Chapter 81 Melissa Is in Trouble

Sensing a huge force, Adela, who was immersed in her fantasy, fell heavily to the ground.

With the acute pain in her body, Adela met Murray's cold and icy eyes. She could feel her heart sink bit by bit and soaked in cold water.

"Murray, why... Why are you so cruel to me?"

"Because you aren't Lily!" Murray stared at Adela with a cold and distant look, asking, "Do you think I'll fall for that?"

"But I am Lily!" Adela shouted, unwilling to give up! |

She struggled to get up from the ground, saying, "Last night, you were drunk and kept calling me Lily. You said that you loved me and that I was the only woman you loved. You even kissed me and... Have you forgotten all that?"

Murray's face turned even more restless. When he glanced at Adela, his eyes couldn't be colder.

He wondered, Did I regard this woman as Lily last night and do something that I shouldn't have done?

Of course not!

Murray was very sure that he hadn't even touched Adela at all.

"Adela, you have hypochondria, right?" Murray stood up and looked down at Adela. Then, he said expressionlessly, "If you have an illness, you should get it treated as fast as possible. Don't say nonsense here."

"What did you say? Nonsense?" Adela bit her lip, feeling wronged. She reached out and grabbed Murray, who was about to step out of the house. "Last night, you were with me the whole night."

There was nobody else except for us. You have to be responsible for what you did to me.”

“Let me go,” Murray said coldly.

However, Adela held his arm even tighter.

Murray’s eyes were full of disgust, and he mercilessly shook Adela’s hand off.

Out of habit, he reached for his phone in his pocket and took it out for a look.

His phone had been turned off.

Murray pressed the button to turn it on with his slender fingers. There were many missed calls and unchecked messages on his phone.

“Mr. Gibson, we are shooting a commercial by Lover’s Lake today. It is almost time to go. Are you coming?” Chapter 81 Melissa Is in Trouble

“Mr. Gibson, your phone is off. We can’t contact you. We’ll be leaving first.”

Those messages were both from Alex.

Murray raised his hand and looked at the watch on his wrist. It was almost noon.

Originally, he should be going to go to Lover’s Lake with Melissa today to supervise the filming of the commercial for “Ice and Fire”.

But now...

Murray was kind of upset. He thought, How did I get drunk last night?

Just then, Murray’s phonerang. It was from Alex.

“What’s the matter?” Murray asked in a deep voice after picking up the phone.

“Mr. Gibson, I finally get in contact with you. Ms. Eugen is in trouble.” Alex said from the other end of the call.

Murray wondered, What happened?

Murray's eyebrows twitched, and his tone showed his concern and nervousness. "What happened to Melissa?"

"She was accused of pushing Susie into the water by Claire, and she is being taken away by the police to the police station for a statement," Alex answered truthfully.

"I'll be there in a minute." Murray hung up the phone and walked straight out.

"Murray, where are you going?" Adela shouted from behind him.

Just now, she vaguely heard that Melissa's and Susie's names were mentioned on the phone.

Susie should have succeeded by now.

From Murray's nervous look, something must have happened to Melissa.

It was possible that Melissa had been drowned.

"Wait a minute, Murray," Adela said with a pleased smile.

However, Murray ignored her and walked out of the Yale's house.

Adela hurriedly ran after him, "Murray, is there anything urgent? Where are you going? I can drive you there. It will be faster."

The Yale's villa was located at the foot of mountains in the suburbs. It was difficult to take a taxi here, but Murray was in a hurry to go to the police station to meet Melissa.

"Alright." He muttered.

Now that Murray agreed, Adela couldn't help feeling happy. She hurriedly brought Murray to the garage.

The two of them got into the car. Then Adela got seated in the driver's seat and started driving.

She tilted her head and glanced at Murray who made her heart race. "Murray, where are you going?" she asked fawningly.

"To the police station." Murray raised his thin lips, with his eyes full of worry.

Adela thought, Police station? Why does he want to go to the police station?

Shouldn't we be going to Lover's Lake to collect Melissa's corpse?

Suppressing the doubts in her heart, Adela drove the car. Under the urging of Murray, she drove past several red lights in succession and sped all the way to the police station.

As soon as the car stopped, Murray impatiently opened the door, stepped out of the car with his long legs, and walked straight into the police station.

"Mr. Gibson, you're here." Alex was at the police station, anxiously waiting for Murray.

"Where's Melissa?" Murray looked around but did not see Melissa anywhere, so he asked in a low voice.

As soon as Murray spoke, the entire hall of the police station immediately fell silent.

In Aldness, there was almost no one who couldn't recognize Murray.

He was the head of the Gibson family, a wealthy dignified family in Aldness. And he was the president of the Gibson Corporation. He was a legendary figure and a myth to common people.

Alex looked in the direction of the confession room and answered carefully, "Melissa and Claire are being inquired about."

Murray had always been a calm and composed person under all sorts of circumstances. This was the first time that Alex had ever seen him being so worried.

It seemed that Melissa meant a lot to Murray.

"Let's go and take a look," Murray said calmly.

Adela, who was standing behind Murray, heard the words and felt stunned.

She thought, What? Melissa and Claire are being inquired?

How is that possible?

Since Melissa could make a statement, is she alright?||

What has Susie done? How did she miss such a great opportunity to kill Melissa?

“Mr. Gibson, this way please.” The chief constable came over personally and greeted Murray respectfully.

Murray took steady steps and walked to the door of the confessing room, only to see Melissa sitting there with a calm face.

There was a policewoman sitting in front of Melissa, recording her statement, “Melissa.” Murray strode in with his long legs, and a trace of concern flashed through his eyes. He asked gently, “Are you okay?”

Melissa looked up. Her gaze skipped Murray and fell on Adela who was standing behind him.

Thus, Melissa was sure that Murray had spent the last night with Adela.

She felt some slight pain in her heart.

“What? Do you expect something bad to happen to me?” Melissa mocked as she retracted her gaze.

Murray was startled.

He clearly felt the chill exuded from Melissa.

Murray wondered, Is she blaming me for not going to Lover's Lake on time?

She isn't wrong. If I had gone to Lover's Lake today, such a thing wouldn't have occurred.

I would not have let Melissa go away alone to such a distant place, let alone let anyone hurt her.

"That's not what I meant," Murray explained patiently.

Melissa lowered her eyes and refused to talk to Murray anymore.

Murray slightly narrowed his eyes and looked at the policewoman who was recording Melissa's confession. He asked emotionlessly, "How's the situation now?"

"I just finished recording the confession." The policewoman didn't dare to be negligent and hurriedly said.

Considering Murray was accompanied by the chief constable, he must be a big shot.

Murray nodded and asked in a low voice, "Can my fiancée leave now?"

The chief constable and the policewoman were both stunned.

They could hardly believe what they had just heard.

They had expected Melissa to be significant since the president of the Gibson Corporation came to pick her up in person. Still, the truth that she was Murray's fiancée shocked them.

Since Murray had personally come for her, how could the future hostess of the Gibson Corporation, the fiancée of Murray, be a murderer?

