Chapter 501

Chapter 501 No Way!

“Give Jonathan some trouble.” Jordy hardened his voice. He didn’t want to see that man! Harold paused to respond.

Carlos smiled but said nothing.

Then they left one after the other.

Soon, there were only Jordy and Gloria left in the room.

Usually, Gloria was snippy and kept her distance from Jordy when he was around.

But now, Gloria, who was in a coma, seemed much tenderer than when she was awake.

Fortunately, her fair face was unhurt.

Jordy rested his hand on her cheek.

Her skin was so delicate that his long bony fingers touched it for a little longer.

was But the next moment, having realized what he was doing, Jordy changed color and immediately removed his hand from her face.

His brow furrowed, and he gazed coldly at her.

Gloria was his...

ex-wife.

Jordy did not say a word with his brows knitted.

How he was feeling right now was indescribable.

No one understood him.

He was very upset.

The White family's house.

Angela was pacing up and down the living room anxiously.

When she saw Martha back in the room, she immediately walked up to her and asked, "How is it going?" Martha's face blanched as she said in a low voice, "Let's talk in the bedroom." Angela frowned.

Something isn't right.

She then followed Martha back to her room, Before Martha could speak, Angela asked impatiently, "What's going on?"

Why the long face? Martha frowned and said through her gritted teeth, "She's tough to kill!" "What does that mean?" Angela had a feeling in her stomach that something went wrong.

She looked at her mother's face and thought of what she had said.

She would be a fool to not know that the plan had failed.

Martha gritted her teeth.

"She drove off the road into an abyss but only broke a rib."
Angela's face changed.

"No way!" How could she plunge into an abyss and only break a rib? Is Mom kidding?
Martha gritted her teeth.

"There were other people at the time.

Someone called the police.

She fell from a great height.

The two truckers thought their job was done and ran for their lives."
Angela slammed a fist against the arm of the sofa and roared, "Double crap!" She couldn't figure out how Gloria survived the accident.

Martha frowned, "Gloria is in the hospital, and the police are brought in."
Angela's heart jumped.

She looked at Martha and asked nervously, "Are those two truckers trustworthy? Is everything set?"
"Don't worry.

Everything is set.” Martha’s voice was firm.

Hearing that, Angela heaved a sigh of relief.

She said through her gritted teeth, “So what’s next? Gloria only broke a rib.

It won’t take her long to recover, and she might continue the project.

What should we do then?”

Martha’s face turned grim.

“We’ve tried once.

We can’t do it again.” Angela shouted angrily, “How did Gloria survive? She’s hard to kill!”

At first, they agreed not to kill Gloria, but then they thought that wasn’t going to work.

They changed their minds and planned to kill her.

However, neither of them thought Gloria would be so tough to kill. It was a dangerous road on which two trucks came hurtling towards her.

Surprisingly, she survived.

Was she too lucky? Martha clutched the phone in her hand.

“There’s an emergency, and I can’t contact them.

Behave yourself.

Do not do anything wild, or they might suspect you.” Angela nodded solemnly.

“We’re going to visit Gloria now that she’s in the hospital.

I hate this.” No sooner had she said that than her phone buzzed with a message.

She subconsciously clicked it and then blanched after reading it.

“Damn it!”

Martha frowned slightly.

“What’s wrong?” Martha turned her eyes down to the screen, which showed a WhatsApp message.

The message was from Brenda, which read, “Miss White, Mr.

Collins is in Gloria’s room.”

Angela gritted her teeth.

“What does Jordy mean? Why is he involved with Gloria? He’s visiting her at the hospital.

I thought he didn’t like her.

What’s the matter with him?” God knew how angry Angela was! Why doesn’t Gloria die? Why?

as

The next moment, Angela rose to her feet.

“I need to get to the hospital!” Martha pulled at her hand.

“Wait!”

Angela turned to her.

“What? You’re not gonna stop me, are you? Gloria was born to be a seductress.

If I don’t go, Jordy will fall under her spell!” “Gloria won’t wake up so soon! How do we know she’s in the hospital if we’re not insiders?” Martha said heavily.

If Jordy was not there, Angela could go and visit Gloria.

But Jordy was there.

If Angela went to visit Gloria, he would wonder how she got the news.

The relationship between Angela and Gloria was a devilishly subtle business, and Jordy knew that.

And Angela took a deep breath, trying to control herself.

He won't ask, and I won't explain.

It's not a secret that Gloria is in the hospital.

We all know that." Angela picked up her bag and sat down at the dresser, refusing to say another word to her mother.

No matter what, she had to go there with her makeup on.

She hated to let Jordy see her haggard face.

