

Chapter 243 The Real Big Shot

Did Master Phillip pick up the food for Maximilian? Hearing Phillips's words, the Wright Family members were dumbfounded.

It was crazier than a mouse being a bridesmaid to a cat!

How could Maximilian deserve it? He was just a loser. How could he make Master Phillip pick up food for him? How could this honor be enjoyed by a loser?

Even if in the whole H City, no one dared to ask Master Phillip to pick up food for him.

The Wright Family all gazed at Maximilian in horrified disbelief.

The guests were also shocked and looked at Maximilian with surprised eyes, not knowing the reason.

“It is ridiculous. Isn’t it said that Maximilian is a wretch? Why are Master Phillip and Master Thomas so respectful to him?”

“It may be a coincidence if just one of them is respectful to him, but both of them are. Therefore, they must have their reasons to do so.”

“The two Master both call Maximilian Mr. Lee, and think about the Mr. Lee who sent the deluxe gift Maximilian. Is it him?”

There were all kinds of speculations among the guests, and then they all looked at Maximilian from different directions.

Alfie’s face twitched a little. He glared at Maximilian with envious eyes as if his eyes could belch flame.

“You wretch, how can you let Master Phillip pick up food for you? You’d better stand up now and serve for Master Phillip!”

Alfie roared with a smell of alcohol.

Phillip rolled his eyes and gazed at Alfie with chill in his eyes. Then he threw his chopsticks directly at Alfie’s face.

“How can you talk to Mr. Lee like this? Are you crazy?” Phillip rebuked angrily!

When the chopsticks hit his face, Alfie felt pain in his face. Full of grievances, he looked at Phillip with puzzled eyes.

Alfie thought he was currying favor with Phillip, but why did Phillip appreciate it?

Alfie felt a lot grievances.

But no one knew his feelings; the crowd just noticed Phillip's respect to Maximilian.

Hugo was stunned and stood still there. No one knew what he was thinking.

The faces of Carson and Gibson turned sullen. Thinking of their humiliation to Maximilian just now, they did not know what would happen if Phillip and Thomas knew it!

The face of Drew also became pale. He thought that he would be the most striking figures at the banquet, but the attentions were attracted by Maximilian in an instant.

Sylvie and her daughter, as well as her son-in-law were nervous, looking at Maximilian with worries, as if Maximilian would kill them as he like.

At this moment, no one dared to despise Maximilian. They were wondering why Maximilian could make the two Masters treat him in such a way!

Before they could find out the reason, the Butler rushed in again.

“Master, there’s something... Master Connor is here! And he sent a large piece of jadeite carving with poems.”

Hiss! The crowd gasped! Carson and Gibson were unsteady on their feet, feeling that what they heard was not good news, but bad news.

It was performing the same way as Thomas and Phillip!

Hugo turned around in a trance and grabbed Carson and Gibson with his thin hands, “Support me, in a hurry, to welcome the distinguished guest.”

Hugo, whose tongue was not sharp at this moment, was supported by his two sons to go out followed by Sylvie and others.

Laura and Marcus walked behind the crowd, frequently looking back at Maximilian with incredible eyes.

Laura was quite clear how useless his son-in-law was, but what happened in front her was like a fantasy. What on earth was going on? How could Maximilian make Phillip and Thomas be so respectful to him?

Victoria looked at Maximilian, who was focused on enjoying the meal. There flashed a light in her eyes.

There had been many doubts in her heart previously, and now she was much more perplexed. Who was Maximilian on earth?

But before Victoria could figure it out, Connor had already entered the atrium.

“Hugo, you look so good. I wish you longevity and all the best.” Connor showed his courtesy with the hands folded. After expressing his congratulations, he began to look around.

The two men behind Connor had sharp eyes and they immediately saw Maximilian, then they told Connor in a low voice, “Master Connor, Mr. Lee is over there.”

Seeing Maximilian, Connor wore a respectful smile on his face.

Hugo repeated the words he had said several times. Then he speculated that Connor was going to take a seat beside Maximilian.

“I’m going to visit Mr. Lee and you don’t need to bother yourself with me.”

Connor said casually. Then he bypassed the Wright Family members and walked quickly towards Maximilian.

