Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover Chapter 751

“I have bought a lot of ingredients, including your favorite kinds of seafood, for the occasion! I’ll get her to serve you something that brings joy!”

The moment Kira showed Jonathan the things she had with her, the rest of the family found out the duo had bought different types of ingredients.

Jasmine had gone to great lengths just to keep her father-in-law entertained.

On the other hand, the moment the completely drenched Sebastian made his way into the mansion from the garden, he heard them having a great time chit-chatting with one another in the living room.

“Has anyone shown up?” he asked with a frown, indicating he was irked by the presence of the outsiders.

The housemaid wheeling him into the living room answered, “Mrs. Jadeson has made her way here with her niece. They’re currently making Old Mr. Jadeson his meal. Shall I show you the way to them?”

“No!”

He turned down the housemaid and instructed her to bring him to the elevator instead.

The observant Jasmine had been keeping an eye on Sebastian ever since she made it to the mansion. As soon as she saw Sebastian, she put everything aside and marched in the direction of her nephew.

The moment she reached her nephew's side, she asked, "Sebastian, where are you going? Why are you completely drenched in sweat?"

The shameless woman showed no signs of guilt as if she couldn't recall the things she did at Red Pavilion.

Sebastian ignored his so-called aunt and pressed the button of the elevator to return to his room.

Jasmine started gritting her teeth in angst since no one had ever ignored her in such a manner.

Has he no shame at all? If it weren't because of Dad's presence, I wouldn't have struck up a conversation with him!

Glaring at the arrogant young man's departing figure, the infuriated woman had no choice but to return to the rest in the kitchen.

Her niece, who was in the kitchen, had witnessed the duo's interaction. She was slightly startled when she saw the young man bound in a wheelchair ignoring Jasmine.

He's such an interesting figure!

As everyone gathered around in the dining room for lunch, Kira had everything ready for lunch sharp at twelve.

Jonathan took another sip of his tea and instructed, "Tony, can you head upstairs and get him to join us?"

"Alright, I'll be back in a short while." Tony excused himself and made his way up the stairs to get Sebastian to join them.

Jonathan had always been a proud and egoistic man. He was aware of Jasmine and Sebastian's interaction, but he had no intention to join them because he was against the idea of striking up a conversation with Sebastian.

As much as Tony found Jonathan's response hilarious, he knocked on Sebastian's door and asked, "Mr. Sebastian, it's almost time for lunch. Why don't you head downstairs and join the rest of the family?"

The man inside the room turned down the offer without a second thought.
"No."

He's such a stubborn man!

Tony ran out of ideas to persuade Sebastian. In the end, he barged into the room and said, "Mr. Sebastian, you're not supposed to skip your meals! I know you prefer being away from others, but don't you think it's better for you to join your grandfather since he came here to check on you?"

"No."

In the end, Tony brought something else up and asked, “Mr. Sebastian, can you consider doing Mr. Devin a favor? He has been doing all sorts of things just to keep you safe. You’re not going to cause him any trouble, are you?”

Devin was the only member of the Jadesons capable of persuading Sebastian to change his mind. Otherwise, Sebastian wouldn’t have shown up at Red Pavilion yesterday.

In the end, Sebastian gave in and joined the rest of the family in the dining room.

Kira, who was in the middle of serving the dishes, was utterly baffled by the presence of the young man with ethereal-looking facial features.

Staring at the handsome man, she lost herself in a process of thought and thought Sebastian was way too handsome to be considered a maniac.

Is this the maniac of the family? Are they trying to pull others’ legs or something? Have they ever seen such a handsome maniac? It’s not even an exaggeration to consider him one of the most handsome men I have ever encountered throughout my life!

Jasmine had long joined the rest at the dining table. She did a great job in keeping her frustration to herself the moment she saw her nephew.

She put on a calm front and greeted him enthusiastically, “Sebastian, you’re finally here! Hurry up and join us! My niece, Kira, has prepared all sorts of delicacies for the family!”

