

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President Chapter 10

Chapter 10 The Legend Black Emperor Card

J. J was an international big brand. An ordinary basic dress costs thousands, and a limited suit like these costs at least tens of thousands.

Naturally, Ceres could not afford it.

Mary held her arm and looked at her as if waiting for a good show.

She looked at Mary's saliva on her clothes and suddenly became furious.

She was married to the Winsor' instead of Mary, but Mary humiliated her so much!

"This dress is dirty! You have to buy it, come with me to invoice immediately." The shopping guide grabbed Ceres's wrist.

"Do you have eyes? She spat at this dress! She made it dirty!" Pointing to Mary as she spoke.

"The clothes are on you, and now it is dirty, it is your responsibility. Go! Follow me to check out!" The shopping guide pulled Ceres hard.

"Wrap it up." A low voice of silence came from not far away.

Everyone looked at the source of the sound.

Mary saw a man wearing a mask and sunglasses. Although the man was covered tightly, Mary was attracted by the imperial temperament emanating from him. It was great oppression as if the surroundings became cold by the way.

Mary saw the masked man reach out and point at the shop. "This, this, this, this... all of it, wrap it up."

The masked man pointed out the chaos, and all the things he ordered were the main models in the store, which were expensive.

Ceres just held back the urge to laugh when she saw the masked man. She did not expect a bodyguard to abruptly behave like an overbearing president. She coughed gently and walked to the masked man. "Yes, according to my bodyguard, these are all to be wrapped up!"

Mary suddenly became speechless, this man turned out to be Ceres' bodyguard?

The Winsors even gave her bodyguards?

Didn't they say that the Winsors did not take her seriously at all? Who would take the bride for dispersing bad luck seriously?

The shopping guide grinned and disdained her eyes. "These are hundreds of thousands. Can you afford it?"

Ceres was a little guilty when she heard the number. She did not know how much money Adam gave her in the card. If it wasn't enough, wouldn't it be embarrassing?

Just then, the masked man took out a black bank card from his pocket.

The mouth of the shopping guide and Mary suddenly widened in surprise.

That was a black emperor card.

This kind of bank card was sold by Black Tika Bank, the largest bank in the world. Banks selectively sold it according to users' assets. There were only a dozen of these kinds of cards in the world. It had no limits and could bring its owner VIP treatment in hundreds of shops worldwide.

Ceres did not recognize such a card. But, from the shopping guide and Mary's expression, it could be seen that this card must be distinguishable.

The shopping guide took the bank card from the masked man's hand while her hands were shaking.

"I'll go right away."

"Wait a minute!" Ceres quickly ran into the fitting room and changed her clothes, and then threw them to Mary.

"It is you who spits on the clothes, so you need to pay the bill!"

The clothes stained with Mary's spit were thrown and the spit was right back on Mary's chest.

Mary subconsciously threw it to the ground.

Ceres proudly passed by Mary. After the shopping guide packed all the clothes and checked out smoothly, she left with the masked man with big bags of clothes.

The shopping guide once again came to Mary. "Miss Mary, do you think you can buy this dress..."

"You—"

