

Chapter 138 Take It Easy

Maximilian twitched his mouth but didn't retort. These people were in anger, and were difficult to communicate with.

He turned around and had a look at the plaque. Then Maximilian sent a message to Connor to dig the background of the company.

Most people who were running an investment company used to be a loan shark. They could be connected with the underground organization.

Maximilian thought that this one could be the same, so Connor could find out some information.

They could run, but they couldn't hide. Once he knew the background, the problem could be solved fundamentally.

Seeing Maximilian was in a daze, Lily sneered, “Look at your stupid son-in-law. He doesn’t find any solutions but looks at the door of the company. Is there anything wrong with the door?”

“Maximilian, come here! Don’t be silly. Try to find a way!” said Laura angrily.

Lucy’s son-in-law Andy arrived at that moment. When he saw Maximilian, he laughed.

Andy was very jealous of Maximilian, who could marry such a beautiful wife. However, after hearing many stories of Maximilian these years, he didn’t envy Maximilian at all, but disdained him instead.

“Hey, the top crap of H City. What brings you here? It may be very difficult for you to deal with the investment stuff. However, I have contacted some professionals, and they will do something useful,” said Andy, who was looking up with folded arms, being very arrogant.

Lucy became proud at once. “My son-in-law has a wide network of contacts. Although he still works as a cop, he knows many people. He can seek help from some dignitaries, and our money will be back soon.”

“Lucy’s son-in-law is reliable and much better than some worthless men. Look at the crap. He is not even good enough to make up the numbers.”

“Other men are standing on the road to protest for what happened, while you are still here. Fuck off to the road, you idiot! Damn it!”

Laura roared angrily. She even regretted asking Maximilian to be here. She was really awkward in front of her friends now.

Following the crowd without a word, Maximilian was wondering the purpose of blocking up the road. Only the stupid would regard it as a good idea.

Lucy became even more arrogant, “Laura, where is your capable man? This crap is useless. I doubt your capable man is not as good as my son-in-law.”

Andy laughed and cast a glance at Maximilian proudly, “Crap, follow the crowd. Don’t worry about the money. Take care of yourself. Be careful that someone’s crotch opens and you the dick will be exposed.”

“If you can have the money back, you can say any dirty words to me; if not, you should stop talking.” Maximilian dissed him back and went to the crowd right away.

Andy gave Maximilian a hard stare and spat to him, but he didn't succeed because of the long distance.

“Asshole! You are just a stupid jerk. Don't give me your fucking shit!” Andy swore angrily.

When Maximilian in the crowd felt his mobile phone vibrating, he took it out at once and read Connor's reply.

Connor could find the company's background quickly because he knew the boss.

“The boss, Marsh Lunn, used to run an underground bank. I heard the name before. This was a horrible guy. If people refused to repay the money, he would take violent measures, such as breaking tendons of hands or feet,” Maximilian whispered the message.

He also heard something about Marsh.

At first, Marsh was just a loan shark, but became the boss of the underground bank in the end. These years, he set up some investment companies and loan companies to collect money illegally.

“If that’s true, ordinary people can’t deal with him. Interesting. I’ll see what they will do.”

Maximilian was not worried at all. He could solve the problem easily by an instruction.

However, it was not beneficial for him to deal with it at a fast speed. So he preferred watching the fun until they became impatient.

When Maximilian was playing with his phone in the crowd, Laura and her friends were anxious.

People had been blocking the road for a long time, but it was just futile.

The investment company located at a remote area with little traffic. Therefore, the blocking didn't work.

“Where are the professionals? Lucy, since your son-in-law knows many people who are in charge of this kind of things, let him make a contact! At least help us get the money back.” said Lily in a hurry.

Andy was a little embarrassed, because what he said was mainly to annoy Maximilian. Besides, Lucy also bragged just now for her vanity.

Andy had a very low position at his bureau. He can't even see his superior in the office, let alone the dignitaries at a city level.

“I'll make a phone call. Don't worry.”

Then Andy quickly took out his mobile phone.

Lucy worried that her friends might know her brag, if they kept talking her son-in-law. At that time, Andy would be called a jerk like Maximilian, which might humiliate her. Therefore, she tried to exert pressure on Laura.

“Andy should do everything to deal with it. At that time, maybe Laura has already had someone solve the problem. If Laura can have someone easily nail it, Andy doesn’t have to put too much efforts in it; otherwise, it will be too much for us to return the favor.”

