This Time, I Will Get My Divorce, Mr Chapter 41 - 45

“Who the hell knows?” Sonia mumbled in a garbled tone.

Toby did not expect to hear these four words from her, which was why a look of surprise flitted across his eyes.

However, when he saw her reddened cheeks and her unfocused gaze, he quickly frowned and removed his tie from her hands. “You’re drunk, Sonia.”

“No, I’m very much awake!” she mumbled and grabbed his tie again. “You look like my ex-husband. Looks like you are up to no good as well!”

He was speechless upon hearing that.

Toby’s face immediately darkened as his voice became a lot more colder. “Cannot do what?”

“There,” Sonia mumbled as she pointed at his crotch. “We were married for six years, yet he has never kissed me. He never even touched such a pretty girl like me. Doesn’t that prove that he can’t do it?”

Toby was so furious that he laughed.

It was her suggestion to get married and divorced. Unbeknownst to him, she had labeled him this way in her thoughts.

She turned around and walked away while swaying. “In the future, I want to look for a man who can do it...”

Upon hearing her words, Toby’s face darkened. He quickly walked toward her and swept her off her feet. While holding her in his arms, he walked directly into the elevator and lowered his face to coldly look at her. “Sonia, you will pay a price for your words.”

After Toby had sent Tina home, she chatted with Melody and a few of her own friends on Messenger to be closer to them.

Seeing that it was getting quite late, she assumed that he had finished his work and she sent him three consecutive messages, but he did not reply to her even after a few minutes.

Just as Tina was about to video call him, she received another message.

When she learned that Sonia was also celebrating Charles’ birthday in Luna Club, Tina was worried that Toby would be in the same area as Sonia. Hence, Tina had asked Cynthia to keep an eye on him for her.

Cynthia texted, ‘OMG! Sonia is so shameless! Why doesn’t she just go to hell?’

Tina felt an ominous feeling within her and she quickly asked, ‘What have you seen? Is Toby with her?’

Cynthia replied, 'Tina, you must be strong... I saw Sonia kissing him first. Then, he brought her upstairs. After looking around the staircase, I quietly followed them and realized they entered a room for a long time without exiting...'

They entered a room for a long time without exiting.

When Tina saw this sentence, she had bitten her lips so harshly that her lower lip started to bleed. The gentle expression on her face slowly became distorted as she lost control of her emotions. I hate Sonia so much that I want to tear her into pieces!

She was the one who replaced Sonia as Maple to meet Toby eight years ago. So what if I've done that? It's her fault anyway! She only treats him as a pen pal and refuses to understand him even more! So, I'm the one who met Toby and fell for him first. He's mine!

Cynthia sent her another message. 'I bet President Fuller is being seduced by that b*tch Sonia and he lost his rationale at that moment. I'll knock on the door to wake him to his senses now.'

However, Tina rejected her approach. 'No. If you do that, Toby will know that you are following him. I just care about him too much, so I don't want you to be involved in this matter. You are innocent.'

Cynthia responded, 'It's Sonia's fault, yet you always have to tolerate her. Oh, Tina, you are so kind that I feel sorry for you!'

Tina replied, 'It's alright. I believe in Toby and I'll wait for his explanation once he arrives home. Thanks for everything tonight. You can go back and rest now. And also, apart from the both of us, I don't want anyone else to hear about this, okay?'

With that, she transferred 200 thousand to Cynthia.

After Cynthia received the money, she quickly acknowledged, 'Oh, you don't have to be so polite. We are good friends after all. I'll just pretend that I was drunk tonight and hadn't seen anything.'

When she heard Cynthia's promise, Tina exited the application and called a number with a dark expression on her face.

"Miss Gray," the voice on the other end answered.

"Have you gotten the thing in the room?" she immediately asked in a gentle voice, but the expression on her face was so distorted that she looked terrifying.

"I have it. It's pretty exciting, but the money—"

"Money is not a problem. Play some parts for me to hear first."

Tina soon received an audio file. After quietly listening to the recording, her distorted expression had calmed down quite a lot. She was sending a text message as she walked out of the room.

As soon as she had sent out the message, she stood on the edge of the staircase.

The carpeted staircase was quite pleasant to the eyes, but fear rose within her when she saw its height. I've just woken up. Is it worth it to enter the hospital again?

