

Chapter 81 It's Maximilian

To ask for justice for Victoria?

Samuel froze, completely missing what Dylan was talking about.

"Dylan, what do you mean by that?" Samuel asked, somewhat baffled.

Dylan snorted and said, "Did you take out her position as the vice president and kick her out of Yunsheng Pharmaceutical?"

"It's because Victoria bullied Mollie! I'm being righteous! Dylan, don't worry, if you think this punishment isn't enough, please say so. I'll do as you want, as long as it doesn't affect the relationship between our two families and the investment."

Samuel laughed, with an old face as shameless as it could be.

However, Dylan, changed his face and said in a deep voice.

"What I mean is that Victoria's position as Vice President should be maintained, and that my Waldon family's investment cooperation with Yunsheng Pharmaceutical will all be handled by Victoria from now on."

Oh! In the conference room, everyone drew in a breath of cold air!

What, what does that mean? Was Dylan crazy? His own daughter was beaten, and he's helping the culprit?

Samuel froze for a full minute before he reacted, asking with a face full of disbelief.

"Dylan, are you serious?"

"Sure."

Dylan responded, "I've understood this matter clearly, and it was Mollie's fault in the first place! We're here especially to apologize to Victoria, and I also hope that you won't find her troubles in the future."

Saying this, Dylan took his son and daughter and turned to Victoria, bending low and saying, "Victoria, I'm sorry for the trouble."

Mollie was also apologetic and said, "I'm sorry, I shouldn't have bothered you, and I will apologize for what I have done today."

Cole even apologized directly to Maximilian, saying, "Max..... Maximilian, I am sorry, I was too impulsive today. I hope you will not hold a grudge against me, not told Master Phillip and Master Connor....."

Before he finished, Maximilian interrupted. "Okay, it's okay, I will not get into it with you."

But it still requires Victoria's consent."

After saying that, Maximilian looked at Victoria who was still dumbfounded on his side.

Only then did Victoria react and looked at the three people bending low in front of her to apologize, and hurriedly supported Dylan, saying.

"Dylan, don't be like this! This matter, let's just forget about it! I still hope that you maintain cooperation with our Yunsheng Pharmaceutical."

Dylan smiled and wiped the cold sweat from the corner of his forehead. But his eyes fell on Maximilian, who gestured slightly before Dylan let out a sigh of relief and smiled.

"Victoria, then we'll leave first."

After saying that, he didn't even greet Samuel and hurriedly left the conference room with his daughter and son.

At this moment, all the people in the conference room exhaled a sigh of relief.

The visual impact of the scene just now was too much to absorb for them!

Dylan, with his son and daughter, actually apologized to Victoria and Maximilian!

Samuel was also filled with shock as he looked at Victoria suspiciously and asked,

"Victoria, what the hell is going on here?"

Victoria was completely unable to understand at this moment and shook her head.

"Grandpa, I don't know."

After saying that, she glanced at Maximilian who was standing beside her with a faint smile.

Did it have anything to do with Maximilian?

Samuel also knitted his brows and thought for a while without understanding.

However, since things were already like this, he wasn't going to pursue it any further and said to Victoria,

"Since Dylan has pleaded for you, you'll continue to serve as the vice president, and also, you'll be responsible for the investment and cooperation with the Waldon family. I appreciate your hard work."

Hearing this, Franklin became anxious and shouted,

"Grandpa, no, how can the vice president be returned to her! Think about this matter! Moreover, the cooperation with the Waldon family, I have been in charge for a long time."

Franklin panicked. He was going to lose the vice president and the cooperation with the Waldon family! His position in the company would plummet!

As a result, the old man grunted coldly and said, "Shut up! You should stop fooling around, as this is a critical period for Yunsheng Pharmaceutical! We must work together to reach a cooperation with Graham Group, you should also take your temper and help Victoria more, got it?"

After saying that, Samuel turned around and left directly.

Victoria also gave a cold look at the angry Franklin, turned around and pulled Maximilian away.

Franklin's eyes were red at this moment, and he pounded his fist on the conference table in anger, roaring in a low voice.

"Victoria, Maximilian, I won't let you go!"

Victoria pulled Maximilian out of the company. At the entrance of the company, she suddenly stopped, turned around with a cold face, questioned,

"Maximilian, does this matter have anything to do with you?"

