

Chapter 173 I am the Incarnation of Justice

Barney went down on his knees.

Seeing this scene, Cassius, the secretary, and Connor were all stunned. Everyone except Maximilian was stunned.

Barney was the person reaching the top in H City and he could be said to be the local tyrant in H City! Such a bigwig knelt, which was quite unexpected.

“Barney, you... what’s going on? How can you kneel? You are the top leader in H City. How can you kneel?”

The secretary’s eyes turned red. As the saying goes, when a prince is disgraced, a courtier should die of loyalty. Barney had knelt, which was already a shame, so the secretary had to find a way to save face for Barney.

“Why can’t I? You all kneel. Cassius, ask all your men to kneel to Mr. Maximilian!” Barney said through gritted teeth.

The secretary hesitated before kneeling helplessly.

“Kneel quickly. Barney has already knelt. How can you guys still stand and watch? You all kneel to Mr. Maximilian. Two of you come to support me so that I can kneel for him.”

Cassius’s thought was flexible. Seeing his patron’s behavior, he knew he had to admit his mistake immediately; otherwise, what he was waiting for was death.

Two men came over to support Cassius. Cassius’s limbs were all broken, which was extremely painful. Cassius desperately endured the pain through gritted teeth and kept groaning in his mouth. He had broken out into a cold sweat all over.

The subordinates supported Cassius and helped him to kneel. Cassius forced a smile and said very humbly, “Mr. Maximilian, I failed to recognize you before. Please forgive me.”

Barney glanced at Cassius. He was so angry that his whole body was trembling. If it weren't for Cassius who had provoked Maximilian, the catastrophe would have been avoided.

Barney gave a hard slap on Cassius's face with an angry backhand, “You idiot! How dare you provoke Mr. Maximilian? You are so bold!”

“Yes, Barney, what you said is right. It is all my fault. I can't redeem it even if I die a hundred times. I will be at Mr. Maximilian's disposal.”

Cassius, who got smacked in the face, lowered his head and did not dare to resist, but he felt quite bitter in his heart.

If Cassius had another chance, he would kill Andrew and Franklin for sure.

“Mr. Maximilian, I want to confess to you. It was Andrew and his son Franklin who paid 5 million and asked me to send people to make trouble for you. I was instigated by others. Now, I’m telling you the truth, so I can take credit for it, right?” Cassius said with hope in his eyes.

“I knew it a long time ago. Do you think you will be fine if you confess the chief plotter behind?” Maximilian asked with a smile.

“No, I just...just report it. I have to let you know who is hurting you. I’m willing to redeem myself and serve you in the future.”

Barney followed, “Mr. Maximilian, I’m also willing to serve you. You need people on your side in H City. It’s not reliable to rely on Connor alone. I can do many things that he can’t do.”

In an instant, Barney had the idea of riding on Maximilian’s coattails. Sometimes a crisis could also be an opportunity. Although he offended Maximilian this time, as long as he admitted his mistake and worked hard for Maximilian, he would be one of Maximilian’s men in the future.

If he could work for Maximilian, who was extremely powerful, he would have a bright future as well!

When Barney thought about this, he became more excited and made a kowtow to Maximilian, “Mr. Maximilian, I know I was wrong this time. I hope to regard you as my foster father. I will listen to you in the future and I can do anything for you!”

At this moment, Barney didn't want any self-respect at all and all he wanted to do was to lower his posture, got through this crisis, and rode on Maximilian's coattails.

Self-respect was nothing for him at this moment. In history, many dignitaries recognized Mr. Wei, who was a eunuch as foster father and grandfather.

Thinking of this, Barney felt that he was too witty. If he recognized Maximilian as his foster father, it would be possible for him to make progress in the future!

Cassius was stunned. He thought he was shameless enough, but didn't expect that Barney was not afraid of losing face and directly regarded Maximilian as a foster father.

Barney's secretary felt puzzled. In the past, Barney was a very domineering man. But seeing the image of Barney at this moment, the secretary felt as if he had seen a fake person.

