The Billionaire's Secret Affairs Chapter 10 By Shein Althea

"Ouch!"

Anya was suddenly overtaken by a pinch on her side. When she looked back, her Pappi immediately appeared in her sight.

Anya frowned at the same time, but it only made her Pappi frowned and raised an eyebrow.

"What happened to you last night? Why didn't you come home?" her Pappi said as he looked at her from head to toe.

"It's bad to look liked that Pappi. Judgmental?" she replied.

Anya was in the kitchen of their house and was in a hurry that day because she woke up late this morning. Apart from the fact that she was very tired last night with Andrius, it was still painful and her thighs seemed to be numb.

She blushed at the thought. Shame rose suddenly in his chest. She couldn't even look at her Pappi in the eye because she surely got a pinch from him.

Anys closed her eyes but suddenly opened it because she saw Andrius' face. She commanded himself. She was going crazy.

Crazy about the relish Andrius experienced with him.

"Hey! You're stunned there!" her Pappi shouted and slapped her shoulder.

Anya blinked because of what he did and seemed to wipe out any obscenity she was thinking. She stood up and suddenly frowned when she felt a slight pain between her thighs.

"When will you be gone?" she whispered to herself. She felt frustrated. She did not know that the first one was that painful.

"Ah! You b child. You want me to disappear?" emotional statement of her Pappi at the same time still holding on to the chest.

Anya rolled her eyes on him. Her Pappi act exaggerated that he annoyed her. He was shaken and did not recite any of its dramas. K-drama affected her father so much. Especially and just after The King Eternal Monarch starring his crush Lee Min Ho.

Anya kept walking out of the house. She immediately reached for the Grab she had been booked earlier. After she entered, the driver immediately pulled her over.

"Man, I'm in the Monterio Empire main building."

The driver just nodded and did not answer. When Anya reached the destination, she immediately went down. She continued walking towards the Monterio building.

Her co-workers immediately looked at her. The guard's whistling did not escape as soon as she entered.

Who would not stare at her? She walked and dressed differently. Her eyeglaes remind but her skirt was more fit than the loose ones from last time. She even wore a v-neck sleeveless blouse to emphasize her collarbone. While, wearing two and a half heels for her feet.

Anya looked gorgeous. Everyone inside the lobby looked at her with admiration, especially boys. She immediately went straight to the scanner and logged in there. When she finished, she approached Mrs. Alonzo with a smile and greeted.

"Hi! Mrs. Alonzo. Good morning! Why do you seem to be in a bad mood right now?" she said with a smile.

Mrs. Alonzo lowered her glaes and stared at her and then raised an eyebrow. She felt like she was annoying to her.

"Nothing good in the morning," he replied angrily to her, then she looked at her from head to toe. When she got tired of looking, she stared at her.

Confused, Anya went straight to the elevator. It seemed that everyone today was annoyed with her. She wasn't worried but still surprised.

"Maybe that boss is paying attention."

Anya heard someone whisper from the hallway. She raised an eyebrow and looked at them. These are two women approaching her. It looked like they would also take the elevator.

"Do you have a problem with me?" Anya asked them when they reached the same spot she was in.

The woman also raised an eyebrow at her. "Why are you affected? Guilty much?" the girl answered sarcastically. They even laughed in front of her.

"Look. If you have a problem with me, tell it straight to my face," she said irritated.

Anya believed that persons who backstab others are those who are weak. Those kinds of people he thinks are pathetic.

“Why? Isn’t it true that you pay attention to the boss? You also feel it. You’re just a nerdy one!”

She raised an eyebrow at what the woman said.

“I don’t need to pay attention anymore because I’ve noticed for a long time,” she said calmly but with conviction. The elevator opened just in time and she immediately went inside. She waited for the two to enter but they seemed stunned by what she said.

Anya pressed the twentieth floor quickly. After the elevator door closed, she leaned the elevator wall and maaged her temple. Andrius was giving her a headache and that was for sure.

She was still leaning when the elevator suddenly rang. When she looked at it she was still on the tenth floor of the building. Anya just ignored it and looked up again with her eyes closed.

Stress was killing her. Andrius was giving her so much stress.

“A penny of your thought?”