"Okay. Don't worry, Mr. Gibson. We will definitely look into the case carefully and bring the truth to light."

Murray responded indifferently.

After Murray and Melissa walked out of the room, they happened to meet Claire who had just finished her statement and walked out of another room.

As soon as she saw Murray, Claire immediately ran over and exclaimed, "You are here, Murray!"

"Murray, today when I was by Lover's Lake, Melissa pushed Susie into the lake. I witnessed the scene with my own eyes. How come you're still with the murderer?" Claire asked, pointing at Melissa Melissa furrowed his brows and thought, She is so annoying! Isn't she sick of calling me a murderer?

Does she think that with just a few words, she would be able to turn the fact upside down?

Chapter 82 She has a Date With Jaylin

She is such a fool!

So Melissa said, "Claire, I came to the police station for the same reason as you, I'm here to cooperate with the investigation. Please stop calling me a murderer, or I will sue you for slander!"

"How dare you!" Claire retorted, "I saw it with my own eyes, how could it be slander?"

Then Claire turned to the chief constable and said, "Melissa is clearly the murderer. Why did you let her go? Why didn't you arrest her and send her to jail?"

The chief constable was speechless.

He was confused about what they were doing here.

The chief constable wondered, Why is the girl accusing her future cousin-in-law of murdering?

The more he thought over it, the more puzzled he felt.

As expected, the matters of the wealthy families were hard to understand.

"That's enough, Claire. The police will be up to the case. Before the truth is found out, I don't want to hear any rumors about Melissa." Murray frowned and said coldly.

Murray did not believe that Melissa would push Susie down to the lake.

On the contrary, he believed in Melissa's words that Susie deserved it.

Previously, Susie had intended to hurt Melissa in the garage, which was the best proof.

“Murray...” Claire bit her lip, feeling wronged. She looked at Murray in disbelief.

Now that she had stood out to accuse Melissa. Why was Murray still on her side?

Murray no longer paid any attention to Claire. His deep gaze fell on Melissa as he said casually.

“Let’s go.”

Melissa looked at Murray and then turned to look at Adela behind him. Thinking of the phone call last night, she felt depressed.

“That’s unnecessary. I have an appointment with Jaylan tonight.” Melissa looked for the figure of Jaylan.

Jaylin had accompanied her all the way to the police station, but now she couldn’t find him anywhere.

Melissa looked around and finally saw Shen Jaylin on the phone in the corner of the hall.

“Jaylin, I’ve finished giving the statement. Let’s go.” She said as she walked over to him.

Jaylin had just gotten over the call when he saw Melissa standing before him. He stood up and smiled as he said gently, “Alright.”

Seeing that Jaylin did not hide his love for Melissa, Murray was displeased, “Melissa, how dare you leave?”

“Why wouldn’t I dare?” Under Murray’s icy gaze, Melissa and Jaylin left together.

As Melissa was walking, she thought, Since you have spent a night with Adela, you’re in no place to judge my life!

“Murray, let’s go back!”

“Murray, it’s time to go!”

Claire and Adela said at the same time.

Murray looked at Alex with a cool gaze, and his thin lips lifted slightly. “Go to the company!”

Alex shuddered under the grim gaze. He nodded and said, “Okay, Mr. Gibson.”

Looking at Murray’s cold back, Adela was upset.

She thought, Why is Murray so brutal to her? I love him so much, but why does he rather treat Melissa so nicely than glance at me? How am I worse than Melissa, who is a suburb girl?

Furthermore, she is still alive!

And she was not even slightly injured when she walked out of the police station..

Susie is too stupid to fulfill anything successfully!

Adela clenched her fists and thought, Melissa, you’re a bitch. I’ll make you suffer someday!

After leaving the police station, Murray got into Alex’s car.

Alex started the car and drove in the direction of the company.

Murray’s handsome face looked so ruthless as he tensely stared at the car in the front.

It was Jaylan’s car.

Melissa was currently sitting in the passenger seat of the car.

“Follow them,” Murray spoke in a deep voice.

“Mr. Gibson, aren’t we supposed to go back to the company? There’s a high-level meeting tonight.” Jaylan asked with caution.

Murray glanced at him coldly. “Cancel the meeting

“Okay.” Looking at Murray’s cold face, Alex nodded and hurriedly followed Jaylin’s car.

Jaylin brought Melissa to a high-class foreign restaurant.

Before this, he had asked his assistant to reserve the whole restaurant.

His fans throughout the country, especially female fans, were too crazy.

Jaylin didn’t want anybody to disturb the time he spent with Melissa.

In order to prevent the previous incident from happening again, Jaylin had specially told the boss of the restaurant not to let anyone in.

“What do you want to eat, Melissa? The steak here is fine.” Jaylin handed the menu to Melissa and said in a profound voice.

Melissa took the menu, casually flipped through it, and said absent-mindedly, “I’ll have a steak.”

“Melissa, what’s wrong? Are you still unhappy about the incident of Susie?” Seeing that Melissa wasn’t in a light mood, Jaylin asked with concern.

“I don’t care about such a matter at all.” Melissa smiled faintly.

“Then why are you unhappy?” Jaylin asked.

Jaylin sensed that Melissa wasn’t in a good mood at her first glance of Melissa this morning.

He wondered, Since it wasn’t because of the accident by the lake, then why?

Could it be related to Murray?

Facing Jaylin’s concern, Melissa changed the topic, By the way, you’ve told me that the company’s Chapter 83 Publicly Dating Another Man future development plan has been completed, right? Let’s take a look at it now.”

“Okay.” Jaylin took out the iPad, clicked on the proposal, and began to explain it to Melissa.

Melissa sat next to Jaylin. Their heads leaned close as they discussed the future of the company.

When Murray arrived, he saw this dazzling scene.

He saw Melissa and Jaylin sitting close to each other and whispering something that he had no clue about.

And there was a faint smile on Melissa's face.

Murray fixed his cold gaze on Melissa.

He wondered what the relationship was between Melissa and Jaylin.

Murray, who was still upset, was about to walk over when he was stopped by the owner of the restaurant. "Sorry, sir. Our restaurant has been booked tonight, so we don't serve other guests."

"Go away." Murray exuded an ice-cold aura, which was so strong that nobody around dared to breathe smoothly.

"Mr. Gibson." the owner of the restaurant shivered when he saw Murray's face clearly.

It was the leader of the wealthiest family here, Murray Gibson!

The boss of the restaurant could not afford to offend Murray!

After a moment of hesitation, the boss let Murray in.

Hearing the noise, Melissa looked up and saw that Murray was walking toward her with an unhappy face.

Melissa darkened the screen and was about to speak, but Murray frowned and said coldly, "Leave with me, Melissa."

Melissa ignored him and lowered her head to eat the steak as if Murray were transparent to her.

Murray reached out his big hand and pressed Melissa's palm. He said briefly, "Let's go!"

"Murray, watch your behavior." Jaylin stood up and stood before Melissa.

"This has nothing to do with you," Murray spoke coldly, pushing Jaylin to the side. Then he dragged Melissa away from the seat.