Looking at the back of Connor, the Wright Family members almost cried and shouted.

“It was my birthday party!” Hugo was roaring in his heart.

Although he was grouchy, he dared not to offend Connor, Phillip or Thomas, who were all well-known big shots in H City!

Connor walked up to Maximilian with a smile, bowed and said, “Mr. Lee, feel free to punish me for my lateness.”

“Have a sit.” Maximilian said.

Connor breathed a sigh of relief. Then he leaned to sit down beside Phillip, looking at Maximilian respectfully.

The guests had become desensitized to it. After seeing the respects Thomas and Phillip shown to Maximilian, they were accustomed to Phillip's respectfulness to Maximilian.

"Master Connor is also respectful to Maximilian. Maximilian is definitely not an ordinary man. So why did the Wright Family treat Maximilian like that just now?"

"Are the Wright Family members all blind? They should not make it difficult for such a big shot. If I had such a son-in-law, I would treat him as a master."

"That's someone who has eyes but failing to recognize the big shot in front of him. I guess Hugo would regret being so cruel to his grandson. Even his most promising grandson is not qualified to polish shoes for Maximilian.”

The masses had sharp eyes, and they had realized that everything was different from just now.

The one who could make big shots like Connor and Phillip treat with respect could not be an ordinary man, but at least the second generation of the top tycoons.

Hearing the discussions of the guests, the Wright Family members wore a heavy expression as if they were suffering the death of a loved one.

Hugo was trembling so seriously that he would fall to the ground without his son's support.

“What is going on? Laura, what's going on with your son-in-law?” Hugo asked with difficulty.

“I have no idea, dad. Maximilian is a loser in usual.” Laura looked at Hugo in trepidation.

Driven by the drunkenness and indignation, Alfie walked up to Maximilian with hatred and shouted, “You wretch, you’d better stand up and make room for grandpa. You are such a stupid man!”

Chapter 244 Who Were You?

There was a silence among the crowd instantly, and they all looked at Alfie as if they were looking a fool. Considering what had happened just now, how dare Alfie make trouble for Maximilian?

There was only extreme hate of Maximilian in Alfie's heart. He thought if he could not expose the true color of Maximilian, his status in the Wright Family would experience a disastrous decline.

It was faked! It was Maximilian's trick of asking Connor and others to stage a show with him.

Alfie was roaring in his heart.

At this moment, Alfie thought he was a heroic fighter and was about to expose the ugly face of the demon and become a hero respected by everyone.

But the next second, a follower of Connor slapped Alfie bitterly in his face.

"Clap!" With a loud sound, the man gave Alfie a second slap, and then Alfie's face swelled in an instant.

"Who do you think you are? How dare you to yell at Mr. Lee!" The man shouted harshly.

There was a sound of broken ice in Alfie's heart. The dream of a hero to be he had entertained shattered in an instant.

The slap not only shattered Alfie's fantasy but made him wake up from drunkenness.

Covering his face with his hands, he shrank back and dared not show his anger but with extreme fear in his heart.

Staring at the magnificent figure of Maximilian, Alfie felt a chill in his heart as if his blood turned cold.

It was real! Connor, Phillip and Thomas were all respectful to Maximilian!

Alfie could not figure out how things became this, since they all thought Maximilian was a loser!

Noticing Alfie's flinch, Drew and Tommy did gloat over his frustration but felt sad for his end.

If they laughed at Alfie, they were also laughing at themselves, since they humiliated and ridiculed Maximilian just now. If Maximilian would really take revenge on them, the entire Wright Family would have a hard time.

Sylvie's face turned pale. Looking at Maximilian with fear, she even wanted to slap herself, regretting that she should not offend Maximilian for fun.

She was scared that Maximilian would take revenge on her later.

Jessica bit her lower lip with upper teeth so hard that her lower lip was bleeding, but she did not notice it at all.

At this moment, Jessica couldn't feel any pain, because all the pain she could feel was in her heart.

She despised Victoria for marrying the loser before, but the loser had become a man of the honor now.

"It's gold that always shines." Hugo murmured softly and other Wright Family members heard his words clearly.

There was a feeling of powerlessness in Carson, Gibson and others.