"Barney, you...need to be more reserved." The secretary whispered.

"Don't bother! When the flowers bloom, you should fold them quickly. Don't wait until the flowers are gone! The same is true for recognizing a foster father. I finally meet Mr. Maximilian, such a wise and martial foster father so naturally, I have to try my best!" Barney said shamelessly.

Maximilian sneered and kicked the head of Barney, which made Barney roll across the floor.

"Oh! Dad, it's a good kick. I did something wrong just now, so I need to be severely punished by you. I should learn a lesson from it.” Barney shouted, clutching his head, and laughed.

“You are indeed thick-skinned.” Maximilian said resignedly.

Faced with such a brazen person, he could only send him to reform.

Connor was completely stunned. He was experienced and knowledgeable but seeing what Barney had done, he felt that he still underestimated the people in the world. People who could be brazen like Barney might have done lots of evil deeds.

Barney got up, climbed to kneel to Maximilian, and said with a smile, “Dad, you can continue to teach me a lesson. I will listen to you in the future.”

Clop Clop! There was a neat sound of footsteps!

Barney's complexion changed. He looked at Maximilian nervously, "Dad, the patrolmen have come. Please make a call and keep me safe. I have confessed my mistake, and I have sincerely repented!"

"Is it useful to admit mistakes now? If I kill you and then confess to your corpse, am I not a murderer? You might remember what you have done over the years. The evidence of your crimes can be said to be innumerable! Repent half of your life in prison."

A hint of boredom flashed through the corner of Maximilian's eyes.

"No! No, you can't treat me like that. I have already knelt to you and recognized you as my foster father. Can I be your dog? As long as you keep me safe, I will be your dog in the future!" Barney said in a panic.

“I don’t need a dog like you. I despise you.” Maximilian said lightly.

A team of patrolmen rushed in, and the patrolman who led the team walked up to Maximilian to salute.

“Mr. Maximilian, are you okay? We came over as soon as we received the order.”

“I’m okay. Take away all those who are kneeling.” Maximilian said calmly.

“Yes.”

The patrolman who led the team turned to look at Barney, Cassius and others, waving his hand, and said, “Take them all away. I have commanded all the evidence of your crimes.”

The patrolmen arrested them all. Barney scowled at Maximilian, “I curse you not to die!”

“I represent justice so your curse is invalid.” Maximilian sneered.

Chapter 174 Bully My Lovely Daughter

Barney cursed Maximilian along the way after he was arrested by the patrolmen. Barney was so dedicated to acting just now that he thought if he asked Maximilian to be his foster father, showing his loyalty, Maximilian would let go of him.

So at this moment, Barney broke down emotionally when he was arrested. He cursed Maximilian to relieve the sadness and fear in his heart.

Connor silently watched Barney and his men being taken away and felt that he had a better understanding of Maximilian.

Maximilian took out his cell phone and dialed Victoria's number, "Honey, the people behind the scenes have already been taken away. Recently, no one dares to go to the raw material factory to make trouble.”

“What?”

Victoria was surprised. But when she thought of Maximilian’s amazing combat skills, she suddenly felt relieved.

“You... Are you okay?” Victoria asked nervously.

“I’m fine. He is just a fat man. I defeated him easily and then sent him to the patrol.” Maximilian said lightly.

“Oh, that’s good. In this case, I don’t have to take care of the raw material factory anymore. How about we go to the hospital to see Sissi this afternoon?”

“Okay, I miss Sissi too. I’ll see you in the hospital later.”

After Maximilian hung up the phone, Connor bowed and said, “Mr. Maximilian, I’ll take you to the hospital.”

“Okay.”

Maximilian stood up and walked out. Connor followed behind Maximilian like a housekeeper.

Lily-Mae, who was wearing a big red wind coat, led her four-year-old son Hanks into the hospital.

In the corridor of the hospital, Hanks saw Sissi playing alone and immediately shook off Lily-Mae’s hand.

“Hanks, what are you doing?”

“I’m going to play with the little sister.”