"That's enough, Murray. Can't you see that I'm having dinner?" Melissa swung her arm and struggled free from Murray's grip.

“The food here is not good enough. I’ll take you to a better dinner.” Murray suppressed the anger in his heart and spoke.

However, Melissa didn’t take it. She replied carelessly. “I think the place is nice. I like it here. Mr. Gibson, if you have nothing else to say, please leave. Don’t disturb my dinner with Jaylin.”

Hearing this, Murray’s face became even colder.

“Melissa, don’t forget who you’re!” Murray’s eyes were seething with fury.

He thought, Melissa’s actions are intolerable. How dare she publicly date Jaylin in his presence?

Does she ever think of me as her fiancé?

Melissa sneered and pursed her lips. “Mr. Gibson, I have never forgotten that we only have a three-month contract.”

“A three-month contract?”

Hearing that, Jaylin’s eyes gleamed with a hint of ecstasy.

In other words, there was no actual relationship between Melissa and Murray.

Therefore, Jaylin still held a chance.

At the thought of this, Jaylin's entire body was filled with power as he stepped forward and tried to pull Murray away, "Let go of Melissa!"

"Jaylin, if I remember correctly, aren't you pursuing your boss? Don't tell me you want to date both?" Murray smiled sarcastically.

Jaylin's gaze deepened as he stared at Melissa and said in a deep voice, "My boss is..."

Seeing that Jaylin was about to tell the secret, Melissa frowned as she hurriedly interrupted Jaylin's words, "Jaylin, you should go back first."

"No!" Jaylin grabbed Melissa's hand, "Unless you leave with me."

He couldn't leave Melissa alone with Murray, who was ruthless like a ghost from hell.

Melissa quietly pulled her hand back and smiled. "I will solve my own problem. You may go back first, okay?"

"I won't go." Jaylin insisted. He couldn't let himself leave in such a situation.

Melissa became impatient and said seriously, "I asked you to go. Can't you hear me?"

Seeing that Melissa was angry, Jaylin's heart fiercely twitched.

He understood Melissa. As long as she had made up her mind, no one could change it.

Therefore, Jaylin looked at her deeply and said helplessly, "Then you'd better be careful."

As he spoke, Jaylin turned to leave.

Murray stared at Jaylin's back as he left and his handsome face tensed up.

A moment later, Murray withdrew his gaze, turned around, extended his hands, and grabbed Melissa's shoulder.

"What are you doing, Murray?" Melissa subconsciously took a step back.

However, Murray strode forward and closed in.

Achill ran down Melissa's spine. When her back touched the wall, Melissa realized that she had no space to retreat.

Chapter 84 Melissa, You Are Jealous

Murray stepped forward and stretched his hands against the wall, trapping Melissa between the wall and him. His thin lips pursed slightly, and his tone was extremely cold. "Melissa, you are my fiancée. How dare you date another man right to my face?"

The cold aura around Murray froze the air in the restaurant.

Looking into the eyes of the Murray which were filled with anger, Melissa retorted without fear, "So what? You can spend a fine night with Adela happily! Why can't I have dinner with Jaylin?"

Once she thought of the phone call last night and the smug tone of Adela, Melissa felt flustered as if a ball of cotton had been stuffed into her heart.

Murray was stunned for a moment.

He wondered, A night of romance with Adela?

What is she talking about?

“How did you know I was with Adela last night?” Murray asked grimly.

Melissa glared at him, “If you want others to not know, you shouldn’t have done it in the first place. Why do you care how I know it?”

He nodded slightly and saw Melissa glaring with a pair of beautiful eyes. Her pretty face was filled with jealousy, like a young wife who was angry and jealous because she had caught her husband and his mistress in bed.

“Melissa, you’re jealous, aren’t you?” Murray chuckled and said slowly.

Although it was a question, his tone was very certain.

Melissa thought, Jealous?

He must be joking!

Why would I be jealous?

Murray is like nobody to me!

“No, I’m not.” Melissa glared at him, “Murray, who do you think you’re? Why should I be jealous? Your relationship with Adela means nothing to me. It’s normal for you, the president of the Gibson Corporation, to be dating all kinds of beautiful girls.”

Murray’s mood suddenly turned better when he saw Melissa was on the edge of breaking out.

His deep gaze fell on Melissa’s little mouth which was chattering. Murray suddenly leaned over and kissed her, blocking all her rest words.

“No...” The heat on Murray’s lips passed to the lips of Melissa, making her heart race.

At this moment, Melissa felt as if a strong electric current had struck her. Her face was burning hot and even her breathing was difficult.

Melissa subconsciously struggled and wanted to push Murray away, but she was pressed against the wall by him and could not move a bit.

“Don’t move.” Murray’s low and hoarse voice sounded in the air. His deep eyes were currently surging with dense lust, like a burning fire.

His big tongue pried open Melissa's mouth and teeth, and he stuck his tongue in...

Waves of ripples lingered in her heart. Melissa's brain seemed to freeze at this moment, and she inexplicably stopped struggling,

As their breaths entangled with each other, Murray's kiss was like a violent storm, overbearing, passionate, lingering, and difficult to part with.

The temperature of the restaurant continued to rise, and the air was ambiguous...

After an unknown period of time, when Melissa thought that she was about to suffocate, Murray finally ended this overbearing and lingering kiss.

"Murray, you... You're a pervert!" Melissa came back to her senses and glared at Murray with shame and anger.

She thought, Gosh, what was I doing just now?

Why haven't I pushed him away?

Murray smiled faintly, leaned over, and whispered in her ear, "I have nothing to do with Adela. Last night was my father's death anniversary. I went to the cemetery to pay my respects to him and accidentally got drunk. Adela took me to her home. That's all. There is nothing going on between me and her."

Melissa was slightly stunned.

She wondered, Is Murray... explaining to me?

"I'm not interested in the relationship between you two." Melissa snorted.

Seeing that Melissa was still jealous, Murray raised his eyebrows, pulled Melissa's hand, and sat back down at the table. He said, "Let's eat."

Under Melissa's surprised gaze, he called the waiter over, "Please, I'd like a steak."

"Didn't you say that the food here is not good enough?" Melissa was still unhappy.

Chapter 84 Melissa, You Are Jealous

However. Murray felt refreshed. He held a knife and fork with his slender hands and ate a mouthful of steak elegantly. "Have you ever heard that a man who is in high spirits can be satisfied with everything around him? When I'm happy, everything tastes wonderful."

Melissa was confused and thought, He's happy?

He's happy for what? For the kiss by force?

She glared at Murray angrily, but somehow her stomach growled.

"Hurry up and eat. Don't starve yourself." Murray said with a smile.

Melissa swallowed her saliva, picked up the fork from the table, and began to eat.

No matter what, she had to take care of her stomach first.

"By the way, what happened to Susie today? Why did she cause you trouble again?" Murray looked up at Melissa.

It was obvious that Susie had provoked Melissa first, but then Susie had drowned herself and was still unconscious.

However, because of the accusation of Claire and Trevon, Melissa was still in trouble.