The Wright Family would not pay any attention to Maximilian, as if he was just like a snake, but he had changed into a dragon, which the Wright Family could only look up to.

Thinking of their mockery of Maximilian just now, they regretted a lot.

Hugo walked shakily towards Maximilian, and other Wright Family members followed him.

“Since Master Connor, Master Phillip and Master Thomas would like to sit here; I’m willing to sit here to accompany you.”

Hugo was clear that since the three men came here for Maximilian and they all thought the place where Maximilian stayed was the main table, Hugo dared not to sit at somewhere else, but to sit together with them.

If he met the three on another occasion, Hugo was not even qualified to sit at the final place.

Pulling up the chair, Hugo leaned to sit down and smiled at the three. Hugo now could not put his dignity aside to smile at Maximilian.

The three paid no attention to Hugo at all and all their attentions were focused on Maximilian.

Maximilian was uncomfortable under the eyes of the three and the Wright Family members behind Hugo, and then he lost his appetite.

“I’m kind of tired, and I’ll go back with Victoria.” Maximilian said and held Victoria’s hand to stand up. Then he tipped the three a wink before he went out with Victoria.

Watching Maximilian walk out of the atrium, the Wright Family members breathed a sigh of relief. Maximilian maintained the dignity for the Wright Family by not making troubles for them.

Connor, Phillip and Thomas looked at each other. They all had sharp eyes, so they were quite clear about the meaning Maximilian conveyed with his eyes.

"Hugo is really good at running the family. I have heard that Wright Family is a family of poetry and books, and it lives up to its reputation."

"The Wright Family is famous in H City. You should uphold your good tradition and don't do anything to ruin your reputation."

"You'd better cultivate your children well, or it's bad for your family if they do not grow up with good qualities."

The three said one after another, and their words implied something.

Hugo was on tenterhooks and was about to explain, but only to see the three leave.

“Now that Mr. Lee has gone, we’ll leave either. Enjoy yourselves.” Connor said and then left with Phillip and Thomas.

Hugo sat blankly in the chair, sweat sheathed on his forehead.

Carson stood there motionlessly, recalling their words.

The guests were shocked again, and then there was a heated discussion. It seemed that the sound would overturn the roof of the atrium.

“The Mr. Lee who sent the deluxe gift must be Maximilian. There can’t be anyone else. Maximilian must be a member of a wealthy family considering the attitudes of Master Connor to him.”

“Maybe Maximilian just changes his clothes and hides his identity. After leading a wealthy life for a long time, he just wants to experience another kind of life. It's a pity that the Wright Family is not perceptive enough to seize the opportunity."

"But I've never heard of a Family Lee among the top tycoons. Is it possible that Maximilian is an illegitimate son of a big shot? But considering Maximilian's demeanor, he will definitely be a big shot in the future."

The guests were guessing the identity of Maximilian. If Maximilian hadn't left, many would make a toast to him and try to build a good relation with him.

Looking at the three leaving after Maximilian, everyone understood that the three bigwigs were all here for Maximilian and left after Maximilian. It had nothing to do with the Wright Family at all.

If it had something to do with Wright Family, it was because of Maximilian.

When the Wright Family members were stunned and in a trance, Maximilian and Victoria had walked out.

Walking out of the house of Wright Family, Victoria could no longer hold back her doubts, then she stopped, looking at Maximilian with a serious expression and asked, "Maximilian, tell me the truth. Who are you and what's going on just now?"

Chapter 245 A Big Shot Came!

Watching Victoria's serious expression, Maximilian mediated for a while and intended to tell her the whole story.

Suddenly, a Rolls-Royce Phantom stopped beside them, then Wilfred opened the car and got off.

After a glance at Maximilian, Wilfred walked up to the couple with smile, "Mr. Lee, thanks for your help last time. I heard that you were coming to Hugo birthday banquet, so I just made some arrangements on my own."

Victoria looked at Wilfred with confusion, and then she looked at Maximilian and asked, "What arrangements have you made?"

"I just sent a birthday gift to Hugo in name of Mr. Lee. Well, I don't know Mr.

Lee's intentions, so I just sent it in name of Mr. Lee, but not your full name."

