Tasting All My Mates by Alexis Dee

Chapter 12

“What?” I asked in a soft and scared tone.

“You will help us with the assignment or we will read your assignment and even test it,” Lazlo smirked as he told me what they have decided.

They saw the gasp I heaved out because if they read my assignment, the aftermath of it will be worst.

I had written the things that my mate can do to turn me on and if any of these Alpha’s found out, they will tease me, make my life miserable.

“It’s your call now,” Thiago pulled a chair near his own study desk and opened his arms to welcome me on the chair and to use his laptop.

I stared between the two and having no other choice, gave up.

“Fine, but you two will not act smart,” I mumbled nervously while taking the seat.

“You want us to understand the assignment or not?” Lazlo commented excitedly.

Thiago dragged Maynard’s chair while Lazlo pulled his own chair to my side. With Thiago on my left and Lazlo on my right, I was now sandwiched between the two.

After taking a deep breath in, I started explaining the topic to them. In the first few minutes, they were silently listening while I was staring at the laptop’s screen until the part about the mate popped up.

“Wait! So we need to write about our sexual desires as an Alpha for our mate?” Lazlo asked, pulling his body close to read the point on the screen but at the same time, his body came too close to my body that our shoulders brushed.

I cleared my throat and pulled my body to the other side but my shoulder got pressed with Thiago’s shoulder.

“Let me see,” Thiago pitched in and forced his body forward, squeezing me between the two.

“Oh I know,” Suddenly, Lazlo straightened his back, “we can talk about it. Maybe if we discuss it, we will get a better idea,” | know what he was trying to do.

“I have told you both that I will not discuss anything regarding what I wrote in my assignment,” | spoke too soon. I watched them both turn their heads in my direction from my peripheral vision.

“Fine, just type mine first,” Lazlo said, sounding defeated and bringing his body close again.

It was so absurd that I had to do their homework while they were pressing their bodies against mine and making me uncomfortable.

And then the unthinkable happened.

While I was typing the assignment for Lazlo, I felt a hand run up my thigh. The wrong day to wear booty shorts.

I instantly shuddered when Lazlo’s hand brought a warmness to my skin.

“Umm!”—got up suddenly, pulling my seat away to walk away from them.

“What happened?” Thiago, who was too busy chewing onto the back of the pencil, asked me.

“I need a moment,” I whispered, and without looking in the eyes of Lazlo, I sprinted into the bathroom.

My heartbeat was going crazy; I have not experienced something like that before. The weird part was that it didn’t feel wrong too.

‘That is how mate bond works. We are mated to two hot and sexy Alphas, it is hard to control the urges now,’ Nia spoke up before I could even ask her anything.

‘But it is wrong,’ I was pacing in the bathroom and worrying about going out and dealing with them again.

It is not. If you think about it, the Moon Goddess gave us the power to have multiple mates. None of them can get upset with us for mating with the other one and vice versa. Besides, don't you remember what Corbin has threatened us with? The day we leave this place and have no one to protect us, he will tear us apart for his lustful desires. It is time that we make an army of our own Alphas. The two are very strong and powerful too. You need to think wise,' Nia was making sense but it was weird sitting between my two mates and letting them touch me in the presence of the other.

You need to get used to it. And nobody is asking you to initiate anything or participate in anything, just don't fight them.' After she finished, I washed my face and agreed with her.

Corbin will make my life a living hell if I left this academy having no mate beside me.

The two will do a charm.

After gathering all the courage back, I walked out of the bathroom to the two who were desperately waiting for me.

"Everything alright?" Lazlo, who knew why I left, asked. He didn't sound playful or anything. As a mate he was confused why I resisted his touch.

"Everything is good," I smiled confidently and then sat down between them again. I knew Lazlo was going to start again because the moment I sat down, he brought his body closer to mine.

"Do mine first because I am getting sleepy," Thiago whispered and hunched forward.

Now that I was busy typing for him, Lazlo was even turned on hearing Thiago talk about all the sexual stuff.

I felt Lazlo's hand run up my thigh again and this time, I didn't stop him. Now that he was confident enough, he stopped right when his finger was in close contact with my shorts. After taking a pause for a moment, he entered his finger from my booty shorts and it came in direct contact with my pussy.

My body trembled at the first-ever contact with a man's skin. I forced myself into staying calm even when he was staring at my face from the side.

His finger was gently rubbing my vagina and making me squirm. On the other hand, Thiago started fall asleep.

He was bent down on the screen when sleep took over him and instead of excusing, he passed out and rested his face on my chest.

I was in a situation where I could no longer feel my pulse.

Especially when Lazlo had started to use two fingers to play with my vagina.