However, as soon as she remembered Cynthia's message, she recollected that Toby was in a room with Sonia at the club. While looking at the stairs below her, Tina's determination was reflected in her eyes.

Tina slowly raised her foot and stumbled on the first stair. Then, she rolled down the staircase.

A maid was about to send some desserts to Julia, but moments after arriving on the second floor, the maid was so shocked to find Tina covered in blood that she threw the tray aside.

"Miss Gray!"

The location was in a room on the second floor of Luna Club.

Half an hour later, Sonia curled up on the bed with her fair back exposed, revealing many dark hickeys on it.

Toby forcefully restrained the desire within him and tightened his tie as he turned around to take a cigarette from the night stand and light it up.

He knew that he was usually well in control of his emotions, but she could easily trigger his desire each time. It happened on the day of the divorce, and now...

It was at this moment when the phone on the nightstand lit up.

Toby took it and he saw that the call was from the Gray Family, so he answered, "What's going on?"

“Where are you, President Fuller?” the maid from the Gray Family asked frantically. “M-Miss Gray accidentally fell from the staircase and she’s being sent to the emergency room now! Mrs. Gray cried so much that she almost fainted. Please come to the hospital now!”

Shock flitted across his eyes before he responded in a low voice, “Don’t panic. Keep Mrs. Gray company. I’ll arrive at the hospital in 15 minutes.”

After he hung up, he quickly wore his clothes.

He stretched out with his hand after he shot a glance at Sonia, who was still fast asleep. Just as he was about to caress her face, he retracted his hand and instead turned around to take pen and paper from the nightstand and wrote a series of numbers on it.

Sonia had deleted all the ways of contacting him after the divorce.

This was his private number with very few friends and he had never even added her to this number.

As soon as Toby entered the elevator, another elevator immediately opened before a tall figure emerged.

The man wore a cap and a face mask that completely shielded his face. Then, he looked through all the room numbers in front of him.

His gaze soon fell on the room that Toby had just exited before he swiped the access card on the magnetic door lock. Then, the man opened the door and walked into the room.

Chapter 42

Due to the aftermath of her binge drinking, Sonia woke up in the morning with a slight headache and massaged her temples while leaning against the headboard. As she did so, her blanket slid off her body and she could feel the cold air on her skin. She lowered her head and realized that she was merely clad in a camisole. What's going on?!

She was about to fling the blanket off her to get off from bed when she caught sight of a man next to her pillow from the corner of her eyes; he was currently topless and sound asleep. The hair on his forehead was slightly tousled and he had handsome facial features. At that moment, her eyes widened in disbelief to the point where she was completely speechless. She had recalled that she was drinking excessively the previous night to the point where she was tipsy, but she somehow remembered hearing Toby's inaudible voice in the background. Did I simply grab a guy off the streets and sleep with him after being so triggered last night?

As soon as she realized that she'd slept with a random guy, she couldn't even bear to cast another look at the guy next to her. Then, she collected her clothes from the chair and dressed up. She was just about to get some money from her purse when she realized that her bag was nowhere to be found despite her searching high and low for it.

Sonia grabbed hold of a notepad and was about to leave her phone number on it when she realized that there was already a string of numbers on it. Perhaps that guy must have left his number because he was worried that I would flee the scene if I woke up earlier. Subsequently, she tore off that particular piece of paper on the notepad and left in a hurry.

About half an hour later, Sonia caught a cab to work after she freshened up with a shower at home. However, she still hadn't fully regained her composure as she was experiencing the shocking after-effects from her fling last night.

"President Reed's here!"

Sonia had just alighted from the cab and she didn't even manage to steady herself when a bunch of reporters rushed toward her from all corners to surround her. There were multiple flashes of light directed at her face.

"President Reed, who's the man in the audio recording?"

"That voice doesn't sound like that model, Carl! Could you provide an explanation?!"

"President Reed, are you here to work at Paradigm Co. or to exploit your identity as the vice-president to pursue other guys?!"

Sonia was speechless as the stinging questions from the reporters were aimed at her like repeated explosions.

Although she was unaware of the audio recording that the reporters referred to, she quickly regained full composure and hid every sign of abnormality from them. At the same time, she shoved her way through the crowd in an attempt to leave the place.