Sebastian joined the rest of the family at the dining table with a deadpan look.

Kira, who couldn't move her eyes away from the man, finally snapped out of bewilderment. She joined the rest at the table with the last dish she made and announced with a courteous grin, "It took a little longer than usual, but here's your favorite dish, Old Mr. Jadeson!"

She showed up next to Jonathan and Sebastian, but she found out the young man couldn't care less about her presence and seemed to have regarded her as just another stranger.

In the end, she returned to her seat next to Jasmine after serving Jonathan his favorite dish.

Shortly after they started savoring their dishes, Jonathan broke the silence and asked, "How are you doing?"

When Tony thought Sebastian would ignore Jonathan again, Sebastian answered, "At least I'm still kicking and alive."

Jonathan and Tony were rendered speechless by the seemingly harsh answer. Similarly, Jasmine brought herself to a halt when she heard Sebastian's answer.

Does he have a death wish or something? No one has ever talked to Dad in such an arrogant manner!

Jonathan resisted the urge to reprimand Sebastian. He surveyed the surroundings and found out Sasha wasn't around. Thus, he asked, "Where's the doctor assigned to take care of you? Why is she nowhere to be seen today?"

Things got increasingly worse as soon as he brought up the presence of Sasha. Sebastian's face scrunched up in irritation within split seconds.

Tony glared at the housemaid, instructing him to answer Jonathan's query on Sebastian's behalf.

As much as the housemaid was afraid of offending Sebastian, she stammered, "D-Dr. West isn't here because Mr. Sebastian has warned her to stay away from the mansion in the future."

The ones at the dining table, including Jonathan, gaped at the truth and looked in Sebastian's direction.

"What's going on? Why have you warned her to stay away from you again? Isn't she Grayson's apprentice? Have you terminated her because of her inferior skills or something?" Jonathan asked rhetorically when he recalled his conversation with Grayson.

Jonathan had made himself clear he would get someone else over to take care of him if Sasha couldn't live up to expectation.

On the other hand, Jasmine was thrilled when she heard the duo's conversation.

Great! I have been waiting for the opportunity to send Kira to take care of him, but I can't think of anything to justify it!

He has just done me a huge favor! If that's the case, I'll introduce Kira to take care of him soon!

"I'm pretty sure they have been hearing things again," Sebastian assured the rest that wasn't the case and that wouldn't be necessary.

Jasmine could barely catch her breath and almost passed out when she heard Sebastian dismissing Jonathan's suggestion.

On the contrary, Jonathan let out a sigh of relief when he found out everything was fine. He continued savoring the dishes in front of him.

Out of the blue, he announced Sebastian's upcoming assignment, "If that's the case, whenever she returns, tell her to hurry up and do something about your condition as soon as possible. Stephen has quite a lot of things on his plate. Once you're feeling well, I want you to join him and help him out."

Sebastian glanced at Jonathan as if he couldn't be bothered at all.

Meanwhile, Jasmine's eyes widened in disbelief when she heard Jonathan's announcement.

Why is he sending Sebastian to help Stephen? Currently, we're the only ones in charge of the corporate and investment subsidiaries of the Jadesons! Is he trying to do Sebastian a favor and allow him to assert influence over the family?

The startled Jasmine clenched her fists with all her might to suppress her frustration. She put on a calm front and asked, "Dad, why are you sending him to help Stephen? I-I'm afraid that isn't very wise of you."

"What do you mean it isn't very wise of me?"

"I-I mean, he's Shin's son! I-Isn't he supposed to join the ranks just like his late father?" Jasmine stammered as a result of Jonathan's harsh question.

"Since when was that a tradition of the family? Aren't you aware of the things he has been up to over the past decade? Have you seen anyone being a match of the almighty Hayes Corporation?" Jonathan remarked sarcastically, indicating he was against the idea of her not acknowledging Sebastian's talent as a corporate player.