Lucy smiled wickedly when she was talking.

The words rattled Laura a bit. Thanks to her foresight just now, she wouldn’t be awkward as long as Humphrey came here.

“You are right. Since your family is not that rich, Andy should use the relationship for his promotion. So let me contact with the general manager of DK Investment. He is a professional in investment, who can deal with this easily.”

Laura took out of her phone proudly after she glanced at her shocked friends.

Chapter 139, You Go First

There came Humphrey hurriedly.

He was just wondering about how to remedy his dishonor last time when Laura called him.

In his opinion, with the help of Laura, he had more opportunities to marry her beautiful daughter.

Laura became more confident as Humphrey arrived. "This is Humphrey Carter, the general manager of DK Investments. Humphrey, these are my friends. We are all defrauded by this company. Please help us to get the money back. That is the money reserved for the rest of our lives."

"I see. Let me make some phone calls first to make clear its background."

Humphrey didn't make a promise at once, but had a research first. He was more cautious than before because of his loss last time.

“Well, Lucy, since your son-in-law have already got some information, let him tell Humphrey. Don’t waste our time,” said Laura, with her eyes slightly squinting.

Lucy knew Laura was flaunting. But in order to have her money back, she had no choice but called Andy.

Andy was shocked when he saw Humphrey. He had heard the name many times before, because Humphrey was very popular in the investment circle in H City.

“Mr. Carter, I’m Andy, working at police office. It’s my pleasure to meet you here again after the symposium last time.”

Humphrey felt very satisfied with Andy's words. He believed that he deserved a respect like that, and his awkward moment at Marcus's birthday party was just an accident.

"Oh, I have an impression on you, Andy. You are in the fourth group, aren't you?"

Humphrey said like Andy was his follower.

"That's it. You have a very good memory. You are the example for me! Sometimes, I even dream of working for you, Mr. Carter."

Andy could only be a team leader even if he tried his best.

He wanted more, so he was determined to flatter Humphrey, who could make him richer in the future.

"Your job is more comfortable than mine. Investment makes me be on tenterhooks. Let us focus on today's matter and ask the money back for these aunts," said Humphrey proudly.

At that moment, Lucy and the other women all paid more attention to Humphrey. He became a noble with the help of Andy's flatter.

"Right. I've got the information that the boss used to hold an underground bank, who is also a mighty one. It seems difficult to have the money back. These are the information that I've got."

When Andy was speaking, Maximilian saw Humphrey and came back.

Lily showed her disgust immediately at Maximilian.

"Wow, the crap is back. Laura, I think Humphrey, who is both handsome and capable, is much more suitable to be your son-in-law than the crap."

“That’s right. If Mr. Carter were your son-in-law, you should have lived a happy life and we could also have benefited a lot from you. Besides, you didn’t need to invest money to such an unreliable company.”

Seeing Maximilian, Humphrey raised his eyebrow. He wanted to humiliate Maximilian by this chance in order to avenge his embarrassment last time.

“What brings you jerk here? Haven’t you realized that you are useless? Why not find some chairs and buy some snack for all of us? Maybe it will end until this afternoon.”

Humphrey treated Maximilian as a servant. After the words, he opened his purse full of cash and threw some banknotes to Maximilian.

“That is too long. I can solve the problem with only a phone call,” said

Maximilian lowering his head. Nobody could see his expression.

“Oops, ha ha!”

Andy burst out a belly laugh and saw Maximilian as if he was really a fool.

“Did I hear it wrongly? You must be bragging. Did you brush your teeth this morning? I can smell the rubbish from your mouth. You can solve it by a phone call? Stop being so ignorant!”

Lucy and the others also laughed at Maximilian. They knew what he was like.

At that moment, everyone regarded Maximilian’s words as a mere bragging.

“When did you learn to brag? Who do you think you are? You are just a jerk. Go away and don’t trouble us.”

“Comparing with Mr. Carter, you are like a toad. Piss off! It’s not a problem that you jerk can deal with.”

Laura shouted to Maximilian with a bad expression, “Fuck off! Don’t disturb us. Stop being silly. You make me feel embarrassed.”

Humphrey was very delighted in his heart, because everyone here was blaming Maximilian.

To make his delight staying longer, Humphrey added, “Let me make a phone call. I’m sure we can contact with their staff.”

