

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2148

Chapter 2148

Travis's face becomes extremely gloomy!

"Emmy, a while ago, a shocking scandal broke out in my house. You must have heard of it, right?" Travis threatened, "Do you really think I dare not kill you?"

The society was sinister, how could it endure Travis's cruel methods?

It would be a lie to say that she's not afraid.

However, what she was afraid of was not what Travis would do to her, but rather death.

She and Margaret were different after all.

Margaret had lived most of her life, and she had seen all the scenery she should see, but her life had just begun, but it was about to end.

"Uncle Jones, before my mother died, she had a chat with me." Emmy said after being silent for a while, "She said that she has achieved what she wanted, and she has no regrets in her life. Life is not about the length, but about the Width. She felt that she couldn't live more brilliantly than the day she won the March medical award."

"Did she really say that?" Travis was a little suspicious of life.

Travis felt that he and Margaret were the same people, but reality hit him in the face.

No matter what happens, Travis will never end himself like Margaret.

"Uncle Jones, there's no need for me to lie to you. My mother really told me that." Emmy took out a small white medicine bottle in her pocket, "She gave it to me."

Travis Immediately look at the medicine bottle in her hand. There were no words on the bottle, so he didn't know what medicine was inside.

Travis: "what is this?"

"This is what I asked her for." Emmy said slowly, opened the bottle and poured out a small white pill, "Uncle Jones, did you know why my mother adopted me?"

Travis wanted to say 'I don't care'.

Before he could say anything, Emmy continued: "I am congenitally colorblind. When I was one year old, my biological mother threw me in the trash can."

Travis: "..."

"There is no such thing in my world. There are only light and dark colors. I like to be in the dark, because only in the dark, I can feel safe." Emmy said, the corners of her mouth twitched, "Although I am not a disabled person, I am not A normal person. I won't have a good life, I can live here, I'm already satisfied."

Emmy said, and quickly swallowed the white pill in her hand.

Travis realized something and immediately scolded the assistant: "Pick out the medicine she swallowed! It must be poison!"

When Travis said this, Emmy swallowed the pill in her throat into her stomach.

Emmy smiled contentedly: "My mother swallowed this medicine to death. Even if you induce vomiting in my body now, I won't be able to live. Because...it's highly poisonous. Just a little bit, It can put people to death."

After speaking, she slowly walked to the chair next to her and sat down, leaning her body on the back of the chair, waiting for death to come.

Travis showed a look of panic.

The assistant stood in front of Emmy, at a loss.

"Boss, this..."

Travis clenched his hands tightly, his lips trembling.

This was completely different from what he imagined!

He thought that Emmy didn't tell the truth now, and when he tortured her for two days, she would definitely not be able to endure anything.

Who would have guessed that this girl was already prepared!

In the silent room, the atmosphere of death permeated.

Suddenly, a cell phone rang, breaking the eerie atmosphere.

"Boss, your mobile phone is ringing." The assistant walked towards the cabinet, picked up Travis's mobile phone, and handed it to Travis.

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2149

Travis glanced at the call reminder, it was his lawyer.

Travis glared at Emmy in the chair.

Emmy's eyes had been closed, and Travis didn't know if he was dead or not.

But in Travis's view, she was already a dead person.

"Get her away! Bad luck!" Travis gritted his teeth and said to his assistant.

"Okay! I'll call someone to carry her away!" The assistant left the ward, called two bodyguards, and carried Emmy out.

Travis sat down on the hospital bed and answered the phone: "Did Norah get the contract?"

"Boss, I couldn't reach Norah anymore." The lawyer said, "She originally told me that after calling the money this morning, she could get the equity transfer agreement of Tate Industries, but after we gave her the money, she ignored us."

This critical attack made Travis faint and collapsed on the hospital bed.

"She... where is her person?" Travis asked while covering his forehead with one hand, panting.

"She said she would go to Tate Industries to deal with something. I went to Tate Industries to ask just now, and they told me at the front desk that Norah resigned from Tate Industries today." The lawyer said and was confused, "I don't know what Norah is right now. Have you transferred the money to the Tate Industries, because I can't see the executives here. I can't contact Norah, so I can only call you to report the situation."

The door of the ward opened, and the assistant returned to the ward.

Travis was so angry when he saw him!

Travis: "Norah ran away! Aren't you very close to her? Did she complicit with you for taking me $14 billion to run away?"

The assistant was shocked: "Boss, what did you say? Norah took away your money! How could it be possible! She didn't tell me this!"

With a 'bang', Travis smashed the teacup on the table at the assistant go.

"Then what did she tell you?! Don't think I don't know about the two of you messing around together! If you don't get Norah back for me, I'll kill your whole family and let you see if I'm not. What a mess!"

The assistant knelt down with a 'plop'.

