Chapter 322 Can He Be More Explicit...

Murray stopped flirting with her when she was angry. He reached out to fasten her seat belt and chuckled.

He held the steering wheel tightly and sent Melissa to the apartment she had rented.

Since the two wanted to put on a play, they could no longer live together.

“There we are.” Murray stopped and opened the door for Melissa.

“Just go. Don’t let anyone see you.” Melissa looked around. If Ryleigh saw this, then all her previous efforts would be in vain.

“What? You can’t wait to get rid of me?” Murray wouldn’t leave and held Melissa in his arms.

“No. If Ryleigh and the others see us, they...”

Before she could finish speaking, Murray suddenly leaned over and kissed her red lips.

Well...

Although his injuries had not recovered, Murray was always thinking of taking advantage of her!

Melissa suddenly blushed. She wanted to push him away, but he held her tightly.

The familiar and nice scent of Melissa in his arms aroused him.

What he wanted was more.

However, now was not the time,

"Melissa, I can't wait to have you." Murray ended the hot kiss and rested his chin on Melissa's forehead.

Ah...

This sounded brazen...

Could he be more explicit..

Melissa's heart was racing. She pushed him into the car. "Alright, alright, just go. If someone finds out, we're done."

Murray was speechless.

He was just kissing his fiancée. Why did it seem like he was having an affair?

Melissa returned to her apartment After washing up, she lay down to rest

She was constantly recalling the scene that had happened in the bar parking lot

"Who was the little girl with a scar on her wrist", she thought,

Chapter 322 Can Helse More Explicit

"Was it Lily? Why was there such a scar on Ryleigh's wrist? Was it fake?"

Melissa didn't see it clearly just now, but based on her intuition, the scar on Ryleigh's wrist didn't seem to be fake.

She had to find a chance to take a closer look at it.

While thinking about this, she fell asleep in a daze.

In her dream, Melissa was being chased again.

In the dark forest, she kept running and running... Behind her was a group of fierce men chasing her.

Ahead was the cliff!

There was no way for her to run!

The footsteps of the group behind her were getting closer and closer. Melissa was sweating anxiously. She slipped and fell!

The feeling of weightlessness scared her.

She turned on the light and looked around. It was just a dream.

Melissa rubbed her eyes in shock. She didn't know why she had this dream again.

Murray drove back to the hospital.

When he arrived at Marc's ward, he was still asleep while Jose was watching from the side.

“Mr. Gibson, what are you doing here? Aren't you going home to rest?” Jose saw Murray and stood up to ask respectfully.

“I want to stay with grandpa,” Murray said lightly.

Marc finally woke up and all of his body indicators were gradually recovering. Murray was very delighted yet feeling guilty

He was so busy with work that he ignored Marc's health,

Now that he had recovered, he wanted to spend more time staying with his grandfather.

of all his closest people, Marc was so good to him, but Sarah and Claire...

At the thought of these two women poisoning his grandpa for their selfish reasons to get rid of Melissa, Murray became gloomy

He didn't understand why Sarah and Claire could be so cruel

With a sullen face, Murray silently walked to the sofa and laid down,

Chapter 322 Can He Do More Explicit

Jose didn't ask much and quickly covered him with a blanket.

Looking at his brows that were still frowning even when he was sleeping, Jose sighed deeply

It was tough

He had never thought that Sarah and Claire would do this to Marc.

Jose had watched Murray grow up. Now that his mother and his cousin were locked up, how would Murray face the two of them?

After all, they were family. That would be difficult for him to deal with.

He must be sad.

Jose was also distressed.

Perhaps he was really too tired these days. Murray slept until noon the next day.

He vaguely heard the voice of the young woman.

Melissa?

When he opened his eyes, he saw Ryleigh sitting next to Marc's bed. "Mr. Marc, I made you lunch. Could I offer you a taste?"

The woman was very happy to see Murray wake up. Meanwhile, she saw the disappointment in his eyes.

"what was he disappointed at? she thought.

"He was probably thinking about that bitch Melissa!"

Thinking of her, made Ryleigh jealous.

Melissa set her up so that Murray thought that she was lying to him. That was why Murray was disappointed in her.

Ryleigh had to think of a way to make things right!

Thinking of this, she took a deep breath and pretended to be sensible, as if she had forgotten what happened in the hotel last night.

She asked sweetly, "Murray, you're awake?"

Ryleigh handed the bowl to Jose She got up and walked to Murray

"Murray, I went to the company to find you and you were not there Alex told me that he was here to take care of grandpa I'm worried about you, so I made lunch for you and grandpa'"

Ryleigh walked to the sofa and sat down, opening the lunch boxes in front of Murray

She made a few delicious dishes. It could be seen that she seemed to be virtuous.

Murray glanced down and said nothing Chapter 322 Can He Be More Expo

Marc was deep in thought when he found Ryleigh walking to Murray after she saw him wake up

Marc had seen through everything, but he remained calm.

He didn't care much about the matters of the younger generation.

Marc believed that his grandson could solve it by himself.

Murray said in a husky voice, "No need, Jose. Go to the hospital canteen and bring me food. Maybe he kind of got cold after falling asleep on the sofa at night.

Hearing this, made Ryleigh upset. "How could you treat me like this?" She thought, "Murray, I made food for you. Why did you let Jose go to the canteen?" With a pale face, she bit her lower lip filled with grievance

Chapter 323 She Wouldn't Back Down!

Murray's indifferent gaze fell on Ryleigh. "If you feel wronged, you don't have to come here. No one needs your care." He frowned and said insensibly.

"Murray, are you still angry with me..." She lowered her head, her voice trembling as she whispered.

She knew Murray was mad at her framing his fiancée.

But that was a trap that Melissa set up to frame her.

Melissa!

Ryleigh would not let Melissa get away with it!

The woman was furious, but she pretended to be calm in front of Murray.

She took a deep breath and tried to calm herself down.

"Murray, I really saw Melissa and Jaylin were together yesterday. I filmed it. Melissa must have discovered me, so..." Ryleigh's eyes turned red and she cried. She looked weak and needy.

However, Murray turned a blind eye to it. With a sullen face, he interrupted her impatiently. "I don't want to mention what happened yesterday."

"Mr. Gibson, I'll go and get you some food." Jose finds an excuse to leave after witnessing the scene.

Ryleigh cried for a long time while grasping the hem of her clothes tightly. She had practiced how to sound vulnerable countless times in front of the mirror.

However, Murray was indifferent. Even that damn old man on the bed did not say anything, either!

This made her twist even more. She didn't see this coming.

She had personally cooked so many dishes and sent them over, but he actually did not speak up for her! It was such a waste of time!