The most crucial thing, for now, was to find the evidence that Susie had made a move. As long as there was evidence, everything could be solved easily.

"Isn't the whole thing resulting from you? Don't tell me that you have no idea that Susie likes you!" Melissa said angrily.

Murray chuckled when he saw Melissa being jealous again.

"What are you laughing for?" Melissa set down the fork and knife in her hands as her eyebrows furrowed.

Murray was smiling so maliciously.

"Nothing." Murray glanced at Melissa with a smile. Melissa's jealous face was adorable in his eyes.

Seeing that Melissa had finished her steak in no time, Murray reached out and put the steak he had cut into pieces onto Melissa's plate.

Without any hostility, the atmosphere in the restaurant was nice.

Just then, Murray's phone rang. The call was from Alex.

"What's the matter?" Murray answered the phone and asked in a low voice.

"Mr. Gibson, our men found Ivan in Geormia," Alex said respectfully on the other side of the line.

Murray nodded and asked with a faint expression, "Have you found out who gave him the order?"

"No, on the second day after we found Ivan, he ran into a car accident and died." Alex felt sorry. They were so close to finding out who was behind this.

Still, it was a pity.

"He is dead?" Murray said coldly, "Go on with the investigation."

"Got it!"

Seeing Murray hang up the phone, Melissa narrowed her eyes and asked, "What's wrong?".

"The men sent by Alex found Ivan in Geormia, but he died in a car crash," Murray said in a deep voice.

"Really? He is dead?" Melissa was a little surprised.

How could it be such a coincidence that Ivan died the second day after he was found?

Behind this scene, there seemed to be a secret man controlling everything.

Who was it exactly?

Chapter 85 On the Trending Topic

Early the next morning, Melissa went to the police station again and went to Lover's Lake with the two police officers she had met the day before, explaining the situation to them in detail.

The two police officers recorded all she said very carefully and didn't dare to neglect a clue.

After all, Murray had personally asked them to find out the truth and restore Melissa's innocence.

By the time Melissa returned to the Gibson

Corporation, it was almost noon.

She got out of the car and was about to enter the company when a few people suddenly rushed out and surrounded her aggressively.

"What are you doing?" Melissa asked warily.

She didn't know these people, but it was obvious that they were aiming at her.

Melissa wondered, Are they trying to rob me in the middle of the day?

"Melissa, you are the murderer!" One middle-aged woman with white hair grabbed Melissa's clothes and shouted, "Everyone, come here! She is a murderer!"

Melissa frowned and pushed the middle-aged woman away. She said coldly, "Excuse me, who are you?"

"You don't know who I am? You are the one who killed my daughter!" The middle-aged woman staggered and threw herself at Melissa. Her eyes reddened and she wailed,

"You're a vicious woman who pushed my daughter into Lover's Lake. My poor daughter is only 25 years old. She is so young... Now she is lying in the hospital and unconscious. I don't know if she will wake up..."

It turned out that the woman was Susie's mother.

Melissa came to a sudden realization that these people were Susie's relatives and friends, who had come to give her some trouble.

"Your daughter hasn't died yet. Why are you crying and wailing?" Melissa crossed her arms in front of her chest and looked down at the woman indifferently.

Susie was in a coma in the hospital. Instead of accompanying her, the woman came to the Gibson Corporation to make a fuss. It was really funny.

“You, you dare curse my daughter.” Cindy Hall, who was Susie’s mother, raised her right hand and exerted much strength to slap Melissa’s face. “Melissa, you’re a shameless bitch. I will kill you, you’re a vicious murderer!”

“Are you crazy?” Melissa glanced at Cindy like she was looking at an idiot, grabbed her hand that was falling, and pushed hard.

Cindy fell to the ground. Then, she simply sat on the ground and shouted, “Everyone, sit on the ground and shouted, “Everyone, look! The murderer is going to kill me now! Look at her face. Don’t be fooled by the murderer!”

The few people who were with Cindy also cursed at Melissa. They even pulled up a banner that wrote, “Melissa Eugen is a murderer! She has to pay for what she has done!”

This group of people was making a ruckus at the gate of the Gibson Corporation. Many people who didn’t know what was going on had gathered around to watch the show. They pointed at Melissa and discussed.

“How is this beautiful girl a murderer?”

“You don’t know that. The more beautiful a woman is, the more vicious she can be.”

“I really couldn’t tell.”

“Maybe you’re right.”

Seeing more and more people coming over, Cindy put more effort into the performance,

She sat on the ground with snot and tears coming out. She pointed at Melissa and sobbed, “Susie, my poor daughter, how can you be so miserable? You met this vicious woman, Melissa, who pushed you into the water. She should die instead of you! If you die, I can’t live!”

Melissa felt a headache coming on while looking at this unreasonable shrew.

She looked down at Cindy with cold eyes, saying, “Get out of my way!”

“Today, we are here to seek justice for Susie. We’ll make everyone know what you are!”
Cindy stared at Melissa.

The guard who heard the argument walked out of the gate. Seeing that Melissa was being pestered by this group of people, he quickly walked over and said, “Please leave quickly. Don’t block the entrance of the company or hinder the order here!”

“Sir, you came at the right time. This murderer deliberately tried to kill my daughter. Please arrest her!” Cindy grabbed the guard’s arm.

“If you don’t move away, I’ll call the police.” Melissa raised the phone in her hand and said coldly, “You deliberately framed me, disturbed public order, and caused trouble. Do you want to go to jail?”

“How dare you threaten me, you murderer?” Cindy stared at her.

After a pause, Cindy turned to the people who came with her. “Why are you stunned? Hurry up and avenge Susie!”

Hearing this, the few burly men approached Melissa. One of the tall men directly reached out to grab her.

Melissa looked at them warily. Just as she was about to counterattack, a cold and stern male voice sounded, “Let her go!”

Melissa looked in the direction and saw that

Murray was walking towards her with steady steps.

Murray’s aura was so strong and cold that the people around felt stressed.

The crowd automatically cleared a path for him.

Even Cindy, who was crying just now, was so frightened that she kept quiet.

Murray walked to Melissa and stopped before her. He gently held her hand and his eyes looked warm. He asked, “Are you alright?”

The warm breath of Murray came from the palm of her hand, making Melissa’s heart warm.

"I'm fine," she said, shaking her head.

Alex, who was following behind Murray, frowned and said coldly, "Where are these knuckleheads from?"

"Melissa pushed my daughter into the water. She is the murderer." Cindy said fearfully.

Alex's eyes blinked with disgust, "You're still slandering Ms. Eugen?"

"Get them away from here," Alex ordered the security guard beside him.

Then Murray held Melissa's hand and led her into the Gibson Corporation. "Why didn't you call me when you were in trouble?"

If he hadn't seen it from upstairs and arrived in time, Melissa might have been hurt by the group of lunatics?

Melissa smiled. "I can solve this kind of minor matter myself."

Murray nodded slightly, approached her, and whispered in her ear, "Don't take everything on your own. Next time you are in trouble, you have to tell me. I won't let anyone hurt you."

Murray's simple words moved her heart.

Melissa flushed, saying, "I'm going to work."