Laura and the others became hopeful at once, because they hadn’t seen anyone related to the company after such a long time.

If Humphrey could contact with the staff, their money would come back in no time.

“Humphrey, go for it. If you can solve the problem, I'll remember you in my heart."

Laura said as she winked to Humphrey, hinted that Maximilian would fuck off as soon as he fixed it.

All at once, Humphrey was full of energy and then made contacts immediately.

Soon he told them confidently with his hands in the pockets, "That's it. One of the directors will be here later. But we should keep away from the crowd. It's easy to ask your money back. As for others, I can't deal with it."

"Humphrey is right. Let's wait. Maximilian, you are completely a stupid jerk. Go and do what Humphrey told you to!"

Laura stared at Maximilian with anger.

Maximilian sneered and then walked to a store nearby.

Soon he returned with some plastic chairs, bottled water and snacks, standing in front of Laura.

“Maximilian, why are you not as brave as the last time? Someone I called will be here in a minute. Go to find your man and we’ll see who can solve the problem more quickly.”

Humphrey said the words only to make fun of Maximilian, because he believed Maximilian must have no way out.

Maximilian replied disdainfully, “You go first, and I’ll take measures when you fail.”

Chapter 140The Real Reliable One

“Fuck off, idiot! How dare you say those big words? If Mr. Carter can’t deal with it, can you? You must be kidding me!” said Andy.

This was a good chance to flatter Humphrey. Once Humphrey had a good impression on him, he might be able to work at DK Investments one day.

Laura took away the water and snacks in Maximilian’s hand and shouted to him angrily, “Get out of my sight! I’ll beat you if you brag again.”

Glancing at Maximilian, Humphrey pretended to be generous, “Mrs. Griffith, let the jerk stay here. He can clean up the rubbish for us, which is good for the environment.”

“Humphrey is right. Stay here and take charge of the rubbish, but don’t disturb the negotiation between Humphrey and the company staff.”

“If he could deal with it, the sun would come up in the west.”

Maximilian went to another side and looked at the annoyed Humphrey with cold eyes.

“Humphrey, don’t be angry. I’ll fix him when this issue is over.”

Laura comforted Humphrey in a hurry in case he would be influenced by Maximilian.

Soon a director of the investment company came, behaving like a thief.

“Are you Mr. Carter?” asked the director in a low voice.

“I’m Humphrey Carter, the general manager of DK Investment. What’s wrong with your company? Even if it went wrong with the yield, you should at least return the capital,” said Humphrey aggressively.

“As for the capital, we don’t say we won’t return it. Please wait for some days. When we solve the problem properly, we will call you.”

What he said was nonsense.

“That’s not Ok. You should tell us a certain time. How long should we keep waiting? What can we do if you all run away?” said Laura discontentedly.

The director ignored Laura, and looked at Humphrey. He could take a risk to be here only for the sake of Humphrey.

“Bro, I know your trick. If you can give the money back to these aunts, I can assure you a good future. Think about it.”

Andy couldn’t be more jealous.

“Oh, my god! Mr. Carter is promising a good future! If you agree with it, you won’t worry about money in the future. I’m sure a director can easily deal with it.” added Andy.

Seeing the situation with his cold eyes, Maximilian shook his head helplessly. He couldn’t believe that these people were so silly that they put their hope on a director.

Maximilian’s expression made Humphrey proud and his mouth twisted in a contemptuous sneer. He believed that the director would help to get the capital back because of the benefits he promised, and at that time, he could humiliate Maximilian with all his strength.

They made a quick eye contact, which also expressed their thought to each other.

The director pondered for a while, but replied with a wry smile, “Mr. Carter, though I look forward to working for you, I am helpless with the capital. Let me tell you the truth, I don’t even know where the money is.”

Though shocked, Humphrey pulled the director to another side before Laura realized. “Bro, who’s your boss? Why is he so stubborn that he even ignores me?”

“Our boss is just a puppet and it is Marsh Lunn who is behind. If you can get the money back from his hand, you must be a really capable man. Sorry, I should go now.”

The director dared not to stay for any longer, so he left in a hurry after the words.

Humphrey couldn’t be more shocked at that time.

“What happened, Humphrey? Why did he leave so fast? Have you made a deal? Can we have our money back?” Laura asked the questions in a row with anxiety.

Lucy and others also looked at Humphrey, who was the only hope for them.