Ryleigh could only cover it up by herself. She awkwardly packed the lunch boxes on the coffee table and put them into her bag.

She looked at Murray and wanted to say something but she didn't. She just turned to his grandfather and said, "Mr. Marc, I'll be leaving then. Take care of yourself and I'll come to visit you next time."

After that, she left walking slowly to the exit

She was expecting Murray to stop her.

But when she reached the door, he didn't call her...

Ryleigh bit her lower lip and put on a frowny face. It seemed that she had to make a big move

If not, Melissa would get her way!

Thinking of the harsh words that Melissa had said in front of her today and Murray's attitude, she tightly held

She wouldn't back down!

Suddenly Ryleigh stumbled and almost fell.

She held the door frame and covered her mouth coughing violently.

The smell of blood spread out.

In a trance, Ryleigh fell to the ground and lost consciousness.

When a nurse passed by the door and saw this, she quickly went over to check. "Hello? Are you alright?"

Murray seemed to be shocked by this. He suspected, hesitating for a moment, and finally walked over. "Lily, what's wrong?"

"Murray, I, I..." Seeing that he finally cared about her, Ryleigh was happy. She took his hand and wanted to say something, but she coughed intensively again.

Her face turned pale. She looked up at Murray and said weakly, "Murray, I feel terrible. I'm gonna die."

"No, no, Lily, you won't die!" Murray was anxious to see this. "Lily, you will be fine."

"Murray, thank you..." Before she could finish speaking, her head tilted and she fainted.

The nurse called someone over to carry her onto a stretcher, sending her to the emergency room.

Murray strode over.

Melissa had told him that Ryleigh might not be Lily.

But before there was evidence, he still cared about her.

After all, Ryleigh was right about the details of their kidnapping. What if she was really Lily...

The nurse asked as Murray was deep in thought, Mr. Gibson, do you know the patient's family?"

"What's the matter?" Murray looked up and glanced at her.

The nurse knew he was a big shot and said with caution, "She is in a very bad condition. The doctor said that a large shadow has been found in her stomach. Maybe it's a tumor. Now we have to conduct a comprehensive examination, so we need a family member to sign it."

'Just go check it out.'" Murray frowned.

"OK, Mr. Gibson, I understand." The nurse nodded.

With that said, the nurse returned where she came from.

Ryleigh was out of the emergency room with a pale face until dusk was approaching

"How's she doing?" Murray glanced at her. She was still unconscious

Chapter 323 She wouldn't Back Down

The doctor sighed, his tone full of regret. "Mr. Gibson, the result has come out. The patient has advanced stomach cancer and can only undergo chemotherapy conservatively. She can still live for about two years. If she fails to receive treatment, there will only be one month left.

"I'm sorry to tell you this,"

Advanced stomach cancer?

Murray was astonished.

"Mr. Gibson, what do you think we should do?" The doctor asked cautiously.

"It's up to her to decide what kind of treatment to choose," Murray replied.

Ryleigh was just a lifesaver for him, and he had no feelings for her now.

The only thing he could do was do whatever she wanted while she is still alive.

"OK. She will wake up in a while. I think it's better for you to tell her about it."

With that being said, the doctor left.

Murray pushed the door and entered the ward. Because of the anesthetic, Ryleigh hadn't woken up.

"Are you really Lily?" Looking at the woman lying on the hospital bed, he slightly narrowed his eyes. The girl from eight years ago came to his mind.

However, he didn't find this woman similar to Lily at all.

His face sank while he walked back out of the ward.

Murray drove to the Gibson Corporation. Because he had previously saved Melissa from falling off the cliff, he had not been to the office these days.

When he arrived he called Alex over. "How is the company?"

"Everything is fine. He replied respectfully. After a pause, he hesitated. "It's just..."

"Just get to the point!" Murray said in a cold voice.

Alex looked serious. "It's just that the BPL Group has been plotting against us. They suffered a loss in the North Bay Project, so I think they won't let it go."

"I see." Murray said through narrowed eyes.

Sebastian had been against the Gibson Corporation for a long time.

He didn't just aim at the North Bay Project,

The photos that Melissa showed to him indicated that Ryleigh and Sebastian had known each other when they were in Geormia. Murray's face turned colder as he thought of this.

"You go out first and continue to keep an eye on the BPL Group," Murray said in a deep voice.

"Yes, Mr. Gibson." Alex nodded.

He was walking to the door when Murray's clear voice sounded behind him, "Did Melissa come to work today?"

Alex stopped and quickly turned to reply. "Yes."

His face softened instantly, which surprised Alex, making him think that Melissa was indeed very important to Murray!

Melissa was looking through the latest designs submitted by the department for "Ice and Fire" and could not help but shake her head.

Jessie didn't make any progress.

She had asked her employee to change the designs, but Jessie didn't do as she said, on the contrary, she made them worse.

Melissa then decided to do it herself when suddenly the phone on her desk rang.

She looked down and saw it was Murray calling.

She picked up the phone and his sexy voice was heard over it. "Come to my office."

Melissa replied, "Okay."

She hung up and took the elevator to Murray's office on the 18th floor.

She knocked at the door but there was no response inside.

Melissa was wondering what happened when the door opened and Murray's tall and slender figure appeared in front of her

"Come in."

He spoke in a low voice and pulled Melissa in directly

He shut the door and then pressed her against it with his hands on both sides of her body, he looked down at her with deep eyes

"I miss you, Meli," Murray whispered in her ear

Melissa remained silent

She felt nervous when looking at his eyes,

That was why he called her to come here

"It's working hours now, so we'd better not talk about private affairs," Melissa cleared her throat and said seriously

"You didn't miss me at all, did you?" Murray's eyes darkened.

"No..."

Before Melissa could finish her words, Murray suddenly leaned over and kissed her lips.

Melissa had wanted to push him away, but he did not move at all and kissed her more passionately, sticking his tongue down her throat and kissing her affectionately and gently

Melissa failed to resist and subconsciously put her hands around his neck, leaving him more excited

The atmosphere in the office was extremely intimate,

After a long time, Murray finished the kiss reluctantly

Melissa gasped for breath glaring at him. "How could you do this?"

"You're my fiancée. Of course, I could kiss you!" Murray chuckled,

"Don't try to defend yourself." Melissa pushed him away and sat on the sofa.

Her heart was still beating fast because of the kiss.

Murray strode over and sat down beside Melissa. He threw an arm around her shoulders and whispered in her ear, "A kiss isn't enough. Do you want to try something else?"

Melissa was shocked to hear this,

"Alright, let's get down to business. Why did you call me here?" she hurriedly changed the subject.

She wondered how Murray got like this.

