

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress

Boss Chapter 1729

Chapter 1729 Spending Money Like Water

Nicole reached out her hand and looked at the big diamond ring on her finger. She calmly said, "Mm, I know. That's not a projection or drones. It's a chemical reaction produced by some special element and fog.

"As the fog evaporates, it creates the illusion of a meteor shower..." Nicole finished briefly and suddenly felt the silence from over the phone. After a long time, Nicole called out to her.

"Yvette?" Yvette could not help but ask, "OMG! Was that proposal prepared for you? Did Clayton do that?" Nicole curled her lips. "Yup!" Yvette sighed in shock.

"Holy sh*t! Here I am trying to find out who did it, but it turned out to be yours?! Why is he so fast? Is it because you're pregnant, so he wants to push things on quickly? Mr. Sloan is really something, huh?" Nicole could not help but sigh and rubbed her head.

"It'll happen sooner or later anyway. I also didn't expect it, but I'm quite satisfied." "How can you NOT be satisfied?! What else do you want?" Yvette laughed. "You had a good night last night, huh? Isn't it extremely romantic that you just feel that you two being together is the best thing in the world? Thinking about last night, Nicole suddenly blushed.

Nicole clicked her tongue. "Well, you woke me up again. I'm gonna wash my face. Bye!" Yvette said, "Take a couple's bath while you're at it!" Nicole was speechless.

She hung up the call, glanced at her phone, and saw the online comments. There was no doubt that everyone's comments on that meteor shower last night were simply in extreme admiration. No one expected to witness such a mystical scene in real life unless it was in science fiction movies.

However, some people really saw it. Nicole secretly smiled. Fortunately, Clayton was quite low-key and did not put her name on display. Otherwise, her name would also appear in this lively discussion today.

As the news of her pregnancy spread in the Stanton family, Floyd decided that Nicole would only go to work depending on her mood in the future. Kai had to take over some of Nicole's work again, which made him look bitter every time he saw Nicole, Clayton, and Grant.

Kai looked like he wanted to go up and bite them. When Nicole and Clayton got their marriage license, it was very low-key. The two of them wore simple white shirts and went to the City Hall.

Floyd refused to go as he could not bear to witness that scene. He felt that his heart and soul for so many years was gouged out, and his heart became empty. However, when they showed Floyd their marriage license, Floyd still cheerfully looked at it over and over again, feeling very pleased.

Their wedding was arranged on Bali Island. Even though it ended many days ago, the people who went to the wedding that day could not describe in words the grandness and brilliance of that wedding.

Everyone only knew that Clayton was a relatively successful investor, but no one knew how much money he really had. The wedding was planned by the Stanton family's butler, Mr. Anderson.

However, Roland also found a professional team to help out. Thus, all the costs were borne by Clayton. When the expenditure was flowing out like water, Clayton's people did not even bat an eyelid.

Even Mr. Anderson felt a little shocked. Mr. Anderson told Floyd about this matter, but Floyd only pondered for a while and did not say anything. He bowed his head and said, "Whatever, just let him be..." Even though Floyd said that, Floyd still looked ver

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 1730

Chapter 1730 It's Yours

Nicole was not involved with the wedding arrangements and was shocked when she saw it. Even though she had attended many elite weddings and had seen many customs of the gentry, she felt that this wedding that Clayton planned was a mix of freedom, wildness, opulence, and joy.

It had completely exceeded her expectations. The public did not know about their wedding, nor was any of the media invited. Everyone who attended the wedding was advised to put away their phones to enjoy the ceremony.

Thus, the outside world did not know that Nicole and Clayton had gotten married. The married Nicole felt no different from her unmarried self, so she happily accepted the status quo. One day, Nicole was working at the office. Yvette ran over with great enthusiasm and dragged her to a private auction.

This auction was different from the past. Those who were invited to participate were members only, and the goods auctioned inside were treasures collected by the elites. This auction was held every once in a while.

The main reason was that some families needed to raise funds but did not want to * get a bank loan or borrow money from others because it would make them lose their reputation. Thus, this kind of auction was equivalent to emergency relief.

The auction had many valuable items. Otherwise, the auction house would not take this kind of business. Nicole hesitated if she should go. "There's nothing I want though..." Yvette said, "You haven't spent any money lately.

Are you still the Nicole Stanton that I know?" Nicole was speechless. Yvette went up to her. "Let's just go and check it out! I heard that there's a jadeite stone there. Didn't you always like to collect these things?" "Really?" Nicole's eyes lit up. Yvette nodded.

"Why else would I be so excited to come to you?" Nicole could not help her curiosity and followed Yvette over. The auction had already started, and their seats had long been reserved. The two ladies sat down.

It was dark all around, and everyone was looking down at the tablet's screen to check on the bidding from time to time. The atmosphere was quiet yet tense. Nicole took a look.

The bid for that piece of jade had not started, but it would start soon. They were now bidding on another item. The atmosphere was really tense. Yvette had a great eye. This piece of raw jadeite stone was transparent and brilliant.

It was indeed a very rare gem. The starting bid was $20 million, a price that was not considered low which managed to deter a lot of people from taking a fancy to it. However, to Nicole, that was nothing.

Thus, she did not hesitate to raise her bid. $21 million. $22 million Nicole did not make another move after that and watched as the numbers on the screen changed rapidly.

In the blink of an eye, it had reached $35 million. Nicole placed another bid for $40 million. This price was already not low. If it went any higher, Nicole felt it was not worth the price. After all, this kind of raw stone was beautiful, but she could do without it.

Fortunately, no one raised the bid again. Yvette looked at Nicole excitedly from the side. "Awesome! It's yours!" Nicole laughed. She could not hide her happiness and curled her lips. She was thinking of what to do with this piece of raw stone.

Nicole already had an idea. She swept a glance at the next few bids and did not like anything she saw, so she just gave up. She took her bag and was ready to go to the back to make the payment.

Yvette naturally wanted to have a glimpse and followed Nicole. When Nicole was making the payment, the person at the auction house recognized her and smiled. "Congratulations, Ms. Stanton." Nicole nodded and said with a smile, "Thank you."

a She took out a card from her bag and handed it over. The attendant respectfully took it and went to swipe it. Yvette swept a glance and casually asked. "Is it Clayton's card?"