Martha frowned.

Knowing that she could not stop Angela, she said nothing more.

The Brown Group Jonathan had no idea that Gloria was in the hospital.

Jordy gave him an awful problem, and he was on the way to San Diego to solve it.

At this moment, Jonathan was on a plane.

His assistant Henry was beside him and asked confusedly, "Mr.

Brown, shall we fight back this time?" The problem Jordy gave Jonathan was too awful.

Jonathan glanced at Henry.

"What do you think?" With a twinkle in his eye, Henry nodded and said nothing.

When he was out running errands, Jonathan had asked another assistant to arrange something.

Maybe, in a few hours, Jordy would be leaving too.

The hospital.

Gloria was still unconscious.

Jordy was sitting right next to her bed.

All the urgent work seemed trivial to him, and his eyes were locked on her face.

Suddenly, a twist of the doorknob broke the silence of the room.

Chapter 503

I'm Not Getting Engaged to Her Jordy looked back, and to his surprise, his father showed up at the door.

Newell was surprised to see Jordy.

"You're here?" Jordy averted his eyes from his face, not wanting to answer him.

Newell walked over to the bed, looked down at Gloria's pale face, and sighed, "She fell from a high place but only broke a rib.

Lucky for her."

"Lucky?" Jordy's eyes glinted ironically.

Newell turned to him and looked bewildered.

"What's wrong?"

Jordy didn't answer.

He knew that this was not about luck at all, but a combination of Gloria's clear mind and great driving skills.

At that critical time, few women could protect themselves and their friends like Gloria at the expense of a rib when they fell from such a high place.

Jordy had all kinds of complicated feelings.

He always considered Gloria a scheming, vain, and self-interested woman, but in that case, she was able to protect Nydia so that she survived unscathed.

Was she the woman he thought he knew? After the divorce, everything about her changed.

She became a stranger to him.

Did he never get to know her, or...

she never showed him her true self? Jordy frowned, and the thought made his mood bleaker.

Sensing Newell's fixed gaze on his face, Jordy said calmly, "Don't tell Grandma about this."

"Okay, I've told people to keep their mouths shut.

Outsiders know nothing about this."

Newell looked at Jordy.

"What about you? Why are you here to see her?" Jordy pressed his lips together, refusing to answer him.

Newell continued calmly, "Gloria is your ex-wife.

Her injuries are not serious.

She just has a broken rib.

Aren't you a workaholic? You can go back to work." Jordy gazed at his father coldly.

Why is everyone being so sarcastic? He could see the mocking light surfacing under his father's eyes.

He impatiently took his eyes away from his father and fixed them on Gloria, saying indifferently,

"That's my business." Newell was unhappy with what his son was doing.

He was sitting across from Jordy, also beside Gloria's bed.

"If you can't make her happy, leave her alone.

How bad do you want her reputation to be? You want people to call her 'the other woman' who comes between you and Angela?" Newell questioned in a deep voice.

The chill between them seemed to freeze the air.

And the mood there was subdued.

But Newell felt nothing.

He knew his son well.

"Gloria won't want to see you when she wakes up.

Go now.

I'll get people to take good care of her." Jordy's fierce gaze fell on Newell's face.

"Dad, it's none of your business." "Getting engaged to Angela while getting involved with Gloria is not something you should be doing."

Jordy pressed his lips together, turned around, and said with a sigh, "I'm not getting engaged to her." Angela arrived at the hospital.

She heard him and paused in the doorway! Inside the room, Newell and Jordy didn't know this.

Newell looked at Jordy with a blank look.

Chapter 504

She Acted Like a Prince Angela was biting into her lip, and her face turned even paler under the makeup!

She never dreamed that Jordy would say something like that.

The news that Angela was going to get engaged to Jordy traveled around the country.

Those who congratulated her and tried to flatter her were beyond count.

But now she heard Jordy say that he would not get engaged to her.

That would only make her the laughingstock of the whole world like Gloria.

What the hell is Jordy doing? Angela was itching to open the door and ask him, but...

she had no courage to do so.

She was blocked
by the door.

She was afraid to hear Jordy say, "Perfect timing.

You spare me an unnecessary trip to inform you." Angela clutched her bag and gnashed her teeth, waiting for Jordy to respond to Newell's question.

Is he sure?

Jordy's voice broke into Angela's thoughts.

"Yes."

Jordy's tone was particularly firm.

He sounded determined.

His answer was hell for Angela.

She was so shocked that she couldn't think clearly.

No! That's not true! Her hand was on the doorknob, and she was too upset to notice that she had twisted it already.

Jordy and Newell both heard the noise.