Anya was shocked. She instantly opened her eyes when she felt Andrius’ breathe close to her. A pair of blue eyes greeted her instantly. It was t*ling and seemed happy. An eye that can wash away all her uncertainty.

Anya’s heart hammered from the sight. Andrius blue eyes could drive away her sanity. It was as if it could bring her in different dimensions.

Andrius eyes. It was a magnificent view.

Anya gasped for breath when she realized she forgot how to breathe. She was caught off-guard for mesmerizing him. And it was bad for her. Really really bad.

“W-what are you doing?” Anya blushed when her voice stuttered. She instantly looked down to hide her already red cheeks.

Andrius Monterio, a billionaire CEO instantly laughed silly. Anya knew, he was teasing her. And she liked it. She liked being teased by him.

Andrius bent down on her while his arm was in the elevator wall. He looked at her intently while an amused grin was evident in his face.

"Look at me, baby," Andrius pleaded, while Anya obliged in an instant. "I want to kiss you, baby. A kiss in a Monterio way."

Anya nodded. She closed her eyes abruptly when she felt his lips to her, and savored the moment. She knew it was bad for her, but she didn't care. She couldn't help it. No one could help her from drowning to this blue eyed billionaire in front of her.

The kiss was slow and gentle. Andrius was savoring all the corners of her lips and she let him. He even bit her lower lip slowly. It was an invitation from him. Andrius wanted her to respond from the kisses, and she did. She kissed him with the same gentleness and the same paion.

She felt Andrius smile in between their kisses. He grabbed her waist and pulled her close to him. While Anya wrapped her arm on her neck. They were kissing each other rough and senseless this time.

"Ohh!" Anya couldn't help but moan from the sensation he was giving. She felt his thing poking her belly, too.

They were on the verge of doing 'it' inside the elevator when it stopped. Anya quickly pushed Andrius away from her.

"f!" Andrius cursed under his breath.

Anya furrowed her eyebrows and looked at him. She was irritated also but work will always be work. And it was her top priority.

"We're on the floor. Stop your lust," he said.

Andrius pouted his lips. Though frustration was evident in his eyes.

"Only you can make me h*. Only you can make me flirt."

Anya raised an eyebrow at what he said but with a strange feeling it also brought her.

She hoped it was true..

Anya adjusted herself first and was about to walk out when she suddenly remembered something. She looked at Andrius and stared at him seriously.

"Don't flirt with me first. It still hurts down there. Jusko! What kind of person are you!" she complained.

Andrius couldn't help himself but laugh in amusement. His laughter echoed the whole floor. He didn't mind anyway. Twentieth floor was his floor alone. He could do whatever he wanted, even taking Anya in his own table.

Anya quickly went out of the elevator and walked fast towards her table. Her face was red again. Andrius Monterio could easily make her blush without too much effort.

When he confronted her, Anya thought he would just pass her by. But to her surprise he leaned closer to her table. Andrius grabbed the back of her head, pulled her close to him and bent down to kiss her temple.

"Don't stress yourself too much. You know, you're not just my secretary Anya. We're a thing. And you're special to me," Andrius whispered in her ears, giving her an undeniable feeling. She was electrified and it turned her on too.

Andrius left. Anya restrained herself from calling him even though she really wanted to kiss him again.

Anya regretted it but it was for the best. She was not well and he was not yet able to. She might get laceration when they forced each other.

In a few moments they were both busy working. Andrius was very serious with his hotels in Germany. This was the focus of his boss now. It was being harassed by the opposing hotel chains there.

Andrius glanced at it and just read the documents in front. It was obvious that he did not enjoy reading.

Anya gasped. No matter what else she does she could not help him either. Germany was the center of the empire so it must be the leader when it comes to income every month of the entire Monterio Chains of Hotels.

Anya was busy taking care of her pending paperwork when suddenly someone called her cellphone. When she looked at it, it was Carla on the other line. She answered her call because she also missed her friend.

"Hello?" she asked on the other line. Anya was about to lower it without a clear answer from it when she heard sobs.

"Are you all right, Carla? What's wrong with you?"

Anya was nervous. She looked at her wrist where she found her watch. It was already ten in the morning. She stopped everything she does and started picking up things to leave.

She would go to Carla. Her best friend needed someone right now on her side so she would sympathize with her first. That was what best friends are for.

For Carla.

For her best friend.