"Excuse me, please give way."

"President Reed, why are you evading our questions? Do you have a guilty conscience?" One of the reporters interrogated, "It's been speculated that you and President Fuller had a divorce because of the indiscretions of your private life."

“GAY”

It was after a moment of silence that Charles forced his way through the crowd and wrapped his arms around Sonia in a protective stance before he rebuked, “You mentioned that it’s a speculation, so how can that be true?! I’ve heard rumors that you prefer the same gender, is that so?!”

Upon hearing Charles’ rebuttal, the reporter’s face turned ashen.

Meanwhile, Charles rolled his eyes at them before he pushed aside all the microphones thrust in front of him while replying, “That male voice in the recording was mine. If you don’t believe my words, feel free to get a comparison done on my voice to determine the truth.”

“Sonia is my girlfriend and we’re currently in a relationship; she wanted to keep a low profile and refused to reveal our relationship in public. As for your mention of her being in a relationship with Carl, that’s utter rubbish! We’re close friends with Carl, so what’s wrong with having a dinner date with a friend?!”

“Furthermore, my girlfriend and President Fuller have amicably ended their marriage. As for infidelity...” Charles snorted with laughter. “Why don’t you guys ask President Fuller what he means by showing so much concern to another woman at the hospital every single day before he is legally married to her?”

“Well, that’s all. I’ve said everything I have to say, so please leave!” He shoved the reporters aside and pushed his way out of the circle.

“My girlfriend is quite timid, so don’t frighten her! You won’t be able to get any sensational news from her. I heard that President Fuller is about to remarry, so perhaps you guys should pursue that news instead. It should be easier to get your monetary reward from there.”

Meanwhile, Sonia remained silent.

Charles shoved and kicked the reporters with his limbs. Soon, he managed to break free from the crowd with her in tow before they entered Paradigm Co.

Sonia turned around to glance at the reporters still waiting outside and she flashed a thumbs-up at him. “That was such a great job there! You’ve proved your worth today and all the meals you have had at my house since you were young were not in vain after all.” After the divorce, I would have been in deep trouble if it hadn’t been for Charles’ help.

“We’ve been buddies for twenty years. Don’t tell me this is the first time you have realized my capabilities?!” Charles snorted as he steered her toward the elevator with his arms around her. After pressing the button to the intended floor, he regarded her from top to bottom intently. “You didn’t come home after leaving last night. Where did you go without even bringing your bag?” He interrogated, “Did you go out and have a fling with some random stranger?”

It was only after hearing his words that she recalled the shock from this morning’s scene and she suddenly had a guilty conscience.

“I was feeling unwell last night, but I noticed that you guys were having fun so I left earlier without disrupting you guys.” Sonia lied without a change in demeanor and changed the topic soon after that. “What did the reporters mean by an audio recording?”

Charles furrowed his brow as he took out his cell phone while scolding under his breath, “Someone installed this in the room last night.” Then, he clicked on the recording and played it for her.

The audio recording was taken in the room last night during the moment when he had teasingly provoked Sonia. In the end, she had ended up explaining the situation to Rebecca, but some parts of the recording had been intentionally edited to include explicit noises of men and women. It would have elicited a strong response in those who heard the recording.

“That person is rather dedicated to ruining my reputation by going through so much effort to edit the recording!” Sonia sneered. “Can you figure out who the culprit is by going through the security cameras?”

“I can’t seem to figure that out. It’s arduous.” Charles shook his head with a sigh. “There were a few waiters who entered the room last night, but I don’t know which one of them made the move. I’ve interrogated each of them with no conclusive outcome from that.”

Sonia was well aware of the complexity of the situation and her face subsequently turned quite solemn. However, she had a clear suspect in mind as to who the mastermind of this situation was—Tina.

Sonia had recently undergone the divorce proceedings with Toby. Moreover, she didn’t have that many acquaintances in her current social circle and she couldn’t recall offending anyone at all.

Tina was the only one who seemed to be at odds with her. Besides, Charles had also rudely humiliated Tina in the room last night, which gave Tina the motive to take revenge against her. However, there was no concrete evidence to prove that Tina was the one behind all this.