If she didn't stop him in time, he might cross the line

Murray stopped joking and leaned against the sofa, saying seriously, "Ryleigh is in the terminal stage of gastric cancer

"What?" Melissa asked in disbelief

"The terminal stage of gastric cancer?"

Ryleigh looked pretty good a few days ago.

But now Murray said that she was terminally ill.

"Do you believe it?" Melissa tilted her head and looked at Murray.

"That's what the doctor said," Murray replied lightly.

"Something might be wrong with this," Melissa thought.

"Forget it. Don't worry. If she really got sick, let's find doctors to treat her." He rubbed his eyebrows. "But your plan..."

"It won't change! You can go to the hospital to see her after work," Melissa said coldly.

"You mean..." Murray cast her a glance.

"You know what I mean." Melissa blinked meaningfully.

He drove to the hospital after work.

When he arrived, Murray walked to Ryleigh's ward, she had already woken up.

Murray pushed the door open and entered.

Seeing him, Ryleigh's pale face, immediately sat up in bed. "What's wrong with me, Ray?"

The man stood aside and looked down at her, his hands in his pockets.

He suddenly thought of Melissa's words.

Ryleigh's disease was unexpected.

"You are sick, Lily. The doctor said that you are in the terminal stage of stomach cancer," Murray said indifferently

"What?" Ryleigh was shocked with her eyes wide open. "The terminal stage of stomach cancer..."

"No, that's impossible!" Her eyes immediately turned red, tears streaming down her cheeks.

She cried sadly for a long time before looking up at Murray pitifully. "Am I going to die? I don't want to die."

Murray stood in front of her and thought of what Melissa said again.

"Lily, don't you know that you're in poor health?" he asked seriously,

Ryleigh had always been healthy and wouldn't get sick suddenly

But now she was diagnosed with advanced stomach cancer

Hearing the question, the woman lowered her head and said sorrowfully, 'Do you think I lied to you about the disease?'

The tears flowed down and wetted the white sheets

"I know I have made a lot of mistakes and you don't trust me anymore, but how could I lie to you about something like this?"

Ryleigh grabbed the quilt tightly. "It doesn't matter if you don't believe me. You can go and I'll be here alone waiting for death."

Murray did not show mercy to Ryleigh as she had thought. He just frowned and said, "The doctor said that you still have two years to live if you receive chemotherapy, and only have one month left if not. No matter which choice you make, I'll try my best to give you what you want for the rest of your life."

After Murray finished instructing, he was to leave,

"I don't want chemotherapy."

Ryleigh coughed violently and said with some difficulty, "My hair will fall after the chemotherapy, and I will become an ugly woman. I don't want that... Murray, aren't you going to get engaged to Melissa soon? I want to see you two married with my charm. I don't want to be eye-catching in that way at your wedding."

"I want to see you happy."

Murray turned around and stared at Ryleigh who was covering her mouth and coughing nonstop. Blood seeped out of her fingertips bit by bit. Her skin was now so pale that it was almost transparent.

She didn't seem to put on an act...

on an act.

Thinking of Melissa's words, Murray returned to the bedside standing next to her. "Since you chose not to undergo chemotherapy, it's fine. You can attend my wedding. Have a good rest."

"Murray, can I hug you?"

Ryleigh looked up, her infatuated gaze falling on his good-looking face. She cautiously said, "I know my love for you has brought you trouble, but now I am about to die. Just see the hug as me letting go of my feelings for you."

When Ryleigh said this, she glanced at the door.

She saw a person there, and if she was right, that person was Melissa.

Murray slightly narrowed his eyes filled with complicated emotions.

The man didn't speak, so Ryleigh thought that he agreed. She reached out wrapping her arms around his waist, and leaned her head on him.

"Murray, I hope you can forgive me," she said with reluctance.

"What are you doing?"

Melissa's voice suddenly rang out in the room. Her face was filled with disbelief as she questioned the two people in front of her.

On her face was the anger that stemmed from being betrayed,

Ryleigh let go of Murray, panicked, as if they had done something to let Melissa down

She remembered that the couple had fallen out with each other before Although she failed to catch the adulterous scene, she saw the quarrel with her own eyes

She wanted to make their anger stronger

Ryleigh grabbed the quilt tightly and looked at Melissa cautiously Melissa don't blame Murray, it's all my fault. I was the one who wanted to hug him I was sick, and he just wanted to comfort me

"Do you have to hug him to get comfort?"

"Wow, that's great. If you can't have heartfelt feelings for me, I will rather not ask for it. Murray, just forget about our engagement!" Melissa glared at him.

She angrily turned around and left after saying this.

"You don't believe me?" Murray stepped forward and pulled her back sounding displeased it was obvious that he was furious at her questioning.

"Murray, I saw you holding another woman instead of me in your arms. How can you question me? How ridiculous!"

Melissa angrily pushed him away, "Just be with your Lily!"

"Murray, don't be angry with Melissa. It's all my fault. I am going to die, but I stirred things up between you. I am a sinner..."

Ryleigh got down from the bed and grabbed Melissa's hand. "Melissa, don't worry. I am unable to compete against you. The doctor said that I have advanced stomach cancer. I only have one month to live After I die, I will return Murray to you."

"What do you mean by returning him to me?" Melissa sneered and shook off her hand. "Do you mean that I am picking up something you don't want?"

"Ah..."

However, Melissa did not expect that Ryleigh would fall to the ground. The coughed incessantly and drops of blood sprinkled on the ground.

"I don't mean that. I just don't want to make things difficult for Murray. I don't want you two to quarrel because of me..."

"Enough!" Murray roared in a low voice.

Ryleigh and Melissa were stunned.

He helped her up from the ground and looked coldly at his fiancée. "Melissa, Lily is a dying person yet you still want to argue with her! Aren't you too narrow-minded?"

"Narrow-minded?"

"Fine, since you think like that, then I'll leave you two alone!"

She left stunned and furious.

"Kaff!"

Ryleigh pushed Murray anxiously, "Murray, don't hate Melissa because of me. She is a good woman, and she just had a misunderstanding. Hurry up and pacify her. I want to see you two happy with each other..."

She continued to cough blood as she spoke. Chapter 325 He Likes to See Her Getting Jealous

However, she was so happy in her heart that she wanted to laugh. It seemed that she had made the right plan.

No matter what wrongdoing she had done and how important Melissa was, she would not compete with Ryleigh, a dying person!

As long as she put in more effort, Murray would be hers sooner or later!

"Alright then." The man nodded. "Have a good rest. I'll visit you again when I have time."

After Murray finished speaking, he turned and left the ward.

Ryleigh widened her eyes, her pale face full of astonishment.

Shouldn't he stay with her according to the plan?

Why did he follow Melissa's words and go for her?