Jasmine couldn't think of anything else to change Jonathan's mind when she recalled Sebastian's exceptional achievement in the corporate world. It was merely a piece of cake for him to manage a multinational company with influences all over the world.

In short, it wouldn't be much of a challenge for Sebastian to work wonders with the subsidiaries of the Jadesons.

Jasmine was adversely impacted by the news. She lost the color on her face instantly.

In the end, she strode out of the mansion with Kira next to her. Kira asked, "What's wrong, Aunt Jasmine? Isn't it great to have someone share the burden of Uncle Stephen?"

"It's not just that!" Jasmine got worked up and remarked, "He's Shin's son! Shin has always been Dad's favorite child! I'm afraid it's only a matter of time until he takes over Stephen's position as the person in charge of the company since he's such a capable man!"

Kira couldn't think of anything else to console her upset aunt since she would be in huge trouble if her uncle was no longer in power.

"W-What are we supposed to do then?"

Out of nowhere, Jasmine announced with a vicious smirk, "What else are we supposed to do apart from taking him out? I'm going to ensure he's handicapped for real!"

Kira was horrified by the things Jasmine had brought up. She stuttered, "W-What exactly do you have in mind?"

Gritting her teeth, Jasmine announced, "We'll poison him! Since Dad has grown fond of you, just drop by Oceanic Estate and make him a meal every once in a blue moon whenever he's around! If that's the case, you can easily poison Sebastian!"

Kira's face turned pale when she found out that she was one of her aunt's most important pawns.

Is she seriously doing this to her nephew?

Unwilling to condone her aunt's decision, Kira stuttered, "Y-You-"

"The first thing we need to do is to take out the doctor taking care of her! If she's around to keep him safe, there's no way you can approach him! I want you to get your hands on the doctor's whereabouts within the next two days."

On top of her initial vicious plan, Jasmine had brought up another malicious plan to take out an innocent figure.

Kira was utterly horrified by her aunt. She felt as if Jasmine was no longer the aunt she was familiar with.

Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover Chapter 753

Meanwhile, Sasha finally reached Miralaea at eight o'clock in the morning. However, due to the difference in time zone, it was still late night at Miralaea.

Thus, as soon as she reached Miralaea, she made up her mind to take a short break as she was against the idea of rousing her sons from their sleep.

"Mrs. Hayes, why don't you go ahead and take a shower? Also, aren't you going to do something to touch up your appearance? I'm afraid they're going to..."

The bodyguard of SteelFort knew Sasha was aware of his concern. Thus, he stopped himself from finishing his sentence.

Sasha let out a long sigh and marched in the direction of the washroom to deal with her horrendous look.

As a matter of fact, she couldn't even bear to look at herself in the mirror even when she was alone. She just couldn't accept the fact she was the horrendous woman in the mirror.

After spending a long time touching up her appearance, she finally made her way out of the washroom.

To her surprise, her sons showed up out of nowhere and catapulted in her direction once she walked out of the washroom.

"Mommy!"

They were thrilled by their mother's presence after being apart for such a long time. Similarly, Sasha's eyes welled up at the presence of her affectionate sons.

"I'm here! I'll always be here!" She leaned over and held her sons firmly in her arms to reciprocate the affection she had for them.

It feels great to be home after being apart for almost six months!

She held them in her arms for a few minutes. Shortly after she regained her composure, she looked at them in the eyes and said, "Ian, Matt, I'm so sorry for being away for such a long time! I'm sure both of you are worried about me! Can you please forgive me for not being a responsible mother?"

Matteo had always been a relatively sentimental little boy. He couldn't resist the urge to weep when he saw his mother weeping.

Unable to suppress the emotions he had been keeping to himself, he launched himself in his mother's direction and held her in his arms.

Meanwhile, Ian sniffled and resisted the urge to cry when he heard his mother. He reached over and caressed his mother's cheek with a completely different look.

"We have never thought of holding you accountable, Mommy! Does it hurt?"