While Sonia was lost in her thoughts, he kept a close eye on her and didn’t miss the look on her face. He shrewdly sensed that something was wrong. “Be honest: did you have a casual fling last night?!”

“I told you I didn’t!” She rolled her eyes at him and tried hard to keep calm. “I wouldn’t be able to find someone as handsome as you anyway!”

Charles was momentarily stunned by her words. Then, he studied her from top to bottom while stroking his chin and clicking his tongue. “I’m quite keen to provide you comfort with my flesh but then again, Sonia, you’re emaciated and just not my type. I prefer someone more voluptuous with huge breasts and a perky butt.”

Meanwhile, Sonia was completely at a loss for words.

She strode out immediately as soon as the elevator doors opened. “Go back to your office if you have nothing else to do! I don’t need your help!”

“Babe, you’re so heartless.” He trailed after her and wrapped his arms around her shoulders.

“If it wasn’t for me earlier, you would have been thrown off your feet by the questions from the reporters! Now that you have no use for me, are you just going to discard me like that?! You’re my girlfriend! Even if there was a crisis at my office, you would still take priority over that!”

Daphne had just placed some documents in Sonia’s office and she walked out in time to catch Charles’ words. Upon noticing his arms around Sonia, a shocked Daphne almost fell into speechlessness when she saw his affectionate manner toward Sonia. “President Reed, the two of you... Are the two of you in a relationship?”

“I have announced it in front of the press, so it’s definitely true!” Charles raised his eyebrow. “I’ll bring some candy over tomorrow to celebrate the good news while sharing it with you too, Daphne.”

“Umm, sure...”

As Charles had always been behaving like he was joking, Sonia was used to it. She pushed his hands away in response and impassively strode into her office.

“Get us a pot of tea and a cup of coffee with no sugar, please.” He followed her into her office after instructing Daphne. “Babe, once you’re done with your work, can we talk about the takeover of Continental Co.? I have just conducted an investigation on the company this morning...”

Meanwhile, Daphne kept her eyes on Charles as he walked into the office and she saw the door shut behind him shortly after he entered. His voice was no longer audible due to the closed door. At that moment, she tightened her grip on the documents in her hands while she had a forlorn expression on her face.

Sonia’s mind was still in a state of mess from last night’s fling. She just couldn’t focus on her work while his words went above her head. In the end, she was so annoyed by his chatter that she kicked him out of her office.

It was only at noon that she was able to finally calm down. I’m divorced from Toby, which means I’m currently single. Even if I have a casual fling with a random stranger, it’s not a big deal! The only thing that stumped her was that her tolerance to alcohol was quite good but oddly enough, that wasn’t the case last night. I threw up in the bathroom last night while being fully conscious, so how did I end up in a drunken state?! Furthermore, she couldn’t even recall how she met that man and subsequently made her way into his room.

Sonia suddenly realized that she had torn off that piece of paper on the notepad with his phone number earlier this morning. She subsequently took it out of the pocket of her jacket and searched for his phone number on Messenger.

The other party soon approved her friend request. She immediately flicked a message to him without even waiting for him to initiate the conversation.

Sonia: 'We're both adults, so last night was just a fun thing for us. Let's forget about it. That would be best for the both of us.'

Sonia: 'Successful transfer of 88888.'

Toby was busy taking care of Tina in the hospital at that moment. Upon hearing the news of her being rushed to the emergency room last night, he was engulfed with worry. He arrived at the hospital only to be told that she was fine and had merely injured her forehead with a slight fracture on both of her legs, so she had to be hospitalized for a short period of time.

Tina soon regained consciousness. At that moment, her eyes were rimmed red as she held his hands before she sobbed, "Toby, I'm scared. Can you stay with me?"

Toby couldn't bear to say no to her, so he arranged for Tom to send Julia home while he himself stayed with Tina. He noticed that Tina's face still remained deathly pale in the morning, so he had no choice but to instruct Tom to bring him a laptop. By doing so, he could accompany her while dealing with work in the ward.

It was in the middle of the afternoon when Toby's phone had suddenly vibrated to indicate a notification on his Messenger. He tapped into the app and realized that it was a notification for his private number, so he deduced that it was Sonia who'd added him as a friend before he switched accounts to have a look. He had only just approved her friend request and was considering how to bring up last night's incident when he received her message followed by a transfer of funds.