"Besides, Connor, Phillip and Thomas are all my friends. I just asked them a favor to support the banquet. Is Mr. Lee satisfied with my arrangement?"

Wilfred said in vivid detail, and Victoria almost believed it.

But thinking of the deluxe gift sent by Mr. Lee, Victoria was doubtful. What did Maximilian do to help Wilfred that Wilfred should give such a luxurious gift?

Although Wilfred was a man of great wealth, his fortune was not made easily, so he could not send such a gift for no reason at all.

But what could Maximilian do for Wilfred? It seemed that there was nothing Maximilian could do for him.

Wilfred was such a sophisticated man that he guessed that Victoria might not believe what he said by looking at her expressions, then he said with a smile.

“Miss Victoria, I’d like to have a secret talk with Mr. Lee.”

Victoria knew that Wilfred wanted to talk with Maximilian in private, so she nodded and stepped back.

Maximilian and Wilfred walked aside, then the two stood in a secluded place and talked in a low voice.

“Young Master, I just got the news that Dragon Queen will come to H City recently. It’s not clear why she comes here, but I think she is here for you.”

There was a cold light in Maximilian’s eyes, and then he wore a cold and sullen expression, “How dare she come here again?”

“Now she is influential in Dragon Sect, but she has always regarded you as a thorn in her eyes, so she must come here to do your harm.” Wilfred was a little perturbed.

Wilfred and Maximilian were in the same boat. If anything happened to Maximilian, Wilfred would come to no good end.

Dragon Queen had been hostile to Maximilian for a long time, and there was no chance that they would be at peace. There must be a cut-throat fight between them.

“I know. I’ll be fully prepared. If she has bad intentions, I’ll give her a deadly defeat.”

Maximilian had made determined efforts. He thought that he would fight against Dragon Queen with all his strength to put an end to this.

It was unwise to just always guard against thieves. Since Dragon Queen had been thinking about doing harm to Maximilian, Maximilian would not await his doom.

Wilfred nodded with a serious look, “Don’t worry, Young Master. I will make full preparations and there will be absolutely no problems unattended.”

“Well, collect more information. We’d better have a clear idea about her movements. I’d like to see what she would do.”

“Yes. I have made arrangements to collect information about her as much as possible.”

Wilfred, who had worked as a Butler for most of his life, had long developed the habit of being careful and prudent. After Maximilian making up his mind and giving orders, Wilfred could do everything well, whether to check or make detailed arrangements.

After a brief conversation, the two made a decision on a major event related to their fate.

If average people encountered such a vital event, they would complain a lot at least, then they would analyze the situation carefully with worries and the final decision would be made after several days' thinking.

“Then I’ll go back and made arrangements.” Wilfred was about to leave. Looking at Maximilian, Wilfred suddenly realized that Maximilian and Victoria did not drive here, and then he laughed, “Mr. Lee, Miss Victoria, I’d like to give you a ride home, how do you think?”

Maximilian glanced at Victoria, who was curious about the relationship between the two. Thinking that she could have a close observation, Victoria nodded and agreed.

Wilfred and Maximilian walked to the Rolls-Royce Phantom. Maximilian went up first to open the door, worried that Wilfred would open it for him, which would arouse Victoria's suspicion.

When Maximilian, Victoria and Wilfred got on the car, the Wright Family members realized that they should see the distinguished guests off, so they trotted after them. Many guests did not know what they were going to do, but they joined them for fun.

Walking out of the house, the crowd happened to see Maximilian, Victoria and Wilfred standing next to the Rolls-Royce Phantom, then Maximilian opened the car door.

"Is it a Rolls-Royce? It's a top luxury car. But it looks a little different from an ordinary Rolls-Royce.” Tommy said with doubts.

Drew sneered, “It is the Rolls-Royce Phantom, which costs tens of millions of dollars. There’s no doubt that the ordinary one is not a patch on it.”

All the Wright Family members and guests gasped.

Anyone who could own a Rolls-Royce was definitely a great figure. Those who owned the Rolls-Royce Phantom was absolutely the top magnate. No ordinary man could afford such a car.

“Who’s the old man with Maximilian? He looks kind of familiar, but I don’t remember where I saw him.” Carson rubbed his forehead and said.