Lily-Mae glanced at Sissi and curled her lips disdainfully, “Don’t play with that stinky girl. Beware of infectious diseases.”

Sissi was extremely angry when she heard Lily-Mae’s words.

“Do you have an infectious disease?”

Standing in front of Sissi, Hanks said proudly with his head held high.

“I don’t.” Sissi turned around and ignored Hanks.

Hanks glared at Sissi’s back, stretched out his hands, and punched Sissi’s back suddenly. This punch made Sissi lean against the wall of the aisle.

Sissi felt so painful that she couldn’t help shedding tears, “Why did you hit me?”

“You have an infectious disease, so you are a scourge. I’m hitting the scourge. As long as you die, others will not be infected.” Hanks cursed and spit at Sissi.

“You are the scourge. You are the scourge.” Sissi shaved her hands and was about to scratch Hanks’s face.

Hanks didn’t retreat cleanly and fell onto the ground.

When Lily-Mae saw her son fall, she rushed over and yelled at Sissi, “Where are your parents? How could you be so savage and dare to push my son? I can’t imagine what you’ll look like when you grow up.”

Sissi shrank her neck, looked at Lily-Mae, and cried out of fright by Lily-Mae’s ferocious appearance.

“It’s a common occurrence for children to play like this. This little girl’s parents are not always here and she is a sensible child. Don’t yell at her like that.” The people on the side of the ward said.

“It’s none of your business. My son fell to the ground because of this wild girl. What if he gets injured? Are you responsible for it? Do you know who I am? Do you know who my son's father is? Do you know who my brother is? If you offend our family, don't even think about seeing a doctor for the rest of your life!"

Lily-Mae yelled and frightened Sissi's inmates. They all retracted into the ward and didn't dare to speak anymore.

Lily-Mae turned her head and grabbed Sissi by the collar. She shook Sissi desperately and roared,

"Wild child, your parents gave birth to you but not raised you properly! My son is kind enough to play with you. How dare you push him? I will teach you a lesson today. Hanks, come here and beat her hard!"

"Hanks, remember what I taught you. Don't be afraid of others when you go out. If someone dares to offend you, you can beat him to death. If something goes wrong, our family will be able to solve it. We can't be bullied by others!"

Sissi cried and struggled, but couldn't get rid of Lily-Mae's hand at all.

"Let me go. I have parents. He fell over by himself. He hit me first. I didn't touch him at all. You are a bad guy. Both of you are bad guys." Sissi cried, teary and pitiful.

"You cheeky girl! How dare you say that I am a bad guy? You are so rude! I must give you a lesson and let you know what upbringing is!"

Lily-Mae got annoyed and wanted to reach out her hand to slap Sissi's face, but as soon as she raised her hand, she felt that her wrist was being grabbed.

"Who the hell dare to stop me?" Lily-Mae turned her head, looked at Maximilian who was holding her wrist and shouted angrily, "Hurry up and let me go. Mind your own business. If you don't let go of me, I will get your family ruined!"

Maximilian didn't speak. His eyes were cold and gloomy!

Crack! He raised his hand and slapped Lily-Mae's face so hard that Lily-Mae directly fell over and sat on the ground.

Victoria rushed over from behind and hugged Sissi.

"Sissi, mom is here. Are you okay?" Victoria asked anxiously.

Sissi looked at Maximilian with stars in her big eyes, "Daddy is awesome."

"Sissi, good girl. Honey, you take Sissi to sit nearby. I will talk to this stubborn lady."

Maximilian smiled softly and then stared at Lily-Mae with cold eyes.

“Talk? Fuck! How dare you beat me? I must teach a lesson to you. Not only your daughter, but you are barbarians. You are just poor and miserable. Hurry back to your village. People like you uneducated are not qualified to stay here!”

Lily-Mae roared, clutching her hot cheeks.

Maximilian smiled faintly, “You are the one who is uncivilized. Both you and your son should apologize to my daughter.”

“Apologize? Your daughter pushed my son over and you slapped me. You all should kneel and apologize! If you don’t apologize today, I will immediately let you get out of the hospital and you will have nowhere else to go or see a doctor in H City!”