Toby stared at her message and his brows gradually furrowed while his expression darkened. This woman...

All of a sudden, there was a piece of news that popped up on the front of his screen. As he noticed that the news referred to Sonia, he subconsciously clicked on it to see Charles with his arms around her as he cleared the air about the rumors of Sonia and Carl to the members of the press. After that, Charles overtly announced his relationship with her and he even managed to throw in a snide remark about Toby at the same time.

This piece of news combined with Sonia's drunken words from last night made Toby feel rather frustrated and annoyed.

At this moment, Tina was in good spirits as she had finished her video call with Julia. She was just about to ask Toby what was for lunch when she noticed that he was in a foul mood; his expression was as dark as a thundercloud. She instinctively clutched at her blanket. Could it be because of Sonia?

"Toby," Tina called out to him softly. "I noticed that you've been staring intently at your phone. Are you quite busy? Why don't you head back to work at the office? I'm fine by myself."

Toby peeled his eyes off from his phone upon hearing that. "I'm not busy. I'll keep you company here today."

"Okay." Tina smiled. "What would you like to have for lunch?" Then, she took the initiative to order food and unlocked her phone to do that. At that moment, she accidentally clicked into the news app on her phone before she glanced at the current news. She exclaimed in shock, "Toby, have you seen the news? Miss Reed is in a relationship with Charles!"

"Yeah, I just saw that news pop up on my feed."

"I previously felt sorry toward Miss Reed when she insisted on getting a divorce, but my heart's now at peace," she mentioned. "She has finally found her own happiness and maybe her wedding might be held before ours."

Meanwhile, Toby's expression darkened even further as he was at a loss for words. Suddenly, he responded, "Charles isn't a good match for her."

Tina was momentarily stunned, but she soon smiled and replied, "How is that so? They grew up together. Besides, his mom has always treated Sonia as her daughter-in-law. Charles had previously mentioned to his bunch of friends that he was just waiting for Sonia to agree. Even if she decided to get married on a whim, he would be there waiting to take her as his wife."

"Toby, are you feeling upset that Miss Reed has entered into another relationship?" she questioned gingerly, her pale complexion making her look weak and pitiful.

"No," Toby denied. Whether Charles suits her or not is none of my concern. Ever since she sent that message asking me to forget about last night with no obligation on my part to be responsible, then there's no need for me to care about this.

He made his way to her bedside and ruffled Tina's hair with his hand. Then, he spoke with a low voice, "Charles is known to be a flirt. That was just my casual comment. I married Sonia because of you, so I have no feelings for her. You're the only woman whom I'm concerned about and appreciate."

Toby leaned forward to kiss her on the forehead. "Darling, rest well. I'm sure you wouldn't want to attend our engagement ceremony in a wheelchair, right?"

Upon hearing that, Tina shook her head and muttered, "Of course not! That would be mortifying. I think I should skip lunch. I'm worried that I won't be able to fit into any gown if I continue to maintain this sedentary lifestyle. What do you want to have for lunch? I'll order some food for you."

Meanwhile, he tapped on his phone and swiftly ordered some lunch. "You shouldn't skip your meals. I've ordered all of your favorites."

"Toby, you must be intentionally trying to fatten me up so that I'll be ugly." Tina pummeled him lightly with her fists and her tone of voice was evidently quite coquettish. At this moment, she leaned against Toby's chest and felt rather content in his arms.

Actually, she'd woken up in the middle of the night when he was sound asleep. She had attempted to receive the photos from the other party and leak them to the press, but the opposite happened. Not only did the other party refuse to send the photos, the said person even refunded the money to her. Fortunately, the other audio recording had caused a stir in Sonia's life and Tina realized that she owed her gratitude to Charles as well.

"Let's have a look at what you ordered." Tina was in good spirits and she took hold of Toby's phone. However, when she saw the dishes that he ordered, her smile froze on her face. All these aren't my favorite food...

“You must be surprised, huh?” Toby smiled. “You were unconscious for many years, but you mentioned all of your favorite items and food in our exchange of letters. That’s why I remembered everything. I know you love mangoes, so I ordered a mango pie too.”

