

My Baby's Daddy Chapter 1205-1209

Chapter 1205

Ruka blinked her eyes at the news and naturally wanted to know more. "What happened next?"

"My friend told me Jaxton was so drunk he got sent to the hospital."

"And here I am thinking of congratulating them on getting back together," Ruka sighed.

Rita then suggested, "Ruka, do you want to try and contact him? You've had a crush on him for three years. It will touch his heart if you show him that you care now."

Ruka smiled and shook her head lightly. She was embarrassed to tell Rita she had found a new love. "It's fine. I'm not the one for him."

Rita dropped the topic when she saw that Ruka wasn't interested. So, the two girls continued walking around in the afternoon. Then, they went to a coffee shop and shopped while gossiping about work. Time flies quickly when one is having fun; before they knew it, it was 4.30PM.

Ruka's phone rang as they discussed where to go next while still in the coffee shop.

Her heart started beating wildly as she picked it up and looked at the screen. "I need to take this." She told Rita and headed out of the shop.

"Hello?"

"Where are you?" A man's deep, magnetic voice came through.

"Drinking coffee with a friend."

"It's your birthday today. How do you want to celebrate tonight?"

"Nothing much. There's nothing special to do. Are you discharged from the hospital?" Ruka asked with concern.

"Yeah. Think about what else you want to do tonight."

She furrowed her brows slightly and thought about it. "I just want to have dinner then maybe watch a movie. Whatever is fine!"

Chapter 1206

"Dinner and a movie?" he asked for confirmation.

Ruka scrunched her brows. Why? Is he going to celebrate with me?

“Enjoy your time with your friends first. We’ll talk later,” the man said and hung up.

She was stunned for a few seconds. What did he mean by that? However, she did not think much of it and went back to Rita to talk about their plans for the night.

Around 6.30PM, the sky had turned pitch black. But, as it was winter and nearing the new year, the whole city was illuminated with colorful lights and decorations.

At this moment, a notification popped up on Ruka’s phone. She looked and saw that Ren had messaged her.

‘Where are you?’

‘Shopping in the mall, Ruka replied.

Send your location.

‘Are you coming?’

‘Yes!’

Her heart started to pound wildly in her chest. Is he going to come? With that thought in mind, she impulsively sent her location.

Finally, Ren replied, ‘Wait for me at the mall’s entrance.’

Ruka’s heart beat faster, and her face started to turn red. She could not believe what she had read. Is he really going to come? Whenever he went out, it was a massive spectacle with the number of guards protecting him.

Coincidentally, Rita also got a call from her parents to return home and take care of her eight-year-old brother because her grandmother had a bad fall and needed to visit the hospital. So, the two girls parted ways, Ruka stood at the mall’s entrance. Her eyes were filled with anticipation as she stood there under the blinking lights. She kept looking at the cars driving past her to spot the motorcade he often went out in.

Chapter 1207

She was so focused on the vehicles before her that she did not realize a Black SUV was parked on the side of the street. Its doors opened, and a tall and handsome figure came out wearing a long gray windbreaker and a black mask. He was covered from head to toe, and only his captivating dreamy eyes shone through his black hair.

Join Telegram Group For Fast Update And Novel Query

His eyes immediately locked on the slender girl standing underneath the streetlight, and a smile flashed across his eyes. He leisurely sauntered to the girl and hugged her from behind unexpectedly. Finally, he placed his chin on her shoulder and tenderly called out, "Ruka."

Ruka was initially frightened, but when she heard that deep voice, she was utterly shocked. She immediately swiveled her head toward the voice, only to discover that the high-ranking vice president had shown up alone in a busy crowd and was currently hugging her.

"You—" Ruka's eyes widened. How could he come here alone?

The man only embraced her tighter and placed his huge palm on the back of her head. So there they were, hugging naturally under the streetlight and ignoring the stares from onlookers.

A few girls from the crowd were envious of them as they looked like an adorable couple.

Even though the man was covered from head to toe and only showed his eyes, his elegant posture and the outline of his face under the mask hinted at his good looks.

Ruka was currently experiencing a tangled ball of emotions. She went from feeling terrified to panicking, then to eager yet bashful. Yet, throughout the rollercoaster of emotions, she also felt the underlying thrill of excitement.

"Tonight, my time is yours. Whatever you want to do, I will do it with you." The man's magnetic voice sounded beside her ear.

Ruka could feel his breath on her ear and could not help snuggling into his embrace. Her heart was still fluttering when she suddenly thought of something and looked up at him. "You came out just like this? Isn't it dangerous?"