"Boss, I am indeed bewitched by her beauty. But I never thought of betraying you. I have always been sober, women are just playthings, only by following you I can have a brighter future! It's a gang, I will definitely run away with Norah instead of bothering to find Emmy." The assistant hurriedly expressed his loyalty.

"What's the use of talking nonsense!" Travis roared, "Get her back! Get my money back! Go! Go!"

The assistant immediately got up and quickly left the ward.

Travis was dizzy, and the blood pressure controlled by the drug suddenly rose up.

His fingers trembled as he pressed the call bell.

Soon the nurse came and gave him blood pressure medication.

Just now, Travis felt the threat of death. If the nurse came a little late, he might have died.

He suddenly wanted to see Emilio as Emilio was his own son.

Outsiders are always outsiders. If something goes wrong, he still has to rely on his own son.

.....

Research Base.

Avery received a call from Emilio.

"Avery, something happened to my family." Emilio just saw his father, but now his father fell asleep because he was exhausted.

"What happened to your family?" Avery wondered, "...Your father died?"

"Pfft! Do you dream of my father's death?" Emilio couldn't help laughing, "I'm disappointed, he's not dead yet. But he must be as sad as death. Norah lied to him $14 billion. Now Norah is running away, and we don't know where her hiding place."

Avery: "..."

"By the way, Emmy is dead." Emilio continued, "Everything is out of my dad's control. It seems that there is a force that is helping you."

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2150

Chapter 2150

Avery refuted his words: "There is no power, if there is power, it is our own power." Paused Immediately, she reacted, "Emmy is dead?"

"Yes. Suicide by taking poison." Emilio replied, "She and Margaret took the same poison. the mother and daughter had long expected this outcome, so she made preparations in advance."

Avery felt a heart-wrenching pain in her heart.

Why is this happening?

All Travis wanted was Margaret's resurrection technique. If Travis got what he wanted, he would not kill Emmy, so why did Emmy commit suicide?

"Emilio, before Emmy died, did she give Margaret's things to your father?" Avery asked.

"No. I wasn't there. Emmy was already dead when I came here." Emilio stood outside the door of the ward with a solemn expression, "My dad should not have 14 billion in cash, he must have borrowed money. If he can't get the money back, I don't think his blood pressure will go down."

"Are you worried that your father is dead and his debts become your debts?" Avery was in a bad mood, but Emilio felt the same. "As long as you don't inherit your father's estate, you don't have to pay the debt for your father."

"I didn't think about it that much." Emilio replied, "You know my relationship with my father. I have no feelings, and I have no feelings for him. I only have feelings for the wealth and halo that the Jones family gave me. I like to be the second son of the Jones family, and I like being called the second son of the Jones family. Do you think I am very Hypocrisy?"

"I understand your feelings. But Emilio, it's better for people to rely on themselves. Whether it's parents or lovers, it's better to rely on yourself." Avery seemed to be persuading him, but she was actually persuading herself.

Emmy was dead, and now the breakthrough on Margaret's side was completely broken.

In this way, she could only rely on herself and her team. This will make progress much slower. But there was also an upside.

That is, no need to worry about being threatened by anyone anymore.

“Thank you for comforting me.” Emilio felt a lot better, “I didn’t expect Norah to be so bold. This woman always exceeds my expectations. She and I are half-siblings. But I don’t have the courage she has at all.”

Avery: “What’s the use of the courage to do bad things?”

“Norah’s also better at work than me. My dad admires her more, but it’s a pity she’s a woman.” Emilio knew very well. He was lacking in his abilities, and he knew his strengths very well.

Travis’s patriarchal ideology was deeply rooted, his eldest brother had been abolished, and he was now the only heir to the Jones family.

Avery was puzzled: “Why did Norah suddenly think of cheating your father’s money?”

Emilio: “Maybe it wasn’t a sudden plan. If she can succeed once, maybe she has planned for a long time.”

Avery: “Such a large sum of money is enough for her to live happily ever after Be happy.”

After talking on the phone, Avery couldn’t help but tell Elliot about it.

“I don’t know where Norah is hiding. We haven’t gotten revenge on her yet!” Avery was unwilling.

“Who told you about this?” Elliot asked.

“Emilio told me. He also told me that Emmy died. It’s really a pity. That girl looks young.” Avery said regretfully, “Does Margaret really leave nothing behind? Or maybe Margaret and Travis have a bad relationship and would rather give things to others than to Travis?”

Elliot: “Norah has gone to Aryadelle.”

His determined tone made Avery stunned: “Elliot, how did you know? Didn’t she cheat Travis’s money and abscond with the money?”

“No. She gave me the money what she cheated.” Elliot said calmly, “How could I let go of those who hurt us?”

Avery suddenly realized.

It turned out that this was a trap set by Elliot!

These days, Elliot went to the company every day, not to deal with official business, but to design revenge against Norah.