

My Baby's Daddy Chapter 1141-1145

Chapter 1141 – Only then did Ren realize that he was still grabbing her wrist. He released his grip on it, but just when Ruka thought the man was going to let her off, he held her chin with his fingers. The next instant, he kissed her on the lips, as if nothing could stop him once he crossed the line he had drawn for himself. “Mmm...” Ruka pushed him immediately as her first instinct was that they couldn't do this. This is wrong. This is unreasonable.

However, the man's body was as immovable as a mountain, and his lips were full of the minty aroma of wine. Only then did Ruka realize that he had drunk alcohol. This is even more dangerous. “Ren Husson...” She finally warned him by calling him by his full name.

Ren let go of her while panting slightly as his tall figure loomed over her like a shadow. His chest heaved up and down, and he stared at the lady in his arms with dark, fathomless eyes. He had been longing for this kiss for the entire night. “What did you call me just now? he asked in a husky voice with a seductive flicker in his eyes.

“Ren Husson.” Ruka bit her lip while avoiding his intense gaze.

“Great. I like it.” The man accepted it happily. Then, he whispered in her ear and warned in a husky voice, “Go back to your room and don't come out again.”

Ruka looked up and saw the man's eyes, which were so fathomless as though they were going to devour everything like a black hole. “I'll move out tomorrow,” she said with integrity. Since he'd be so greatly affected if she stayed at his place, she might as well leave.

“You're not allowed to leave,” the man ordered overbearingly.

Everyone had a line that couldn't be crossed, including Ruka. Moreover, she was a living person, so she'd also lose her temper upon being ordered around like this.

“What do you want me to do, then? If you really crave for women, there are lots of women who are willing to serve you.

I think Miss Parfait will be more than happy to do that,” she replied in annoyance, though she didn't know what had given her the courage to say this to him.

Ren took a step back. With his arms folded, he looked her up and down with a dangerous squint. “Do you think I'm such a casual man?”

“Why me, then?” Ruka couldn't wrap her head around it. She went abroad at 16 years old and hadn't come back for nearly 5 years since then. Since when did Ren fall in love with her?

Ren also wanted to ask himself the same question. Why her, of all people? But he'd been unable to find the answer to the question.

After letting out a sigh, he replied in a husky voice, “Don’t worry, I won’t force you to do anything. Just stay here with peace of mind.”

Chapter 1142 – With that, he was about to leave. Ruka couldn’t help but say to him from behind, “Miss Parfait really likes you, so you can try to accept her.” Ren froze before looking sideways slightly. “What about you?” Ruka was lost for words for a moment. Then, in a moment of haste, she blurted out, “I don’t like someone who’s older than me.” As soon as she said that, she retracted these words inwardly. No, I didn’t mean to spurn him. I just want to use this excuse to refuse to let our relationship go deeper. If my parents know that he and I have crossed such a line, they’re gonna give me hell. She grew up abroad, but she was an old-fashioned lady at heart.

The man turned around. A faint gleam flickered visibly across his eyes under the light, and his eyes darkened as though he’d get angry at any minute.

Ruka took a gulp. “Sorry... I didn’t mean to spurn you...” she hurriedly apologized.

At first, she thought that the man would lecture her angrily. However, she heard him say, “Okay, I got it. Go to sleep.” He gave no response, but he sounded hurt.

Ruka suddenly felt that she was a mean person who hurt him with her words. Taking a deep breath, she walked toward him instead of returning to her room. “I’m really sorry, Mr. Ren. Don’t be angry, okay? That’s not what I mean. I just feel that you deserve a better person. I don’t deserve you at all, nor am I qualified to be someone you love...” she explained behind him while regretting what she had said on an impulse just now.

Her mind was in turmoil in the first place, and she didn’t look where she was going. Therefore, when the man stopped in his tracks, she bumped into his back.

She quickly took a step back, whereas the man turned around and fixed his eyes on her. “I don’t like your apology.” He expressed his stance right away.

Ruka blinked her eyes. “What kind of apology do you like, then?” Is there a better way of making an apology other than saying sorry?

Ren’s gaze fell upon her red lips, and his eyes darkened with a hint of danger. “What do you think?” he asked in reply.

Chapter 1143 – Before Ruka could finish her sentence, the man put his arm around her waist, leaned over, and kissed her on the lips. He was addicted to her tender lips, which tasted as sweet as candy; kissing them made him feel as though he were hit hard in the chest. Ruka’s eyes widened in surprise. Her breath was full of the man’s dominating scent of hormones, and her reason was swept away by the man as well.

It was as though no woman could resist his tender and yet dominating kiss under the dim light in the quiet hallway, and she felt dizzy as well. In the end, she nearly suffocated. She breathed intermittently due to nervousness. Not only did her face turn crimson, but she nearly failed to catch her breath.