Maximilian knew Victoria would ask this and shrugged his shoulders, saying with a faint smile. "Why do you think that way?"

Victoria responded, "Just now others didn't notice, but I did! As soon as Dylan came, he first said sorry to you and asked for your forgiveness, then in the meeting room, Cole was doing like that again, and said something about Master Phillip and Master Connor. You still want to tell me that this has nothing to do with you?"

Victoria was so careful that she just didn't mention it in the conference room. But now that she had brought him out, she raised the question.

Maximilian looked at Victoria's huge eyes and delicate face and smiled.

"You're over-thinking it. Dylan probably gave me an apology because of you. As for Cole, he probably misunderstood it as well.

You don't even think about what kind of person I am, how could I possibly get Dylan to apologize to me?"

Victoria squinted and her heart was filled with doubts, just when she wanted to ask something, her phone rang.

She quickly picked up the phone when Leila's voice came on the other side and asked,

"Victoria, where are you? I thought we were going to the Vienna Concert Hall tonight, I'm at your house."

Only then did Victoria remember and hurriedly said, "I'll be right back."

Hanging up the phone, she looked at Maximilian and exhaled, saying, "All right, take me back home."

Maximilian laughed lopsidedly and drove Victoria back home on his electric bike.

As soon as he entered the house, Maximilian saw that Leila. She was dressed in an edgy fashion, showcasing her devilishly hot body. Her hair turned into big wavy brown and chestnut curls, her long slender legs were wrapped with a yellow super short mini skirt. The top was a strapless bustier that showed off the perfection of her figure.

This woman, with her excellent image, was a siren wherever she went!

"Victoria," When she saw Victoria return, Leila jumped up and hugged her affectionately.

However, when she saw Maximilian behind her, her face instantly changed and she muttered, "Why you're back too?"

Maximilian grinned and walked self-consciously into the kitchen.

Victoria ignored Maximilian and came to the living room with Leila and sat on the sofa.

"Victoria, let me see the invitation."
Leila urged.

Victoria fished out the golden invitation from her bag and handed it to Leila, smiling.

"Why don't you go over there yourself, I'll skip it for the day."

Upon hearing this, Leila got anxious and asked.

"Why? This is an once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, haven't you always liked Mr. Joey Hisaishi? You used to say that you wanted to be his student one day."

Victoria smiled and said. "It's from Travis, and you know what he means, so if I go, there might be a mess."

"From Travis?" Leila, her eyes full of suspicion, muttered.

"Impossible, this golden invitation, I've inquired about it! There are only ten in the whole H city, do you think anyone can get one?"

"That guy, Travis, how could he have such an invitation."

"Only ten?"

Victoria was confused, obviously stunned by her words.

"But if it's not from Travis, who could it be?"

Victoria asked rhetorically.

Leila also asked with suspicious.

"Do you have any more guy who are running after you?"

Tell me about it and I'll help you analyze it."

Victoria rolled her eyes at Leila and pouted.

"What are you talking about?"

Saying that, she looked at Maximilian, who was busy in the kitchen. Then, she suddenly thought of something and lowered her voice and said.

"Maximilian did ask me last time if I liked Joey Hisaishi....."

With a shudder, Leila took the golden invitation in her hand, looked toward the kitchen with Victoria suspiciously, and asked in a low voice.

"You're trying to tell me that this invitation was from him?"

Chapter 82 Revealed

Victoria was silent, as she didn't know why she had suddenly come up with this idea.

According to Leila, there were only ten of these golden invitations in H City!

Travis wasn't qualified to get it, so how could it be possible for Maximilian to get it?

Leila laughed and looked coldly at the back of Maximilian who was busy in the kitchen, and said.

"Come on, Victoria, I know you've always wanted Maximilian to be successful. But be practical, he's just a guy who rely on you! Why do you have such a big fantasy about him?"

Although he did do a really good job in Caesar's Palace last time, he was just piggybacked by someone else!"

Just in time, Maximilian came over with a plate of fruit combo and said with a smile on his face.

"Enjoy some fresh fruit."

Leila glanced at him and asked with a smile as she held the invitation in her hand.

"Maximilian, let me ask you, did you get this invitation?"