Those letters were burnt to a crisp, so why is he still obsessed with the contents of them and mindful of his penpal?! She tried hard to suppress her jealousy as she wrapped her arms around him while mentioning in a gentle voice, “Toby, it’s quite normal for one’s taste and preference to change. From now on, you should just take note of the food I currently enjoy, alright?”

Without a second thought, Toby grunted his approval. Tina was quite content with his response. At the same time, she lifted her head to stare at his lips. Suddenly, she reached out to hug him and pulled him toward her as she attempted to kiss him on the lips.

This Time, I Will Get My Divorce, Mr Chapter 44

Toby slightly moved aside on instinct.

At this moment, the door to the hospital room was pushed open from outside before Jean made her way into the room with a Thermos flask in her hands. She was caught by surprise by the scene in front of her but soon beamed at the lovebirds. “Oh, it looks like I’ve come in at the wrong time. I’m sorry for interrupting. Should I go and wait outside for a moment?” She made a gesture to exit and retreated a few steps.

Meanwhile, Tina's face flushed red in response to Jean's words and she quickly released him from her embrace. "You didn't interrupt anything, Madam White. Come on in!"

"That's good then. I wouldn't want to intrude." Jean carried the flask into the room. "I spoke to your mom on the phone this morning and only found out that you took a fall last night. So, I immediately made you some soup before coming for a visit."

She then knowingly glanced at Toby. "No wonder there was no news from Toby last night despite him staying out all night long. It was because he was here taking care of you."

Tina suddenly recalled the text messages sent by Cynthia last night and she couldn't help feeling a burst of anger. However, Tina managed to hide her emotions well before she gently replied, "Madam White, don't blame Toby for it. I was quite scared, so I asked him to stay here and take care of me."

"It's fine. That's his duty!" Meanwhile, Jean asked in concern, "Where did you hurt yourself? Does it still hurt?"

"My legs are sore, but the doctor mentioned that it's fine."

"Hey, you should be more careful next time. Here, try some of this soup. This is quite nutritious and it's also good for your complexion." Jean poured out the soup from the flask and served it to Tina.

Tina accepted it with a smile. "Thanks, Madam White!"

"If you really want to express your gratitude, why don't you try harder and produce a grandchild for me as soon as possible?" Upon saying that, Jean winked at Tina.

“Madam White...” Tina lowered her head out while feeling bashful and her face flushed bright red.

Not only was she attractive with a soft, gentle voice, but the main point was that her family background was similarly as strong as the Fullers. Therefore, the unification of their families would bring endless benefits for everyone.

Jean was rather keen for Tina to marry Toby as soon as possible since she was quite pleased with such a soft-spoken and wealthy prospective daughter-in-law.

“I’ve been quite taken with you ever since we first met. You have such an irresistible personality!” At the same time, Jean sneered as she brought up Sonia. “You’re the complete opposite of Sonia! She was married to Toby for six years, but no one likes her.”

“I read about her messy dalliances on the news earlier this morning! Gosh! Her dad’s quite a character and now, she’s behaving quite badly. Do you know that she actually recorded a video clip to defame me? If it wasn’t for us taking her in for all these years, perhaps she would be living a life worse than a pauper! Charles doesn’t have a good character, but he’s intelligent at running a business. I really can’t comprehend how Sonia had caught his eyes. If I was his mom, I wouldn’t accept such a daughter-in-law at all!”

Toby stood in silence by Tina’s bedside and listened as Jean had her say. Meanwhile, his brows were furrowed and he felt quite uncomfortable.

Indeed, the Reeds had lost their company, but ever since their marriage, Sonia had never requested anything from him. She had been the perfect, dutiful wife for the past six years in the Fuller Family. According to their helper, Sonia had always gone along with Jean’s words and never spoke back to Jean.

It was Jean who went to create a big fuss at Paradigm Co., but someone who worked there had filmed the scene on video. Although Toby managed to resolve the incident by suppressing the incident, Jean had taken offense and blamed Sonia instead.

What sort of life did she have while living with Mom at home for those six years?! He felt a dull ache in his heart upon realizing that.