Noticing how her body had gone limp, the man finally let go of her. Seeing how she gasped for air while catching her breath, he suddenly let out a chuckle. A smile played across his face, and two dimples appeared in his cheeks as if containing intoxicating wine that would make one immersed in them.

Suddenly, Ruka felt very embarrassed. She swung her fist and pounded his chest. "How dare you laugh at me?" At this moment, she forgot who he was, his identity, and his age, revealing the truest sweet and charming side of her, Ren patted her on the back while saying with sympathy, "Okay, blame it all on me."

Only then did Ruka come to her senses. "Alright. Now that I've apologized and you've taken advantage of me, I'm going back to sleep." she said. With that, she left in a huff.

Ren wanted to go downstairs to get another boule of red wine at first. At this moment, however, he urgently needed to go back and take a hot shower, or he'd probably be unable to suppress the flames of lust within him tonight.

Ruka couldn't fall asleep as well. Her mind was so preoccupied with what had happened just now that there was no room for anything else in her heart. As she thought about it, her face blushed. Her heart fluttered, and everything seemed to be descending into chaos. Before she realized it, she had fallen asleep. When she woke up, the sun was already shining brightly outside the window.

Chapter 1144 – Puka saw that it was 7:30AM, which was still early. As she didn't want to be late for work today, she spruced herself up and came downstairs early on her own. Elijah was already waiting for her at the entrance. "Miss Singed, I'll drive you to work and take you somewhere to eat breakfast along the way," he said. "Thank you, Elijah," Ruka thanked.

Meanwhile, at the translation department, Mia arrived early at the office, having completely forgotten what she had done last night. In her opinion, she had only played a prank on Ruka, who must've found someone to unlock the door and free her.

Just then, Victoria's assistant came over and called her. "Mia, go to Miss Parfait's office."

Not daring to ignore her words, Mia immediately stood up and went to Victoria's office, only to see the latter standing in front of the French window with a dark expression while looking at her frostily. "What did you do last night?" she asked.

"I-I didn't do anything. I'd been translating the documents I was working with," Mia replied guiltily.

"Did you lock Ruka inside the old library and turn off the power switch?" Victoria barked.

Mia changed color. "Miss Parfait, I-I didn't do it on purpose. I meant no harm. I was just playing a prank on her."

"Do you know how serious the consequences of your actions were? Even my superior got criticized and had to write a self-criticism. Do you think it's just some trifling matter?" Victoria uttered between clenched teeth.

"Huh?!" Mia's heart trembled. Is the matter that serious? Why did it turn into something so serious?

"You're fired. Pack up your stuff and leave," Victoria said cruelly as her eyes blazed with repressed resentment.

Ruka had asked Ren for help after being trapped inside the library last night. As he had come personally to save her, the nature of the entire incident turned out to be very different.

What made Victoria even more resentful was that Mia's actions had indirectly created an opportunity for the two. She heard that Ruka had left in Ren's car last night, so they two had probably stayed together last night. However, she could only vent her hatred on Mia.

Chapter 1145 – Tears instantly rolled down Mia's cheeks as she looked at Victoria imploringly. "Miss Parfait, could you please allow me to stay? It took me a great deal of effort to get in here, and I don't want to give up just like this." What's the use of begging me? If you were smart, you shouldn't have laid a hand on Ruka," Victoria replied with a snort. Mia shuddered as though she had noticed from these words how powerful Ruka's background was.

Ruka entered the office from the outside, only to be stopped by a figure all of a sudden. It was Mia. At this moment, her delicate makeup was smudged with tears like that of a female ghost, scaring the hell out of Ruka. "Sorry, Ruka! I'm sorry! Let me apologize to you. Could you please let me off? Please, I'm begging you."

Ruka was still puzzled as she had no idea what Mia was up to again.

Mia's eyes reddened with anxiety as she was overwhelmed with regret. "I just wanted to play a prank on you after seeing you go to the library last night. You can get out of the library by making a phone call, so all I did was lock the door. I really didn't mean to lock you up."

Upon hearing this, Ruka finally realized why she had been locked in the library. She said angrily, "So it was your doing."

"Sorry, I know that I was wrong. Please be the bigger person and forgive me!" Mia put her palms together, thinking that Ruka was easily persuadable.

Ruka was kind-hearted, but she wouldn't easily forgive someone like Mia even if the latter begged her for mercy. "You're fired, right? If you are, then pack up your stuff and leave. You should've thought of the consequences when you tried to harm me." She coldly walked past her to go back to her office.

Seeing that her plea had fallen on deaf ears, Mia became even more vicious at this moment. "What do you think is so great about you, Ruka? All you have is someone backing you up. You couldn't wait for me to leave so that you'd have one less rival, right?"

Ruka looked back at her. "You have only yourself to blame for courting death. Who else could you blame?"

Mia's words were getting fouler by the minute. "D–Didn't you get ahead in your career by sleeping with someone? I wonder how old is the one you're serving. You're such a disgrace to us women. Pffft!"