"Huh?"

She felt her body stiffening when she heard Ian's question.

Shortly after she regained her composure, she grasped her son's fist and assured him, "It doesn't really hurt, but I'm afraid it's going to startle you and Matt. Therefore, I'm going to keep it to myself until I can do something about it. It's not going to take long, okay?"

"Okay, Mommy."

Ian responded with a nod and assured his mother not to worry about him because there was no way they would leave her just because of her look. After all, she was the one they held dearly in mind.

Sasha brought them to the kitchen and made them something to eat shortly after they regained their composure after being apart for such a long time.

She thought of making full use of her time since she finally had the opportunity to make her way back to them and keep them company.

“Ian, shall we make some calzone?”

“Sure!”

Sasha turned around and asked her younger son, “What about you, Matt? Have you any cravings?”

After she sort out the menu for their breakfast, she saw that her sons had gathered around and started engaging in a conversation in a hushed voice.

“Just you wait and see! I’m sure Mommy is back to teach us a lesson!”

“W-Well, we’re the ones at fault, aren’t we?”

I know we’re the ones at fault, but we’re merely trying to do Daddy and Mommy a favor! Otherwise, we wouldn’t have wasted our time to hack into that old geezer’s system!

Their mother showed no signs of reprimanding them throughout the day. To be precise, Sasha refrained from bringing up the issue she was there for until it was evening.

Shortly after they had their meal in the evening, Sasha asked her sons to gather around in front of her.

She asked with a serious look, "Ian, Matteo, are you aware of the reason I'm back?"

"Yes."

The two little boys' heads drooped over their shoulders again. They knew it was time for them to bear the consequences of their actions.

"No! I don't think any of you are aware of the actual reason I'm back! Are you aware of the things your father and I are going through? Are you aware his life is at stake the very moment I'm away from him?"

Sasha made up her mind to tell her sons the truth.

"What? Why is Daddy's life at stake?"

When the little boys heard their mother, they looked at her in the eyes with fear written all over their faces.

Sasha responded with a nod and added, "We're in quite a tough spot due to several ongoing issues at our ends. Initially, I have stopped Karl from sharing the details with both of you, but I think it's time to stop keeping both of you in the dark for the sake of everyone's safety."

Sasha shared the ongoing incidents with her sons without holding back and ensured they were on the same page.

“M-Mommy, are you serious?” Matteo asked with an apologetic look. The little boy seemed as if he was about to have another emotional breakdown.

It was pretty much the same for Ian, but he chose to keep his emotions to himself, grasping the toy he had with him with all his might to stop himself from weeping.

Sasha was equally heartbroken because of her sons’ response. In the end, she urged, “I’m being pretty serious, but things have not come to the worst. I’ll definitely try my best to save your father! In other words, both of you need to stop trying anything rash without my consent. Am I clear?”

“Alright, Mommy! We won’t do anything rash again!”

“Yes, Mommy!”

Her sons responded with a nod and promised to mind their behaviors since they had finally figured out the challenges awaiting their family.

Thrilled by her sons’ response, Sasha held them in her arms and spent the night with them to cherish their moments together since she had to return to Jadeborough soon.

She was still clueless about the things in store for her, including the foes trying to take her out.

Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover Chapter 754

Has she always been such an obedient woman? Since when has she ever listened to my instruction apart from this one?

"Mr. Sebastian, it's time to take your medicines. We have everything ready according to Dr. West's prescription."

"No!" he repeated himself with a frown and made his way upstairs.

None of the housemaids had the guts to defy him after being on pins and needles over the past few days in fear of offending the grumpy man.

They thought Sasha would return soon, but she was nowhere to be seen again. Hence, things got increasingly intense as compared to the day before for those in Oceanic Estate.

"Mr. Sebastian, are you going for another physio session in the garden today?"

"Of course!" he deadpanned his reply, confusing the rest of the housemaids. As much as they wished to figure out the things he had in mind to stop getting on his nerves.