“Mom, Sonia and I are divorced. There’s no point bringing her up.” An annoyed Toby interrupted Jean’s incessant chatter. He grabbed his jacket on the chair and added with a cold look, “Since you have so much spare time, why don’t you stay back and accompany Tina? I’ve to attend to work, so I’ll head back to handle them at the office.”

“Okay, fine. Go ahead.” Upon hearing his words, Jean immediately fell silent and didn’t dare to continue her chatter.

Meanwhile, Tina answered in a gentle manner, “Toby, be careful while you’re driving.”

“Sure.”

As she watched Toby walking out of the room, the smile on her face gradually disappeared bit by bit.

It was only at around 3:00PM that Sonia finally received the other party’s reply of ‘okay’ after he accepted her payment.

She couldn’t seem to recall how she had hooked up with that guy, but it seemed like he wasn’t the type to persistently disturb someone. In fact, he resembled more of an aloof person. That's great. I can relax. However, there was one more thing that had aroused her suspicion, so she found Zane's number on her contact list and dialed it after some deliberation.

He soon answered with a lazy tone, "President Reed, what can I do for you?"

"I know that you're one of the bosses of Luna Club, so I need a small favor from you." Sonia tried to recall the bits and pieces that she remembered and mentioned, "Last night, I left the room to throw up in the bathroom and there was a waiter who handed me a bottle of water as he walked past me at the walkway."

"Huh?" Zane raised his voice. "President Reed, what do you mean by that?"

"After I drank that bottle of water, I don't seem to have much recollection of what happened next." She continued, "I know my own alcohol tolerance. Besides, I threw up in the bathroom before that. How could it be possible for me to completely lose consciousness? I suspect that the bottle of water was spiked."

"What?!" He raised his brows and felt that things had taken an interesting twist.

Toby had just messaged Zane five minutes ago and it was only then that he was made aware of what transpired between Toby and Sonia on the upper floor of the club last night. Furthermore, Zane had used that period of time to delete all the security footage. And now, she came to him about the same thing. Don't tell me Toby went to extreme measures to win back his ex-wife and placed something into the water?! Did he direct this scene to save a damsel in distress?!

Meanwhile, Sonia was quite perplexed. "Why did you suddenly exclaim?!"

“It’s just that I didn’t expect you would suspect someone of bribing the waiter.” Zane smiled before he continued, “There are security cameras all over the place and our wait staff have undergone stringent background checks before being offered a position.”

“Please just ask that waiter and let me know if you have any news.” Sonia warned him to prevent him from being nosy, “Don’t ask too many questions about what you’re not supposed to know!” She hung up the phone immediately after saying that.

After work, she drove back home to Bayside Residence. As soon as she stepped out of the elevator, she immediately noticed a youth, who was clad in school uniform, sitting cross-legged in front of her doorsteps before her brows tightened. Why is this brat here again?!

Tyler heard the footsteps and he lifted his head to glance at her before hurriedly getting up from the ground. Then, he complained, “What time do you finish work?! It’s already so late. I’ve been sitting in front of your doorstep for almost half an hour!”

This Time, I Will Get My Divorce, Mr Chapter 45

“Don’t you have a home to return to?” Sonia scanned his face and noticed that his right cheek was swollen. He must have gotten into a fight again. “Are you seeking solace here after getting into a fight?”

“You’re my sister-in-law.”

“Former sister-in-law.”

“Well, even if you’re divorced, you’re still my sister-in-law!” Tyler stubbornly insisted, “Hurry up and open the door. Then, make me something to eat. I’m hungry!”

“Gosh, why don’t you keep your mouth shut?” She opened the door and dragged him into the house by keeping a tight grip on his collar. Then, she took out the first aid box and applied antiseptic on his reddened and swollen cheek. After she’d dressed his wound, she took some ingredients from the fridge to cook dinner on the stove for the two of them. In the end, she had whipped up two main dishes and a soup.

While Tyler ate his dinner, Sonia asked, “Did you get hurt by saving a damsel in distress?”

“No.” He took a bite of his food before he replied in a muffled voice, “My mom slapped me.”

Sonia was stunned by his answer. Throughout her six years with the Fuller Family, she evidently saw how Jean had doted on Tyler and accommodated each one of his whims. All this while, Jean had always referred to him as her baby and never spoke to him with a harsh tone. Besides, Sonia had never seen Jean lay a finger on him at all.