Lily-Mae was extremely angry. No one dared to slap her for so many years. Damn it! Damn it!

“Let me give you one last chance! If you and your son don’t apologize, I don’t mind being more brutal.” Maximilian said coldly.

“No kidding. Do you think you are qualified to give us one last chance? I won’t apologize to your shit daughter!” Lily-Mae held her head high, full of anger.

Crack! Maximilian slapped Lily-Mae on the other cheek, and Lily-Mae was completely dumbfounded.

“You! Since you are so brutal, don’t blame me for being unreasonable! Wait, you will kneel and beg me because of slapping me!”

After speaking harshly to Maximilian, Lily-Mae turned to look at the patients in the ward and said with tears in her eyes, “You all have seen it. He slapped a weak woman and bullied our family. You must be my witness!”

The patients all turned around and none of them cared about Lily-Mae.

Lily-Mae was even more annoyed when she saw this. She took out her mobile phone, pointed at Maximilian, and shouted, “You rubbish, wait and see! You are all going to die!”

Chapter 175 You Deserve to Die

“Brother, I was beaten by a poor man in the hospital. His daughter seems to be a patient in your department. Hurry up and come here!” Lily-Mae cried and shouted.

“Are you in the inpatient area? I’ll be there right now.” There was a low voice on the other end of the phone.

Lily-Mae put away the phone, pointed at Maximilian, and shouted, “My brother will come here soon. You wait and see! Your whole family has to kneel and apologize to me!”

Victoria had pacified Sissi and asked about what happened. At this moment, when she saw Lily-Mae’s arrogance, she felt a little angry in her heart.

“You’ve been confusing right and wrong all the time. It was your son who bullied my daughter. It's okay if you don't let your son admit his mistake, but you still want to beat my daughter. Do you know anything about propriety, justice, honesty, and honor?

Victoria cursed. In her heart, Sissi was a treasure. Whose child was not the mother's treasured baby?

Lily-Mae glanced at Victoria contemptuously, spit, and shouted, "It's not worth talking about propriety, justice, honesty, and honor with poor people like you who go to the city to work!"

"You now kneel and kowtow to us to make amends. Otherwise, I will not let you go today. My brother is the director of the Department of Hematology and is responsible for this ward!"

Lily-Mae's words created a flutter in Victoria's heart. If this were true, then things would be a bit troublesome.

When Victoria took Maximilian's arm and was about to speak, she saw Murray who was the attending doctor of the department approach.

"Lily-Mae, what's the matter? Who hit you? How is Hanks?"

Murray said with a cold face.

Murray had a good relationship with Lily-Mae. Also, Lily-Mae's husband was powerful and helped Murray to become the director of the department.

Therefore, Murray paid more attention to his sister's feelings and opinions.

At this moment, Lily-Mae was bullied in his department, and Murray was so furious. He wished to kill the person who hit Lily-Mae.

"Brother, you are finally here. They are the ones who bullied me!" Lily-Mae pointed to Maximilian and Victoria and said.

“Look at my face! It is that rude man who beat me. Barbarians like them shouldn’t enter the hospital at all. They are not qualified to see a doctor. They should all get sick and die to clean up the world!”

When Murray saw the palm prints on Lily-Mae’s face, he was so annoyed that the blue veins on his forehead bulged.

“You are so ruthless!” Murray looked at Maximilian and Victoria and recognized the family at a glance.

“It’s you. Sissi usually looks like a very cute child. I didn’t expect that she might have parents like you. How dare you beat my sister?” Murray raised his brows and cursed.

“Director Murray, please listen to my explanation. It’s not what your sister said. That's just her side of the story.”

Victoria tried hard to explain.

It was naturally unwise to offend the doctor in charge of this department.

As long as Murray said a word, all the hospitals in H City would not receive Sissi.

“What you said is not just your side of the story? If I don't believe what my sister said, should I believe a stranger's words?” Murray shouted.

“But the main responsibility is not ours. It's your sister who wants to beat Sissi, so...” Victoria explained.

