

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3011 - 3015

Chapter 3011

The noise got louder and louder making Jackie feel like it was way too annoying. What he hated the most was noise, but there was nothing he could do about it.

“Why are the odds one to three and a half for the beast, but when it comes to me it’s one to six? Even though you’re a caretaker, you shouldn’t be too excessive. Do you think I’m that weak? I have full confidence in dealing with those beasts. You’re just looking down on me!” A burly man with a mustache shouted at a caretaker unhappily.

There were countless warriors in the outer city, and countless caretakers as well. The caretakers all looked the same, from what they were and what masks they had.

They did not have pupils, nor did they react at all to the man shouting at him. “These are the rules. If you don’t follow the rules, you’ll be dealt with immediately!”

The man looked like a frightened mouse and immediately shrank back the moment he said that. As soon as he heard the word ‘rules’, all of his hatred and unhappiness disappeared.

The skull-masked caretaker said to all of the warriors behind him, “The warrior’s odds are one to six, the beast’s odds are one to three and a half! Place your bet and leave, bets are open now!”

The moment he said that, the warriors gathered behind him with spirit crystals in their hands as they frantically started placing bets. Spirit crystals flooded the table.

The excited warriors did not really care about spirit crystals at all at that point. They were tempted to gamble their entire fortune away. Five thousand spirit crystals were thrown out like it was nothing, betting on the beasts. Most of the warriors had their money on the beast. The ones who thought the warrior would win were only a fraction in number. Only those who really wanted to take a risk would put their money on the warrior.

After all, the warrior’s odds were one to six. If the warrior really exceeded expectations and won, then they would stand to earn a lot!

The man looked at everyone frantically betting on the beasts, and his face soured quickly.

He angrily looked at those people and said, “You’re just a bunch of short sighted people! That birdlike beast is nothing. I’ll be able to defeat it in ten moves. Just you wait, I’ll win and show all of you that you don’t know what you’re looking at!”

If he was not afraid of angering all the warriors there, he would have said some even nastier words. While waiting for them, the man got angrier and angrier. He turned around and left the betting area, heading toward the colosseum!

Looking at that scene had Rudy feeling a little numb. The entry tokens were still in Jackie's hands, so Rudy did not know what was happening at all.

Jackie let out a smile as he pointed at that colosseum and said, "You see that massive crowd? Beneath the spectator stands is the Colosseum just like the one in Thousand Leaves City. The colosseum is surrounded by spectator stands. It was designed in a circular fashion from the bottom to the top. The stage is not meant for battles between people, but battles between humans and beasts, that's why it's called a colosseum!"

Jackie pointed at the colosseum and said, "The outer city has a total of thirty- three colosseums, and each colosseum can fit three thousand and three hundred people. It's practically all full. Outside of each colosseum will be a designated betting area. Each betting area is occupied by caretakers. Warriors can place bets based on what they want!"

Chapter 3012

After that explanation, Rudy slowly understood things. He looked around and counted, and did see a total of thirty-three colosseums. Each colosseum had a betting area in front of them.

On average, each betting area had ten caretakers. The battles within the colosseum were intense, while outside of the colosseum, the warriors were crazily betting on their savings. It was no wonder that everyone looked crazy and bloodthirsty.

Everyone was shouting frantically. Hundred Beast City really did seem like an incredibly evil place. The warriors were frantic and the battles were intense. Death occurred constantly, and the colosseums were all stained red.

Rudy gulped, feeling a chill across his entire body. For other warriors, the atmosphere excites them. They loved the frantic atmosphere, were not afraid of death and merely looked for even stronger people. However, for someone like Rudy, he could only feel fear from the bottom of his heart.

Rudy's lips trembled slightly, "If you weren't here, I would have turned around and run. It would have felt challenging to you, but all I feel is fear!"

Jackie turned to look at him and said, "I don't feel challenged at all. I just feel like the people here have been infected by the crazed atmosphere."

The moment he heard that, they heard a collective exclamation in front of them. The tightly packed crowd suddenly parted to form a man-wide path.

Jackie and Rudy looked over at the same time. They saw a man in black clothes with an incredibly handsome face walk forward. His head held high, carrying a hint of pride on his face. He walked through the pathway that was formed. Other than the fact that he had a badge on his chest, he did not look that different from anyone else. When the person walked over, the discussions around them got louder.

“When can I get three wins in a row and get a black iron medal for myself? If I get one of those, I definitely won’t have it on my chest. I’d stick it on my head!”

“Oh please! Can you please have some self-awareness? You’re great at nothing but saying embarrassing things!”

“Is it that embarrassing? Don’t tell me you won’t show off if you get a black iron medal.”

