Chapter 3051

Arne's eyes had a challenging glint in them. He wanted to see how many spirit crystals Jackie would take out and who he would bet on.

Logically, with how arrogant that guy was, he would bet on himself, but it was also possible that the brat would throw a curveball and bet his spirit crystals on the beast.

After Arne said all of that, he attracted the curiosity of all those around them as well. They wanted to see how much Jackie would bet and whether Jackie would bet on the beast or himself.

Facing the curious gazes of the crowd, Jackie maintained his composure, not caring what the others thought or said. They did not know Jackie's skills at all nor did they know what he was thinking. He did not want them to know more about him either.

He turned around and walked right over to the betting area outside of the colosseum. Jackie's actions caused everyone else to stand up from the spectator stands as well, following Jackie toward the betting area.

Rudy was practically jogging to keep up with Jackie's footsteps.

When he reached Jackie's side, Rudy hurriedly whispered, "Jackie, how many spirit crystals should I bet?"

Jackie sighed as he faced forward, thinking about it for a moment before he slowly said, "Do you trust me?"

Rudy was stunned when he heard that.

Was that not a silly question? If Rudy did not trust Jackie, why would he follow him everywhere?

Rudy frowned and said, "Of course I trust you. Who would I trust if not you?"

Jackie straightened his back, letting out a faint smile. "Since you trust me, then bet everything you have on me. The odds are one to seven, and it's an excellent chance."

Jackie only had an approximation of Rudy's wealth. He probably did not have a million spirit crystals, but Rudy definitely had 500000. After all, Rudy had already been an alchemist for a while, and he should have had some savings.

Rudy did not even need to think about it before he nodded after he heard that. "I was planning on doing that."

After the two of them finished talking, they arrived at the betting area. At that moment, a large group of warriors was right behind them. All of them curiously watched on as they looked at Jackie's every action.

Jackie did not care how heated their looks seemed to be.

He looked at the caretaker behind the long desk. He was like any other caretaker; standing with his body straightened and not showing a single hint of emotion like a machine crafted for the Hundred Beast City.

Jackie did not hesitate at all before taking out a million spirit crystals and handing them to the caretaker, saying, "I want to bet a million spirit crystals. All of them will be on me."

The caretaker mechanically collected the spirit crystals before writing down his name on the warrior's segment.

Jackie heard a collective gasp when he said that. Some people started to remark that Jackie was from a special place to be able to fork out a million spirit crystals. Others remarked that Jackie truly was demented to be so confident in himself. He did not seem to care about how hard the black iron bet was.

With that, Jackie walked to the side.

Rudy, standing behind him, stepped up after Jackie placed his bet and did not hesitate at all as he took out all his savings from his storage ring. It was 67000 spirit crystals, all placed on Jackie. He then walked to Jackie's side.

At that moment, everyone started to look at the two of them differently as the discussions slowly got louder.

"They've been sitting together from the start. The guy beside Lucius had always been protecting Lucius. It was obvious that their relationship was quite close."

"Now it looks like they're not just close but incredibly slow. That guy took out an odd number of spirit crystals, so that has to be all that he has."

"He bet everything on Lucius! Isn't he afraid of losing it all? He heard everything we said earlier. Is he really that confident in this Lucius guy, and actually feels like Lucius can win the black iron bet?"

“Don’t overestimate those two. They must’ve come from an insignificant place. They probably don’t know how strong everyone else is. That guy next to Lucius probably has no real experience and is just blindly trusting him. He’s going to end up crying!”

“You’re right, these two are clearly just ignorant. Anyone with any intelligence wouldn’t do what they did!”

These people raised their voices as they talked, seemingly intending for the two of them to hear everything. However, both Jackie, who was Lucius, and Rudy acted like they heard nothing. It was a waste of time to fight against them.

Before the results were out, they had no way of changing the minds of those people at all. Anyone who still had any spirit crystals in hand came and placed their bets as well. After Rudy placed his bet, he merely stood by Jackie’s side.

The warriors from the spectator stands followed. When they placed their bets, they did not hesitate at all to bet their spirit crystals on the beasts.

A bald man who wore the uniform of the Rosefinch Pavilion took out everything he had, a total of 760000 spirit crystals, and bet them all on the beasts.

The bald man had an incredibly pleased look on his face, looking like a poor beggar who struck it rich overnight. After he pulled out all his spirit crystals, he mumbled to himself, “Seven hundred and sixty thousand spirit crystals are about to become a million and five hundred and twenty thousand in a snap! I’m about to become a millionaire!”