Wilfred was also a rich man and some his photos were exposed when he attended some business activities. So Carson would feel that he had seen Wilfred before.

Gibson also rubbed his head to think about the identity of Wilfred, "I do have the same feelings, but I just can't tell who he is."

No matter how hard they tried to think about his identity, they could not remember where they had seen Wilfred.

"Laura, do you know the man with Maximilian?" Hugo asked with his eyebrow twisted.

Laura had recognized Wilfred earlier before, but she just couldn't believe that Wilfred should talk and laugh with Maximilian.

Hearing Hugo's questions, Laura came to her sense from shock and answered with her lips trembling, "I do. He is..."

Laura lost her tongue and stammered out incomplete words.

Hugo stamped his foot and shouted, "Get to the point!"

"He is Wilfred, chairman of New Hemp Group." Laura said in a speedy voice.

"He should be the chairman of New Hemp Group, the richest man in this area!"

"New Hemp Group is among the top 100 in the world's top 500."

"Oh, my god. Maximilian do have connection with such a big shot!"

Chapter 246 Good job!

The guests talked about Mr. Collins's identity one after another. When they looked at Mr. Collins, their eyes turned green, as if they were hungry wolves. They all wanted to rush up to hold his legs.

Don't mention the legs, as long as they could grab a finger, they could live a happy life from now on.

"I can't believe that I can meet Mr. Collins here. It's necessary to introduce myself to him."

"It's a blessing for you and me to have a word with Mr. Collins. If you can make a good impression on him, you'll be too excited to sleep all night."

"Hurry to say hello to Mr. Collins. If it's too late, I'm afraid there's no place for us to stand. Hurry up."

The guests were ready to move, and Hugo was almost on fire. He said anxiously, "What are you doing? Help me quickly and let's go to see Mr. Collins."

Carson and Gibson helped Hugo and walked quickly toward the direction of Mr. Collins.

Drew, Alfie and Tommy became very embarrassed. They didn't listen to the guests' comments. They were thinking about how Maximilian could sit in the Rolls Royce Phantom.

If it was an ordinary Rolls Royce, but a mirage worthy tens of millions of dollars. It was not a car the poor guy Maximilian should ride!

"Maximilian has gone too far. At this time, he is still pretending. He really thinks he is the dragon lord?"

"We can't let him be so arrogant here. We have to teach him a good lesson."

Alfie and Tommy murmured. They rushed to Maximilian together, and Drew followed them with indignant.

Hugo and the guests went to Mr. Collins. The closer they got to him, the slower they walked. They were all spinning their brains and brewing how to say hello to Mr. Collins.

At this time, Alfie and others passed Hugo and stood in front of Maximilian, looking at him angrily.

"Shit, you're such a loser. You are pretending to be someone from inside to outside! Have you saved your pocket money for half a year just to rent the Rolls Royce to show off?"

"The old man is your driver, isn't he? You have to hire a young and strong man! It's only appropriate to ask the old man to pretend the housekeeper. You loser don't know anything. Just stop pretending!"

"Victoria, is it with your support that he has to do this? Are you two really fooling our grandfather and us from the beginning to the end? Now I could see the family resemblance!"

Alfie and Tommy shouted to Maximilian and Victoria with ridicule, but Hugo and the guests were all stunned, eyes dull looking at the dignified Alfie and Tommy.

Drew didn't rush to follow them, but was carefully observing them.

Victoria sighed helplessly. With these relatives, she didn't know what to say. Maximilian still put up a light expression and took Alfie and Tommy's words as barking.

But Mr. Collins couldn't do it. As a saying goes, the minister would rather die than see his monarch humiliated, as a minister, he has to protect the Lord!

Mr. Collins, who was so angry that he pointed to Alfie and Drew, roaring, "Do you want to die? How dare you shout in front of me?"

"Yo, you old man is quite bold. Want to blackmail in front of our house? Let me tell you the truth, we do not care at all. On the land of H City, there is nothing our family can't handle."

"Yo man, how much did he pay you? We'll give you double. As long as you expose him, I'll give you five times, or even ten times. "

Mr. Collins's whole body trembled, "You are really looking for death. You think that your Wright family was something. As long as I say a word, I could let the Wright family disappeared in one minute!"