“Shit! I hit the bastard just to help you teach her a lesson. What qualifications do you have to beat me?” Lily-Mae shouted hoarsely.

Murray patted Lily-Mae on the back, helped Lily-Mae to ease her breath, and said in a low voice, "Don't get excited and leave it to me. I will let them apologize."

Lily-Mae nodded and took her son back two steps.

Murray said with a cold face, "Do you still want Sissi to see a doctor here? If you still want her to receive treatment here, all of your family should kneel and apologize to my sister."

"As for the economic loss, we will not care about it since you are not rich. But you and your wife have to work as servants in my sister's house for three to five months."

Murray put forward a more despicable condition. Anyone who went to Lily-Mae's house as a servant for three months might go mad because of her temper.

"What is in your mind? Can't you think before you speak?" Maximilian said with a cold face.

"Fuck you! How dare you contradict me? I don't think you want your daughter to receive treatment anymore. I just need to say a word and then no hospital and no doctor in H City will treat your daughter. Your daughter just waits to die!" Murray held his head high and said arrogantly.

At this moment, Murray's heart was full of superiority. He felt like a god who mastered life and death.

When Maximilian stepped forward, Victoria grabbed Maximilian and said in a low voice, "What are you going to do? He is the attending doctor. Don't fool with him!"

Victoria worried that Maximilian had become addicted to beating people recently. If Maximilian went up to beat Murray, no one would dare to treat Sissi's illness in the future.

"Don't worry. I just want to reason with him." Maximilian said lightly.

Seeing Victoria stopping Maximilian, Murray was even more proud.

"Ah, poor people like you often refuse a toast to drink a forfeit. Only after you suffer the pain, will you lower your head and be obedient. I will give you one minute to think about it. After a minute, if you don't kneel and admit your mistakes, I will stop Sissi's follow-up treatment."

Murray used Sissi's treatment as a threat. He thought that Maximilian and his wife would suffer a nervous breakdown and then he could control them casually.

Maximilian shook out his hand to get rid of Victoria's hand and strode towards Murray.

Murray frowned, looked at Maximilian vigilantly, and asked, “What are you going to do? Obediently kneel, understand?”

“It’s you who should kneel!”
Maximilian rushed towards Murray and quickly hit Murray’s face with his fists.

Murray’s nose and face became swollen instantly, and his nose was bleeding, incarnadining Murray’s clothes.

“Fuck!”

Murray shook his head and retreated, feeling that there were stars before his eyes and there were double images on everything he saw.

“Brother, brother, are you okay? You are in trouble now. How dare you even beat my brother?”

Lily-Mae was a little panicked and full of anger. Under the intertwining of the two emotions, Lily-Mae became a little crazy.

“Damn it! How dare you beat me? You will be dying miserably! Don’t you know this hospital is my field?”

Murray took out his cell phone and dialed the number of the hospital security chief.

“Hey, Chief Tony, I’m almost beaten to death by the patient’s family. Bring more people here quickly!”

“Okay, Director Murray, wait a minute. I’ll be there soon!”

Murray put away the phone and looked at Maximilian with a sneer, “Don’t try to escape.”

Maximilian smiled, took out his cell phone, and dialed the number of Dean

Jackson, "I won't escape. I will also phone for help. Let's compare and see who is better."

Chapter 176 Insincere attitude

"You're a fucking loser. Who can you call? Loser knows either the poor or useless people. You can call them at will. Let me see who you can call."

Murray was full of disdain upon hearing Maximilian's words. According to common sense, losers would never know bigwig.

"Hello, President Jackson? I'm Maximilian." Maximilian said lightly.

"Hello, Young Lord. I'm Jackson. What can I do for you? If it's a problem of treatment, you can rest assured that the experts have consulted and the diagnosis and treatment plan has been formulated." Jackson bowed and spoke very respectfully.

Jackson knew all about Maximilian's identity and background. He was the boss of the hospital investors.

According to his seniority, he was a character of grandfather level!

