

Chapter 271 Armani Suit

Henson's sudden change made Jenifer stunned. Furrowing her eyebrows, she looked at him in confusion. When did his Porsche break down? Didn't he drive to the commercial street with it just now?

However, right now, she only wanted to compete with Luisa and she had no intention of giving up.

Rolling her eyes, Jenifer said, "Let me tell you. Henson really loves me and he is also very capable! Even though he is just in his twenties, he is the manager of the company!"

After saying that, she glanced at Trevor with her eyes filled with complacency.

Obviously, she was indicating that Luisa's boyfriend was inferior to her boyfriend.

At that time, Henson was anxious to death. Couldn't Jenifer see that he was restless like an ant on a hot pan? How dare she insult Mr. Sanderson like that?

Immediately, he explained, "Well, I am just muddling along in my father's company. It's nothing actually. No one cares about me even if I don't go to work for weeks."

Hearing her boyfriend's humble words, Jenifer put a long face. Her vanity wasn't satisfied with his statement.

After all, it wasn't easy for her to have an opportunity to show off, yet her boyfriend was ruining the chance. In a hurry, she angrily reached out and pinched Henson's waist secretly.

However, Henson remained expressionless as he kept cursing his girlfriend in his heart.

It was needless to say that he was annoyed by Jenifer's reckless behavior.

After all, he didn't want to get into trouble.

At this moment, he couldn't even bear his girlfriend's behavior anymore.

Seeing the indifferent look on Henson's face, Jenifer felt morose.

This was a rare chance for her to compete with Luisa. Therefore, she didn't want to give up and mentioned the main purpose of shopping this time.

"Luisa, do you know why we are here today?"

Leaning towards her boyfriend's body, Jenifer pretended to be affectionate towards her boyfriend and continued to show off.

"It is because Henson has an appointment with the Armani store to make a custom tailored suit by a professional designer. Actually, the appointment must be made more than half a year in advance."

Facing such kind of classmate who was competitive, Luisa couldn't do anything but sigh helplessly.

Trevor's ears perked up when he heard Jenifer boast about the Armani clothes.

With a smile on his face, he said, "What a coincidence! I'm going to buy a suit too. Let's go there to have a look together."

As if she heard some kind of joke, Jenifer chuckled and said with contempt, "You? I don't think you can afford anything in it."

On the contrary, Henson immediately invited them warmly.

Not being able to persuade her boyfriend, Jenifer followed them to the Armani store unhappily.

When they got to the reception, Henson came forward and told the receptionist that he had made an appointment for customizing his suit.

Trevor took the time to look around curiously.

In fact, he wanted to see if there was any suitable suit to buy.

However, Jenifer thought that he was like a country person who had never seen such kind of expensive clothes.

With a sneer, she said in a low voice filled with contempt, "Can you stop looking around? It's embarrassing when you can't even afford anything here."

As soon as Henson heard her words, he glared at her angrily which made her behave a little.

Since it was rare for him to meet Mr. Sanderson, Henson was eager to please him.

Of course, he noticed that Trevor was looking at the men's suit with great interest.

Seeing this, Henson came back to his senses at once and came up with an idea. In a flattering voice, he said, "Mr... Trevor, do you want to buy a suit?"

Without saying anything, Trevor nodded. His purpose was to buy a suit suitable for a wedding.

Clapping his hands, Henson smiled and said, "That's great. I don't want to get a customized suit anymore. Why don't you get one? I'll pay for it. Consider it as a gift from me because I'm glad to be friends with you."

Hearing his words, Jenifer was stunned as she looked at her boyfriend in confusion.

Obviously, Trevor was just a poor loser.

Why on earth did her boyfriend want to be friends with him?

Moreover, he even gave the poor loser his chance of making a customized suit for free!

And that was worth at least tens of thousands of dollars!