Maximilian didn't reply, but looked at Victoria and said,

"Go ahead, a rare opportunity, don't think about me."

Victoria shuddered, and her willow-shaped eyebrows twisted slightly as she looked at Maximilian and asked, "You're letting me go?"

At that, a hint of anger came over her.

Was Maximilian really stupid or was he just pretending to be stupid?

Didn't he know that the invitation was probably from Travis, and he actually let her go?

Leila also smiled. Maximilian was really a normal man consort.

If this invitation was really from Travis, then what he was doing now was the same as sending his wife to someone else's arms!

Victoria got up and glared angrily at Maximilian, before picking up her bag and saying to Leila.

"Leila, let's go! If someone wants me to go, why shouldn't I go?"

Saying that, Victoria turned her head and thumped her heels to leave.

Leila took the invitation with a smile. Before she left, she didn't forget to gently pat Maximilian's chest and gave a thumbs up, nodding and laughing, "Maximilian, good job, pushing your own wife out.

No wonder, after all, you can't give Victoria a good life.

Don't worry, when Victoria and you get divorced, I will help you find a girlfriend, a good match for you."

After saying that, Leila tossed her long hair and caught up with Victoria who was in front of her.

Out the door, Victoria stood by Leila's car, sulking.

"Victoria, why are you in such a hurry? Are you angry with Maximilian?"

Leila walked out and hooked Victoria's neck, teasing.

Huh!

Victoria grunted coldly and looked back at the door of the house, angrily yelling at the family.

"Maximilian, you're a coward!"

Following that, she opened the car door and told Leila to drive straight away.

The duo, firstly, ate at a Western dinner, before arriving at the Vienna Concert Hall at time.

Tonight, the Vienna Concert Hall was destined to be the center of attention in H City.

The red carpet was rolled out and there was a gorgeous band outside, playing live.

There was even a steady stream of luxury cars stopping on the red carpet, from which stepped down a glittering array of men and women, all of whom were prominent figures in H City, as well as a number of rich guys who had come over to join in the fun tonight.

All around the Vienna Concert Hall, posters of various promotions, like a feast for the eyes, attracted a lot of media attention.

With Victoria, Leila trotted all the way to the entrance of the hall. They were just about to enter when a shout came from behind.

"Victoria, Victoria, you're here, I've been waiting for you for a long time."

Travis was currently running over from the distance like simp, wearing a suit and a big back hair, looking very clean and handsome.

Leila looked at him, snorted a laugh and said, "Travis, are you dressed up for this occasion?"

That's not a very good haircut for you, with that big forehead, I thought it was a donkey face."

"Fuck....." Travis exploded with anger, but he saw Victoria next to her. Clenching his fist in hatred, he held his breath and said.

"Leila, I'm not going to be angry with you."

Following that, he looked at Victoria with a smile on his face and said,

"Victoria, let's go inside, it's almost time to start."

Victoria quietly squeezed Leila's arm, signaling her to keep her mouth shut.

These two, as it was, didn't get along.

Because Travis had pursued Leila in the past, but he was rejected.

Leila was arrogant and despises every man.

In her own words, she wouldn't look at anybody unless he was his Prince Charming.

Next, the three entered with their invitations.

Travis naturally didn't notice the golden invitation in Victoria's hand, and was just bragging in front of her about how much effort he had put in to get the invitation this time, and that he had a surprise for Victoria after the concert.

Victoria and Leila followed behind him. Leila kept repeating his words behind him, following his example.

This made Travis a headache, and he didn't hold back a few times.

Fortunately, Victoria interrupted in time and said,

"We're in the first row."

Victoria looked around and realized that the first row had excellent sight lines and there were only ten seats.

The second row, actually, was two meters away.

That was the most prestigious position in the entire hall.

Travis looked at Victoria and Leila and asked suspiciously.

"You guys in the first row?"

He then realized the fact that he was in the fourth row while Victoria was in the first row?

What did that mean?

Following that, he thought to himself, did Bianca arrange this specially for him?

After all, he paid double the price, so he guessed that's it.

It didn't matter, as it made no difference wherever he sit, it's mostly the surprise after the concert.

Travis wasn't come for the concert in the first place, so naturally he wouldn't mind the seat arrangement.