Humphrey simpered before he replied awkwardly, “I asked him to communicate with the boss, which will cost some time, but there is no big problem.”

“That’s all right. I know you are the capable man. We trust you,” said Laura with a smile.

As for Humphrey, he was a little worried, but he remembered that his father knew Marsh. If his father talked to Marsh, the problem might be solved.

However, he felt unhappy because he couldn't humiliate Maximilian at once. Maximilian walked to them and cleaned up the rubbish. He was thinking whether to contact Connor or not.

While he was about to pick up a plastic bag, Andy trod on it.

"Are you blind?" Maximilian looked up at Andy and said with a cold face.

"Interesting. You seem to be too rampant. Don't you know what status Mr. Carter has? How dare you talk back to him? Since the money of your mother-in-law will soon be returned thanks to Mr. Carter, you'd better bow your head to thank him."

Andy said these not only to make fun of Maximilian, but also to please Humphrey. He had to take the opportunities to ride Humphrey's coattails.

Lucy followed, "Drag the jerk here and let him apologize to Mr. Carter for his rudeness.”

While she was saying, she cast a glance at Laura. How excited to see Laura’s capable man to teach her son-in-law a lesson!

Laura didn’t care at all since she had prepared to replace this son-in-law for a long time. She was happy to see Maximilian was humiliated by them.

“Crap, are you deaf? Apologize to Humphrey right now!” spoke Laura as an august mother-in-law.

Humphrey couldn’t be more delighted. He stared at Maximilian and imagined Maximilian went down on his knees to him. He was wondering whether to take a photo to memorize that historic moment or not.

“Why should I apologize to him? Has he solved the problem? Where’s your money? Why do you think I was bragging but he was not?"

Then Maximilian walked to the other side, leaving Laura and the others stunned.

"How dare he speak to me like this?"

Laura was about to catch Maximilian back but was pulled by Lucy.

"His words make sense. Is Mr. Carter really reliable? I think that director didn't agree with him just now," said Lucy.

Humphrey answered firmly, "Take it easy. There's no problem. If you don't trust me, you can ask Maximilian the jerk for help. Let's wait and see who the real reliable man is!"

Chapter141It's Terrible

Who was more reliable, Humphrey or Maximilian?

Laura and others did not have to think, and chose to believe Humphrey relying on instincts.

After all, Humphrey's identity and status were much better. In the mind of Laura and others, what Humphrey can do with his fingers may never be done by a thousand Maximilians.

"Don't be angry, Humphrey. Don't mind that loser! I am counting on you this time!" Laura said flatteringly.

Humphrey straightened his clothes and glanced at Maximilian with disdain. It seemed that he was suggesting that your mother-in-law was so respectful to me; don't you come to kneel down for me?

"Psycho." Maximilian muttered and moved away.

Maximilian didn't want to pretend. If Humphrey can't make it clear, instead of seeing him thump, he'd better teach him another lesson.

Walking a little further away from Laura and others, Maximilian took out his mobile phone and called Connor.

In a flash, Connor's cell phone rang.

Connor, who was enjoying the banquet, frowned slightly. He seemed to be very upset about someone calling him at the moment. Sitting opposite Connor, a fat and bulky man said with a smile, "Master Conner, help yourself."

Connor nodded slightly and glanced at the caller ID on his phone. Seeing Maximilian on the screen, Connor's scalp immediately pricked. He stood up in a hurry, quickly answered the phone, bowed and said respectfully, "Hello, sir."

The fat man facing him looked confused. Just a phone call could make him so nervous, whoever on the other end of the phone had to be more powerful than Conner!

Due to the presence of the fat man, Connor didn't call out Maximilian's name.

As the aim of this banquet was to know Maximilian through Connor, the fat man wanted to ride Maximilian's coattails.

But Connor didn't want to help the fat man. After all, Connor had put a lot of effort to know Maximilian. How could he share him with others?

"Do you have a way to deal with Marsh? My mother-in-law's pension money has been put into his investment company, and now she can't even get the principal back." Maximilian said.

Connor was shocked and stared at the fat man with murderous eyes.

"Don't worry. I'll deal with him. I'm sure I can handle it." Connor said decisively.

Marsh, the fat man, was not good. After years of drifting, he felt something was wrong when Connor looked him in his eyes.

He thought he'd never offended Connor. The look in Connor's eyes must have something to do with the person who called Connor.

But who was calling Connor?

It must be the bigwig among the bigwigs who can make him so respectful.