It seemed that Ryleigh hadn't made things worse, and Melissa still had a chance!

She took out a handkerchief and wiped the blood off the corner of her mouth. Her eyes were filled with viciousness.

In the corridor of the hospital, Melissa walked calmly. She did not seem to be furious, and there was even a faint smile in her eyes.

A man grabbed her hand with his big palm, and in her ear was Murray's clear voice. "It's our first time putting on an act. You were amazing."

"Of course."

Melissa raised her eyebrows and said confidently. "I'm good at acting. Don't forget that I'm the boss of Star Entertainment."

They had just quarreled in front of Ryleigh, but it was just an act.

She just wanted Ryleigh to think that she had succeeded so that she would do crazier things. At that time, she would give herself away.

"Are you sure she's not Lily?" Murray was deep in thought, and by his gaze he still had doubts.

"What? Do you feel heartbroken for her?"

Melissa stopped in her tracks and looked up at him with her black eyes, showing her dissatisfaction.

"If you think like that, hurry up and go back to be with her."

The man looked at her envious look with a smile. He liked to see her getting jealous.

"If I cared, I wouldn't have acted along with you." Murray leaned over and smirked, "Are you jealous?"

Melissa was lost for words.

"I am not! Don't think highly of yourself." Melissa glared at him

They stopped in front of Marc’s ward. She carefully recalled the scene where she saw Ryleigh. “If I’m right, she is not sick.”

“What do you mean?” Murray smiled and asked.

Melissa muttered to herself, “I can tell if she is sick by reading her face. Although she is pale, her eyes are clear, and she could walk steadily. The blood she spat out didn’t smell right. To deceive you, she has put in a lot of effort such as bribing the doctors and nurses and using artificial blood.”

When Murray heard this, his heart sank. Ryleigh alone couldn’t do so many things.

So...

“You guessed it.” Melissa was not surprised. Even she knew what was happening, so it would not be difficult for Murray to figure it out.

Melissa looked up at him, “If Ryleigh is not Lily but knows so much about her, you will be able to find your Lily when you find out about her and her helper.”

Murray noticed that Melissa used the phrase “your Lily”, so he knew that she was jealous again.

He tightened his grip on her taking a step forward to get near her. “What’s wrong? Do you not believe my love for you?”

“Not quite. It’s just that I don’t know what men are thinking. Since you are good to Ryleigh because you thought she was Lily, you may do the same to the true Lily...”

She hadn’t finished speaking when Murray pressed his lips against hers leaving the words stuck in Melissa’s mouth.

He held her in his arms and kissed her passionately, taking away his fiancée sobriety. She had to lean against his arms and accept the strong, overbearing and wild kiss.

It had a hint of punishment and Melissa still suspected his feelings for her.

Murray increased his strength still holding her head with both hands and opened her lips with his tongue to suck and entangle with hers as if he was to swallow her.

The woman gasped in pain as if she had just been electrocuted.

Melissa finally managed to catch her breath, "It hurts..."

"God, how can I have such a thought.."Melissa's face turned red with the idea.

After some time, Murray let go of her.

If it wasn't for the fact that they were at Marc's ward, he wouldn't have let her go so soon.

She blushed and leaned against his chest.

"Can you not kiss me in such a place? If Grandpa comes out and sees it, it will be awkward." Melissa could not help blaming him.

"I think Grandpa will be happy to see it." Murray was in a good mood at the moment, the smile on his face softened his usual cold countenance.

Melissa went speechless at his words.

She turned to look at the door and knocked on it. "Come in." Marc's voice sounded from inside.

The door opened, and Clara said respectfully to them, "Mr. and Mrs. Gibson."

Murray was satisfied with the way she addressed Melissa. He held his fiancée's hand and walked inside.

Marc was leaning against the bed and reading the newspaper. He had glasses and looked kind.

When the grandfather saw them, he immediately put down the news and took off his glasses. He smiled brightly and greeted, "Melissa, come here and take a seat."

"Marc, how do you feel?" She let her hand be held by the old man and sat down next to the bed.

"I feel much better now. After you treated me, I felt much swifter and less pressure," Marc said briskly.

Melissa grabbed the old man's hand and put it on the quilt. Her voice was soft and pleasant. "That's so good. Grandpa, I will take your pulse again so that I can understand your physical condition."

"Alright." Marc couldn't help smiling when he sensed her consideration.

He glanced at Murray standing in the corner, "How is it? The fiancée I picked for you isn't bad, right?"

"Of course." Murray raised his eyebrows, "The old is always right."

Melissa pursed her lips. What were they two talking about? Could they change the topic?

She pretended not to hear anything and lowered her head to concentrate on taking Marc's pulse.

Murray's gaze fell on Melissa,

It was said that men who were working seriously attracted the attention of women.

It was also the case for men when women focused on their job.

Murray looked at Melissa's profile. She had exquisite and delicate facial features and fair and clean skin. He was obsessed in an instant.

He could not wait to marry her.

His wife would only be Melissa!

He was so focused on her that he didn't even notice when Joseph entered the room.

A few minutes later, Melissa finished taking the old man's pulse. She gently put his hand down and let out a sigh of relief. "Marc, your pulse is stable. Other than your weak health because of the long illness, there is nothing serious. Take good care of yourself, and you will slowly recover."

"Thank you, Marc," she took her hand and sighed.

He came back from the verge of death. If it wasn't for Dr. Hanson and Melissa, he probably wouldn't have survived this.

"You don't have to, Marc, with me here, you will live a long life!" She returned the grip in her hand.

"*Along life is not what I want, I just hope to see you marry Murray and give birth to a great grandson. The old man stroked his beard and said with a smile.

"*A great granddaughter is fine! Marc was afraid that Melissa would think that he valued boys more than girls, so he added this.

"Marc, what are you talking about? How can it be so fast?" Melissa was a little embarrassed.

Not at all. Murray strode over to Melissa and looked down at her. "I can't wait a moment."

Melissa was lost for words.

Could they stop talking about this topic? It was too embarrassing.

Chapter 327 A Good Day

Talking about marriage, Jose was pleased. "Melissa and Murray getting engaged is a good thing. But they don't have enough time. I invited a pastor to help find a good date for their engagement. The most recent one is at the end of this month. They can get engaged then." He chatted with Marc.

The old man was so delighted that he couldn't stop grinning. "Great! Once they are engaged, their wedding day won't be far away."

Melissa glanced at Murray only to find he was staring at her gently, “Meli, leave the engagement to us. You don’t have to worry.” Marc reassured a bit concerned.

“Don’t worry, grandpa. Everything will be fine.” She knew what was on his mind. Marc was still haunted by the memories of her announcing that she would cancel the engagement.