After Sonia ate a slice of apple, she asked again, “I thought your mom dotes on you. Why did she slap you?”

Tyler frowned in response. “She told me not to go out and have fun all the time. She wanted me to learn from Toby and to work at the Fuller Group soon, but I’m not interested in running the company. I like playing basketball! What’s wrong with that anyway?! I ended up having a row with her and she slapped me in anger.”

As Sonia could imagine the scene where Jean slapped him in a fit of anger, she couldn't suppress her laughter.

He glared. "What's so funny?!"

"When I was reprimanded by your mom in the past, didn't you used to gloat by the side?" she asked. "I can't believe that there would be a day where your mom would actually slap you! Am I not allowed to show my sympathy?!"

Meanwhile, Tyler was quite speechless.

After dinner, he willingly cleared the table and did the dishes. Then, he took a set of skincare products from his backpack and handed it to her. Although he looked like he wanted to appease her, his tone remained quite brash. "I used three months' worth of pocket money to get this for you. Accept this gift and come to my school this Saturday!"

Sonia picked up one of the bottles and checked out the brand. It was a well-known product and the cost of a moisturizer was close to five thousand, which meant that this entire set was worth approximately one hundred thousand.

At first, she had assumed that Toby had popped by because he had nowhere else to go, but it finally dawned upon her that he had an ulterior motive for his visit today. "Go and find Toby if you need help settling any mischief."

"I did not get into any mischief!" Tyler shot her a look before he continued in a lowered voice, "The coach for the national team will be here this Saturday to select players to join the team for training at their base camp. If I pass the tryouts, then I'll be able to join the national team. However, they need to discuss this with my guardian..."

Sonia finally realized what he was after and she immediately rejected, “No! I no longer have any relationship with your family, so I can’t get involved in this. Besides, your mom wants you to join Fuller Group and assist with the running of the family business in the future. She’s definitely going to slaughter me if I help you enter the national team.”

“I’ll take full responsibility if anything goes wrong. I definitely won’t implicate you!” He raised his right hand and swore an oath. “Sonia, you’re the only one who can help me.”

“I know I used to behave in a rude manner toward you in the past and was disrespectful, but that was because I thought that you bullied Tina and was trying to take her spot in Tony’s heart. Besides, Mom kept on complaining about you, so I naturally didn’t have a good impression of you...”

“Well, it seems that you’re quite happy to have Tina as your sister-in-law. You even shared the story about my tattoo with her.” She was quite annoyed upon recalling that. “Why don’t you go and look for Tina then? I’m sure she would be more than happy to help you.”

“Huh?” Tyler was stunned for a moment. “I never told her that you had a tattoo!”

Sonia fixed her eyes on him. “Are you sure that you didn’t say anything to her?”

“I didn’t say a word at all!”

She replied, “If you didn’t say anything, how would she have known about it?”

“I think she might have eavesdropped while I was talking on the phone,” Tyler replied with guilt. “I spoke on the phone and asked my classmate whether it hurt to get a tattoo done. I complained about you by saying that you were overly obsessed with Toby to the point of getting a tattoo of his name on your body. That's all I said."

"You're such a brat!" Sonia stared at him with a dry smile. "Well, I'm quite sure that you're Madam White's biological son. There are no doubts about that."

"What do you mean by that?"

"You're exactly like her. Both of you have the same mean disposition and you can't control yourself from bad-mouthing others." The look of scorn in her eyes was quite evident. "You've somehow inherited all of her faults that Toby managed to avoid."

Tyler's face flushed bright red as he was angered beyond speechlessness. He was about to rebuke her and share his positive traits when the cell phone on the coffee table rang. The moment Tyler noticed on the caller ID that it was Toby, Tyler felt his heart sinking.

Sonia had noticed it as well and she immediately tapped to answer the phone call before she placed it on loudspeaker before Tyler could respond.

"President Fuller, did you make this call because you realized that your little brother's missing?"

There was a short pause on the other end before a low male voice rang out, "Tyler, meet me at the South Entrance in three minutes."

"Toby, I can't make it there in three minutes!" Tyler exclaimed but he didn't dare to oppose Toby, "She lives near the North Entrance."

"Two minutes." Toby's voice sounded colder than before.