“Of course, I would, but that’s something you can only get if you win three rounds in a row. Even disciples of high-grade clans would show respect to warriors with black iron medals! If I had one, I would definitely show off, but I won’t be as embarrassing as you.”

The two of them bicker with one another, not holding back their words. It was as if they were about to fight at any moment. After Rudy heard their discussions, he widened his eyes, his face was full of confusion.

He turned to look at Jackie. Jackie let out a laugh as he patiently explained, “When someone wins three rounds in a row in the colosseum, they will be awarded a medal. It’s the black iron medal that person is wearing. It’s a proof of individual ability, those who acquired a black iron medal won’t just be able to show it off, but they will also be able to enter the central city as well.”

Rudy raised an eyebrow, feeling even more curious, “The central city? Where is that? Is that in Hundred Beast City or outside of it?”

Jackie patiently explained, “It’s in Hundred Beast City. Hundred Beast City is split into three areas, the outer city, central city, and inner city. You need to win two rounds to enter the central city.”

Chapter 3013

When Rudy heard that, he slowly understood. He thought about it before saying, “If you want to enter the central city, you only need to win two rounds. There’s no need for consecutive wins, but a black iron medal requires three wins in a row. It sounds incredibly difficult!”

Jackie nodded slightly.

Rudy turned to look at where the person was going. At that moment, the person had already disappeared into the crowd.

He frowned and sighed, “No wonder everyone reacted so much after seeing that medal on his chest. It looks like it’s something incredibly difficult to acquire for any ordinary person! “

Jackie nodded as he turned around, looking at where that person disappeared, “It’s definitely not easy. You don’t know the rules, but winning in the colosseum is already something that’s not easy. Not only do you need to be skilled enough, but you also need to be lucky too.”

The moment he said that, Rudy felt even more curious.

Jackie was in no hurry to explain, and instead patted Rudy on the shoulder, pulling him toward the thirteenth colosseum.

At that moment, an intense battle had just ended in that colosseum. Fresh blood littered the stage as a corpse that had been ripped apart by a beast lay on the battlefield in a horrible state. The stench of blood was difficult to bear, but the colosseum had already gotten used to that sight. The warriors in the spectator merely let out a few condolences.

After entering the thirteenth colosseum, Jackie pulled Rudy toward the front of the spectator stand. This time, he did not plan on staying in a corner. After all, he had already disguised himself and changed his name. No one would know that he was Jackie.

Rudy looked at the corpse that was filled with wounds. His lips trembled slightly. That corpse looked completely mutilated. There was not a single area that was in a good state. It was full of claw marks. Bone could be seen through many of the wounds.

After the battle ended, the beast turned into energy, absorbed by the laws of the stage. Their timing had been quite bad. They could not see what sort of beast it was that ripped someone apart to that degree.

Jackie raised an eyebrow, “Looks like that guy wasn’t lucky... He’s also not skilled enough, that’s why he died in such a bad state. If he was just a bit luckier, he might have been able to get off the stage alive even if he was not skilled.”

Rudy looked at Jackie curiously, “What do you mean by luck?”

Jackie looked at the corpse that was being carried off by the skull-masked caretaker. Those caretakers were like emotionless machines. No matter how horrible the situation was, they did not have a reaction at all. They mechanically brought the body away and cleaned up the colosseum. The stage that had been soaked with the stench of blood was once again completely clean. It did not seem like anything had happened at all.

Jackie sighed as he started to explain, "The rules of the colosseum are complicated, yet simple. The warriors who participate need to choose from five beasts. Of the five beasts, some are strong and some are weak. If you pick up a weaker beast, not only would you save yourself from being ripped apart, you would even be able to win. Some people are just unlucky, and end up picking the stronger beasts and end up being killed by them."

After listening to the rules of the colosseum, Rudy's mouth opened wide in shock. No wonder it was a colosseum. No wonder everyone seemed to be so excited by all the blood and gore.

Thinking about that, Rudy turned around and looked at the betting area. The place was already filled with people. Quite a lot of them had already used up their entire fortunes placing bets, but it did nothing to diminish their passion.

Chapter 3014

Rudy frowned, mumbling out, "No wonder there's a specialized betting area. Luck is so important, it would definitely stir up their gambling spirits."

Jackie nodded, "In truth, a huge part of the reason why everyone is so crazy in Hundred Beast City is that the results aren't just about skill, but luck as well. With good luck, even a crazy bet can win you a lot of spirit crystals. Your fortunes can increase by several times in just a moment. If someone bets on a warrior with 1 to 4 odds and they end up winning, his spirit crystals would quadruple in value. Just thinking about it would drive you crazy, no wonder everyone's acting like this."

Speaking of that, there was a hint of exasperation in Jackie's tone.