Hearing this, the grandfather was relieved.

Ryleigh had planned to gain Marc’s sympathy. But when she reached the ward, she overheard their conversation and clenched her fists in anger.

With Marc being around, Murray and Melissa wouldn’t have any misunderstandings no matter how hard she tried.

They just had a big fight. But now they were no longer mad at each other as Marc helped them resolve the dispute. They were even talking about their engagement.

“That slut, Melissa. Who knew what trick she used to coax Marc!” Ryleigh had to find a way.

Murray was her man and she would never let Melissa steal him away from her!

She cursed Melissa quietly and returned to her ward.

Melissa narrowed her eyes as she seemed to have seen a figure by the door.

If she wasn’t mistaken, it was Ryleigh.

Having been diagnosed with stage 4 stomach cancer and she was still hanging around.

“Then, it’s a deal. You’ll get engaged at the end of the month.” Marc’s gaze fixed on the couple.

He wouldn't allow anything to go wrong this time, he would give Melissa a grand, lavish engagement.

Having sent his fiancée home, Murray drove back to Gibson's villa.

It had been a long time since he came back

"Mr. Gibson, you're back," Jane said respectfully. Chapter 327 A Good Day

Murray nodded at her before walking to the second floor.

Sarah and Claire were waiting anxiously in a room on the second floor.

After their plot was exposed by Melissa, Murray asked the bodyguards to bring them back to Gibson's villa and put them under house arrest.

"Claire, do you think Murray will be so heartless that he's going to lock us up forever?" Sarah asked, concerned.

"You are his mother! When his anger dissipates, he will let us out." Claire comforted her.

"I hope so." Sarah sighed.

"It's all Melissa's fault. That slut!" Thinking about Melissa, Claire felt she was burned with jealousy. "If it hadn't been for her, Murray wouldn't have treated us this way!"

"You're right, Claire!" Sarah nodded. "Ever since Melissa came here, the family has been in a mess. Murray must have been enchanted by her. He doesn't care about me anymore. I'm his mom!"

"Exactly!" Claire gritted her teeth. "If they got married, I'm afraid we are going to be locked here forever!"

"This can't happen! I won't let them get married!" Sarah said angrily.

Thinking about what Melissa had done, Sarah clenched her fists until her knuckles were white.

She couldn't imagine what a miserable life she would live if Melissa married Murray and had a say in Gibson's family.

She would ask Murray to deal with her.

Taking a deep breath, Sarah promised that she would never allow it to happen!

"Don't be angry, Sarah. I'll get you some water." Claire pretended to care about her.

The moment she opened the door, Claire saw the hunky man she had long wanted to see.

Claire froze for a moment, before happily saying, "Murray!"

Ever since they were put under house arrest, Murray had never come to see them and refused to pick up their calls.

Now that he was here, did it mean that he wasn't mad at them anymore?

"Murray, you're here." Sarah was delighted.

Stepping into the room, the man announced emotionless, "I'm here to tell you that Melissa and I are going to be engaged."

"What? Sarah and Claire said in unison, shocked.

"No way!" Sarah shouted

"No one can't change my mind," He said, his cold gaze falling on Sarah,

"Murray, what do you see in Melissa? Why do you go against me for her? You locked me and Claire up for her! We are your family!" Sarah said furiously.

Murray frowned. The corners of his mouth curled into a mocking smile. "Family? Isn't grandma your family?"

You nearly killed him for your selfish desires!"

"Murray, we're wronged!" Claire's eyes glinted with shrewdness. She grabbed Murray's arm and said tearfully,

"We were forced!"

Murray snorted, not buying her story

"It is true! It was Jim who forced us to do this! He threatened us, saying he would kill us if we didn't do it for him." Claire bit her lip.

"Is that so?" Murray glanced at her.

Claire nodded, "Please believe me. Jim hated Marc for driving him out of the family, so he took revenge. We didn't have a choice. Jim mailed the poison to me. You can check it yourself."

"I only know it was you who poisoned grandpa!" Murray's voice was icy cold, disappointed with Sarah and Claire.

However, since Claire said she was forced by him, Jim was probably involved as well.

After all, he had always held a grudge against the Gibson family.

Claire didn't lie. The poison might have been given to her by Jim.

Now, Jim had become Sebastian's sidekick. Was Sebastian the mastermind behind the plot?

Chapter 328 Conniving Little Bitch

The next day, when Melissa and Murray got off work, they went to the hospital to visit Marc.

The woman pushed the door open and saw Dr. White doing a routine check on him.

Seeing the couple, the doctor stood up and greeted them, "Mr. Gibson, Ms. Eugen, nice to see you here."

"How is Marc?" Melissa asked with concern.

"He just had a check-up. All the indicators are fine," Dr. White replied.

"Great." She was pleased.

It seemed that Luca was right. Marc was getting better.

It shouldn't take long for him to fully recover.

– “Murray, Meli, you are here. I feel much better now. I’ll be discharged very soon,” The old man said.

“Marc, you should stay here for a few more days. Have enough rest.” Melissa said with a smile.

But Marc replied, a bit upset, “I’m so bored. Staying in the hospital makes me sick. Besides, you are getting engaged at the end of the month. I have to get ready.”

“Grandfather, don’t worry. Leave the preparation to me. Just stay in the hospital and have more rest. I will help you check out when you fully recover.” Murray said, drawing closer to Marc.

Since they insisted, Marc budged.

He talked to them about the engagement until he got tired.

“Grandfather, we need to leave. Take care,” Melissa said.

“Alright, go out and have some fun.” Marc nodded. He was also delighted to see them bonding.

Melissa and Murray had just come out of the ward when they saw a nurse running toward them.

Ryleigh was killing herself?

Melissa twitched her lips. She knew Ryleigh, that conniving little bitch, would do something Murray glimpsed at his bride to be, frowning.

“Go take a look,” Melissa said, narrowing her eyes

The woman must have gotten desperate after she overheard their engagement

She said she had stage four stomach cancer and then tried to commit suicide. What was next? Chapter 328 Conniving Little Bitch

The corners of Melissa's mouth curled into a sarcastic smile.

Ryleigh was getting impatient.

The more anxious she was, the dumber things she would do, and the more loopholes she would create.

The truth was about to be exposed,

The couple followed the nurse to the rooftop and saw Ryleigh standing on the edge in a gown with blue and white stripes.

Below the building was a crowd, pointing at her and discussing. All eyes fell on Ryleigh.

"Look, someone is going to jump off the building"

"It's dangerous. Come down now!"

"Hey, that woman looks familiar. She's Mr. Gibson's first love, Ms. Sofia I read about her on the Internet."

"It is her. Why is she trying to jump off the building?"