Murray's simple words moved her heart.

Melissa flushed, saying, "I'm going to work."

After that, she quickly headed to the secretary's office.

Looking at Melissa's retreating figure, Murray curled his lips.

Her shy appearance was very charming in his eyes.

Melissa returned to her seat and received the promotional photos sent by the photographer. She checked them one by one and looked at them carefully.

The photos taken last time were not bad. Melissa pursed her lips in satisfaction.

Just as Melissa was concentrating on her work, Katie, who was sitting next to her, suddenly exclaimed, "My goodness, Ms. Eugen, is this you? You are trending!"

Chapter 86 Rumors

Trending topic?

Melissa took out her phone and checked Twitter. Soon enough, she saw a top search, "An employee of the Gibson Corporation is suspected of murdering and hitting the relatives of the victim".

There were words and pictures attached. The article described how Melissa had deliberately pushed Susie into Lover's Lake. With the accusation of Claire and Trevon, the case was confusing.

The mother of the victim Susie came to seek justice for her daughter, but she was beaten by Melissa in the street and pushed to the ground.

And there were photos. From the angle of the photos, Melissa did push Cindy to the ground.

But in fact, Cindy was the first to grab Melissa. Melissa just gently pushed her, but she sat on the ground under the force and howled.

In the post, Cindy was depicted as a victim.

And Melissa was like an unforgivable woman who deliberately pushed Susie into the lake and fought against Cindy.

The comments below were all criticizing what Melissa had done and scolding her harshly.

After staring at the screen for a while, Melissa frowned.

This matter was not that simple.

The opinion of the public was very obvious, which was to claim her intention of killing, to incite the people who knew nothing about the case to attack her with the power of Internet violence, and there was no lack of people who were hired to add fuel to the fire.

After all, Cindy was just an ordinary middle-aged woman who did not have this kind of power at all.

It seemed that there were quite a number of people who wanted to frame Melissa.

Melissa smiled sarcastically, and her phone suddenly rang.

She picked it up and Anthony's voice came through the other end, "Ada, did you check Twitter? Why are you in the trending topics?"

"I saw it." Melissa smiled and joked, "Maybe that's because I'm popular now."

"Alright... Who dares to slander you? I'll help you get rid of it right away." Anthony said angrily, "Fuck! How dare they slander you! I'm going to hack the media system!"

"You don't have to do that." Melissa said casually, "Since they enjoy making up rumors, let them do it."

Anthony was confused, "Ada, aren't you afraid that it will damage your reputation?"

Melissa sneered, "Right now, the more they slander me, the more interesting the game will be. Since they want to play, then I'll play with them."

Anthony pondered and murmured, "Ada, do you mean..."

Melissa raised her eyebrows, and the corners of her mouth curled into a meaningful smile, "Help me investigate Susie."

Since Susie deliberately wanted to harm her, there must be some clues left.

Anthony understood instantly and replied, "I see, Ada. Wait for my good news."

After hanging up the phone, Melissa's eyes became colder.

Originally, she only wanted to peacefully live through these three months and then leave. She hadn't expected that she would be under so much attention and trouble.

Since they had come to offend her, she would have to protect herself!

Melissa woke up early in the morning. After being busy all morning and being pestered by that shrew Cindy for a while, she felt a little sleepy.

Melissa yawned, got up, and prepared to go to the pantry to make a cup of coffee.

Along the way, many other employees looked at her differently, pointing at her and whispering

“Do you think Melissa really pushed Susie into the lake?”

“That must be true. That’s what the trending topics said.”

“I think that’s hard to believe.”

“You can never judge a book by its cover. I’ve heard that Melissa comes from the suburbs. The country girls can be the most vicious.”

“Maybe you’re right.”

All kinds of rumors came around, but Melissa turned a deaf ear to them. Her expression was still calm as she walked. Melissa was a little speechless.

She did not need Murray to stand up for her.

She even wanted to let the trending topics stay there for a few more days, let the public opinion ferment, making the whole thing bigger. She couldn’t understand why Murray always interfered with her life.

However, it was Murray’s way of showing concern for her.

With that in mind, Melissa felt a bit warm.

“I’m fine, really,” she said with a bright smile.

Murray leaned over and whispered in her ear, “Melissa, you are my fiancée. No matter what happens, I won’t leave you alone. Do you understand?”

His warm breath was sprayed all over Melissa’s neck, making her blush.

As her heart began to beat faster, Melissa hurriedly took a few deep breaths.

This inexplicable feeling made her feel a little depressed. How could she let Murray affect her emotions?

Melissa calmed herself down and pushed Murray away. “Murray, you’d better keep a distance from me. Our relationship only exists within the limited time in the contract. Besides, I can handle these things myself. You don’t have to worry about it.”

In fact, Melissa did not like to owe anyone anything. The more Murray did for her, the more she felt guilty.

Melissa's aloof voice entered Murray's ears. His handsome face sank, and a complicated emotion emerged in his eyes. Then, his eyes turned cold again.

He suddenly tightened his grip on Melissa's small hand. Melissa wasn't paying attention and slipped, her entire body pouncing towards his chest.

"Melissa, do you really just consider me as your fiancé in the contract?" Murray asked.

Wrapped in the scent of his mature aura, Melissa's heart began to beat faster uncontrollably. His deep eyes stared at her tightly as if there was magic in them, causing people to indulge in it.

Melissa quickly diverted her gaze away and pushed him away. She pursed her lips and asked coldly, "Or what?"

Murray's face apparently turned cold.

Melissa was in his arms, clearly refusing and struggling, which aroused his desire to conquer.

He wanted to use his actions to tell Melissa that the relationship between him and her was more than just a contract.

Perhaps the relationship between them could go further.

Murray's strong hands tightly wrapped around Melissa's waist and pressed her deeper into his arms.

Melissa trembled and struggled for a moment. "Let go of me!" she said coldly.

"What if I don't?" Murray curled his lips indifferently.

At this moment, the atmosphere in the tea room was frozen.

Just then, there was a knock on the door. "Is there anyone inside?"

"Who is so wicked to lock the tea room? Do you really think the tea room is yours?" Another person said impatiently.

Melissa took the opportunity to break free from Murray's arms, saying, "Let me go. They want to get in."

After leaving Murray's embrace, Melissa opened the door and dashed off.

The two employees who came to the tea room looked at each other in confusion.

"Was that Melissa?" One of the employees asked curiously.

"Yes. That's her. I didn't expect a murderer to appear in our Gibson Group. She is even on a trending topic, which is so humiliating. How can such a person still have the courage to appear in the company?"

The two of them were having a great time discussing when a cold voice suddenly came from inside, "The two of you don't have to come to work tomorrow."

When they saw Murray's cold face, both of them were stunned.

Murray's handsome face was filled with dissatisfaction, and the cold aura he emitted caused the place to be freezing cold.

After saying that, Murray walked out of the tea room with chilling coldness, leaving only the two stunned employees.

They couldn't figure out why Murray was in the tea room.

Melissa had just returned to her seat when she received a call from Albert.