"There are some conflicts between Director Murray and me. Come here. It's at the door of Sissi's ward." Maximilian raised his eyebrows and looked at Murray with a bloody nose.

"Murray! Just a moment, Young Lord. I'll be there soon!" Jackson roared.

"Well, I'll hang up."

While watching Maximilian hang up the phone, Murray leaned against the wall, covered his stomach with his hands, and laughed.

"That is so hilarious. You even call President Jackson. You're acting like that."

"You'll see if it's true soon."
Maximilian said with a smile.

"Wait for a shit, you think it's OK to pretend like this, isn't it? It's really naive. You've been given a chance to correct your mistake, but you can't grasp it. It's useless to even call your grandfather later! Your family will die today! "

Murray's face was ferocious!

A rush of footsteps came, and a group of security guards rushed over.

Chief Tony trotted to Murray. While looking at Murray's swollen face and nose and his clothes were covered with blood, he suddenly gasped.

"My God! Director Murray, your injury is serious. Why don't you go to the emergency department first?" Chief Tony flattered while saying.

"No, do you want to let the emergency department see my joke, right? Catch the loser's family first, and I'll settle with them!"

Seeing the arrival of the security guard, Murray had a lot of confidence, and his tone of speech was much harder.

"Yes, yes." Chief Tony turned to look at Maximilian, sized Maximilian's clothes up, then said with a sneer, "Dude, you even dare to beat Director Murray. You have a lot of guts. Come to make amends to Director Murray, or you will be sent to the relevant department for the crime of provoking trouble in the hospital."

"No need for him to make amends. Just catch them. I'll teach them a lesson myself." Murray said coldly.

"Who are you going to teach a lesson?" Suddenly, Jackson's voice came from behind the crowd.

While hearing Jackson's voice, both Murray and Chief Tony were excited.

Unexpectedly, the President of the hospital arrived.

Chief Tony gave a sign to the security guards. The security guards immediately gave the way. Chief Tony bowed to Mr. Jackson.

"President Jackson, I was called here by Director Murray. Director Murray was beaten miserably. So President, do you think we should control the mobs and send them to the relevant departments?"

With the appearance of Jackson, the security chief immediately changed his attitude and reported the situation to Jackson at the first time.

Murray squinted at Maximilian, and saw that Maximilian was calm, which made Murray mutter in his heart. Was President Jackson really called by this poor guy?

Lily-Mae stood beside Murray and said in a low voice, "Brother, how can this happen?"

"How do I know? Maybe it's a coincidence. Let's wait and see."

Murray turned to Jackson and said with a sad face, "President Jackson, you've come just in time. Look at my face. I've been beaten by this mob. You have to do justice for me."

Jackson looked at Murray's face and said, "You deserve it!"

"What?" Murray looked at Jackson in a daze. He couldn't figure out why Jackson said such a word.

"What do you mean, President Jackson? I, Murray, have made a lot of contributions and done some hard works for the hospital these years. I was beaten by this poor man. How could you say I deserve it?"

"Shouldn't you deserve it? Think about what you've done. Have you ever investigated into the truth? Aren't they extremely angry if they are going to hit you? You should reflect on what you've done!" Jackson yelled.

Murray shrank his neck. If they really want to trace back to the source of this, the original problem must be Lily-Mae.

"President Jackson, why do you speak for them? They are just losers!" Lily-Mae roared angrily.

President Jackson looked at Lily-Mae and said with a sneer, "The cause of the matter is you. What the hell is going on with you?"

"What happened? My son played with his wild girl. His wild girl scratched my son's face and pushed my son. I asked his wild girl to apologize, but she dared to talk back to me."

"When I wanted to educate that wild girl, the poor guy rushed over and hit me, and the palm print on my face was still obvious! Then I called my brother. Look at my brother's face; he was also beaten by this poor man!"

Lily-Mae screamed in a sharp voice, like she wanted to vent all her anger.

Jackson pointed to the monitoring not far away and said, "Chief Tony, bring up the surveillance tape and see if things are what she said. If not, contact the relevant departments to deal with it. It is estimated that there is no problem in sentencing the offenders to three or five months in prison."

