

Hayden was forced to accept two marriage certificates, a little confused. In other families, children leave things to their parents for safekeeping. How did he come to their house and become his parents and hand over things to him for safekeeping?

Hayden was a minimalist, and all his valuables were in the school bag he carried with him.

In his schoolbag, there were only his notebook and mouse.

If his parents gave him the marriage certificate for safekeeping, he could only put their marriage certificate in his schoolbag.

Imagine going to school with his parents' marriage certificates on his back every day. What's the experience like?

"Hayden, have you bought a ticket?" Elliot was in a happy mood, so he mustered up his courage and chatted with his son.

"Bought the tickets for the evening." Hayden stuffed their marriage certificate into his schoolbag, and then handed the camera to his mother, "I may not have a good picture."

Avery took the camera and flipped through a few random pictures. After a moment, she boasted: "As long as you take pictures, it looks good."

"Because you are good-looking, you will look good no matter how you take it." Elliot flattered.

"You ate honey today, your mouth is so sweet?" Avery smiled and put the camera into her satchel, "Are you dizzy? Do you want to go home?"

“The weather is nice today, I don’t want to go back.” Elliot was so happy and relaxed.

Avery: “I asked if you were dizzy...”

“A little bit.” Elliot said truthfully, “but it’s not a pathological factor, it’s happiness.”

Avery and Hayden were remained silent.

“It’s early for the celebration dinner, let’s go out for a walk! See if you have anything you want to buy, or we can buy it while shopping.” Elliot was in high spirits.

Avery and Hayden looked at him with puzzled expressions.

Elliot has only had brain surgery for about ten days, but now he wanted to go out for a walk. He didn’t know if he was really not afraid of death or his body was really recovering well.

“I know you want to go shopping with your son and chat by the way, but forget about shopping! I’m afraid your body won’t be able to bear it. We can go to a bookstore or a teahouse.” Avery suggested.

Elliot felt that his son should not like boring places like bookstores or teahouses, “Let’s go and see if there is a technology exhibition or other interesting exhibitions!”

How could Avery not know what he was thinking.

“Elliot, it’s not suitable for you to go to a crowded place now.” Avery said patiently, “In the future, you will still have a lot of time to go to interesting places with Hayden. Today, let’s find a quiet place with few people.”

Seeing his father, Hayden seemed to want to argue with reason, so he said coldly: “Didn’t you promise Layla to listen to my mother? If you fainted outside, let us accompany you to the hospital to stay?”

“Okay! I’m afraid you will be bored.” Elliot explained to his son, “Hayden, where do you want to go, you decide! “

WHEN HIS EYES OPENED

Chapter 2245

After Avery chose the tea, she asked: “Elliot, do you know what language this is? It seems to be Italian. “

Elliot: “You guessed it right, this is Italian.”

Avery saw that Elliot’s tone was so determined, and asked, “You can speak Italian?”

“I learned a little before. But I haven’t touched it for many years, so I almost forgot.” Elliot Put the dessert menu in front of Hayden and let him choose.

“Why do you want to learn Italian? Don’t you study architecture?” Avery knew that he knew Italian for the first time.

Avery had seen his bookshelf. There were many original foreign classic books on his bookshelf.

But Avery felt that Elliot bought those books just to collect or pretend, it didn’t mean that he knew the languages of those countries.

“Because I liked an Italian architect very much, I bought the book because I didn’t want to read the translation, I had to learn Italian by myself.” Elliot replied.

Hayden was clearly looking at the menu, but since Elliot started talking, Hayden couldn't help but prick up his ears.

“As long as it's a translation published by a regular publishing house, it's generally not too different from the original. You go to learn a foreign language for a book. I think you love Italian, right?” Avery guessed.

Elliot flushed with embarrassment: “I think it's very romantic to express it in Italian.”

Avery: “???”

Hayden looked at him directly in surprise.

“Why haven't I seen you speak Italian to me? Who did you confess to in Italian?” Avery saw that Elliot was so nervous that his face flushed, so she didn't plan to let him go.

Although it's an old story in the past, but now speaking it can relieve the boredom and deepen the understanding of him by the way.

“I just have that idea, and I haven't confessed to anyone.” Elliot saw his son staring at him from the corner of his eyes, so he explained it seriously and rigorously, “You can understand that although I haven't been in love before, but in my mind I fantasized about an ideal love.”

This statement was approved by Avery.

“Then try to confess to me in Italian now.” Avery looked at him expectantly.

A white light flashed in Elliot's mind.

This...how embarrassing!

He hadn't spoken Italian for a long time, and he was very rusty.

Although it may be simple to say a few words, but let him say love words to her in front of his son, he can't say anything anyway.

"How embarrassing in front of my son." Elliot glanced at Avery with pleading eyes.

Avery said calmly, "My son doesn't understand Italian." Avery looked at Hayden and asked, "Hayden, you don't understand, right? I remember you didn't learn this."

Hayden nodded.
