Chapter 670

She deserves it The dancing fire in the haunted house burned in the darling.

The thick smoke and scorching flames They surrounded Charis, leaving her with nowhere to go. hide.

Nervous and scared, she did everything possible to find a way out.

Suddenly one burnt wooden beam just above your head cracked and then fell.

Charis screamed and dodged, rolling on the ground.

desperately.

It looked like the haunted house he was going to collapse on top of her.

charis se stood up awkwardly and looked desperately at the woman who had just climbed out of the window.

“You cheated on me! You wanted to catch me in the fire to kill me, isn’t it? Damn bitch! You will pay for this!” Now, Janet was safe and sound, while Charis was the one caught in the fire of the burning building.

How ironic, Janet got on the window, he shook his hands and scoffed with coldness.

“You asked for it!” “You are so fucking cruel!” Janet rolled her eyes.

“I can not believe that you have the nerve to call me that.

You are the you hired someone to start a fire. You’re the one who locked me in this room! Now it is you who can enjoy the feeling of burning to death!”

Thereafter, Janet climbed the rope ladder that led to the helicopter flying above them.

I even He gave Charis a smug look before leave.

“Bye!” The helicopter took off and quickly carried Janet to a safe place.

The sound of the propeller echoed in the air.

“If you were really a capable woman, you wouldn’t have resorted to playing this trick on me! Damn bitch!”

Looking at the direction in which the Janet’s helicopter, Charis screamed in pain.

she knows was left behind, and the smoke was becoming more dense.

No, she couldn’t just sit still and hug the death! Looking at the room I ended up in lock up Janet, Charis had an idea.

I could escape through the window that Janet left! open! However, when Charis tried to open the door with the key, he soon discovered that something it was bad “I can not open it!” Anxiety and panic ate at her, she turned the key with such force that it broke.

He stayed staring He stared at the broken key in his hand and realized that the door had been locked since indoors.

Charis threw the broken key on the ground and even stomped with anger.

The flames burned higher and higher fiercely with each passing second, and the floor of wood under her began to crack.

Charis rubbed her itchy eyes.

tailored that the temperature around him continued increasing, I could clearly feel the pain hot on your skin.

He coughed and leaned against the corridor wall, desperately trying to find a place to hide. the fire was so fierce that Charis couldn't see a way out.

The haunted house was about to collapse. "If I couldn't get out, I would definitely die here." He was still young and had a bright future ahead, but I might never see the sunrise.

"Janet could live out the rest of her days happily with Brandon." Thinking of this, Charis he despaired I had to get out of here! At that moment, another huge wooden beam collapsed This was a load beam; She does not I had nowhere to go now! the path behind her was completely blocked by this beam of wood that had just fallen. Now, Charis had only two options.

could go out running from the fire by herself, risking suffer third degree burns, or could I expect for the firefighters to rescue her.

Charis could feel her skin getting scalded from the heat.

Clenching her teeth, she rolled up her sleeves and discovered that his arms that once were tender, they were already scarlet.

don't you there was time to doubt.

she had to take a decision.

It was better for her to take this matter into her own hands! own hands than to leave his life in the hands of others!