"Mr. Wood, what's the matter?" Melissa picked up the phone and asked politely.

From the other side of the line, Albert's serious voice came, "Ms. Hodgson is awake."

"Really?" Melissa raised her lips.

"After Susie woke up, we asked her for a confession immediately. She insisted that you were the one who pushed her into the water." Albert said seriously.

"Alright." Melissa's eyebrows twitched as he said indifferently.

She was not surprised. It was expected that Susie claimed Melissa to be the murderer as soon as she woke up.

She desperately tried to save Susie, but still, nothing could change Susie's mind.

Albert added, "So during this period of time, please do not leave Aldness and cooperate with the investigation at any time. We will definitely dig out the truth of the case."

"I understand." Melissa nodded.

Murray had people withdraw the topic. But now that Susie had woken up and strongly testified that Melissa was the murderer who had pushed her, the reporters who had heard the news surrounded the hospital and wanted to interview Susie.

However, because it was not visiting time, the hospital stopped the reporters and did not let them into the ward.

Therefore, the reporters could only call Susie through the phone. "Ms. Hodgson, it is widespread on the Internet that you fell into Lover's Lake because someone deliberately pushed you, and the person is the fiancée of the president of the Gibson Corporation. Is it true?"

On the phone, Susie cried desperately, "Yes, I didn't fall into the water by accident. Melissa pushed me into the lake! You must get justice for me!"

"Can you tell us more about the specific situation?" "Why did Melissa deliberately push you into the water?" One reporter asked.

"How about this? You should come to the ward tomorrow, and we will talk about it face to face." A cunning and sinister glint flashed through Susie's eyes.

If she finished the story all at once, its effect might not be strong enough.

So she decided to tell half of the story now and leave the other half for tomorrow. She would be interviewed live. And the news would be more appealing, thus attracting more attention. Then the rumors would be too strong for Melissa to take!

Susie made an appointment with the reporters that they were going to have an interview and live broadcast in the ward tomorrow. She would tell them in detail how she had been framed by Melissa, how she had been pushed into the water by Melissa, and how Melissa had stood aside and watched her drown.

Hanging up the phone, Susie's eyes gleamed with viciousness.

This time, since Susie had survived, she would definitely send Melissa to prison!

It was not in vain that she almost lost her life rid of Melissa, it would all be worth it.

At this time, Susie received a strange phone call. She thought it was a call from another reporter. So she got herself ready and pretended to be the victim. She spoke weakly, "Hi, hello."

"Susie, it's me. You did excellently this time." Adela said from the other end of the line.

"Don't worry, Melissa will not be able to survive it this time!"

Susie's lips curled into a triumphant smile. "As long as I insist that it was Melissa who pushed me into the water before the police and media, along with the testimony of Claire and Trevon, Melissa is sure to stay in jail for at least a few years!"

"Nice." Adela was very satisfied, "Although you didn't achieve the target this time, the result is not bad. By the way, you didn't leave any evidence unfavorable to us, right?"

"Of course not." Susie said confidently, "Before I started, I looked around carefully.

At that time, there was no one else besides me and Melissa. Even Claire and the others only came after I fell into the water. I am sure that no one would know that I fell into the water by accident."

"Great." Adela nodded in satisfaction. "As long as this matter is handled well, I guarantee that you can return to the Gibson Corporation."

"Thank you!" Susie's eyes lit up with determination.

This time, in order to get rid of Melissa and return to the Gibson Corporation, she was going all out.

Therefore, she had no choice but to succeed!

At night, Melissa's name appeared in the trending topics again.

This time, with Susie's personal testimony, there were many more people reading and reposting the article, and the online crusade against Melissa was even more intense.

In the president's office, Murray leaned in his seat. His slender fingers touched the screen of his phone and searched for Susie's criticism and scolding against Melissa. His eyes narrowed slightly.

"Mr. Gibson, I found the thing you asked me to look for," Alex said as he pushed the door open.

As he spoke, he handed Murray a U disk.

Murray took it over, inserted it into his computer, and played a video.

Having watched the video, his sexy lips were raised. "Excellent."

"Do I need to ask someone to get rid of the trending topics related to Ms. Eugen?" Alex asked for directions.

Murray thought, For the sake of popularity, the media is really bold and shameless.

They even dare to stream the interview online. Are they tired of living?

Murray stared at the computer screen, and said indifferently, "You don't have to."

In the quiet of night, Melissa was reclining on the sofa, staring at the phone screen, on which there were all kinds of people who scolded her.

There were even some comments that threatened Melissa to take her life.

Everyone was looking forward to tomorrow's live broadcast, waiting to hear how the victim Susie would expose the true face of the vicious woman Melissa.

Melissa smiled and thought, tomorrow? I'm also looking forward to it.

At this moment, Melissa's phone rang.

She looked down and saw that it was from Anthony

"Ada, I've found the information you asked for and sent it to your email," Anthony said on the other side of the line.

Melissa nodded in satisfaction, and the corners of her mouth slightly curved.

"Since Susie dares to offend you, she is looking for death." Anthony sneered. "Ada, don't let them get away with it!"

"Hey! Do I look like a soft-hearted person?" Melissa's voice was very flat, but it brought along a chill.

"Ada, I believe you!" Anthony exclaimed in a surprised voice.

Melissa chuckled, "You do know how to joke around."

After hanging up the phone, Melissa was about to check her email box to see the information that Anthony had sent her when she heard a clear voice coming from the door, "Who are you calling?"

Melissa looked up and saw Murray leaning against the door frame with a faint smile.

Melissa was stunned. In her memory, she had closed the door just now.

She didn't seem to have said anything that she shouldn't have.

Melissa sat up straight and asked, "Why are you here? I remember I closed the door."

"This is my home," Murray said as he strode into the room and raised the corners of his lips as if it was a matter of course.

Melissa was speechless.

Murray walked over to Melissa and sat beside her. His legs were casually crossed as he asked, "Did you notice the trending topic? I heard that Susie will have a live interview tomorrow?"

"That's what the Internet said," Melissa said indifferently.

"You're not afraid?" Murray turned to the side, with his deep eyes staring at Melissa.

"Why should I be afraid when I'm innocent?" Melissa said with a hint of ridicule on her lips. "The ones who should be afraid are those who lie against their conscience, right?"

"Exactly," Murray uttered a single word.

If any other woman was facing the same situation, she would have been wronged and scared to the extreme when she was framed by others.

But Melissa was so calm and composed as if she hadn't been affected at all.

She was strong mentally.

"Is there anything else? If there's not, I need to rest." Melissa was a little impatient to see the information sent by Anthony, so she asked Murray to leave.

Originally, Murray had wanted to relieve Melissa's worries about tomorrow's live broadcast, but now it seemed that his concern was not needed.

He took a deep look at Melissa, stood up, raised his lips, and said, "Have a good rest."

After Murray left, Melissa quickly checked her email box and looked through the information that Anthony had sent her.

Melissa raised her lips in satisfaction and thought, Susie is such an idiot. Her real intention will be revealed in tomorrow's live interview!

