Chapter 693: Lasting Punishment

“That man over there. That’s Garrett, right?” Laney he asked in utter disbelief. felt chills ice cream run all over your skin. He felt as if his blood would have turned to ice water and run all over his body.

With an uncomfortable look on her face, Janet .He gently grabbed her wrist and hurried to give him words of comfort.

“This must be some kind of misunderstanding. It is There’s no way Garrett cheats on you with another woman.”

Some time ago, she and Brandon had dined with Garrett. Back then, Garrett had said with conviction that he intended to convert to Laney in his wife.

The pigs would fly before he tricked her.

Laney fell silent and looked down. It looked pale as a ghost without any makeup.

“Let’s go back now, I’ve lost all appetite now” dropped the menu unceremoniously on her hand, stood up and left with her purchases.

He didn’t even approach Garrett and confront him.

Laney didn’t want to become one of those women who surprised their partners cheating on them in public and then causing a hysterical scene.

Even if she was being cheated on, she wanted to keep his decency and dignity intact.

“How about we go ask him what he’s up to? going? Don’t carry this. You are pregnant now. The worst poison is keeping anger in your system.” Janet said with genuine concern.

Laney just smiled and pointed to a cab at the roadside. Before getting in the car, He looked at Janet and said in a nonchalant tone, pretty soft: “I know, no matter what. I I will make sure not to cause any harm to my baby. You should go home, Janet. I need some time to alone to reflect on things.”

Janet noticed that her friend was very downcast He realized that Laney needed a time alone to process what I had just witness. He also strongly believed that Laney is intelligent and capable enough to solve this problem on your own.

Vera and Leo had also come to Barnes lately because some of his friends who lived here also had eligible daughters who

They wanted to introduce their son.

Garrett had achieved once again that the blind date is will burn

Vera was so indignant that she gave him a scolding. It was quite late when he returned to his house and to the of Laney.

“Usually around this time. Laney would have lying down for the night. Had had pretty sleepy most of the time since that she is pregnant.”

When he opened the front door and walked into the home, he felt quite disturbed because all the lights were still on.

Laney was sitting cross-legged on the sofa with a knife, a keyboard and a durian on the tea table...

“Honey, do you have a craving for durian?”, I ask

Garrett with a forced smile, although his skin I had goosebumps all over.

After finishing his words, really I wanted to hug her and kiss her.

However, so

As soon as he sat down on the couch, Laney shot him a piercing gaze and was afraid to stand up immediately.

“What’s happening?” I could clearly feel that something it was bad here.

Laney picked the durian from the table and threw it on the floor. “Kneel on it!”

If he were to kneel down, his knees would surely be shattered it would hurt!

He glared at Laney and begged for mercy.

“Who was the woman you were with today?”

Garrett had just been lectured by his parents. and now he was about to be punished for his girlfriend.

“My parents did not give me their blessings to marry you so they forced me to date blindly.” He had no choice but to tell her

After saying that, he walked over to Laney and put his hand on his thigh.

“Don’t be mad, darling. We will come to a compromise eventually.”

Laney breathed a sigh of relief when she heard his reasonable explanation. he saw the sincerity in her eyes.

Laney was a little shaken.

“I more or less expected a situation to arise like this, but it still hurts me to see you with another person, especially with someone so pretty.”

The woman I had seen him with today was really elegant and charming.

Obviously, that was the kind of woman Garrett’s family she wanted him to take as his wife. She was nothing compared to that kind of woman.

Garrett still held her gently, shook her head and said, “No, honey. In my eyes, no one exceeds in beauty!

You are the most beautiful woman in world.”

Laney rolled her eyes and said, “Let go of me. I have not given you permission to hug me, I’m still furious”

When he saw the depressed look on the face of Laney, could not help but approach her again and He said, “ honey, let me give you a massage.”

Laney pursed her lips and lay back on the bed. pillow. “Don’t think too much about this. I I’ll take care of my parents. You just have to wait and prepare you to be my wife” Garrett said with amiability.

How was it humanly possible for Laney not to thought too much in this situation? I did not have high hopes. for her future with Garrett.