The nurse turned pale, "Mr. Gibson, please do something. Talk to Ms. Sofia. We've tried everything, but she didn't listen to us. We have already called the police. But can you please talk to her?"

Melissa watched it coldly and gave Murray a look.

"Alright." Murray's tone was deep. He carefully took a few steps towards Ryleigh.

"What are you doing? Come down!" He said steady as he stared at Ryleigh's back.

"Murray, why are you here?" She turned around. Her face was pale, and her eyes glinted with bitterness.

The woman looked at Melissa standing not far away. Ryleigh's eyes were full of tears. "Murray, just let me die! My days are numbered, anyway. Melissa will not quarrel with you anymore. That's to see you fight because of me. I don't want to be a hurdle for you.

"Melissa, don't be mad at Murray, please. It's all my fault. He is just too worried about me."

Ryleigh begged, with her gaze fixed on Melissa, as if she had done something bad to her.

When she was pleading, the doctors and nurses, who were here to persuade Ryleigh, all stared at Melissa in disdain.

These people had been following the news and read a lot about their entanglement

Now Ryleigh was playing the victim, trying to win people's sympathy

Human psychology was intriguing, as people would often show sympathy to the vulnerable no matter whose fault it was "So, you were saying I stole your man?" Melissa remained calm, holding her arms and raising her eyebrows at her

Other women would get mad if they were in the same circumstance. But Melissa was an exception

Ryleigh hid her hatred, took a deep breath, and told herself to be calm.

As she made up her mind, there was no way of going back.

She must get what she wanted today!

"No. That's not what I meant. How could Murray be mine?" Ryleigh looked at him, her eyes filled with infatuation,

Her gaze was so intent that everyone could tell she had feelings for him.

"Ryleigh..." Murray was getting impatient.

He squinted at Melissa, who was wearing a playful smile. Then, he said to Ryleigh softly, "Come down, please. It's too dangerous up there. I never thought that you were a burden to me."

"Really? Ryleigh did not see the interaction between Murray and Melissa. She thought her trick worked and Murray backed down. The thought lifted her mood.

"Murray, will you leave me?" she asked poorly, biting her lips.

"Never." Murray curled up his lips, putting on a gentle look.

Ryleigh heart pounded in excitement, but she still pretended to be sad. "Forget it, Murray. It's too painful to live a life. I wanted to congratulate you and Melissa, but I can't do it. I'm in sorrow."

After a brief pause, Ryleigh continued, sobbing, "I don't understand. I was the one who met you first. You said that you would marry me when you grew up. Maybe I made too many mistakes. That's why I'm punished."

As she spoke, she took several steps back in despair until she was on the very edge of the rooftop

Ryleigh was so frail that it was as if she would be blown down the building by a gust of wind.

She was only a step away from falling from it.

Chapter 329 The Show Continues

When the nurses and doctors saw this, they were frightened and trembled as they advised Murray, 'M Gibson, you should say something to arouse Ms. Sofia's desire for life. As for the rest, you can talk about it after she comes down!

"Murray, we will break up if you say anything!" Melissa said ruthlessly with a cold face

The nurse beside them was annoyed, "Ms. Eugen, it's about Ms. Sofia's life. Do you want her to die?"

*So should I let her take my fiancé away?" Melissa retorted back without hesitation.

The nurse was speechless.

Ryleigh stood there in a daze. She did not expect Melissa to be so fearless.

She clenched her fists in secret thinking, "that bitch Melissa is provoking me!

I have to win!"

Ryleigh gritted her teeth and prepared to go to the edge. She had to push Murray harder.

She didn't believe that he could watch her jump off the building!

After all, she was Lily!

She was the girl who had saved him eight years ago!

Even if Murray didn't love her, he still owed her!

Thinking of this, Ryleigh took a deep breath and moved to the edge of the rooftop. Her eyes were red and full of tears "Ray, I'm sorry. I don't want to bother you anymore. I hope I can be your beloved one in the next life

Seeing that Ryleigh was about to jump off, Murray strode forward. "Lily, come down."

'No, I don't want to make things difficult for you. I don't want Ms. Eugen to get mad at you because of me She bit her pale lips as tears streamed down her cheeks. Everyone who saw this would feel sorry for her.

Murray frowned as his deep gaze fell on his fia, "Melissa, be nice to Lily. She only has one month left. Please postpone our engagement. Let me stay with her during this period of time."

Stay with her? Melissa sneered* "Murray, you are so ridiculous. Do you compromise because Ryleigh threatens you with her life?

"Or is it because you have never forgotten her?"

'That's right, she is lily, the one you have been longing for You have never forgotten your love for her right?

"Since so, why do you get engaged to me? You are not worthy of met Melissa, can you stop messing things up?" Murray put on a cold face 'im messing things up? Mutay good for you!" Melissa fiercely glared at Murray "Since you only care about lily, let's break up

When Melissa and Murray were quibbling, a hint of delight flashed through Ryleigh's eyes

It seemed that her scheme worked.

Murray still had feelings for her.

Otherwise, he would not quarrel with Melissa for her.

And there were so many people around. They had seen how cruel Melissa was. At that time, gossip could overwhelm Melissa.

Thinking of this, Ryleigh hid her gloat and said pitifully, "Ray, 'I'm sorry. Don't quarrel for me..."

Before she could finish her words, Melissa cracked a sheer. "Ryleigh, didn't you want to jump off the building? Why don't you jump?"

Ryleigh changed her expression.

She cursed in her heart, "Melissa, this shameless bitch. Is she going to force me to jump off?"

"Why? You don't dare to? Or are you acting?" Melissa pointed at Ryleigh in a cold voice.

"No... Ms. Eugen, I know you hate me. Don't worry. I will die soon. At that time, you will be the only one in Ray's heart..." She wiped her tears and looked at Murray.

She was betting that Murray would not let her jump off and would come to save her.

"Then I have to thank you." Melissa mocked.

As soon as Melissa finished speaking, Ryleigh, who was standing on the edge of the rooftop, suddenly screamed.

Seeing Ryleigh was going to fall, people around the building began to scream.

Melissa froze for a moment.

Ryleigh really jumped off the building!

This woman was so bold!

Ryleigh's mind went blank when she fell.

She had just slipped, but she didn't expect that she would fall from the rooftop!

She did not want to die!

Ryleigh was not resigned but couldn't stop herself from falling.

With a bang, she hit the air cushion and blacked out.

The doctors and nurses on the rooftop looked at each other in shock when Ryleigh fell from the building. The next second, they rushed down, leaving Murray and Melissa on the spot.

“Good show. I’ll consider giving you a role in the next movie.” Melissa curled her lips and looked at him with a smile.