As much as they wished to figure out the things he had in mind to stop getting on his nerves, they couldn't because the man was a tough nut to crack.

Several housemaids brought him to the garden and stood aside, awaiting the man's instructions.

When he tried to bring himself up and tiptoe his way to the pavilion, he groaned in pain and took the housemaids by surprise.

"Mr. Sebastian, are you okay? Have you hurt yourself?"

All hell broke loose in the garden as the housemaids weren't sure of the things to do.

One of them thought of getting in touch with the doctor. Thus, she rushed in the direction of the living room and announced, "Mr. Sebastian, I'll go get Dr. West over at once!"

"She's right! We'll get Dr. West over to check on you immediately!"

The rest of the housemaids thought it was a brilliant idea. Thus, they sent someone to make the call.

Unfortunately, they couldn't reach Sasha since she had switched off her phone. To be precise, she was forced to switch off her phone since she was several thousand feet above the air in a plane.

Nonetheless, there was no way the housemaids were aware of Sasha's whereabouts. Unable to reach Sasha, they started exchanging glances with their faces puckered in fear.

In the end, the disappointed bunch returned to Sebastian. “M-Mr. Sebastian, Dr. West seemed to have switched off her phone. W-What are we supposed to do?”

Crack!

A sentence was all it took to trigger the frustrated man into cracking the branch of the tree, startling the already intimidated housemaids around him.

“Can’t you guys even take care of Mr. Sebastian? If you guys can’t reach Dr. West, just get in touch with Old Mr. Jadeson! He’s going to decide on the next best course of action!”

“O-Oh! Old Mr. Jadeson!”

The housemaids finally returned to their senses and thought of getting in touch with Jonathan as instructed.

It was then Sebastian started emanating an intimidating presence. He yelled, “Does it look like I’m about to die or something? Just stay away from me and get out of my sight!”

The housemaids knew it was time for them to leave Sebastian alone. Thus, they sprinted in different directions and returned to their respective positions.

On the other hand, the man continued taking things out on the tree, crushing the tree branches in an attempt to stop himself from getting worked up.

Standing in the middle of nowhere, the man seemed as if he had been possessed by some sort of evil spirit.

On the other hand, Karl, who had been keeping Vivian company at Sasha's apartment, wasn't particularly anxious since he was aware of Sasha's schedule.

"Vivian, are you hungry? If you're hungry, I'll head out and get you something to eat!"

The obedient little girl was in the middle of a virtual lesson with her teacher. When she heard Karl, she nodded and said, "Okay!"

They were required to attend school on a daily basis ever since they moved to Miralaea. Although Vivian was abroad, her teacher insisted on guiding her through several online lessons throughout the day.

A few minutes later, Karl brought himself downstairs to get Vivian something to eat since the little girl was still in the middle of a class.

The buzzing phone in the living room took the little girl by surprise and distracted her when she was in the middle of a lesson.

She put everything aside when the thought of her mother calling crossed her mind.

Subsequently, she walked in the direction of the phone with her eyes gleaming in excitement.

Once she picked it up, she asked, "Hello? Who is this?"

The man on the other end paused for a few seconds when he heard the little girl's mellifluous voice. It took him a few seconds to snap out of confusion. He asked, "Where's your mother?"

The little girl was thrilled when she found out her father was on the other end of the call. “Da—U-Uncle Sebastian! Why have you called? Are you missing me?”

It had been quite a few days since she last met him in person. Thus, she could barely suppress the urge to meet him.

Sebastian, who was engulfed by wrath, couldn’t bring himself to take things out on a little girl. He asked, “W-What are you doing? I-Is your mother home?”

“Mommy?” Vivian repeated his father’s question and recalled her mother warning her not to tell others she was away to visit her brothers.

She thought her mother might not want her father to figure out her current whereabouts. Subsequently, she made something up and said, “She’s currently working! What about you? Where are you, Uncle Sebastian?”