"It's okay, you guys sit down. I'll stay in the back. When the show finishes later, you can meet me at the door, as I have a surprise for you."

Travis laughed graciously and walked towards the fourth row.

Victoria smiled at him apologetically and pulled Leila to take her seat.

They were in the middle of the row!

Victoria got a little suspicious in her heart and asked in a low voice.

"Leila, are you sure that this was really arranged by Travis?"

Leila shrugged her shoulders and said, "Who knows, maybe he spent a fortune to please you! Let it be, just think of him as a backup."

Victoria rolled her eyes at her and said, "You're wrong, that's fooling him."

"He is willing to be a simp! Besides, I am annoyed with him."

Leila muttered.

Soon, the concert began.

It went on for an hour per the set list.

The finale was, naturally, Joey Hisaishi's famous piano piece "Laputa".

Victoria was excited, clasping her hands, stars in her eyes.

It was a feast for the ears.

When the concert was over, Victoria still couldn't get enough of it.

After leaving the music hall, Travis had long been waiting at the door, full of smiles, and holding a large bouquet of roses, looking like he was going to make a propose.

"Victoria, this is for you. In a moment, I'll take you somewhere."

Travis handed her the roses.

Victoria was embarrassed and didn't want to accept it.

At the right time, a woman in a black evening gown walked over and said to Victoria with a smile on her face.

"Excuse me, are you Miss Victoria?"

Victoria froze and nodded, "Yes, I am."

"Hello, I'm the manager here, and my name is Bianca."

Bianca said with a smile, glancing at Travis next to her.

The manager in Vienna?

Victoria was somewhat confused, and asked.

"Bianca, what is the matter?"

"If you are available, please follow me." Bianca laughed.

Victoria looked at Leila and said. "OK."

Then, as if suddenly remembering something, she fished out the golden invitation from her bag and asked

"By the way, Bianca, I need to confirm something with you, who gave me this invitation?"

Chapter 83 Found out

Travis hurriedly laughed at the sight of it.

"Victoria, of course this is from me! I have a surprise for you; I didn't expect Manager Bianca to come in person."

Saying that, he also looked at Bianca thankfully and said, "Manager Bianca, that's too kind of you."

Bianca's face was flat as she glanced at Travis and asked rhetorically,

"This invitation is from you?"

Travis froze and asked.

"Wasn't from me? Bianca, don't be ridiculous, I paid double the price!"

Bianca chuckled.

At the same time, a gasping voice, coming from behind the crowd, shouted,

"Bianca, Travis's invitation didn't arrive due to the wrong address."

A uniformed male staff member trotted all the way over, holding a plain white invitation.

Travis exploded then.

"What do you mean? This invitation is mine?"

When that staff member took a look at Travis who was also there, he immediately apologized and said,

"Sir, sorry, the address you left is incorrect, this invitation hasn't sent out yet."

Silence.

Dead silence.

Several people's gazes fell on him in unison, which made his body as uncomfortable as if he was stuck by needles.

"You're full of shit! How could this invitation be mine? Mine has clearly been delivered!"

Travis didn't believe it and growled, snatching the invitation from the employee's hand, tearing it up and throwing it on the ground.

Following that, he turned around and said to Victoria with a big smile.

"Victoria, don't listen to him, that invitation in your hand is the one I..... bought."

CLICK!

Before he could finish his words, Travis froze!

Because, he saw the invitation in Victoria's hand, and it was golden!

This, was this possible?

Travis wasn't stupid, as he naturally knew what this golden invitation meant.

There were only ten in H City!

With his silence, Bianca coldly laughed and asked.

"Sir, is this invitation from you?"

"I....."

Travis blushed awkwardly and tried to argue. But Bianca had already left with Victoria and Leila.

Looking at their departing backs, Travis clenched his fist in anger and hatred, a chill flashing in his eyes!

"Fuck!

Who the fuck sent Victoria an invitation?

I can't believe it's gold!"

Travis muttered to himself indignantly, his heart wondering.

Victoria followed Bianca to a luxurious lounge, pushed the door, and saw Mr. Joey Hisashi waiting inside!

For a moment, Victoria was dumbfounded!

"JO..... Joey Hisaishi....."

Victoria covered her mouth, her eyes wide open.