Chapter 329 The Shaw Continues

Get Bono

Murray coughed, and Alex immediately walked out with a phone.

Alex didn’t mean to hear them flirting but it was Melissa who gave him the task of following Ryleigh in secret.

Alex really wanted to explain that he, a single man, was very envious of his boss who showed off his affection every day!

Alex nodded.

“Post it on Twitter late at night. Remember to tag the names of me, Ryleigh, and Murray. I’m sure it will be a trending topic.”

Melissa raised her chin with bright clear eyes. “The topic must be ‘The Mistress Melissa forced Murray’s true love to die’. Wonderful!”

“Aren’t you afraid of being attacked and scolded?” Murray raised his hand to rub her hair, his voice full of affection.

“I was already scolded before.”

Melissa had planned everything. Ryleigh just wanted to make a fuse and suppress her with public opinion.

Then Melissa just added fuel to the fire and helped the woman. When this matter attracted people's attention, she would expose Ryleigh's true color and defeat her. Then she could no longer cause any trouble.

At that time, Melissa would gain a better reputation. The netizens would feel guilty for her. Then she could take this popularity to launch a new movie by Star Entertainment...

"Let's go. It's windy here, and the show is still going on." Murray kissed Melissa on her cheek when her mind was wandering.

"Shameless!" She glared at him.

Murray chuckled, and then they went downstairs side by side.

Alex was left behind, stunned.

They kept showing off their affection in front of him. Did they remember that he was still single?

The downstairs of the hospital was a mess. When Ryleigh fell, the police had just rushed down to lay a safety airbag

The doctor sent the woman in a coma to first aid,

A group of journalists also rushed over after getting the news. They hurriedly took a picture of Ryleigh and then saw Melissa running out of the hospital in anger. Murray was walking behind, surrounded by a cold

Chapter 330 How Could He Not Love Such a Woman?

The journalists came forward excitedly and surrounded Melissa and Murray,

Murray's fiancée and first love were in a catfight, and Melissa even forced Ryleigh to jump off the building

This was breaking news!

The reporters scrambled to bombard her with questions.

“Ms. Eugen, what is going on?”

“Ms. Eugen, I heard that you forced Ms. Sofia to jump off the building. Although she hurt you before, she didn’t force you to die. And Ms. Sofia has a terminal illness, but you still force her like this. Why are you so cold blooded?”

“Mr. Gibson said that Ms. Sofia was his first love. He has been looking for her these years, but you cut in their love. Don’t you feel guilty about being a mistress?”

The journalists were filled with righteous indignation. They questioned sharply and directly accused Melissa of forcing Ryleigh to jump off the building.

Melissa glanced at the camera calmly, “Murray is my fiancé. Why am I the mistress? Ryleigh is his first love, But are they together?”

However, the journalists didn’t stop asking.

“Ms. Eugen, I heard that you have annulled the engagement. Now you break the engagement again. Is Mr. Gibson really your fiance?”

“If you’re telling the truth that Mr. Gibson is your fiancé, then why did you force Ms Sofia to jump off the building? Are you worried that Ms. Sofia will snatch Mr. Gibson away?”

They continued asking but did not dare to offend Murray, so they could only ask Melissa

Her face sank. “I have nothing to say!”

At that moment, a black Bentley stopped in front of them. After the door opened, Jaylin got out of the car.

People surrounded Jaylin

The journalists did not expect Melissa to leave suddenly. They paused for a second and turned to look at Murray.

His face was ice-cold and filled with killing intent. Nobody dared to approach him, so they stepped back and quickly left.

In any case, they had gotten enough materials.

Murray looked in the direction where Melissa had left, and his eyes narrowed. He was overwhelmed by twisted emotions.

She dared to call Jaylin over and got in his car when so many people were around.

How dared she ignore him?

In the car.

– “Jaylin, thank you. I have bothered you many times.” Melissa sat in the passenger seat and turned to look at the driver.

“I will do my best to help you,” Jaylin replied deeply.

She had tried to stay away from him. It was much better now.

Melissa felt ill at ease when being stared at like this. She changed the topic and said, “Oh right, how are you doing for this year’s International Film Festival Award?”

“I’m still considering it.” He frowned slightly.

Jaylin didn’t know why he was always absent-minded these days.

He wanted to shoot a stunning piece of work for the International Film Festival, but he could not find a suitable theme.

And the news that Melissa was going to be engaged to Murray had been bothering him. Jaylin had once wanted to give up participating.

Melissa smiled. "I have an idea."

"What? There are only seven months left until the film festival..." Jaylin was a little surprised. Could she produce a unique and outstanding work in seven months?

"Are you doubting my ability?" Melissa raised her eyebrows.

"You want to make it yourself?" Jaylin was a little surprised.

Melissa nodded. Her eyes gleamed with confidence. "There is enough time. I will finish the script in five months and then start filming. It will be released at the end of the year. With your popularity, you must be qualified to attend the International Film Festival There's no problem

Jaylin gripped the steering wheel tightly with both hands, listening carefully to Melissa's sweet voice

He was even more attracted to her

She was excellent, and now she had a unique aura that other women did not have.

How could he not love such a woman? How could he forget her?

"Jaylin?" Melissa gets him out of his daydreams.

He was driving now. If he was absent-minded at this time, they might die in a car accident.

Jaylin recovered to himself and cleared his throat. "I'm sorry. I was distracted just now."

"Do you have a problem?" Melissa was a little worried about his state.

After all, he was in the entertainment industry. No matter how popular he was, he was under great pressure from the spotlight and public opinion every day.

Moreover, the events of the Segar family two years ago affected him.

Even though Jaylin did not show it in front of others, Melissa knew that he had a shadow in his heart when the Segar Group almost went bankrupt.

Even now, he still hadn't let it go,

"No, you haven't told me where you are going."

Jaylin's words pulled Melissa back to her senses,

She thought for a moment. "Let's go to the company and discuss the new script. Since we are going to start filming, we have to discuss the details."

"Have you finished writing?" Jaylin asked in a low voice, no longer looking at her. He was afraid of being obsessed with her again.

Melissa nodded. "Alright."

Soon, they arrived at Star Entertainment.

They got out of the car and headed for the company building.

Melissa hadn't been there for a long time. so when the staff saw her, they were all curious if something serious was going to happen again.

Everyone was guessing. When Melissa passed them all the way, they all quickly greeted her, "Hello, Ms.

Eugen."

Melissa politely responded and brought Jaylin to her office on the top floor by elevator.

Just as they walked in, Jaylin's handsome face suddenly turned cold. He handed his phone to her and asked, "Are you really going to let them gossip on the Internet?"

