a huge sum of money that could have been hers if she had just been nice to a man who she did not think could afford a car.

The commission from a two-million-dollar sale was nothing compared to a 20-million-dollar one.

Hot, remorseful tears streamed down Thelma's face, ruining her pretty makeup.

The roar of the Bugatti Chiron's powerful engine drowned out all the other surrounding sounds.

Sitting in the new luxury car he just bought, Trevor was immensely enjoying himself.

His new sports car impressed him so much.

He could not believe how fast and efficient it was.

He loved it so much that after he reached his destination near the school and got off, he wanted to hop in it again.

Trevor asked the saleswoman to drive and park his new car in the open-air parking lot of a nearby mall.

He did not want to attract too much unwanted attention by

To his surprise, a girl from Corrie's group rushed over to him as soon as he finished speaking.

"Trevor, are you tired? I have a wet tissue. I can help you wipe your sweat."

Staring at the concerned and shy eyes of the girl, Trevor felt like all his previous efforts were wasted. A surprised expression took over his face.

He would not be so stunned if Jaycee or Corrie behaved like that toward him.

But the one who approached him was none other than Estrella.

Trevor could not help wondering if she had become a fool after being slapped by Henson.

Forcing a smile on his face, Trevor took the wet tissue from Estrella's hand and wiped the sweat from his forehead while saying, "Thank you for your help, but I can do it by myself."

Taking out two bottles of water from her bag, Estrella said in a shy voice, "Then, are you thirsty? I still have two bottles of water." Swaying her body like a lovely girl, Estrella held up two bottles and said, "This one is new and I have drunk two sips of water from the other one.

Which one do you want to drink?" Although she wasn't as beautiful as Corrie and Jaycee, she was considered as not bad.

Actually, in other's eyes, she was a beauty. Many boys who passed by stared at her.

In fact, if beauties.

To discuss about the camping, Aldrin created a group chat and invited the people of the two dormitories to discuss what to prepare.

After collecting almost all the opinions from everyone, Aldrin winked at Trevor, as if he had some sort of plan, and said, "Trevor, how about you and I go shopping this afternoon?"

Although Trevor had already drunk a bottle of water, he was still a little thirsty.

Holding a glass of water, he laughed and replied, "Okay, let's go after class in the afternoon."

Hearing this, Aldrin agreed with joy and informed the others in the chat group.

"Trevor and I are going shopping this afternoon. Is there anything you guys want to add?"

Not long after, there was a reply from Estrella which said, "I've nothing to add to the list.

But I want to go with you guys because I'm bored."

"I think Estrella has a crush on you," said Rob.

In front of the girls, Rob was shy and silent. Now that they were back to the dormitory, he became active again. Then, he laughed and shouted, "I know you're handsome. Congratulations in advance for finding a girlfriend again!"

Hearing it, Trevor choked on the water and spat it out which made his clothes wet.

Looking at the water that was now sticking on his body, Trevor quickly rejoiced to hear Estrella's words. After that, the three of them began to pick out the gifts.

According to Estrella's suggestion, they went to a jewelry store.

"Wow, are you sure you want to buy the gift from this shop?"

Aldrin stuck out his tongue anxiously as he looked at the price tag of the jewelry on the counter.

As this was a place that sold jewelries, the goods here were worth at least several thousand dollars. What was more, some were even worth tens of thousand dollars.

The price was quite unaffordable even for someone who came from a rich family like Aldrin.

“Of course! Jaycee is a popular Internet celebrity now. She needs some high-end accessories to wear for her videos. And as her best friend, I know her well,” Estrella tried to persuade Aldrin. She undeniably made her points very well.

Trevor did not know what gift to buy for Luisa, so he went to ask for Estrella’s opinion. “Estrella, what kind of gift do you girls like?”

When Estrella heard this, she misunderstood Trevor’s meaning.

‘Well, you pretended to be so restrained and didn’t accept my flattery, but you were attracted to me after all!’

Estrella mistakenly thought that Trevor had a crus rsel to death, you won’t be able to afford even the clasp on this necklace.”

Aggy knew that Marlon did not like Trevor, so she continued to ridicule him.

“You’re such a desperate wannabe, Trevor. If I were you, I would just tuck myself away in a dusty library corner and study until I pass out. Maybe then you’d have a chance to compete with Marlon in the future. If you can’t afford the goods here, then get out of here. You’re ruining the view by looking stupid carrying those shopping bags and standing here.”

Hearing Aggy’s barrage of insults, Aldrin and Estrella felt embarrassed, more so Trevor.

Being constantly mocked by Aggy, Trevor finally snapped.

He said through gritted teeth, “Do you really think I can’t afford anything in here? Salesclerk, I’ll take the Love of Crystal earrings, please.”

He had hesitated earlier.

But now he decided to buy the one-hundred-thousand-dollar pair of earrings that Estrella pointed out to him.

Estrella had kept silent the entire time, but when she heard that Trevor was going to buy the earrings, her eyes suddenly lit up.

This was the moment she had been waiting for, for Trevor to expose his background. Was he really going to show how rich he really was n

Marlon in poking fun at Trevor.

Trevor could do nothing but dip his chin and think hard. There must be a reasonable explanation for his account being practically empty. Then, he remembered.

At noon, he sorted out his bank cards in his wallet and planned to cancel the unnecessary ones.

Since he was too busy thinking about buying a gift for Luisa, he fished out the wrong card by accident.

Another reason was that the two cards looked very similar.

However, before he could defend himself, a woman with a clear, pleasant voice suddenly spoke.

"It's just a pair of earrings. I'll pay for Trevor."

"What the fuck? Who said that?!"

Marlon snorted and looked in the direction of the person who had just spoken.

But then, the look of disdain on his face suddenly disappeared. His eyes lit up, and an obscene smile tugged at the corners of his mouth.

It turned out that the woman who spoke crossly to him was a peerless beauty.

She was wearing a sleeveless black dress, which revealed her well-defined collarbone and legs. It was also short that if the hem rose upwards, her lady parts were in danger of showing.

But what attracted the men most was her s u from?" she retorted.

Marlon's hackles rose when Selma compared him to Trevor and insulted his family he was proud of. His face turned red in anger. He wanted to teach her a lesson, but words stuck in his throat.

"Bitch, do you have any idea who Marlon is and how rich he is? The Archer family's property is worth over one hundred million dollars!" Aggy chimed in.

She figured that this was a perfect opportunity to cuss at the woman who made her insecure and flatter Marlon. At the thought of this, she burst into a storm of abuse without holding back.

"Oh, you bitch, thank you for your warning."

Selma raised her eyebrows. Once a conflict broke out between women, it was often fierce and unstoppable.

She looked at her nails, put on a smug smile, and said, "Unfortunately, I have never heard of such an unknown family."

It was not Selma's fault. There were at least a hundred third-class families with assets of over a hundred million dollars in Jork. Since Selma's family owned the Cloud Technology Company, one of the most prestigious enterprises in Jork, she did not need to make the other families' acquaintance. It was usually the members of the other families who took the initiative to approach and befriend h r way out, he overheard the comments of so many heartbroken men around them.

"Wow, who's that young woman? She just scared the shit out of those two people!"

"How can you not know Kolton Moran if you're from Jork? That young lady's family owns and runs the Cloud Technology Company!"

"I really envy the guy she's with. I wonder if they're a couple."

Behind Trevor and Selma, the bystanders were still discussing what just happened with great interest.

Estrella's face darkened. She was left alone. Staring at Trevor's and Selma's receding figures, she suddenly felt like she had seen Selma somewhere before.

"Oh, right. She was in the blackmail video."