“After all my losses and wins, multiple bets after, I only managed to earn twenty thousand spirit crystals. I can’t believe my fortune is about to turn just like that!”

After he said that, he looked up at Jackie. “I should thank you, really. If you hadn’t started the black iron bet, I wouldn’t have been able to earn so many spirit crystals at once!”

The bald man’s smile was wide as he spoke as if he had just hit the lottery.

Jackie’s expression remained unchanged at those words. Rudy frowned as he looked at the bald man, irked.

The bald man was not expressing his gratitude at all. He was just mocking Jackie. Rudy coldly snorted as he turned away, not bothering with someone like that.

All of them were so pleased with themselves, certain that Jackie would lose. He would let them think what they wanted. Even though Jackie was going to go through three battles on the stage, Rudy was certain that Jackie would probably not need that much time.

Chapter 3053

In two hours at most, they would see who would be the ones laughing.

The ones who took part in the bet took up two-thirds of the audience, and among them, only one of them was someone Jackie was familiar with. That person bet 100000 spirit crystals on Jackie. It was the wandering warrior who wore a green robe from before, the same man Lesley had berated.

The green-robed man had betted on the beast in the battle before the last, winning three times his spirit crystals. At that moment, he took out a portion of that and betted it on Jackie.

When the green-robed man shouted out that he would bet a hundred thousand spirit crystals on the warrior, everyone was stunned. They looked at the green-robed man with disdain and mockery.

“This guy’s gone nuts, just like Lucius. Both of them had been threatened by Lesley before, but this green-robed guy is a little smarter than Lucius. After being threatened by Lesley, he didn’t talk back. With what he’s doing right now, it’s clear that he’s coming for the Deer Pavilion!”

“That’s right. I don’t know what this guy is thinking. Is he not worried about being threatened again? Does he think that he should just double down since he’s already in a bad situation?”

Jackie looked at the green-robed man curiously, and their gazes met. He did not care about what everyone else seemed to say as he maintained a calm expression.

When Jackie looked over, the man merely nodded at Jackie wordlessly. Jackie let out a sigh, a little gratified. Even though the green-robed man said nothing the whole time, Jackie could tell what he felt. He wanted to fight back. He did not want to be pushed down by disciples from high-grade clans anymore.

He was pitiful to not have any status or background, but he refused to give in. He bet those spirit crystals on Jackie as a way to fight back against fate.

Arne let out a cold laugh. “What a hilarious sight! It looks like you’re intent on fighting the Deer Pavilion to the end! Well then, I’ll fulfill your wish. You better remember this. Be more careful in the future. If you aren’t careful, we’ll slice you apart. Even if the Whirling World has a lot of restrictions, there are many places without any. From now on, you should be ready to die at any moment as long as you live in this world!”

The green-robed man's face darkened as a look of anger flashed in his eyes. However, he bit his words back, not saying anything.

He looked at Arne before walking right back to the spectator stands.

Looking at the man's figure, Rudy could not help but sigh. He whispered to Jackie, "I can understand what he feels right now. If you weren't around, I'd probably be in the same situation. I might not even be as well off as he is! When facing injustice, I might just accept it without a single thought of fighting back. He's actually willing to fight back!"

An hour passed quickly, and the people taking part in the bets had all placed their bets. Other than the green-robed man and Jackie's duo, the others bet their spirit crystals on the beasts. Even though the one-to-two odds were not as good as one-to-seven, all of them were sure that Jackie would lose. Being able to make money was still something!

On the stage, the Thousand Feathered Beast was already waiting.

Chapter 3054

The Thousand Feathered Beast was about six meters tall and looked like a miniature mountain.

Jackie walked up to the stage steadily.

The moment he walked on the stage, the barrier around the arena activated, separating the stage from the outside world. No matter how powerful the attacks from the inside were, nothing would break through and reach the spectator stands.

The moment Jackie stood in place, the Thousand Feathered Beast moved. It flapped its massive wings, rushing into the air after an intense screech. Its sharp eyes remained fixed on him, even in the air.

Jackie narrowed his eyes slightly as he pulled out his gray sword from Mustard Seed. The black iron bet required him to win three consecutive matches in a row, and this was his first one. His hands constantly moved as he formed gray rune after gray rune. A hundred soul swords materialized from those runes. He reached out and fused them into his sword.

The gray sword started to vibrate from the energy within as the Thousand Feathered Beast constantly flew in the air, looking at Jackie. It let out another sharp cry, which caused his eardrums to thrum.

The next second, the Thousand Feathered Beast moved its wings and suddenly attacked.