"Bah!" Alfie spat and said with disdain, "The old man is still pretending. Are you the drama king? The loser could only play with other losers! I think you are just a loser."

"How dare you speak to us like this? If we didn't have a heart of respecting the old and loving the young, we would have beaten you up!"

Alfie and Tommy were still blatantly shouting, not far away Hugo had been scared almost fainted, constantly muttering, "Evil, how could I raise these two evil!"

Carson and Gibson's eyelids were jumping, and their cheeks twitched madly, and their blood was almost frozen to ice.

The guests at one side looked at the Wright family with strange eyes. They all felt that the Wright family would not survive another week if they offended Mr. Collins. They could find a way to make up for it, if they offended Thomas. They were afraid that the whole Wright family would be destroyed.

"What's wrong with the descendants of the Wright family? How dare they do this to Mr. Collins? I hope we won't be implicated."

"I don't think it is good. What a respectable man Mr. Collins is, how can he be humiliated like this? The Wright family had caused a disaster this time. Today's birthday party is going to be a funeral."

The guests murmured, and many of them began to retreat far away, for fear that they would be involved if they got close.

"These brats are shouting with fire.

Why are they so crazy at this time? We have to pull them down quickly." Sylvie reminded in a low voice.

Hugo shook off Carson. Gibson held his hand and walked to Alfie and Tommy.

Alfie and Tommy were shouting hard, but they didn't notice Hugo approaching.

Hugo came to them, riveted enough strength, and waved his palm to them.

Pop! The slaps hit Alfie and Tommy one by one on the forehead, and shut them up.

"Are you two crazy? How dare you be so disrespectful to Mr. Collins? Get down on your knees and apologize to him!"

Alfie and Tommy looked at each other with a look of shock. They didn't know who Hugo was talking about.

Just now, they just envied and hated that Maximilian could sit in the Rolls Royce phantom, and did not pay attention to the audience's comments on Mr. Collins's identity.

Drew stepped back and sneaked into the crowd, thinking that he was lucky to be cautious, or he would make a mistake like them.

Seeing Alfie and Tommy in a daze, Hugo gritted his teeth and waved his arm to them again.

Pop! "After two crisp slaps, Hugo growled, "Kneel down! Do you hear me?"

Alfie and Tommy looked at Hugo, and then looked at their father and guests, and finally understood they had made a big mistake.

They knelt down in front of Mr.

Collins, "I'm sorry, Mr. Collins, we don't know your identity, so ..."

“Hum!” Mr. Collins snorted coldly, "Apologize to Mr. Lee!"

Chapter247 Lucky

Both Alfie and Tommy swayed their bodies, and showed an embarrassed expression.

They knelt down to Mr. Collins. After all, the status was indeed high. But they were totally reluctant to kneel to Maximilian, Looking at the two young men who bowed their heads and didn't move or speak, Mr. Collins said with a sneer, "You have backbone, don't you?"

Hugo was in a panic and knew that Mr. Collins was going to be angry.

"What were you two brats doing? Apologize to Maximilian!" Hugo growled, biting his teeth.

Although Hugo was reluctant, due to the power gap, they had to amend. Now even if he broke his teeth, he had to swallow them.

Alfie and Tommy knelt down to Maximilian helplessly, "Sorry, we are wrong. Just now we are full of shit. Please forgive us."

Victoria gently pulled Maximilian, indicating Maximilian to forgive them.

Maximilian nodded slightly and said with no expression, "Okay, go away."

Filled with resentment, Alfie and Tommy stood up and rushed into the crowd. After hiding in the crowd, they felt that they had lost all their dignities.

"Shit, this useless loser. He must kneel for me for a day in the future!" Alfie said fiercely.

Tommy did not speak, but watched the guests around him gather to Mr. Collins and Maximilian.

Hugo had no time to care about his face. He bowed slightly and came to Mr. Collins with a smile on his face.

"Mr. Collins, if I had known you're here, I'd like to welcome you. I'd like to invite you into the house to have a cup of tea."

Mr. Collins shook his head, "Do you think I dare to come to your house? I'm afraid I'll be insulted by your family again."

Hugo was embarrassed and hated Alfie and Tommy even more.