Her first thought was that this man should not be running around.

He smiled, turning his eyes to slightly crescents as he lightly tapped her pretty nose. "Of course, it's safe. Let's go. We'll take a walk, then go get food."

As he said that, he naturally held her hand, and they walked toward the city garden beside the mall. On the sidewalk, the trees were draped with colorful lights making the street incredibly romantic to stroll. There were also many couples there walking and taking pictures.

Ruka's heart was filled with the sweetness of love. She never thought that she could walk hand in hand with him like this. In the crowd, the warmth coming from his hands was so real and heartwarming. Even though she was 5'5, she was still petite as she stood beside him.

"I want to take a picture." Ruka wanted to keep this moment forever. Hence, she pulled him in front of a tree that was not as crowded as the others and fished out her phone. As she switched her camera settings to the front camera, she shyly but brazenly wrapped her arm around his shoulder. "Let's take a picture together."

Chapter 1208

The man bent down and touched her cheek with his affectionately. Despite not taking off his mask, his eyes gleamed with joy. Ruka took a few pictures and passed him the phone. "Help me take a few too!"

With that, she stood gracefully under the colorful tree and put a hand in her jacket's pocket. She slightly tilted her head and smiled sweetly.

He etched her beautiful sweet smile into his memories while holding the phone and taking her pictures. No matter how she grew and changed, everything about her was his favorite thing in the world.

When Ruka was done posing, she shyly took her phone back. Then, she backed up a few steps hurriedly and took a picture of him. Ren was worried he was not photogenic and did not know how to pose for the photo. All he could do was stare at her with his deep eyes and smile at the camera.

Her heart started to pound again. No matter how she took the pictures, this man was magazine model material. He looked good in every shot.

When Ruka was satisfied with the pictures she took, she slowly walked toward him while looking through them. She almost bumped into someone, but Ren was quick to react. So, two seconds before Ruka bumped into that person, he was by her side and pulled her into his embrace.

She was utterly caught off guard, so her face crashed into his muscular chest, and she heard him whisper, "Careful."

She smiled and kept her phone in her purse. Then, she grabbed his arm. "We'll go eat, then watch a movie. Is that okay?"

"Of course."

"Then, I'll make a booking for the tickets. There's a large cinema in the mall."

"Sure. Go ahead. I'll reimburse you tomorrow." He was adamant about not letting her spend her money.

She beamed at him. "I've been staying and eating at your place for so long, though. Are you going to make me pay you back?"

Ren narrowed his eyes and thought about it. "Mmm. You're right. Maybe I should collect some interest."

Ruka let out a laugh at his response and did not think much about what he meant by collecting interest. Instead, she went on her phone, found a movie she liked, and booked a couple's seat. This way, they would be able to watch in peace.

"I've got the tickets. Let's go to dinner. There's a place with great ambiance. I booked a private room so no one will see you." Ruka was cautious due to his status.

Ren had been working in politics for a few years, so he had professionals taking care of everything for him. So now, he needed to rely on Ruka, for he was unfamiliar with these things. Hence, he nodded his head in agreement. "Sure. You decide."

The restaurant was conveniently situated as it was within walking distance. So, they continued to walk, holding hands. It was a pleasure to enjoy the view and experience the busy atmosphere right before the new year.

Chapter 1209

When they reached the restaurant, Ruka led him into the private room and made themselves comfortable. She passed him the menu, but he asked her to decide. So, she ordered soup and four other dishes.

Once the waiter left, Ren finally took off his mask. Under the light, his handsome face was revealed. He looked mature, outstanding, and elegant while his dark eyes shone with wisdom.

Ruka propped her chin on her hand and stared at the man opposite her. She felt like she was admiring an art piece as adoration filled her heart.

She picked up her phone and blatantly started taking pictures of him. Unfortunately, even the camera's high-definition pixels could not fully capture the man's charm.

He knew she was taking pictures, the corners of his lips curved up, and his dimples faintly appeared.

She saw his dimple and had the sudden urge to kiss it. She truly wanted to kiss his dimple when he smiled.

Of course, it was only in her head. She did not dare to do so as she would be in danger if she did.

While she was deep in her imagination, she heard a knock. It was obviously the waiter who had come bearing their dishes. Therefore, she hurriedly reminded Ren, "Quick, put on your mask."

He listened to her and put on his mask. After the waiter placed their food down and left, only then did he take it off. He repeated that for all five dishes, they could finally eat peacefully.

"The movie starts at 8.30PM. So, we have plenty of time to eat," Ruka said, placing some food on his plate. "This is delicious. Try some!"