Marsh thought that he was just a little guy, who may never meet with such bigwig, so he shouldn't provoke anyone.

Marsh was in a trance. He felt like he was hallucinating just now. Maybe there were too many fund-raising funds recently. He was nervous and had the delusion of being persecuted.

Just as Marsh laughed at himself and was ready to put it down, Connor picked up the dish on the table and buttoned it down on his head.

BANG!

The dish was broken into pieces, and the greasy soup and colorful dishes flowed down Marsh's head.

"Ouch! It hurts!"

Marsh clenched his teeth and grunted, but he still sat in his seat and didn't dare to move.

This was not an illusion. It must be something he didn't know, or something related to the big figure.

Could it be his subordinates insensitively offended some bigwig who was awed by Connor?

"Master Connor, if you have something to say, as long as I had done anything wrong, I will accept punishment. But you have to let me be an understanding ghost." Marsh said sadly.

Connor looked at Marsh with a gloomy face, "You are so bold that you dare to pit the pension money from the young lord's mother-in-law? Do you think you are a cat and have nine lives? Even if you really have, as long as you offend the young lord, you will die! "

"Young... Young lord!"

Marsh's fat all over the body was shaking out wave after a wave, fully showing his inner fear.

"I, I don't have the money from the young lord's mother-in-law... No, did she put the money into my investment company? "

After Marsh said that, he broke down. What the fuck? It felt like he was sitting at home, misfortune came from hell!

Who would have thought that his mother-in-law would even put the money into the investment company?

With such a good son-in-law, she should let her son-in-law take care of the money! It was easier for him to earn seven or eight times a year. Why did her covet the small profits promised by his investment company!

It was not that Marsh couldn't figure it out. If it was put on anyone, they can't figure it out.

"Well! The young lord is now traveling in the world of mortals. Most people don't know his identity, and even the people around him don't know it. Do you understand? "

It was up to Marsh to do the work, and he should also show his respect to the young lord before his mother-in-law, so Connor decided to remind Marsh.

Marsh suddenly realized that there was a touch of ecstasy in his heart.

It was a blessing in disguise. Although he offended the young lord, as long as he can make up for it, it would be a good chance to meet the bigwig!

"I understand. I'm sure I've done a good job. Don't worry. Please help me tell young lord that it is all are my fault. I hope you can give me a chance to kowtow and make amends. I'm willing to make amends with all my wealth."

Marsh's words were pleasant to ears, but his heart was clear. His family property was astronomical for ordinary people, but for Maximilian, it was nothing.

As long as Maximilian can give him a chance to kowtow and admit his mistake, Marsh could know the big figure.

Connor sneered and said coldly, "You can go to the young lord and say it yourself. Hurry up."

"Well, just a moment."

Marsh, whose face was covered with vegetable soup, quickly got up, cleaned up, changed his clothes, and followed Connor out of the club.

On the way, Marsh took out his cell phone and called the manager of the investment company.

"Baron, did anyone come to the company just now for money?"

"Yes, Humphrey of DK Investment just asked an investment director to talk about it. Our clerk bickered and came back."

Connor gave Marsh a sign, and Marsh nodded. "If Humphrey comes to you again, you should ask him come to me, if he wants money back."

Chapter142 I can

When Maximilian called Connor, Andy was eavesdropping not far away. When he heard that Maximilian was looking for someone to return the money, he immediately laughed.

Maximilian put away his cell phone, turned around, and glanced at Andy, he sneered and ignored him.

As a saying goes, don't speak of ice to insects that live only one summer! Maximilian had no interest in talking with him.

Andy looked at Maximilian and felt that he had been insulted by his behavior. His anger broke out instantly.

"You're a fool, a fart! You're asking for money? Who do you know? Even if you know someone, they're just like you. You still want to compare with Humphrey? You've lost your mind!"

Andy yelled.

"Ah." Maximilian showed his expression, and Andy stopped talking.

Andy showed his middle finger to Maximilian, and then walked quickly to Laura and others.

"Auntie Laura, your son-in-law is looking for help. Does your son-in-law know some big figure outside? He looks serious on the phone. It's like he is talking to the president." Andy added, thinking that the old ladies would give full play to their temper and humiliate Maximilian together.

Lucy spat out a piece of melon seed shell and said with a smile, "This loser has learned something! He wants to share your worries. Amazing!"