On the way over, he had seen many warriors with different emotional states. Some of them were so happy that they were full of tears, excitedly dancing around. It was because they had won and gotten a lot of spirit crystals. Some of them were sobbing to the point where they were completely emotionless. They looked like they had completely lost all hope in life. It was because they had lost the bets, and their entire fortune.

What they had saved for many years was all gone just like that. They could not accept it. After all, the laws of Hundred Beast City were plain for all to see. No one had the power or ability to go against the laws of Hundred Beast City.

Rudy shook his head as he said seriously, "It's just too crazy! I feel like everyone is slowly losing their perspective on life and death."

Jackie nodded, not continuing to speak.

Time did not stop for anyone, even for a moment. After the stage had been cleaned up, the next battle started immediately. A masked caretaker slowly walked onto the stage.

At that moment, he held a scroll in his black hands as he walked to the center of the stage. He immediately unfurled the scroll, letting out a radiant golden light.

Five massive figures appeared in the air. Five of those figures looked different. Some were forty feet long and floated in the air, some were only the size of a person. The images represented different kinds of beasts.

Rudy widened his eyes as he looked at the five beasts. He suddenly did not know what to say. At that moment, he was too excited. He did not recognize a single one of the beasts. He had liked to read ancient books before. He learned about quite a lot of beasts from those books, but he had never seen those beasts before.

He could not help but turn to look around at everyone.

Jackie had a calm expression on his face, not showing much emotion. Rudy scanned his surroundings, he could see more or less the same expressions. No one knew those beasts.

Rudy frowned and said, "Jackie, do you know what those beasts are?"

Jackie sighed, doing his best to not have anyone hear him.

"I do, but only two of them. The one on the right seems like a three-legged golden bird beast. It's called a flying quill. The one in the middle is a fire and ice wolf. Those two beasts are normally in second-grade worlds..."

Rudy was surprised at Jackie's words and said, "I was just asking, but I didn't expect you to know. Jackie, you really are amazing. You're not just strong, but smart as well. You even know beasts from second-grade worlds."

Chapter 3015

Jackie's lips twitched, not saying anything. After all, his secrets would be exposed if he continued to explain.

He could only recognize those two beasts because of the memories he inherited. However, even with the memories he inherited, he could only recognize two beasts out of the five there. Even incredible heroes from the first-grade world, the Divine Void World did not recognize every beast there was. After all, there were a few thousand first-grade worlds, let alone second-grade and third-grade worlds which were even more numerous.

There were countless beasts in every world. Adding up all the beasts from every world, there would be at least billions of them.

Rudy said, "Are these the images they need to fight in the next round?"

Jackie nodded, "The warrior that's about to fight will need to pick one of those five beasts. The five beasts have varying degrees of strength, but their realm has been restricted to the late stage of the innate realm. No matter which beast is chosen, it's considered fair. After all, we're all restricted to the same level!"

Rudy nodded, lamenting, "Who set these rules? It's both ingenious and interesting, and it can also stir the spirit of the warriors. Even if it will make them more impulsive, warriors need their recklessness."

"When a warrior's strength reaches its peak, he'll be able to discover his complete potential. I think the person who designed the city must have had this in mind."

Jackie nodded, agreeing with Rudy's thoughts, "I'm now even more curious about the designers of the Whirling World. What sort of hero had his hands on it? I can't imagine how strong the person who designed this place must have been. Not only did he design the skill-testing cities, but also constantly searched for warriors with potential. Those who are strong are even able to get various valuables..."

Rudy blinked and said, "That's right. The ones who are strong will slowly get stronger and stronger, while the weak will only get weaker. It really is survival of the fittest here."

Saying that, Rudy's expression was a little sad. He felt like he was undoubtedly at the bottom of this world. If Jackie had not been helping him or brought him along, there was no way he could have entered a level six city.

He would not have even made it into a level eight city, let alone a level six one. He would not have experienced so much!

After that, he looked at the five beasts and said, "Isn't the person who set the rules worried that those beasts will be recognized at all? If someone happens to be as smart as you and knows a lot, wouldn't it be unfair that they knew those beasts and knew which one was weaker?"

Jackie raised an eyebrow, turning to look at Rudy. He had a firm tone as he said, "Don't worry. In the whole city, no one will recognize any of these beasts other than me."

Jackie's firm tone caused Rudy to be even more confused.

He looked up curiously and asked, "Why are you so sure? I'm not doubting what you're saying, I just feel like the world is so vast. There are all sorts of people. There might be someone who knows just as much as you do, and can recognize a few beasts from the five?"

Jackie shook his head incredibly resolutely after hearing that, "There won't be. It's absolutely impossible."