“She’s working?” Sebastian repeated after the little girl, “Is your mother currently working?”

Vivian couldn't read the mood and failed to notice that her father on the other end of the call was enraged. She announced with her chest held high, "Yes! She's currently working while I'm trying to finish my homework at home!"

Sebastian was dumbfounded and thought of something else that would require his attention. He asked, "A-Are you currently home alone?"

"Yes!"

He got increasingly frustrated when he thought something bad might happen to the little girl.

Gritting his teeth, he asked in a final attempt to ensure he hadn't been hearing things, "Has your mother left you home without others' supervision and made her way out for work?"

Vivian was at a loss for words when she heard her father raising his volume against her.

What's wrong with Daddy? I'm not really home alone since Mr. Frost is around to keep me company, but I'm not allowed to tell Daddy the truth!

Sebastian couldn't take it anymore. He urged, "I'll be there in a short while! Just stay put until I'm there!"

Half an hour later, when Karl returned with Vivian's favorite food, he noticed the presence of a Maybach in front of the entrance to their apartment.

"Mr. Sebastian, we have reached the destination."

"Hurry up and help me out!"

When Karl caught a glimpse of the man being wheeled into the apartment, he thought he had been seeing things.

What the heck? What's Mr. Hayes doing here?

His heart skipped a beat, but when he was about to rush in the direction of Sebastian, he brought himself to a halt as he wasn't supposed to expose himself just yet.

In the end, he ended up waiting in the street opposite the car for about ten minutes. A short while later, the man returned with a little girl in his arms.

V-Vivian?

Karl gasped in fear, but the little girl was on cloud nine.

"Uncle Sebastian, are you really taking me to your place? I won't cause you any trouble if you're really taking me to your place! I'll be mindful of my behaviors and take good care of myself!"

The little girl snuggled against the man in his arms and looked at him with her pair of glistening eyes.

As a result of the little girl's aggrieved look, Sebastian was overwhelmed by a sense of melancholia, but he couldn't be sure of the reason behind it.

He thought it might have something to do with the little girl's overly independent nature when someone of her age was supposed to be having all the fun in the world.

As heartbroken as he might be, he felt a sense of guilt and assured the little girl, caressing her head with a gentle smile, "You don't have to worry about causing me any trouble. I'll definitely take good care of you."

Vivian was thrilled and it was written all over her chubby little face. She wrapped her chubby arms around her father's neck, indicating she wouldn't let go of him when she could finally make her way to her father's place.

It was already evening by the time Sasha returned to Jadeborough.

She couldn't stand leaving her daughter and her husband for such a long time. Thus, she hailed a cab the moment she walked out of the arrival hall.

"Sir, can you take me to the central business district?"

"Sure!" Shortly after he took note of her destination, the driver accelerated the cab and departed.

Meanwhile, Sasha made a call the moment she retrieved her phone and switched it on.

As soon as Karl picked up the phone, he gasped out the bad news awaiting them, "Oh, God! Mrs. Hayes, you're finally back! Mr. Hayes has just shown up and took Vivian away with him!"

W-What? Why has he shown up at the apartment to bring Vivian away with him?

Colors drained from Sasha's face. Grasping the phone, she asked, "Why has he shown up to bring Vivian away with him? What's going on? How has he figured out the address of our current apartment? Has he seen you?"

She bombarded the man on the other end of the phone with a series of questions since she had to ensure Sebastian had not come in touch with Karl.

Karl assured Sasha when he heard her questions, "You need to calm down, Mrs. Hayes! He hasn't seen me, but I'm afraid you need to make a trip to Oceanic Estate to check on Vivian!"

"Alright, I'll make my way there at once!"

Shortly after she hung up the car, she urged the driver to hurry up as she was in a hurry.

Why on earth has he shown up to take Vivian away with him? Is he or is he not aware she's our daughter? If he takes her away with him, is he going to put her life at stake? Urgh! This is killing me!