Guests came up as well, greeting Mr. Collins and Maximilian, and warmly introduced themselves.

"Mr. Collins, I am Harry, the general manager of XS. You can call me if you have something."

"Mr. Lee, I am Toby of the GP electronics. If you have any need, please call me."

"Mr. Collins, Mr. Lee, I am..."

Looking at the guests who were almost targeted at Maximilian and Mr. Collins, Hugo and the family were miserable.

If Maximilian had not been treated like that just now, how would it be like now? Maybe everyone had to chase and flatter the Wright family, and then go through the Wright family to meet Mr. Collins.

But now, everyone knew that the Wright family wasn't in a good relationship with Mr. Collins, or Maximilian. In the future, they might find troubles with the Wright family in order to show themselves in front of them.

Just one mistake, it was all it would take!

In the corner, Drew stared at Maximilian with gloomy eyes. Nobody could tell what he was thinking.

Carson, Gibson and Sylvie hadn't realized it. They still look dull. It seemed that their brains were shut down.

Laura and Marcus hold hands tightly together. They don't know whether they should be sad or happy.

Alfie and Tommy had already lost their mind. They were full of fear when they saw so many guests fawning on them.

"Tommy, am I dazzled that these people should flatter them? And they abused and humiliated them just now... How much trouble it has been caused? "

Alfie was uneasy, thinking that if Maximilian and Mr. Collins yelled a reward for killing Alfie, the crowd around them would rush to kill them.

Tommy swallowed saliva and said with uncertainty, "We had knelt down and apologize to him. It shouldn't be so bad. Maximilian is not such an evil."

"I can't figure it out. In the past, I humiliated that guy, but nothing happened. How can it turn out like this?"

Alfie and Tommy were confused, and gradually fell into meditation, thinking about how Maximilian did all this.

Carson came back, grabbed Laura and asked, "Laura, what's the matter with your son-in-law?"

"I don't know. I just saw him and Mr. Collins together once before, but at that time, Maximilian said nothing. He just helped Mr. Collins a little, and Mr. Collins sent him home by the way."

Laura flipped the memory in her mind, but she couldn't figure out what the reason for this fantastic scene was. Maybe she had to go home and ask him.

"Laura, what I said just now is a little too much. Don't take it serious. Since Maximilian has something to do with Mr. Collins, you should take it well." Carson said with sincerity.

Laura had no choice but to smile bitterly. She wanted to have a relationship with Mr. Collins in deed; however, her loser son-in-law was so useless, so she couldn't ride on his coattail.

Maximilian looked at the noisy crowd and got upset. He gave Mr. Collins a wink. Mr. Collins took out the authority of the richest man and expelled them impolitely. Then he got on the car with Maximilian and Victoria.

As the Rolls Royce Phantom slowly drove away, the guests felt a little disappointed. They thought if they could stand up for Maximilian just now and say a word for Maximilian, they would be able to ride Mr. Collins's coattail now.

Unfortunately, life went on without ifs, they could only regret for their loss.

"Tell me what the origin of Maximilian is and why does he have so many social connections? Not only Connor, but Mr. Collins comes to meet him in person."

"It seems that the Wright family members don't know how powerful he is. It's not easy as we think. There must be something we don't know."

"Anyway, it's always right to be polite when you see Maximilian in the future.

If such a person can be called as a loser, we are worse than a loser."

Listening to the guests' comments, the Wright family had mixed feelings. When things got to this point, no one cared about the birthday party.

Hugo stamped his feet and sighed. He came up to Laura and didn't know what to say.

"I don't know what's going on, Dad. I'll call you when I figure it out." Laura quickly explained.

"Hurry up, it shouldn't be too late. Carson, you send them back, you must figure it out. That's a big chance for the Wright family." Hugo said excitedly.

Carson took out the car key and sent Laura and Marcus home.

The guests also bid farewell to Hugo one after another, and his 70th birthday came to an end.

As soon as Maximilian and Victoria entered the house, Laura and Marcus followed them.

Maximilian was boiling water, and said with a smile, "Mom and Dad, you are back, please sit down. I'll make you tea."

Laura said with a kind face, "Don't bother now. Tell me what happened between you and Mr. Collins."