Early on the next morning, reporters from various media companies gathered at the entrance of the hospital early in fear of missing first-hand information.

When it was time to visit, the reporters rushed into the ward.

Other than Susie, who was lying on the bed with a sick face, Claire was also there in the ward visiting Susie.

“Hello, thank you all very much for coming today.” Susie looked weak and struggled to get up from the bed.

In front of the media, Claire quickly held Susie straight.

One of the reporters said to the camera, “Hello, everyone. I believe you must be very curious about what happened between the former employee of the Gibson Corporation, Susie Hodgson, and Melissa Eugen, who is currently working in the Gibson Corporation. Today, we come to the ward to ask one of the people that was involved, Susie.”

The reporter first interviewed Claire, “Ms. Gibson, I’ve heard that Melissa is Murray’s fiancée. What do you think of the matter?”

Claire immediately cleared her throat and clarified, “This is a rumor. Don’t you know what kind of person Murray is? How could he have such a ruthless fiancée? The Gibson family is noble. How could we have any connection with the murderer?”

“I see.” The reporters nodded in understanding. They were originally worried that the interview would offend Murray.

Now that Claire said so, Melissa must have nothing to do with Murray, which relieved

Then the reporters turned to the protagonist of the day, Susie.

“Ms. Hodgson, what exactly happened when you fell into Lover’s Lake that day? Can you tell us? Many netizens are concerned about you.”

Susie nodded with a pale face and said with red eyes, “Thank you for your concern.”

“On that day, I had an appointment with a friend to go to Lover’s Lake, but my friend had something to attend to at the last minute. Since I have already gone there, I chose to take a walk around by myself.

“However, I ran into Melissa there. As soon as she saw me, she swore at me and told me to die. I didn’t even have time to react before she rushed up and pushed me into the water. She even cursed me when I was drowning!!

Susie wiped her tears and finished saying in —hunath

The cameras kept flashing and the reporters asked, “Then may I ask you why Melissa did that to you?”

Susie's beautiful eyes were full of tears. "When I was still working in the Gibson Corporation, Melissa was always jealous of me and disliked me. I thought that Melissa just disliked me, but I didn't expect her to be so brutal. She even tried to kill me by pushing me into the lake!

"I don't know how to swim at all. I desperately struggled in the water, calling for help, but Melissa was indifferent on the shore. She even looked at me fiercely and watched me drown!

Claire added, "Indeed. That day, my classmate and I went camping by Lover's Lake and happened to see the scene of Melissa pushing Susie into the lake."

"I didn't expect that the truth was the same — as everyone had guessed. Ms. Hodgson was pushed into the water by Melissa on purpose.

We believe that the truth will come to light eventually. As long as one is guilty, he or she will inevitably be punished. Justice will never be late!" One reporter said.

The reporter's words attracted a lot of praise from the audience in the live broadcast room. The audience's hatred toward Melissa peaked.

When Melissa arrived at the ward, she heard these words just in time.

She walked into the ward with steady steps and looked coldly at Susie who was pretending to be sick on the bed. She said in a low voice, "Well said, justice will never be late. As long as you commit crimes, you will be punished accordingly. Susie, do you agree with what I say?"

Susie was stunned. Then she reacted with hatred and disgust in her eyes, "Melissa, you murderer! How dare you come here?"

When the reporters heard Melissa's voice, they all looked at Melissa, afraid they would miss something. The cameras were aimed at Melissa.

No one would have expected Melissa would come.

Melissa was trolled on the Internet. Shouldn't she hide at this time?

However, to the media, the arrival of Melissa would make things more interesting.

The confrontation between the two sides would make the live broadcast more exciting and attractive to the audience and cause great attention.

Thus, a reporter took a step forward and asked first, "Ms. Eugen, just now, Ms. Hodgson and Ms. Gibson have told us what Hodgson and Ms. Gibson have told us what happened at Lover's Lake. They prove that you pushed Ms. Hodgson into the lake. What's your opinion?"

"Claire, did you see me push Susie into the water?" Melissa chuckled.

"Of course. My classmates and I saw it." Claire was certain.

"Really?" Melissa looked at Susie with a mocking smile. "What about you, Susie? Did you see that I pushed you into the water?"

"Sure! You are so vicious that you want to kill me. How could I be wrong? Even if you turned into ashes, I would recognize you. You pushed me into the water!" Susie said angrily. Her pale face contorted, and her eyes were filled with hatred.

"Susie, you keep saying that I pushed you into the water to kill you. Since you are not dead now, who rescued you ashore?" Melissa asked.

Get Borg

Susie was stunned. Susie knew Melissa had saved her and had even done CPR on her.

But how could Susie tell the truth?

Susie glared at Melissa. "I fainted at that time. How could I know?"

“Claire, what about you? Since you saw I pushed Susie into the water, you must have seen who saved Susie.” Melissa crossed her arms in front of her chest and said calmly.

Claire hesitated for a moment, “It’s ...

Jaylin.”

“Jaylin, were you the one who saved Susie?” Melissa looked at the door and raised her voice.

Jaylin?

The reporters were even more excited. Has Jaylin also come?

Under the expectant gazes of the reporters, Jaylin walked in, took off his cap, and removed his sunglasses revealing a neerless

“My goodness! It is indeed Mr. Segar!”

Jaylin usually kept a low profile and rarely accepted media interviews. Many reporters followed him all day long just to take a photo.

At the time, Jaylin appeared!

One of the reporters asked excitedly, “Mr. Segar, were you also at Lover’s Lake that day?”

“Yes.” Jaylin nodded.

The reporter continued. “Did you see what happened? Did Melissa push Susie into the water?”

Jaylin cleared his throat and said in a deep voice.

“No. On that day, Melissa and I went to Lover’s Lake to shoot an advertisement. Melissa went to find the best place to shoot, and when I went over, Susie had fallen into the water.

“I wanted to save Susie, but I’m not good at swimming. I almost drowned myself. Fortunately, Melissa jumped into the water and saved Susie and me.”

After hearing Jaylin’s words, the reporters looked at each other.

Melissa jumped into the water to save Susie!

If Melissa pushed Susie into the water to kill her, why did Melissa jump into the water to save her?

Seeing the reporters' puzzled faces, Jaylin elegantly took out his phone from his pocket, opened the photo library, and showed it. "It is the video I took at that time. You can watch it."

In the video, Melissa was doing CPR on Susie attentively. Her movements were skillful and precise.

"You've seen it. If I pushed Susie into the water, why would I bother to save her? Am I insane?" Melissa looked around and said mockingly.

The reporters nodded and looked at Susie with doubt.

Seeing this, Claire quickly said, "Because, at that time, you thought Susie was dead! You were acting to do CPR to avoid suspicion!"

"Ms. Gibson, do you think I'm as stupid as you who can't even tell the living and the dead?" Melissa rubbed her eyebrows and sneered.

A reporter could not help laughing.

Claire's expression changed. "Melissa, don't think that just a few words of sophistry can cover up the crime of you deliberately killing people!"

"That's right!" Susie clutched her chest and looked at Melissa with resentment. "Whatever your purpose is to save me, it can't change the fact that you pushed me into the water!"