Laura's heart was filled with anger. Just now, because of Maximilian's attitude, Laura was ashamed to comfort Humphrey. Now Maximilian was obviously making trouble again.

"Follow me. Don't let this guy fool around. Humphrey, please help me."

Humphrey nodded, thinking that Maximilian was going to compete with himself again. It seemed that if he didn't show his real capabilities, he wouldn't be able to humiliate Maximilian.

"Auntie, don't worry. I'll contact them now. This time, I'll call their general manager to talk about it. They will definitely give us some results." Humphrey said.

"Then I am relieved. Now I am going to teach him a lesson to relieve your grievances." Laura smiled.

Humphrey showed a big smile on his face. He put down all his work and came to help just to see Maximilian's failure. If he didn't humiliate Maximilian, how could he vent his hatred?

Maximilian was bored waiting for Connor's reply. Before getting a reply from Connor, his mother-in-law led a group of old ladies toward him.

"Loser, come here and tell me who you are calling to solve this problem? Let's have some fun together." Lucy said ahead.

When Lily was not willing to fall behind Lucy, she said, "You are such a perennial loser! You don't see how many people here are trying. Which one is not better than you? Do not act omnipotent here!"

"It's insulting to say that he's acting. The loser doesn't dare to fart back when he is bullied. As a waste, you should commit suicide early and reincarnate again."

Laura glared at Maximilian fiercely. The worse her friends said, the more happier she was. She even thought that if these harsh words could lead Maximilian to commit suicide in the street, it would be the best outcome.

Maximilian looked at these old women coldly and said calmly, "You'd better pray Humphrey can help you. I really don't have that ability to help you."

"You are admitting your incompetent. Unfortunately, it's too late. Why did you act just now? You should be satisfied with the title as a loser since you are useless."

Lucy was disappointed, as bullying a waste was really boring without challenge at all. She would feel more sense of achievements to bargain in the grocery market.

"It's boring to talk to you, asshole."

Humphrey seems to have come with someone. Maybe he's the manager of the investment company. Let's go and have a look and teach this rubbish a lesson later."

They all looked at Humphrey, and sure enough, beside Humphrey, there was a man with great momentum.

Humphrey came over with the general manager of the investment company and said with a smile, "Baron, just show me some respect and help solve the money issue for these aunts. I don't care about the rest. It's not difficult for you."

"It is harder than to climb to the sky."

Baron held his head up and belittled Humphrey in a way that didn't look him in the eyes at all.

Humphrey was embarrassed. He thought he would solve the problem, but he didn't expect that Baron wouldn't give him any face.

The expectant expressions on Laura and others' faces suddenly solidified, and they looked at Humphrey with puzzled eyes.

"Baron, why are you so disrespectful? My father and your boss are friends." Humphrey talked about his father and put on airs.

"Your father and my boss know each other. That's also your father's business. If you really have such a high status, you can go directly to my boss. As long as my boss agrees, the money will surely go to your account immediately." Baron replied.

Where was the fuck boss?
Humphrey really cannot talk to Marsh, unless he got to know him through his father.

"Can you make an exception this time?" Humphrey made the last effort.

"I really can't break the rules for you. My boss Marsh has orders. No one can move a cent without his instructions. If you want your money back, go to Marsh."

Baron said with a sneer, thinking that he had completed his task for his boss.

However, Humphrey looked very smart, but how can he offend boss Marsh? Baron was afraid that he would suffer later.

Baron actually had the right to lend money to those who was powerful. It was only because of Marsh's orders that he didn't give Humphrey any face.

Humphrey looked at Baron in a trance. At this moment, he deeply doubted his interpersonal relationship.

His face was so worthless? Why can't such a small matter be settled?

"Ah." Maximilian's cold laughter broke the silence.

Humphrey's cheek twitched, feeling that his dignity was severely hit by his sneer.

With a fierce glare at Maximilian, Humphrey said with great momentum, "Go to Marsh? I can do that with my father's help! Laura, you can rest assured! "

Lucy hesitated for a moment and asked lightly, "Humphrey, who's your father? Can you really handle it?"

"It's useless to get the manager or the director. It would be difficult to find the boss behind them. Humphrey, you have to be ready this time. If you fail, there will be no more chance." Lily said.

Laura quickly stood up and said,
"Humphrey can at least ask the director and manager out. It seemed that others can hardly achieve this?"

"I can." Maximilian said.