"Yes, I'm going to ask someone to bring up the surveillance tape and verify."

The captain said in a loud voice.

Lily-Mae was flustered when she heard that they had to check the surveillance and sent trouble makers to the relevant departments. What she said just now was a fabricated story. If they really checked the surveillance, they would find what she said was a lie.

What was more, Lily-Mae was a person who cared about her face and reputation. If she really was sent in and locked up for three or five months, she would feel humiliated.

Lily-Mae looked at Murray for help, but Murray was also a little flustered. He quickly pulled out Chief Tony and said with a smiling face, "President Jackson, it's not necessary to bring up the surveillance tape. For such a small matter, there's no need to check the monitoring."

"Ah, it seems that you have come to understand it. It's OK not to check the monitoring, but you should apologize to Mr. Maximilian's family. As long as Mr. Maximilian agrees not to pursue this matter anymore, it will be over."

Hearing Jackson's words, Murray's eyes flickered and asked in a low voice, "President Jackson, do you know that loser?"

"If he is a loser, you are the grandson of the loser. No, to say you are the grandson of a loser is to praise you. You are not even qualified to be a great grandson." Jackson said with a cold face.

Murray felt a little dizzy, and couldn't figure out Jackson's metaphor.

How came he was not qualified to be the loser's great grandson? He was Murray, the director of the Department. He was making millions of dollars every year. Many medical representatives treated him as a grandfather!

"Don't you apologize? If you don't apologize to Mr. Maximilian, it will be necessary to check the monitoring."

President Jackson put more pressure on him.

Murray bit his teeth hard, turned his head and glared at Maximilian, bowed his head and said, "I'm sorry."

"Your attitude is not sincere enough." Maximilian said in a cold voice.

177 Screwing them

"Murray, is that your attitude of apology? According to the hospital regulations, what you have done is enough to be expelled. If you can't satisfy Mr. Maximilian with your apology, you should pack up and leave. "

Jackson didn't dare to protect Murray. If Maximilian misunderstood him, Jackson would step down from the President position immediately. Murray was shocked. He didn't expect Jackson to help Maximilian like this.

Thinking about the position of the director of the Department, thinking about the rich bonuses from drug sales, thinking about all those beautiful medicine representatives who were willing to contribute everything for him, Murray bit his teeth.

"I have a deep understanding of my own mistakes. I should not protect my relatives indiscriminately. On impulse, I made a big mistake and discredited the image of our hospital. In the future, I will definitely correct my mistakes and ask Mr. Maximilian to forgive me and give me a chance to reform."

Murray finished and looked at Lily-Mae with a cry in his eyes.

If Lily-Mae continued to make trouble, Murray was bound to end up in agony.

Lily-Mae was also a little flustered. She was frightened by the words that President Jackson would check the monitor tape and send the trouble maker to the relevant departments. For a moment, she felt a sense of withdrawal.

"I.....I also know that I am wrong. I should not participate in the fight between two children. I love my son so much that I lost my mind and did many wrong things. I hope you can forgive me. "

Lily-Mae lowered her head and said, with her eyes full of tears. She felt extremely humiliated in her heart. She had never bowed her head to apologize to anyone in public.

Hanks looked at his mother and uncle with his head raised, and looked at the Maximilian unhappily with his mouth puckered.

Lily-Mae pulled Hanks for a while and said in a low voice, "Give the wild... the little sister an apology."

"Mom, I don't want to say, why should I say I'm sorry?" Hanks was reluctant.

Lily-Mae squatted down and whispered a few words in Hanks's ear. Then Hanks said reluctantly, "I'm sorry, I shouldn't hit you."

Lily-Mae wiped her tears from the corner of her eyes, stood up and said, "This should be OK. We have apologized. Can we go now?"

Jackson's eyes shifted to Maximilian. As long as Maximilian said no, it was not over.

Maximilian nodded slightly, and he didn't want to haggle over this awful family. It was better to spend more time with Sissi.