It was so exciting!

He was her idol.

"Hello, Victoria." Joey Hisaishi smiled slightly and extended his hand to Victoria.

Victoria was excited to shake hands with him, her heart thumping, and everything was just like a dream.

Bianca, on the other hand, smiled lightly and said.

"Miss Victoria, this is a surprise prepared especially for you by a distinguished guy who wishes to remain anonymous."

Following that, Joey Hisaishi and Victoria posed for a photo and chatted for quite a while.

Of course, Victoria was acting like a teenage at the moment.

Before he was leaving, Joey Hisaishi got up and asked with a smile,

"Will Miss Victoria be interested in becoming my student?"

His question made Victoria freeze in place for a long time before she reacted and asked,

"Can I..... I?"

"Of course, Miss Victoria is gifted and has a love for piano. I would like to take you as my last disciple."

Joey Hisaishi said with a smile.

Victoria was on the verge of fainting from happiness at the moment.

Joey Hisaishi said he wanted to take her as his student!

All the way until she left the lounge, Victoria still felt surreal and kept asking Leila.

"Leila, am I dreaming? I'm now a student of Mr. Joey Hisaishi."

Leila said enviously,

"No no, it's all true! But don't you think it's strange that Joey Hisaishi hasn't taken a student for five years, so why did he suddenly take you as his student?"

And, how exactly is this invitation explained?"

It was only then that Victoria thought of this question. Her face sank instantly and she was very suspicious, shaking her head.

"If it's not from Travis, then who is it?"

"Oh, Victoria, say, are you secretly hooking up with some rich guy?"

Leila asked with a sudden flirtation.

This caused Victoria to be embarrassed, and her face brushed red as she said.

"Don't be ridiculous, am I that type?"

Both women were lulled into silence and foxing.

Victoria stopped, thought for a moment, and said solemnly.

"No, I have to go back and find the truth, wait for me here."

"I'll go with you." Leila said.

The two immediately turned back and jogged all the way to the lounge they had just been in.

Meanwhile, inside the lounge, Maximilian stood in front of the large floor-to-ceiling window, his back to several people.

Behind him, respectfully stood Joey Hisaishi and Bianca, as well as Phillip.

Joey Hisaishi was an internationally acclaimed pianist who won respect from anyone who met him.

He would enjoy very high standard treatment when he went to any country. But, at this moment, he was respectful of the young man in front of him.

He said, "Mr. Lee, I have done what I was told to Victoria, and I also hope that Mr. Lee will promise to donate ten piano academies as you promised earlier."

Maximilian responded, "Of course."

Saying this, he looked back at Joey

Hisaishi and said,

"Joey, you've worked hard for me this time, and I'll definitely pay you a visit some day."

Hearing this, Joey Hisaishi said with reverence and awe.

"Mr. Lee, it was the best I can do! You are a distinguished man, and it should be me to pay you a visit."

Maximilian smiled and rushed forward to support the old man, saying,

"You're a senior, I'm a junior, so I will visit you."

Joey Hisashi glanced at Maximilian and nodded slightly, thinking that this man was kind-hearted and respectful.

After saying that, Maximilian looked at Phillip and Bianca, who were standing at the side respectfully, and said,

"You guys are doing great, too."

Having received a compliment from Maximilian, Phillip was clearly excited and bent his back, saying.

"Thank you Mr. Lee for the compliment, this is all what I should do! If you need anything in the future, as long as you ask, I will do my best to get it done!"

Phillip, one of the four underground bosses of H City, actually looked excited and thrilled on his face at this moment.

It was rarely seen, and if outsiders saw it, they'd be splitting hairs!

Bianca also smiled and said,

"It's our honor to work for Mr. Lee."

At this very moment!

There was a noise outside the door.

"Sorry, there is a meeting going on inside, so we can't receive you two for now. Please wait for a moment."

It was the voice of the security guard at the door.

"I want to see Bianca."

A female voice came in.

Maximilian shuddered then!

Damn!

It was Victoria's voice. Didn't she leave?

Why did she come back all of a sudden?

Immediately, in the sight of the crowd, the door to the lounge was pushed open from the outside. Victoria, pulling Leila, was standing in the doorway with anxious look.

Her eyes, at a glance, locked on one person in the room.....