Newell got up from his seat, walked to the door, and opened it.

Angela blanched! She didn't expect the door to be opened.

Newell was stunned, but the next moment he smiled at Angela and said, "Miss White, you're here." Angela's heart was pounding as she stammered, "Mr....

Collins..." Jordy frowned slightly, turned to her, and said nothing.

Getting busted by Angela, Jordy had no intention of leaving and no sense of guilt.

Then he put his eyes back on Gloria.

Angela felt awkward, wondering whether she should go or stay.

Newell gave her a gentle smile.

"Are you here to see Gloria?" Angela unconsciously nodded, put on a worried face, and said anxiously, "Yes, I came a heard about Gloria's accident.

Is she okay...?" With that, Angela walked quickly to Gloria's bed.

She looked down at Gloria's pale little face with plain jealousy surfacing under her eyes! Why?

Why is this bitch still alive?! She has a broken rib, and Jordy shows her great sympathy!

Why? Instead of feeling embarrassed, Newell smiled and said with relief, "Gloria survived the accident with a broken rib.

She's fine." Angela froze and then squeaked nervously, "A broken rib..."

oh, poor Gloria!”
Angela sounded bitter.

“She has never suffered anything like this...

she has been coddled and cosseted, and her family has kept her well protected.

But unexpectedly...” COS Angela pretended to be too sad to speak.

The implication was that Gloria acted like a princess and was a failure at everything...

Jordy’s eyes flickered.

He looked at Gloria with poorly hidden complex feelings in his eyes.

Angela said Gloria was coddled and cosseted, but during the three years of marriage, she cooked for Jordy almost every day and waited for him to come home, but he never returned.

When Jordy heard that from the servants’ mouths, he just considered her ridiculous.

I Also Wonder Who Is So Cruel When Jordy learned about Gloria’s accident at the office... Jordy and Harold hopped into the car, and Harold told him what exactly happened to Gloria.

“Miss White was on her way back, and two trucks came to her on a dangerous road.

She voluntarily drove her car into the abyss.

Someone already called the police.” Jordy changed color, and his heart was in his mouth!

“Where is she now?”

Jordy feltlike he was going to collapse and used his last strength to squeeze the words past the lump in his throat.

Harold shook his head in dismay.

“No idea.” The news was like a bolt from the blue.

Jordy rushed out immediately! SW At that moment, he finally knew what it was like to be in a state of panic.

“Jordy..?”

Angela’s voice whirled him back to his senses.

Jordy pressed his lips tightly without looking at her or speaking.

Angela’s face changed slightly.

To her disappointment, Jordy just let her words wash over him...

Newell, with good character, said gently to her, “The accident is not much of a secret.

How could we not know about it?”.

Angela’s eyelashes fluttered.

“Everybody knows about it? What’s going on?” Angela was not faking surprise.

Before she came to the hospital, her mother stopped her by warning her that the accident was still a secret.

But why did Newell say it was a matter of public knowledge?

Thinking of this, Angela looked slightly flustered.

Newell gave Angela a thoughtful look and said softly, “This can’t be a random act.

The police are out looking for the two culprits, and they’ll catch them and the person behind this crime.

I really want to know who had the nerve to do this to Gloria.”

The person behind the crime...

Angela drew a sharp breath and stiffened with fear.

However, with her stellar acting skills, she did not expose her true self.

She put on a shocked face and said, “Someone tried to kill Gloria! Who’s so hateful?” Suddenly, Jordy looked at Angela with piercing eyes, and her heart drummed madly inside her again.

“Jordy...

why are you looking at me like that?” Jordy said frostily, “I also want to know who’s so cruel.”

Angela stiffened with more fear.

She hurriedly nodded and said firmly, “The police certainly will find out the truth and bring the person behind the curtain to justice!”

Jordy took his eyes off Angela and said nothing back.

A sudden silence descended over them.

Still in a state of panic, Angela didn’t know what to say.

She pretended to be worried about Gloria and stood in front of her bed.

With no intention of leaving, Newell was staring at Gloria.

After ten minutes, Jordy’s cell phone rang, breaking the silence.

Jordy checked his phone irritably and found that it was Harold.

Then he answered the call.

“What is it?” His voice was cold and horribly grave.

When Harold updated Jordy on the news he had, Angela and Newell could see the murderous look in Jordy’s dark eyes! “I got it,” Jordy responded briefly and hung up.

His eyes slowly fell on Newell.

“I need you to do an errand for me.

You must go yourself.” Newell looked at Jordy with a puzzled look on his face.

“What is it?” Jordy didn’t say anything but fixed his eyes upon Angela.