Seeing Maximilian nodding, Jackson said with a smile, "OK, that's it."

"Good." Lily-Mae clenched her teeth and hurried away with her son. Murray looked at President Jackson and followed Lily-Mae out.

"Chief Tony, go and do your work, too." Jackson waved.

Chief Tony waved to the security guards and left with them.

"Mr. Maximilian, you see, this trouble has made your family unhappy. We will report Murray's fault internally. We will also change the doctor in charge of Sissi. We will absolutely guarantee Sissi's recovery."

"OK, you have to take care of it. Go and do your work." Maximilian said calmly.

"Yes, I will take care of it."

As soon as Jackson left, Maximilian turned around and saw Victoria looking at him curiously.

Maximilian smiled and reached out his arms to Sissi, "Sissi, let me hold you."

"Dad's amazing. Sissi loves you the most."

Sissi showed a sweet smile and rushed into Maximilian's arms, "Dad, give me a hug, hold me high."

Maximilian laughed, kissed Sissi on her cheek, and then held her up.

"Ah, it's so high." Sissi was happy and gave out a string of silver bells like laughter.

Victoria looked at Maximilian and Sissi quietly, with a happy smile on her face.

Victoria, who was in an empty mood, felt that she had not been so relaxed and happy for a long time.

Maximilian came to Victoria with Sissi in his arms, "Sissi, do you think Mommy is beautiful?"

"Yes, she is beautiful. The most beautiful thing in the world is my mother. When I grow up, I will be as beautiful as my mother."

Sissi lay on Victoria's shoulder with her arms around Victoria's neck, while looking at Victoria happily.

Victoria scratched Sissi's nose. "You're smart. How nicely you can talk!"

"Mommy, I want to eat something delicious, I want ice cream." Sissi said coquettishly.

Victoria held out her hand with a smile and hugged Sissi from Maximilian's arms. "Come on, mommy will take you to eat delicious food."

"Then you go first. I'll talk to the new doctor arranged by President Jackson later."

"Well, you should be polite to the doctor." Victoria warned him.

She wanted to ask what happened just now, but she was interrupted by Maximilian and forgot it.

Maximilian had a mixed feeling, and said, "I'm not a violent maniac, that's for sure."

Victoria nodded and walked out with Sissi in her arms. Maximilian went to the bench and sat down, waiting for the doctor.

Lily-Mae took her son and Murray into a BMW, and their faces were full of anger.

"Brother, how did you get along in the hospital? You've become the director, and your words meant nothing! I've been helping you all these years for nothing!" Lily-Mae complained.

"Isn't it because the President of the hospital was here? If President Jackson hadn't helped that loser, I would have dealt with him. We can't bear it like this. We must fix the loser well."

Murray was extremely depressed. Now he looked bruised and swollen, he didn't know how to go back to the Department to continue working. If he went back, he would be laughed at by his subordinates.

"My brother-in-law is in charge of all private hospitals in H City. If he comes out, our President will have to be polite. Can we invite him to interfere?" Murray said with flashing eyes.

Asking his brother-in-law to interfere could not only help him regain his reputation but also deter President Jackson from knowing that he also had a strong support behind.

Lily-Mae nodded slowly, took out her mobile phone and dialed her husband's number.

"Hello, Lily, how are you doing with our son in the hospital?" The voice of Kingsley came from the phone.

"Don't mention it. Your son and I were going to be killed. My brother came out to help, but he was beaten hard. Jackson, that old man, is still protecting the man who beat us. We can't bear it anymore." Lily-Mae cried.

Kingsley's brows suddenly wrinkled up, his wife and son had been bullied, and he could not bear it.

"Who did it? Who dared to do it to my wife and son? This was absolutely lawless! What did Jackson do for this? Does he still want to lead that broken hospital or not?"

"Why do you yell at me? If you are so capable, come and help us to get revenge, and clean up those poor people and the old dog Jackson!"

177 Screwing them

Error

Kingsley said fiercely, "Wait for me,
I'll be right there as soon as possible.
It's not finished if I can't screw them!"