Melissa looked down and saw that the matter of Ryleigh jumping off the building had been spreading all over the Internet

She smiled. These media are really efficient."

Melissa, are you willing to be slandered like this?" As his beloved woman was scolded, Jaylin's face turned gloomy

Even though he knew that Melissa must have her reasons for doing so, he just felt angry

It doesn't matter." She shrugged, looking relaxed.

That was what she wanted. And the progress of things now was completely within her expectations

"Alright." "I just don't want you to be hurt," Jaylin sighed softly when he saw her insisting, "Hurt? If I were hurt by someone else's words, do you think I would still be what I am now?" Melissa said, turning on the computer and reading the script. Just as Jaylin was about to say something, there was a sudden knock on the door. "Please come in," she said. The door was pushed open, and Nina, dressed in a black dress, hurried in "Melissa, what's going on with the news online? I'll contact the best public relations team for you." She said as she took out her phone to make a call. The woman stopped her and said, "No need." "Why?" Nina frowned. She wondered if Melissa did not know what happened. "Actually, these are all my plans." Melissa answered smiling. "Plan?" Nina was puzzled. She patted Nina on the shoulder, "I can't tell you about the details. You just need to think about it. You have followed me for so many years. You know my ability." "Well, I believe you." Nina was finally at ease. Nina knew that she would not do something that she was not confident in. Since Melissa had done it, she would achieve perfection. However, as a friend, Nina was really worried when she saw the online reports on Melissa, Suddenly, she noticed Melissa's computer screen. It displayed the script of "The King Saying Farewell to His Queen". "This is..." Nina frowned looking at Melissa and Jaylin in confusion. "This is a new script that I came up with. This was the one that I was most satisfied with. It was mainly about the life of an actor playing a concubine in the 1980s. He had feelings toward the wrong man." "This movie doesn't need special effects. It is a literary film. The production cycle is short. As long as Mr. Segar can impress the audience with good acting skills, it will be fine." As Melissa spoke, she turned her gaze to the man "You already have the ambition to win an award. If I don't work hard to act, wouldn't I be letting you down? After all, you wrote this script personally."

"Then take a good look at the script these past few days. This is very challenging." Melissa smiled mysteriously, causing Jaylin to be confused,

Chapter 331 Sudden Kiss

“I’ll be leaving first.” Melissa glanced at the time. She estimated that Ryleigh should be waking up soon. “No way. Our big boss is a mistress?” “Melissa even forced Mr. Gibson’s first love to jump off a building. That girl has already reached the late stage of cancer and only has a month left to live. Melissa forced her to do this. It’s really...” “What are you all thinking? Why is our boss a mistress? Melissa is Mr. Gibson’s fiancée,” someone said. But soon, someone retorted. “So what if Melissa is Mr. Gibson’s fiancée? Isn’t life important? Moreover, Ryleigh saved Mr. Gibson before. Mr. Gibson also said that the person he was going to marry in the future was his savior, not Melissa.” “That’s right. Isn’t Melissa trying to steal Ryleigh’s husband? She is already at the end of her life, and she’s going to get engaged to Mr. Gibson at the end of this month. Why does Melissa force Ryleigh to death?” –

“Think about it. The engagement at the end of the month means that there is still a month left. Ryleigh only has one month of life to live. Isn’t this too cruel?” Melissa furrowed her brows and walked over coldly saying, “Next time I hear someone talking about things that have nothing to do with work during work hours, I will fire him or her!” The crowd did not expect Melissa would suddenly appear. They were scared and said, “Ms. Eugen, we won’t do this again.” Melissa drove back to the hospital. Just as she entered, Murray pulled her into an empty room. “What are you up to?” Melissa looked up and met Murray’s cold face in front of her. Murray stared down at her with a hint of jealousy in his eyes. “Do you have so many words to say to Jaylin? You left for too long!” “Mr. Gibson, we have no relationship now. Don’t keep so close to me. It will be bad if we are discovered.” Melissa looked at his jealous expression and smiled. “Murray was stingy.” She thought,

“I had clearly said that it was an act, but he was jealous. I had not yet been jealous of him and Ryleigh!” Mr. Gibson? Murray did not expect Melissa would call him in such an indifferent way. He got mad and said, “Melissa, do you know what you are talking about?” “I know’ Melissa had an innocent look on her face. Then, she called Murray “Mr. Gibson again Murray was completely enraged by her He directly lowered his head to forcefully kiss her “Wait ‘Melissa’s eyes widened. She thought, why did this guy always kiss her suddenly? “Stop. your honey, Ryleigh, should be waking up soon. Go back to the ward!” Melissa pushed him away forcefully. She looked at the time, and said, “Don’t screw up the plan.” Only then did he reluctantly let go of Melissa saying with a warning tone, “Remember to stay away from Jaylin.” Melissa was left speechless as Murray turned and walked to Ryleigh’s ward. “How is Ryleigh?” Murray asked calmly. “Mr. Gibson, Ms. Sofia is still in a coma, but it wouldn’t be serious. Fortunately, she fell on the air cushion and only suffered some superficial injuries,

" the doctor said carefully. "Well, I know," Murray responded. Fortunately, Ryleigh was fine. Regardless of whether she was Lily or not, Murray did not want her to fall to death at this time. After all, there were still a lot of things that had not been figured out. Even if Ryleigh was a fake Lily, he and Melissa had spent a lot of effort setting up a scheme to find out who was standing behind her. If Ryleigh died now, wouldn't it be a pity? While Murray was deep in thought, the woman lying on the bed, woke up. What entered her eyes was the tall and straight figure of Murray, Ryleigh rubbed the space between her eyebrows, and her memory gradually came back to her. She was happy. Ryleigh remembered that she was standing at the edge of the rooftop and wanted to pretend to jump off the building to test Murray. Ryleigh did not expect she would be scolded by Melissa and accidentally slipped and fell.

"Fortunately, I am alive". Ryleigh thought,"And when I woke up, I could see Murray worried about me. It seemed that he cared about me." Thinking of this, a smile appeared on her pale face. "Murray, why are you here?" "Lily, you're awake?" When he heard the voice, he stepped forward to look down at her. Ryleigh looked around and said in a weak voice, "Murray, am I not dead? Didn't I jump off the building? Why would I be in the hospital?" "Lily, I won't let you die," He mutters. The woman pursed her lips "But if I don't die, Ms Eugen will be angry I don't want to see you quarrel because of me." Get B "Don't mention her." A hint of impatience flashed across Murray's handsome face. Ryleigh was secretly delighted.

"It seemed that I had used this move correctly." She thought, "Murray now had begun to hate Melissa. As long as I put in more effort, wouldn't Murray, this outstanding man, be easy to be mine?"
