

The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 4038

After all, everyone knows very well that the price of the first rejuvenation pill has already been photographed, and how can the second one be lower than it?

If the price of the second copy is increased from 100 million US dollars a little bit, then the people present have a problem with their minds.

Therefore, as soon as the words of the rich Middle East's 2 billion dollars fell, someone immediately raised their hand: "2.1 billion!"

Before Jasmine moore had time to report the other party's number, someone immediately raised their hand: "2.5 billion!"

"Three billion!"

"Three and a half billion!"

"Four billion!"

"five billion!"

Within a dozen seconds, the price was directly pushed to the height of five billion US dollars by the continuous bidding on the spot.

However, the voice of the bid is still heard.

"Five billion ten million!"

"How about 10 million plus? I'll pay 5.5 billion!"

"I'll send fifty-eight! Fifty-eight! Five-one-eight, I'll send it!"

The Middle Eastern rich looked left and right, and the whole person was stunned.

I thought that I would need 2 billion as soon as I opened my mouth, and I was already very courageous.

But I didn't expect that I was just a cameo role as a starting gun.

This is just f*cking insane. How many people can afford 5.8 billion US dollars?

Thinking of this, he couldn't help but think of his stupid behavior of missing the first rejuvenation pill, and his heart collapsed even more.

So, he gritted his teeth and shouted again: "Six billion! I will give six..."

Before the words were finished, the person who asked for 5.8 billion just now shouted again: "6.8 billion! Sixty-eight, on the road!"

The rich man in the Middle East suddenly wanted to cry without tears.

The price of 6 billion was already made a very big decision, but the other party didn't even give him a chance to finish his words...

Feelings of despair rushed to his body from the bottom of his heart, and he only felt numb and cold in his limbs.

The price is more than 6.8 billion US dollars, which has exceeded the cash flow in his hands, which means that he has completely withdrawn from the auction of Huichundan from now on.

Thinking of this, he slapped his mouth again, and said bitterly: "Idiot! You idiot!!"

It's just that no one paid attention to his self-harm, because everyone's enthusiasm for bidding was not frightened by the price of 6.8 billion.

Soon, a wealthy American sat motionless, and asked the entourage next to him to raise their hands, and then said, "I'll pay seven billion!"

The speaker was a forty-year-old white American.

He is a well-known Internet entrepreneur in Silicon Valley, named Todd. The company he founded was listed on Nasdaq a few years ago, and now its market value has exceeded 100 billion US dollars.

And he himself is not only an outstanding entrepreneur, but also a very adventurous outdoor explorer.

In the previous year's ski season, he accidentally encountered an avalanche while skiing in Switzerland.

Although he survived by luck, his body was severely damaged in the avalanche. After being rescued, he, like Jacob before, was diagnosed with high paraplegia caused by spinal cord injury.

Although he sat there looking like a normal person, he had completely lost control from the neck down.

For a middle-aged man with a lot of power and wealth, such an experience would be worse than death.

In the past two years, he has tried all the cutting-edge medical technologies in the world, but he has not been able to save him from the abyss of high paraplegia.

After learning the news of Huichundan by chance, he also signed up to participate with the mentality of coming over to have a look, rather than let go.

Originally, he didn't have much hope for Huichundan, but after witnessing that the severe Parkinson's patient recovered instantly, he was full of confidence and desire for Huichundan!