

“Dad!” Maggie suddenly saw Dad’s figure, so she quickly squeezed over.

“Dad! Why are you here?” Maggie was very surprised, “I knew you were here tonight, so I’ll come with you!”

Calvin looked around and said in a low voice, “Maggie, keep your voice down. I’m hiding from Travis’s bodyguard.”

“Why are you hiding?” Maggie’s voice decreased.

“I’m here to see Avery. She gave your mother a bank card, and I’ll return the card to her.” Calvin took her daughter and continued walking to the side.

Maggie: “Dad, why don’t you give me the card, and I’ll return it to her. So you don’t have to hide, how tired!”

“Hey, I have other things with her.” Calvin asked, “What are you doing here? Could it be that you are here to meet your blind date? I remember you don’t like to come to places like this.”

“Yeah! Eric asked for this place. Maybe he likes it! I said it all. I’m not suitable for him, my mother insists on forcing me to see him again, so I can only come! But this is the last time.” Maggie said in distress, “There are so many people, how do you want me to find him!”

“Call him!” Calvin gave his daughter a suggestion, “How about I accompany you to meet your blind date first? Your mother praised him so much, I want to see if he is really that handsome.”

Maggie: “Is my mother telling you this in private?”

“Say it! The night she went to see your blind date, she kept pulling me and talking. My ears are about to get calluses. If it wasn’t for you who didn’t like that person, I've wanted to meet for a long time. Since tonight is such a coincidence, I'll take a look with you."

Maggie looked embarrassed: "Dad, let's say goodbye! I called Eric to accompany me, so you don't need to come forward."

"Where's Eric? Why didn't you see him?" Calvin twisted head, looking around.

At this glance, Calvin vaguely saw a woman who was also looking around.

He had never met Avery, but he felt that the woman might be Avery.

"There are too many people here, and the two of us are crowded out." Maggie said, took out her mobile phone, and wanted to call her brother.

"Maggie, I seem to have seen Avery." Calvin wanted to go and get things done first.

Maggie immediately looked in the direction her father was looking.

At this time, Avery also looked towards them.

"Dad, let me go with you to see Avery!" Maggie was suddenly nervous, "I want to go say hello to her."

Calvin agreed.

Avery and Calvin looked at each other, and after confirming that the other party was the person he was looking for, Avery immediately called the bodyguard, told the bodyguard where he and Calvin were, and asked the bodyguard to pay close attention to suspicious people around him.

After Avery walked in front of Calvin and Maggie, her eyes first locked on Maggie.

Avery was more familiar with Maggie's face than Calvin's face.

Because Eric sent her a photo of the blind date 'Maggie' a few days ago.

The photo of 'Maggie' and the face of the girl in front of her perfectly overlapped.

Avery was very surprised and asked, "You are..."

"Hello, Miss Tate, I'm Maggie Emond, daughter of Calvin Emond." Maggie immediately introduced herself, "I'm here. I said hello to you because I admire you very much."

Avery: "Maggie? Is it the one who was looking for it?"

"Yes. My daughter's name is Maggie, and I have a son named Ian Emond. Before the two of them were born, my wife and I discussed it. In the future, The boy's name will be Ian Emond and the girl's name will be Maggie Emond. And now her name is Maggie." Calvin took his daughter one step ahead.

"It's good! The name is nice, and your daughter is very beautiful." Avery probably understood what was going on, so she asked Maggie, "Maggie, are you here to watch the music festival tonight? Who are you with? Huh?"

Maggie: "Uh... I came here with my dad."

She was embarrassed to say that she had an appointment to meet her blind date here.

"Oh..." Avery said, taking out her mobile phone, "How about we add a Whatsapp? I think we may have a chance to meet in the future."

WHEN HIS EYES OPENED

Chapter 2203

Maggie was a little confused, she didn't expect Avery to be so friendly and so proactive.

She took out her phone from her pocket and opened Whatsapp.

Avery scanned her QR code for her.

Soon, the two added Whatsapp.

Avery almost couldn't help laughing when she saw that she had successfully added 'Maggie' as a friend.

"Maggie, the handsome guy in your avatar has a good figure! Is this your boyfriend?" Avery didn't expect that she would meet her blind date faster than Eric.

Moreover, according to Avery's naked eye observation, Maggie is definitely a girl.

"No. This is my younger brother. My younger brother prefers to exercise." Maggie's cheeks flushed slightly and explained, "Miss Tate, I got separated from my younger brother, so I will go to him first."

After Maggie finished speaking, she walked away quickly.

Maggie dialed her brother's number, and the call was connected, but no one answered.

She called twice in a row, but her brother didn't answer.

She was suddenly anxious.

At this time, Eric's message came: [Have you arrived?]

Maggie was busy looking for her brother, so she wasn't very patient: [I was there a long time ago. I looked around in the crowd and didn't see you. Also, I don't like this kind of noisy place, the two of us really don't fit. So we don't have to meet. Later, you tell your mother that you have someone you like, so that your mother won't force you to go on a blind date.]

Seeing her reply, Eric immediately got angry: [Why didn't you say that you have someone you like? If I said that, my mom would take me back to show her.]

Maggie: [Eric, I haven't graduated yet.]

Eric: [You didn't graduate and it didn't affect your mother forcing you to have a blind date. That being the case, even if you say you have someone you like, your mother won't blame you.]

Maggie: [Makes sense!]

Eric breathed a sigh of relief. Finally, he didn't have to mess with her anymore! Even the entanglement on the Internet was enough to give him a headache.

After Eric talked with Maggie, he went to find his assistant.

Maggie went to find her younger brother.

Both of them wore masks, so when they passed by in the crowd, no one knew that the other was their blind date.

...

Avery and Calvin left from the music festival scene.

It was the seaside, and the sea breeze blew at night, which was actually a bit cold.

But Avery's heart was warm.

"Miss Tate, take the card back. I don't want it." Calvin returned the card to Avery, "I don't know much about the device in Elliot's head. I can tell you everything I know."

Avery: "If that's the case, then you should accept it. Otherwise, I'll feel that I owe you favor."

“Miss Tate, I really don’t want it. I’m not short of money now.” Calvin was firm, “I don’t know much about that device. I only know that Margaret can be controlled remotely, but how it brought Elliot back to life, only Margaret knows.”

Avery was stunned.

“Miss Tate, I am inclined that this technology does not exist.” Calvin told Avery his judgment, “Of course, I am not sure if my guess is accurate.”