"Is that so! Who is being set up now?" Melissa asked, "Who wanted to stab me in the underground garage of the Gibson Corporation?"

Noticing Melissa's implication, the reporters asked excitedly. "Ms. Eugen, what do you mean..."

The underground garage of the Gibson Corporation had surveillance cameras. Early this morning, Melissa went to the surveillance room to ask for that day's video.

At that moment, Melissa opened the video.

In the video, Susie insulted Melissa like a shrew and suddenly took out a knife to stab Melissa!

Meanwhile, Susie shouted, "Melissa, go to hell!"

The video stopped abruptly. Melissa said coldly, "Everyone has seen it. It was Susie who wanted to stab me with a knife to kill — me! It was the same at the Lover's Lake that day Susie wanted to push me into the water.

However, bad deeds may rebound on the doer. Susie fell into the water herself."

Melissa's video was seen by the whole country's netizens through a live broadcast.

At the moment, the bullet comments appeared one after another.

"Gosh! Susie is not a good person."

"It seems that there is a reversal."

"The plot is getting more intriguing. Continue to spill the tea."

"Jaylin is so handsome. Is there anyone who comes to see Jaylin like me? I unconditionally support Jaylin and Melissa!"

Susie's face changed again, "Melissa, you are talking nonsense! You pushed me into the water!"

"Nonsense?" Melissa sneered, "Didn't you stab me with a knife? Didn't you keep shouting 'Melissa, go to hell?'".

Everyone nodded and looked at Susie with scrutiny.

Susie was flustered. "Even if I wanted you to die at that time, it didn't mean anything. That's a horse of another color."

Melissa chuckled, "You finally admit you want me to die. Right?"

“Nonsense!” Susie bit her lips, and her nails dug into her flesh. She glared at Melissa angrily. “Don’t mix the two things! Whatever you say, you can’t change the fact that you pushed me into the lake!”

“Susie, you still don’t give up.” Melissa’s eyes turned cold, and she opened what Anthony had sent her.

Melissa clicked on the document, ‘This is the history browsing record in your browser. You have searched for how to kill people with no one noticing. The most frequently visited is how to push a person into the water like an accident.’

“No! You frame me!” Susie’s eyes flashed with panic when she saw the browsing records on Melissa’s phone.

The posts Susie had browsed had long been completely cleared. Why would Melissa have Susie’s browsing record?

How did Melissa get it?

Susie kept telling herself not to panic. It was impossible to find these records that she had deleted long ago.

Thinking of this, Susie took a deep breath and forced herself to be calm. “These are all forged by you! I have never browsed through them at all! Melissa, you are so shameless that you wrong me!”

Melissa smiled. “I have already asked Mr. Wood to get your computer. You have deleted the browsing record, but I’m afraid you don’t know that no matter how well you clean up your computer, the skillful hacker can still restore it. At that time, you will know whether I’ve wronged you or not.”

“You...” Susie was speechless. She wanted to say something but was interrupted by Melissa.

“Don’t hurry.” Melissa took out a recording pen and shook it, “I believe everyone is more interested in this.”

It was a recording. Under everyone’s curious gazes, Melissa pressed the play button.

It was the conversation between Susie and Cindy.

“Susie, your father went to gamble again. He lost a lot of money. In the morning, the debtor will come to ask for the money. When can you pay back the money for your father?” Cindy said loudly.

“Mom, don’t worry. Give me a little more time. After tomorrow, I will be back at the Gibson Corporation. At that time, I will have the money to pay your debts.” Susie was firm.

“Really?” Cindy seemed suspicious.

Susie said confidently, “Of course! As long as I kill Melissa, I can return to the Gibson Corporation!”

“Are you sure you’ll make it?” Cindy asked.

“I’m quite sure. Tomorrow is my best chance!” Susie said viciously, “Melissa will go to the Lover’s Lake tomorrow to film an advertisement. As long as I find an opportunity, I’ll push her into the water when no one is watching. No one will find out. They will only think Melissa fell into the water by accident!”

The reporters present were in an uproar. They thought Melissa pushed Susie into the water, but it turned out to be the reverse.

Melissa turned off the recording and looked at Susie coldly. “Susie, do you have anything to say?”

When Susie heard this recording, her face turned green and white. She never thought Melissa would have the call recording of Cindy and her.

“Dear viewers, I believe everyone has seen it. The heated Lover’s Lake incident had a 180-degree reverse.” The reporters did not forget to interact with the audience.

“According to the evidence given by Ms. Eugen, it is likely that this matter was planned by Susie. The truth has to be investigated by the authorities. Like everyone else, we look forward to the result of fairness and justice.”

The comments in the live broadcast room were even more lively.

“Susie, the shameless woman! Why doesn’t she drown to death?”

“It turns out that we all misunderstood

Melissa. Please forgive us!”

“Melissa is cool. I love her!”

“Melissa is beautiful and kind-hearted. Marry me!”

“Stop dreaming! Melissa is mine!”

Ge!

Outside the ward, Murray was leisurely sitting on a bench, his deep eyes staring at the computer screen, the corners of his mouth slightly curved up.

This morning, Murray was going to hand over what Alex had given him yesterday to the police station. But seeing that Melissa had taken a leave of absence from work, he could not help but secretly follow behind her.

Unexpectedly, Melissa came to the hospital where Susie was.

At the moment, the reporters were having an exclusive interview with Susie, broadcasting how Melissa hurt Susie.

Melissa directly exposed Susie with evidence so that Susie could not hide.

No wonder Melissa was still calm after being trolled on the Internet yesterday.

It turned out that Melissa had already prepared to kick back, and it was excellent.

Murray’s nominal fiancée suited him more and more.

The reporter and the audience interacted for a few minutes before pointing the microphone at Susie. “Ms. Hodgson, may I ask what explanation you have for the recording that Ms. Eugen just played?”

“Fake! It’s fake!” Susie clenched her fists and roared through gritted teeth, “These are all forged by Melissa! She is framing me!”

At this moment, a cold male voice sounded outside the ward’s door. “Susie, Melissa doesn’t wrong you.”

When Melissa heard this voice, her eyebrows twitched.

It was Murray.

Everyone’s eyes could not help but look toward the door.

Murray was dressed in a black high-grade custom-made suit, showing his perfect figure to the fullest. His handsome face was cold and angular, and his deep eyes were cold and sharp

Murray walked steadily, and his body emitted an innate aura of a king, causing everything in the surroundings to be overshadowed. Only he was the focus.

The bullet comments soon occupied the screen.

“Gosh! I finally see Mr. Gibson!”

“I beg you to aim the camera at Murray!”

“Murray, I love you!”

“+2”

“+10086”

Compared to the excited audience in the live broadcast room, the reporters present were cautious.

After all, it was rumored that Melissa was Murray's fiancée. However, they criticized Melissa in their previous report.

"Mr. Gibson, may I know why you are here today?" The entertainment reporter cautiously asked.

Murray strode over to Melissa's side. He held Melissa's hand and said in a deep voice, "I am here to seek justice for my fiancée."