It let out a rainbow-colored glow so vibrant that it was borderline blinding. It flapped its wings, forming miniature cyclones due to how fast it was. It then let out another cry as countless feathers left its body, rushing quickly at Jackie. Those feathers might have looked incredibly beautiful, but they had a killing intent that could pierce into anyone's soul.

It was the Thousand Feathered Beast's natural-born technique, the Deadly Plume. The Thousand Feathered Beast's feathers were filled with its essence. Whether it was defensively or offensively, it was dozens of times stronger than any ordinary weapon.

Jackie merely heard winds blowing as those feathers rapidly flew at Jackie at imperceptible speed.

He raised an eyebrow. Thankfully, he knew of Deadly Plume. He knew that Deadly Plume's impressiveness came from its speed and power. He thus activated the laws of space, disappearing from the spot.

The moment Jackie disappeared, countless rainbow-colored feathers landed on his original spot. The speed and amount of those feathers would have at least covered up 15 meters around where Jackie had been.

In any normal retreat, even if Jackie had not been heavily injured, he would have sustained some injuries from not being able to avoid the speed and density of the attack. If he had been injured from the first strike, the future battles would be affected.

Jackie had a plan against that and thus avoided the attack.

Meanwhile, the spectators were so shocked that they did not know what to say. Their eyes widened, threatening to pop out of their sockets.

"My lord, this bird is so powerful! Its attacks are horrifyingly quick. It was so far from Lucius. Normally, as long as a warrior wants to avoid an attack from that distance, they should be able to, but that attack came at such a shocking speed."

"If that brat didn't have something up his sleeve to flicker away, most people wouldn't have been able to avoid it!"

"That's right. Could the guy have used something to shrink the distance? I feel like the space was distorted. Could he have used a spatial technique? Does he know spatial techniques? You really can't judge a book by its cover. Regardless, this bird won't be easy to deal with. It's so quick that even if the attacks aren't that strong, it'll be hard to deal with!"

"That's right! This guy is that unlucky to pick the strongest beast out of the five. This bird doesn't look any weaker than the wolf Lesley picked out earlier!"

Chapter 3055

The spectator stands had already blown up in discussion due to that exchange. They had never seen a beast that quick before. Even if the two of them were already at a safe distance, there was a very good chance that Jackie would not have been able to avoid the attack if he had not used the laws of space. He might have gotten injured, even, affecting the final results.

Looking at that exchange, they could not help but wonder if they would have been able to escape unscathed if they were on the stage.

Arne let out a cold laugh as he said, "Karma always finds a way to punish those who deserve it. This guy has done so many nasty things, so that's why he's being punished. He chose the strongest of the beasts, and he won't even be able to win the first match. He might end up destroyed by the rainbow feathers on that bird in just a moment!"

The moment he said that, the other disciples from the Deer Pavilion behind him started to laugh. As long as Jackie met misfortune, they would be elated. Arne, on the other hand, looked like he had struck the lottery.

Rudy was actually not that far away from Arne, so Arne deliberately raised his voice to make sure Rudy heard everything.

Rudy, unable to stand it anymore, turned to Arne with a cold look and said loudly, "You're right, karma always strikes back! The beast Lesley chose was even stronger than this bird. He died such a horrible death, and it just proves what you said is right!"

The moment Rudy said that, the crowd burst into laughter. Rudy's words had truly stung, using Arne's own words against him.

Arne's face darkened as his prideful self faltered in a flash. He gritted his teeth as he stared at Rudy, looking like he wanted to rip him apart.

Arne's lips twitched as he raised his voice. "You filthy mongrel. You're just as wicked as Lucius. Just you wait! Once I get the chance, I'll have the two of you begging me for mercy!"

Facing threats like these, Rudy's heart would still shake a little, but he had already gotten used to it and started to even feel immune.

He did not even bother raising an eyebrow before he let out a cold laugh. "If you have the skills, then come right over. Stop bragging before you actually do something. Make sure you're not the one begging for mercy before you die!"

The two of them shot at each other back and forth, causing the atmosphere to grow tense by the minute. The warriors around them knew that those two would not be sitting if not for the rules of Hundred Beast City. They would not be able to forgive themselves if they did not start fighting right away.

Arne was already so furious that his hands were trembling.

“Alright, then! You’re just an ignorant cur like Lucius! I won’t even need a few days for me to show you who’ll be crying!”

Rudy raised an eyebrow, deciding to just turn away.

Nothing would come from arguing like that. Both of them were just shooting words back and forth. Even if he beat Arne in a war of words, what did it mean?

It was not like he could do anything to Arne at that moment. All it did was push Arne back slightly.
