

The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 3892

Speaking of this, Charlie looked at Claire with a smile, raised his eyebrows and asked: “Wife, what do you think?”

After hearing this, Claire shook his head helplessly, and said with emotion: “What you said is right...If you really return this car, I guess they will not get through it in the next two years. ...”

With that, Claire was also a little worried and said, “Husband, that Miss Zhan, it’s a bit too lavish... You just took the time to show her Feng Shui this morning, and she gave such an expensive car. This is not suitable either...”

Charlie said casually: “There is nothing inappropriate, she is asking me for this.”

Claire hesitated for a moment, and said: “This afternoon, a girl came to the company to find me, saying that she was to make an appointment with me for that Miss Zhan to meet and talk about the decoration of the Shuiyun Villa... ...”

“Oh?” Charlie asked with interest: “That Miss Zhan, are you looking for you to decorate the villa?”

Claire nodded and said, “It sounds like this.”

As he said, Claire pursed his lips and said: “That girl gave me a brief introduction to the budget. It is said that it will cost 50 million to renovate the villa, and the design fee alone is 5 million. ...”

In the domestic home improvement market, users generally do not recognize design fees.

The average designer’s design cost of hundreds of yuan per square meter is nothing more than robbery in the eyes of most people.

Therefore, most people who find a decoration company for decoration will ask the decoration company to exempt the design fee.

Most of the decoration companies are also quite foolish. The design templates that have already been formed are directly taken out for customers to pick, and basically the work is finished.

The client did not spend the design fee, but the effect of the installation seems to be satisfactory, so over time, everyone is less willing to pay for the design.

This is also the embarrassment of many domestic designers.

Claire has been doing decoration for a long time. Most home improvement customers are very generous in decoration, but very stingy in design fees.

It is very rare that, like Fei Kexin, directly and explicitly set out 10% as a design fee.

Charlie was slightly surprised when he heard it. It wasn't that he was surprised at how much or less the five million design fee was. He was just surprised at Zhan acting style.

Although this woman approached herself deliberately, the actual operation was to cater and please her. She donated a few pictures to the Calligraphy and Painting Association, and also sponsored an art exhibition of 50 million yuan, and gave Jacob a Rolls Royce Cullinan. , And then sent a large order of 50 million to his wife.

This gave Charlie the feeling that someone was staring at him in secret and pointed his gun at him, but the gun fired not bullets, but candy.

Such a huge contrast made Charlie a little dumbfounded.

Seeing that Charlie hadn't spoken, Claire asked him without any bottom: "Husband, you said that Miss Zhan, is it because she asked you to give me such a big order? Just like him? It's like giving dad a Cullinan..."

Charlie nodded indifferently, "Yes."

Claire hurriedly asked, "Is it appropriate for me to take her order? If it is not appropriate, I will decline it."

Charlie smiled slightly and said: "She is looking for you as a normal cooperation between Party A and Party B. You can accept it if you want to accept it, and refuse it if you don't want to accept it. You don't need to ask for my opinion."

Claire said embarrassingly: "But with the budget and the design cost she gave, it is already possible to invite well-known domestic interior designers. There is no need to come to me... The premium here is too high, I'm afraid I took the favor that would make you owe her... In case you didn't want to help her, and finally had to help because of these trivial matters, then I was causing you trouble."

Charlie smiled and said, "My wife, you don't have to have such a psychological burden at all. The thing that Zhan wants to beg me is too big, and it is far from being solved by such a small amount of sincerity."